CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quincy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

337 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal.

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house ac Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS,
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It is not only efficacious for rheumatism, but for strains, sprains, etc. It can not be recommended too highly as a family liniment. C. H. LEWIS.

It always relieves Neuralgia and if the application is continued a cure can be dependedupon.

[From Hon. A. Maynard, the extensive manufacturer and founder of the town of Maynard.]

ASSABET MILLS,
MAYNARD, Mass., Aug 24, 1880.

I gladly add my testimony to the value of the Shaker Liniment in case of Neuralgia and Rheumatism. By its use I obtained almost immediate relief, and unhesitatingly recommend it to my friends. A. MAYNARD.

PRICE 50 CENTS.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES

GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO.,

Boston Wholesale Agents

Miscellaneous.

TAKING HIM AT HIS WORD.

The Rev. Dr. Wellington was the old Templeton minister from early in the eighteen hundreds, and Col. Leonard Stone was one of his parishioners. It was the custom to supplement the minister's moderate salary with presents from the products of the farms, and especially with wood. Now, Col. Leonard, one day in January, 1822, was drawing to the parsonage some of his nice hard wood. It was a good ox load—two cords or so. As he was going across the common with it, his brother, Col. Ephraim, caught sight of him from the store, and was surprised at such a great load.

"Hello," says he, "why don't you take your minister a load of wood while you're about it?"

"Now, look here," says Col. Leonard, "I've been sawing out lumber down't the mill, and there's any quantity of slabs. I'll give the minister as big a load as you can take."

Col. Ephraim was a man for fun. He instigated the townspeople to take hold with him and accept his brother's challenge. First, they made the sled. Long trees were cut for the runners. These were made thirty odd feet long and set eight feet apart. The body of the sled projected two feet over the runner on each side. Thus the sled would hold twelve regular cords at one layer. There were two tongues, one in front of each runner.

On the appointed day the men and the oxen from all over town came to the meeting place. The sled was taken to the sawmill and backed up against the great pile. On went the slabs with a will. Col. Leonard stood by, laughing, cheering, urging them along. When they had got on as much as they thought would do, they hitched up the team. One hundred and sixty oxen, four abreast, found it easy enough to pull. They had to go around through Baldwinville, because there was not room at the Otter River bridge for the sledge to turn in. When they had got on to the level ground above Baldwinville, they stopped and unhitched. Then with their every-day sleds they went back to the mill to bring more slabs and pile them on the big load. This they kept up till there were no more slabs. Forty cords lay piled up on that sled. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

The next morning came the rest of the journey "up in town." The school children were let out to see the great sight go by. One of them, to whose home it was going, says it looked as big as a house. It lay unloaded for quite a while out by the parsonage, and people came from near and from far to see it. It kept Mr. Wellington in slabs for years to come.

When the great sled was taken to pieces, some of the timbers were used in building Mr. Winch's barn, and may be seen there in the framework until this day.—Boston Advertiser.

AN AMERICAN CIVIL CODE.

By means of the French civil code the first Napoleon acquired one of his greatest titles to undying fame and by like means like honor might be secured by somebody in the United States. The best plan is not the adoption and enforcement of such a code by the Federal Government—which of course is out of the question—but the common agreement by the several States to a code literally or substantially the same, so that there will be legal uniformity throughout the country. The following are some of the provisions which might be put into the code: The adoption of a general system of registration of births, deaths and marriages would be of the greatest utility. Were marriages celebrated only after a suitable publication of the banns at the place of each party's domicile and then duly recorded, and a memorandum of such celebration thereupon entered on the records of the place of each party's birth, or American domicile. there would be fewer of those painful cases of bigamy or polygamy which now too frequently bring distress upon families. We would also like to see a uniform law fixing a suitable age as necessary to a valid marriage. The age of consent under the English common law is altogether too low. Why should this age be deemed sufficient in Massachusetts and New York and insufficient in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois? We suggest that the age be everywhere fixed at eighteen for males and fifteen for females, as is now the law in Wisconsin. The nation at large has certainly an interest in preventing the celebration of too early marriages, when one person is too young to give birth to vigorous offspring or the other too young to provide for their support. There may be no serious objection to the adoption by each State of its own form of procedure, though it would evidently be more convenient to have the same code of procedure everywhere in force. Why should a person be a minor in one State and of full age in another, perhaps an adjacent one? Why should such a person be able to contract a valid marriage in the one and not in the other?—American Law Review.

Martin Johns, a well-to-do farmer of Harrison county, Ind., devised all his property to the county poor asylum. His will orders all his real and personal property sold within a year, the money derived to be placed at interest as a perpetual fund, and the interest to be used in supplying the paupers with such necessities as they may require and the county does not furnish.

Human life is everywhere a state in which much is to be endured.

Manners are the shadows of virtues.

CURIOSITIES OF THE VOICE.

Dr. Delaunay, in a paper read recently before the French Academy of Medicine, gizes some details on the history and limit of the human voice, which he obtained after much patient research. According to the doctor, the primitive inhabitants of Europe were all tenors; their descendants of the present day are baritones, and their grandsons will have semi-bass voices. Looking at different races, he calls attention to the fact that inferior races, such as the negroes, &c., have higher voices than white men. The voice has also a tendency to deepen with age—the tenor at sixteen becoming the baritone at twenty-five, and bass at thirty-five. Fair-complexioned people have higher voices than the dark-skinned, the former being usually sopranos or tenors, the latter contraltos or basses. Tenors, says the doctor, are slenderly built and thin; basses are stoutly made and corpulent. This may be so, as a rule, but one is inclined to think there are more exceptions to it than are necessary to prove the rule. The same remark applies to the assertion that thoughtful, intelligent men have always a deep-toned voice; whereas triflers and frivolous persons have soft, weak voices. The tones of the voice are perceptibly higher, he points out, before than after a meal, which is the reason why tenors dine early, in order that the voice may not suffer. The South, says the doctor, furnishes the tenors, the North the basses; in proof of which he adds that the majority of French tenors in vogue come from the south of France, while the basses belong to the north department.

AN UNFORTUNATE ANSWER.

Says the Richmond Register: Lucien Young's noble action a few years ago, in saving several lives from a wrecked vessel, will be remembered; also, the action of the Kentucky Legislature in publicly recognizing his service. A few weeks since he was in Frankfort, and while there visited the penitentiary, where he met Sam Holmes, confined for the murder of Colonel Napier. Young and Holmes were boys together at school, and fast friends, Young was greatly moved by Holmes' unfortunate condition, and determined to make an effort for his release. To this end he called on the Governor, and made an earnest appeal for a pardon. The Governor relented, and the pardon was made out and signed. With the document in his pocket, Young hastened back to the prison to tell the good news to his friend. Before telling him, however, that he had come to make him a free man, Young quietly commenced a conversation, and, after talking a while upon other subjects, finally said:

"Sam, if you were turned loose and fully pardoned, what would be the first thing you would do?"

The convict very quickly responded:

"I would go to Lancaster and kill Judge Owsley and another scoundrel who was a witness against me."

Young uttered not a word, but turned mournfully away, went outside the prison walls, took the pardon from his pocket, and tore it into fragments.

THE MILKMAN WHO STOPPED A DOG FIGHT.

Yesterday afternoon two dogs got into a dispute on Fourth street, near Michigan avenue, and from growls they came to bites. They were pretty evenly matched, and the contest continued until a crowd of fifty people had formed a circle. Pretty soon a ministerial-looking person halted, watched the fight for half a minute, hurried out on the avenue and said to a milk dealer.

"My good man, a dog fight is a brutal spectacle, and it lies in your power to end this one."

"How?"

"Drive right through the crowd and over the animals. I'll warrant they'll stop their bloody work before they will be trodden under foot."

"I guess I'll try it," mused the milkman, and he gathered up his reins, yelled at the crowd, and drove for the dogs.

It was a bad drive on him. They two fighters kept right on at it, rolled under the horse, and the next minute sixteen gallons of milk were absorbed by the snow, the driver was in a drift, and the horse was shooting up Fourth street with the sad remains of the old sleigh.

"Where—where in—where in Texas is that chap that put me up to this?" gasped the milkman, as they pulled him out of the snow; but the sole answer was made by a boy who pointed at the figure of a man under a plug hat traveling toward the City Hall at the rate of twenty miles an hour.—Detroit Free Press.

A BABY'S WAKE IN CHILI.

When a young child or infant dies, the baby, after being cleansed, is arrayed in the finest garments, and placed upon an altar in the best room in the house; a pair of wings are fastened to it, and a crown upon its head; above is hung a dove, and the entire surroundings adorned with flowers and ribbons. A guitarist is provided, who from his seat in front chants and sings airs, generally of a laudatory and lamenting nature, for the loss of the child; but as the poncha, or drink, begins to make itself felt upon the friends who have gathered round, it then becomes a scene of mirth and gladness that the child is now an "angelito" (or little angel.) This generally continues for several days, until the body gives forth anything but pleasant odors. This custom at the present day is more general among the lower classes, for, although it exists among the rich, there is nothing of the boisterous style about it.

Thermometers like the comet are flying high.

Anecdotes.

THE SKIDMORE CHOP.

While the proprietor of the Maison Doree was standing behind his counter the other day, catching flies from currant cake, and wishing that a little of the business wave the Eastern papers say so much about would slop over into his restaurant, as it were, a young man with a beaming smile on his face and a big box under his arm entered.

"Don't want any sleeve-buttons, nor nuthin'," growled the dyspepsia distributor, glancing at the box.

"No, nor I," said the stranger, affably, depositing the box on the counter, and removing the lid. "But what you do want is the greatest invention of recorded time—the Restaurant Keeper's Friend—the Boarding House Proprietor's Salvation."

"Roach Poison?" said the steak stretcher contemptuously.

"No, sir," retorted the young man, taking a handful of singularly-shaped objects out of the box. "Something that beats the phonograph and the telephone all hollow. I refer to the 'Skidmore Chop.'"

"What s that?"

"Why, it's the most economical device of modern times, and I'll prove it right here. Suppose you are serving a dinner to, say half-a-dozen persons? Now, how many chops do you generally put on the table?"

"Well, about two apiece, say twelve."

"And how many are eaten?"

"Hum! about four."

"Exactly—that's about the average, as our restaurant statistics show. As a matter of course, however, you are obliged to cook three times as much as you need to make a show. Now, if you could save six chops every dinner for a year it would amount to——"

"A fortune," said the man of cutlets, eagerly. "All we can do with 'em now is to work 'em over into hashes."

"Peace to your hashes," said the agent; "all this ruinous waste is now prevented by the introduction to the same dish of the patent Skidmore Indestructible India-Rubber Chop, put up in packages of one dozen, and warranted for five years," and the food economizer exhibited some life-like imitations of cooked mutton chops.

"Looks like a good scheme," said the concoctor of stews, thoughtfully; "but don't the custommers ever——"

"Ever tumble? Not in the least. He only notices that one chop is a little tougher than the others, and finally gets his fork into a real chop and chews ahead. These smaller ones come higher, as they are made of a little more limber article of rubber, for lamb chops. Can't be told from genuine by the naked eye. All you have to do is to grease 'em on both sides, warm 'em up a little, and serve them mixed in with the others same as usual."

"Seems like they are about as tender as the regulation kind," said the restaurateur, jabbing one with a fork. "Don't they ever get eaten by mistake?"

"No—no—that is, not now. We did lose a few that way when first introduced, but now that we make the material tougher, it don't happen any more, unless they swallow 'em whole. Why, here's a specimen that's been in use in a Chicago eating saloon saloon for three years, night and day, and you can't see the first tooth print in it yet."

"That settles it," said the proprietor. "I'll take a gross."

"I thought you would," replied the chop agent, as he took down the order and emphatically declined an invitation for some lunch. "I will drop round in a few days and show you samples of some soft, white rubber lobsters we are getting up especially for the country trade—make the best article of indestructible salad known—and he shouldered his box and walked off in the direction of Baldwin's Hotel.—San Francisco Post.

CARDS AND CARDS.

This anecdote of guileless innocence on the part of a raw young Parisian footman is going the rounds in Paris. His mistress proposed to devote her afternoon to calls, and stepping into her carriage remembered that she had left her card-case on the table, so she instructed her servant to fetch the necessary implements of her visit, and told him that she would inform him where to leave the substitutes for a personal interview. He fetched the cards, and was ordered to leave "two here," "one here," "three here," &c., at different houses, as etiquette demanded. The man assiduously obeyed, till at length "three here," was the order given, and he paused:

"I can't, madame," he answered.

She looked interrogatively at him.

"There are only two left," he continued, glancing at the remnant—"the ace of diamonds and the king of clubs."

AN UNFORTUNATE MAN.

"Calamity" Lapham is the name of a man who lives in Ottumwa, Iowa. He acquired his unhappy soubriquet from the numerous accidents of which he has been the victim. He was shot a dozen or more times during the war; was run over by a caisson, and went to the bottom of the Mississippi river with a transport sunk at the siege of Vicksburg. Since the war he has had the cholera, small-pox, yellow fever, been bitten by a snake, struck by lightning, and had three ribs broken by a falling wall during an earthquake in one of the South American States. A short time ago his left hand was cut off in an Ottumwa mill.

Those who are honest "as the best policy" are half-way to being rogues.

Favors of every kind are doubled when they are speedily conferred.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago,
Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.
No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.
☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill at a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND
COMPLEXION
We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

Cross Photo.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.
INDUCEMENTS:
Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. | White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.
VICE PRESIDENTS.
George Osborne, Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney, Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen, George F. Osborne.
TRUSTEES.
John A. Lord, George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill, Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler, Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little, Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren, Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill, Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn, John Pinder,
TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.
Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.
New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.
Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames.
Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicts, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. | Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.
A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs, because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.
STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.
ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.
BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.
Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.
Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.
POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.
In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.
PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.
PEABODY, MASS.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE. — A lawyer in Central New York gives the following account of one of his first cases:

"My client sued a neighbor for the alleged killing of a favorite dog. The proof consisted in the mysterious disappearance of the animal, and the possession of a dog's skin by the defendant, which, after considerable argument, was brought into court in evidence. It was marked in a singular manner, and was positively identified, with many tears, by the plaintiff's wife and daughter as the undoubted integument of the deceased Bose. In summing up to the jury, I was in the midst of a highly colored picture of the virtues of the deceased, and of the love of the children for their four-footed friend, when I was interrupted by a slight disturbance in the crowd near the door of the little school-house which served as a court-house. Looking around, I saw my client's youngest son, a tow-headed urchin of twelve, coming forward with a dog whose skin was the exact counterpart of the one put in evidence.—The dog wagged his tail with good-natured composure, and the boy cried, in his childish treble, 'Paw, Bose has come home.' I gathered up my law books and retreated, and I have never had perfect confidence in circumstantial evidence since."—Harper's Magazine.

A man whose history embodies a strangely romantic episode has just passed away in Mississippi. Major John Raine Throckmorton, when a young man, became acquainted with Miss Ellen Godwin, a cultivated young lady, whom he ruined. During twenty-three years she followed him everywhere he went, shabbily dressed, and always attracting attention to him by the pertinacity with which she dogged his steps. He fought in Mexico and during the late war, but even among the terrible scenes of war his shadow was near him. She became known as John Throckmorton's ghost and was known throughout Kentucky. At length Throckmorton made an effort to have her committed as a lunatic. In the court she told her story, and the wickedness of John Throckmorton was told in such a clear manner and remained so thoroughly unshaken after cross-examination that she was discharged. Then she abandoned her former course of life. She had followed her betrayer twenty-three years and had punished him for his crime. During all this time she had supported herself by her pen as she was a brilliant writer. She died of consumption about a year ago, and now both John Throckmorton and John Throckmorton's ghost have passed away from earth.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

MARBLEHEAD.

Trial Justice Nutting has filed his report on the Marblehead murder case, and his conclusion is that Wm. F. Hathaway, "came to his death at said Marblehead, on the night of the 2d day of May, 1881, in consequence of being murderously assailed by some persons, to me, said trial justice, unknown, who, after inflicting a wound upon the head of said William F. Hathaway with some blunt instrument or missile, cast him into a ditch filled with water and mud, running through the "Reynolds lot," so called, situated by Green street, in said Marblehead, and there held, pressed down and confined him until death ensued through suffocation."

The members of the Y. M. C. A threaten to have the police "broke" unless they keep order at the Sunday evening meeting at Bartol's Head.

Rev. Mr. Wood, of Peabody, succeeds Rev. S. P. Smith of this town as Supreme Chief of the United Order of Essenians, the latter being elected to the office of Supreme Secretary.

Mr. Horace M. Silver, who was so severely burned two weeks ago, died from his injuries last evening. He has been a terrible sufferer. His aged mother, and the members of his family, have the sympathy of the community in their sad affliction.

Joseph Dinsmore, Esq., is quite elated at the new rules for visitors at St. Michael's Church. He has received over $2 in fees since sight-seers were required to pay for his services as guide and delineator.

Mr. H. C. P. Hidden, while working last week at the house on Little Top Hill, found an Indian club, which is quite a curious relic.

The season at the Neck this year is quite lively. The pleasure boats "Knott V. Martin" and "Lilla Belle" take out parties almost every day.

Marblehead may be justly proud of her Fire Department. We have had quite a number of alarms recently, and every time the workings of the department have shown a state of efficiency, seldom equaled outside of large cities. Our Chief Engineer, to who the town is indebted for the present condition of the Department may be truly proud of the result of his labors.

Mr. Brent Newcomb who was injured last week, by the accidental discharge of a revolver, has had to undergo a number of surgical operations for the purpose of extracting the ball, all of which have been unsuccessful. It will be some time before he handles a revolver, again.

DANVERS.

The Danvers Mirror feels justly proud of the buoyancy of the $25,000 bonds of that town, authorized by the vote of March last, which pay 4 per cent. and run thirty years unless the town shall recall them at any time after five years. Sales of $10,000 by auction at a premium of 1¾ per cent., and of $15,000 at private sale at a premium of 2 per cent., indicate that the credit of Danvers is pretty good.

The selectmen have offered a reward of $500 for the conviction of the person who set fire to the lumber yard of Calvin Putnam.

The Torrent engine of Peabody did valuable service at the fire on Sunday morning.

L. L. Abbott and J. T. Dale returned from Canada last week with several fine horses purchased there.

The case of Martin E. Smith of this town for drunkenness, and assault on his brother in law, came up before Judge Safford, in the District Court at Salem on Saturday. On the charge of drunkenness he was fined $18 and costs. He was an old offender. On the case of assault, D. N. Crowley appeared for the government and John W. Porter for the defendant. Mr. Keniston, the brother in law, testified that Smith commenced to quarrel with him in his back yard and struck him in the eye. He then clinched with Smith, struck him back and had a general rough and tumble fight, being parted by spectators. Mrs. Keniston testified to trouble with Smith before the row, commenced about a bill which he owed. Mrs. Keniston's son came in—the brother in law—and Smith struck him. Her daughter, Smith's wife, was hit during the row and had to take her bed in consequence.

The court ruled that Smith was punished more severely than was necessary by Keniston during the melee, yet as he had commenced the trouble he would fine him $10, and costs of the court.

N. F. Putnam is fitting up the store under the Mirror office for Geo. C. Putnam, for the hardware business.

The chain fence about the Common at the Centre has been secured to the posts by new fastenings.

An alarm of fire was sounded just after midnight Sunday morning, caused by the burning of Calvin Putnam's lumber storehouse. Engines were promptly at the scene of the fire. Active Hose of Salem was present and rendered valuable service. The fire presented a brilliant spectacle, and lighted up the river most gorgeously. Mr. Putnam's loss on the building and on the lumber is between $2,000 and 3,000. It was probably the work of an incendiary.

NEWBURYPORT.

AN EXAMPLE FOR ADULTS.—Last summer a party of young misses took it upon themselves to start a fair, the proceeds of which they intended should be used to provide for the wants of poor people.—The fair was carried through successfully, and after all bills were paid the young ladies were much pleased to find that they had got about forty dollars left. This money was taken by the girls, and when they heard of a family in need they would buy provisions and carry them to the family. On Tuesday afternoon, under the superintendence of Mrs. Wheelwright, Nellie Wheelwright, Lilian Little, Fanny Cushing, Maud Todd, Lena Caldwell and Alice Northend, the young ladies spoken of above, held a second fair on the grounds of Mrs. Wheelwright, and after the fair had closed the young ladies found they had taken one hundred and fifty dollars, and they are happy with the thought that when the cold weather sets in they will be able to make more hearts happy than they did last winter. Taking into consideration that no advertising was done, we think it is an example that is worthy of emulation by older people.—Newburyport Herald.

BEVERLY.

Geo. W. Lovett's house on Central St. was burglarously entered a few nights since but nothing of value was taken.

Monday a dog caught himself in the Wire Brad fence which has recently been put up by the E. R.R. Co. on River street, near the R. R., and was unable to extricate himself. His flesh was terribly lacerated. The dog was shot to relieve his sufferings, after which the man was obliged to cut the dog's flesh, leaving some of it still hanging to the brads in order to get the dog's body out.

Last Saturday evening the police raided on, and made seizures of liquor, at the following places: Mrs. Foley's, on Wellman street, Mrs. McNeals, on Rantoul street, Mrs. McDonald's, School street, John Moriarty's, Cox Court.

The new Citizens' Union Store will open on Friday next. The store will be in charge of Theodore Taylor, with Frank Stiles as assistant.

On Saturday afternoon an interesting game of base ball was played on Beverly Common between the Atlantic Club, of Peabody, and the Star Club, of this town. It was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd of spectators. The Atlantics of Peabody came off second best, which was highly gratifying to the Stars and and their many friends.

Benjamin O. Pierce, Jr., of this town, at the annual meeting of the Harvard College trustees, received the appointment as instructor in mathematics.

Some of the Lynn shoe manufacturers in Lynn furnish their employes with a glass of milk per day. Why can't our Beverly manufacturers do likewise?

IPSWICH.

A gospel Temperance meeting, the first of a series for the season, was held on the Common at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. A congregation of some 200 or 300 were in attendance, and listened to the services with respectful attention. Mr. Retsey presided with marked ability. He called on Rev. Mr. Palmer of the North Church, to open the meeting by prayer, and Rev. C. N. Smith of the M. E. Church to read the scriptures. Mr. Retsey made the opening address, and Rev. Mr. Kidner, Episcopal, the closing speech. Singers from all the churches were present, but we understood the choir of the Old South had charge of the singing. The organist was Mrs. Hale, who is an expert on that wonderful instrument, the organ, and the man who played the cornet won well merited praise. The singing out there under the bending trees was grand, and on the whole the entertainment was a success and enjoyable. But it is only fair to say, that the music, both vocal and instrumental, was the principle attraction. Let us have more of these meetings and a little more temperance enthusiasm with all.

At this season there is nothing better for the hair than Heylingberg's Eureka Dandruff Remover.—Adv.

When a man gets knocked down over in Boston they call it Hub punch.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

It is stated on good authority that the Narrow Gauge company will soon commence the laying of an additional track between Lynn and Boston, and will increase their rolling stock.—Lynn Reporter.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

One reason why people do not visit stores that do not advertise is because they do not wish to disturb the boy who is reading a novel behind the counter.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Some of the temperance people shake their heads when they read that choice old rum is being given to the President from day to day in spoonful doses with milk. Your real temperance man takes it plain.—Boston Globe.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

DR. FULLER'S PEPSIN TROCHES are placed before the public by a well-known Boston house, in full confidence as to their excellence, purity, and efficacy, in all cases of dyspepsia and troubles arising from enfeebled digestion; a most convenient form in which a remedy for such distressing ailments may be always ready for use.

BUSINESS MEN can leave the Grand Central Depot, New York, at 11.35 P. M. (Sundays excepted), and arrive in Boston next morning at 8 o'clock, by purchasing tickets via N. Y. & N. E. Railroad. This affords a whole evening in New York.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

Almy, Bigelow & Webber have a large and well selected stock of Cloths for men's wear, and their Custom Tailoring Department is in active working order. A perfect fit and the satisfaction of the buyer is always the condition of sale.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In West Peabody, July 13, by Rev. J. W. Colwell. Dr. Homer Brooks of Haverhill to Miss Minna P. Needham of P.

In Salem, 14th, by Rev. Mr. Israel, Mr. John Newcomb to Mrs. Dora C. Harding, both of S.; Mr. Richard A. Goss of S. to Miss Hattie N. Noyes of Chelsea.

Deaths.

In Peabody, July 14, Mr. Richard Loring, 91 yrs. 21 days.

15th, at West Peabody, Mr. Joseph Brown, 56 yrs. 1 mo. 1 day.

17th, Mrs. Sarah A. Stevens, of West Salisbury, N. H., 73 yrs.

In Salem, 14th, Mr. Geo. S. Kimball, 42 ys. 2 mos. 25 days; Capt. John Fisk Putnam, 81 yrs.

NEW DENTAL FIRM.

DUDLEY & EWELL,

Prices greatly reduced.

All operations warranted.

TEETH EXTRACTED FOR 25 CENTS.

Office, 224 Essex St., Salem.

DR. A. S. DUDLEY, 16 years in Salem.
DR. GEO. A. EWELL, late of Chicago.
my 18—tf

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.

MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'.
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celebrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufactuer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.,
THURSDAY and FRIDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALL-DAY FISHING TRIPS,
On the Middle Grounds, where the 44-lb Cod was pulled in July 15. One Dollar per lb. bounty for the biggest codfish caught. Season ticket for second prize. Returns at 5.30, Fare $1.

SATURDAY, AT 2.30 P. M.
BAY EXCURSION!
Affording Views of the many points of interest which dot our beautiful Bay and Harbor. Returns at 6. Fare 50 cts.

SUNDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ISLES OF SHOALS.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

PORTLAND STEAMERS.
REDUCTION IN FARES.
BOSTON TO PORTLAND, $1.00
BOSTON TO LEWISTON, $2.00
Low Rates to
OLD ORCHARD BEACH, POLAND SPRING, NORTH CONWAY, WHITE MOUNTAINS, and the various EASTERN RESORTS.
Steamers leave India Wharf, Boston, for Portland, EVERY EVENING at 7 o'clock (Sundays excepted.)
WM. WEEKS, Agent,
jy 6—3w India Wharf.

SOUTH SHORE S. S. CO.
Summer Arrangement.

Only ocean route to Portsmouth, connecting with Isles of Shoals, Rye and Old York Beaches, and Wentworth House, New Castle, N. H.
THE STEAMER ACUSHNET
will leave Comey's wharf, Boston, near foot of Hanover street, TUESDAYS and FRIDAYS at 10.30 A.M. Returning, leave Portsmouth WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS at 7.45 A. M. Rail connections from North and East at Portsmouth.
FOR PROVINCETOWN.
Only regular line landing at the wharf without delay of tides or boats. The Steamer Acushnet will leave Comey's wharf WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS at 4 P. M. Returning, leave Provincetown at 8 30 A. M. Fare $1.50.
For further information tickets, etc., apply at Grand Trunk Ticket Office, 280 Washington St., Boston, Mass.
J. M. SEAVER, Gen'l Agent,
jy 13—3t 19 Broad street.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.
On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.
The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.
Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.
Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1.00.
Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.
Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.
For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, je 8 Boston.

WE PROPOSE TO INAUGURATE OUR ANNUAL
Mark Down Sale of
HOUSEHOLD GOODS,
Comprising Carpets, Furniture, Portable Ranges, Bedding, Tea and Dinner Sets, Plated Ware, Table Cutlery, Lamps, Clocks, etc., either for cash or by our system of
INSTALMENTS,
Tuesday, July 6, so as to enable us to keep all our hands, as well as to close out the balance of our Spring Stock, beside benefiting a large class of late trade. Being the largest distributors of Household Goods in New England, we entertain the hope that we may secure a trial order from all who have not purchased Household Goods by our System of Instalments, as we feel assured that the prices we shall offer our stock at will be lower than ever before quoted. In our department for REFRIGERATORS, we have taken account of them and marked them at prices that will close them out.
$6.50
Is the price of an ice chest; $10 is the price of a good Upright Refrigerator, marked down from $13. All our Refrigerators have Slate Shelves, are Zinc Lined, and warranted to consume but little ice. What few
CANOPY CARRIAGES,
MATS, and AFGHANS we have on hand will be offered at prices from $7.50 to $30, a mark-down of from 10 to 20 per cent. Parties going to the Seashore or Country are advised not to throw away this opportunity. We offer these goods on Easy Terms on Instalments. The large demand for the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE improved wire gauze, non-explosive continues unabated. They are the Safest and Best. If you contemplate the purchase of an Oil Stove, be sure you see them in full operation at our establishment. Send for price list and terms on instalments. Catalogue of Household Goods and Terms furnished to parties living at a distance. All orders by mail promptly attended to.
OIL STOVE,
The attention of BARBERS is called to our new pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer use, which we offer at the low price of $28. We also furnish Mugs, Mug Racks, Sinks, Copper Boilers, Mirrors, etc., on Easy Terms on Instalments. Send for Illustrated Price-List and Terms.
W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
apr 6—6 m

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS. 20 tons White Wheat Shorts and Middlings, for sale low by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
may 11 41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
32 Front street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLLINS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
— AND —
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
Attention is also called to a
PATENT RUBBER CUSHION
for tender feet, which we are using very successfully. OLD SHOP.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

THE MASON & HAMLIN

ORGAN CO.,
Makers of the Best Cabinet or Parlor Organs, offer new and improved styles at lower prices. For cash: three and a quarter octave organs, $22; four octaves, $30; four octave, five stops, $51; five octave, seven stops, $60; five octave, large and elegant case (see cut), eleven stops, $102; one hundred other styles up to $500 and more.—Table Organs, $7.50. Observe that Mason & Hamlin (Price $102.) Organs have greater power, variety, and capacity every way and very much better quality than the much advertised "cheap" organs with two or three times as many stops.
All except the very smallest styles of these organs are now sold
FOR EASY PAYMENTS,
from $5 per month up; or will be rented for reasonable rent, with privilege of return at any time, and agreement that if retained until the whole amount of rent paid equals the value of the organ it becomes the property of the party hiring it without further payment. The rent of an organ so taken is ten per cent. of its value per quarter year ($6.38 and up, according to size and value.) Organs will be furnished on these terms for any place within easy access from Boston.
Mason & Hamlin organs are certainly the best in the world, having taken the highest awards in every one of the great World's Industrial Exhibitions for more than thirteen years, no other American organs having been found equal to them at any. Illustrated catalogues and circulars with full particulars, free.
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass,
je 15—6w

PAINT BRUSHES. All kinds of Paint Brushes, Artists' Tools, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

ALABASTINE. Alabastine is a valuable discovery. It constitutes a permanent finish for walls, assimilating with the plaster. Pure White, and a variety of beautiful tints at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A Tenement on corner of Walnut and English streets. Apply to jy 6—tf C. W. OSBORN.

TO LET.
Two Tenements in a house on Harris street. also a basement that is all fitted for a store, Aqueduct water with each. Inquire of
MRS. MARGARET LYNCH.
june 30—tf Harris Street.

$250 REWARD!
The undersigned, in behalf of the Town of Peabody, will pay the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars to any one who will furnish information which may lead to the detection and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the morning of July 9th, 1881, set fire to the building on Washington street, known as the Gen. Foster Engine House.
LEVI PRESTON,
W. B. RICHARDSON,
S. A. SOUTHWICK,
NATHAN H. POOR } Selectmen of Peabody.
je 13—1m

$50 REWARD!
The undersigned will pay the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the old Foster Engine House, on the morning of July 9, 1881.
jy 13—1m HENRY C. TORR.

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

$50 REWARD!
The above reward will be paid by the undersigned for the arrest and conviction of the party who set fire to the building in South Peabody last Sunday morning,, occupied by him for the storage of hair. GEO. UPTON, may 4 Peabody.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter,
Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

RIBBONS.
The New Shades, all widths,
— AT —
PEABODY'S.
Flowers,
Plumes,
Feathers,
Ornaments, etc.
— AT —
PEABODY'S.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
32 Front street.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, JULY 27, 1881. NO. 31.

GENTS' FINE HATS & FURNISHING GOODS.

PICKERING'S, 200 SX STREET.

GENTS' FINE HATS AND FURNISHING GOODS.

BEST GOODS! SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP! LOWEST PRICES!

Being connected direct with New York Manufacturers, we can save you money by buying of us.

SOMETHING NEW RECEIVED EVERY DAY.

Silk Hats a Specialty. Our young men's style is very nobby. Call and see it.

Received this morning a fine line of Neck Wear from New York.

Also 500 doz. Fancy Shirts, .75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

Shirts made to order, and fit guaranteed.

Pickering's,

200 ESSEX ST., SALEM, MASS.

my 4—3m

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT.
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residence in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
uel t tf

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to jan

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

BOOTS, SHOES & RUBBERS.

FOR

LOW PRICES,

—IN—

BOOTS, SHOES
—AND—
RUBBERS,
—ALSO—
GENTS'
FURNISHING GOODS,

—CALL AT—

CHARLES E. TEAGUE'S,
52 MAIN STREET,

The Peabody Press.

Our Bakery.

We had the pleasure of visiting the Bakery of Mr. Frank A. Bragdon, on Lowell street, yesterday, and were shown through the entire establishment by the enterprising proprietor, and witnessed the improvements made since he took possession of this baking establishment. Mr. Bragdon, it will be remembered, came here about February of last year, and bought out the former proprietors, who had been unfortunate—the building having been burned twice during their occupancy. He was formerly with Messrs. Cutting, Winch & Co., commission dealers in flour, in Boston, and his long experience with that firm enables him to buy his flour, which is, of course, the principal item of merchandise in a bakery, at first hands and at the very lowest prices.

Mr. Bragdon has two large ovens, one being a reel oven and the other a large square oven which he has had put in within a few weeks. It has been stated, through a misapprehension, in in some of the papers, that this square oven had been put in to replace the reel oven. Such is not the case. Mr. Bragdon informs us that he could not dispense with his reel oven, using it as he does exclusively for baking his crackers. The square oven was built in place of a rotary oven previously there, and while giving him actually more room in the oven, does not occupy as much space in his establishment, thus giving him room in the rear of the oven for the stowing away of his surplus pans and other tin ware. This new oven is 14 feet by 12, 8 high, and the walls are two feet thick. It was built by J. Arthur Trask. In this oven he bakes all his bread, pastry, cake, and everything except the crackers.

We were struck with the neatness and cleanliness of everything about the establishment. Mr. Bragdon believes in giving his patrons the best of stuff and at the lowest prices that he can afford, and the constant increase in his trade since he came to this town shows that the people appreciate his efforts. During the summer weather especially, it is a great convenience to obtain many articles at the bakery, and when we are sure of getting as good eatables as are daily turned out by Mr. Bragdon, it is a pleasure to patronize him. Hot bread and rolls are baked twice a day, and furnished our people at their houses by the numerous delivery teams of the establishment. It is taken from the oven and packed closely in white oak boxes, which are kept fresh and clean every day. This keeps it soft and warm, so that although some hours elapse before it reaches the purchaser, it is as nice as if taken directly from the oven.

Mr. Bragdon makes a specialty of crackers, and his Nonpareil Pilot Bread is becoming known to every one. He does a large wholesale trade in crackers, supplying the dealers in this vicinity, and even as far as Maine. On the second floor of his bakery he has a large room devoted exclusively to the packing and shipment of his orders, and he has been able to dispose of his crackers as fast as baked, so that his patrons are sure of obtaining those that are fresh and nice every time. He bakes about 125 barrels of pilot bread, and the same quantity of common crackers each week. He employs 21 men, and turns out every night about 1000 loaves of bread—and good bread it is, as every one who has tasted it can testify. The same force of help bakes each day 125 dozen doughnuts, 200 dozen buns and 80 dozen rolls.

Mr. Bragdon is to be commended for the spirit of enterprise which he has shown, and for his persistent efforts to allow no articles to be sent out from the bakery that were not the best possible for him to make. Our readers who are not in the habit of patronizing a baker can be assured that a surprise awaits them, while his regular patrons need no word from us to remind them where the best and choicest edibles are to be found.

REITH & Co., of Salem, are now closing out their stock of millinery goods on hand at very low figures.—This firm believes in carrying over no goods to the next season that can be disposed of at any price now; and our lady friends in need of any thing in their line for the seashore or summer vacations, will do well to give them an early call.

Self-Government in our Colleges

The International Review gives an interesting account of "An Experiment in College Government." The college is the Illinois State University, and the experiment is that of self-government. Ten years ago, two years after the foundation of the University, the President proposed to the students to undertake the work of governing themselves, and they readily and unanimously accepted the responsibility. A constitution was adopted, in conference with the President, which, as subsequently amended, provides for a Senate of the students to make college laws, and a court of the students for the trial of college offenses. The President retains an absolute veto power; and the Faculty have, as a matter of course, under the laws of the State a real and supreme authority, though they do not exercise it. The Senate is elected by the students by universal suffrage; the judges are appointed by the President but from the students. All laws for the internal government of the college community are made by the Senate; all violations of these laws are tried by the court. A Senate chamber and court room is provided by the Faculty. The experiment has now been on trial for ten years, and, according to this article, has been a decided success. It has apparently almost wholly relieved the Faculty of the irksome work of discipline; and it has proved to be quite as efficient in preserving good order in the college as the old system.

Amherst College has, during the last year, introduced an innovation quite as radical, and analagous in spirit though very different in form. The students on entering are asked to examine the rules of the college and to decide for themselves whether they accept and will obey them. It is explained that their acceptance of these rules is the condition of their admission, that they constitute a contract between the student and the Faculty, and that the violation of that contract at any time by the student gives to the Faculty the option of declaring the contract broken and the relation between the student and the college ended. There is no expulsion; the student may continue to attend the classes, but will not be called on to recite; he may go to any other college, and Amherst will interpose no objection to his reception. A simultaneous change was introduced in the administration of the recitation rooms.—No student is required to attend any recitation; no excuse is asked and none is taken for absences. If he is present and shows his proficiency by his recitations he proceeds with his class; if he is absent, or fails to recite satisfactorily, he is required to prove his acquaintance with the subject by passing an examination at the end of the term, before he can go on. In other words, he must show that he has mastered the subject; the college is indifferent whether he proves his mastery by his recitations or by an examination. This plan also has worked well. Some modifications in detail may be required; but it is certain that any proposition to go back to the old school-boy method would receive a decided negative from an overwhelming majority of both students and instructors.

These experiments are in method very different, but they both tend toward the introduction of self-government in college life. They are not inconsistent, and might be advantageously combined. Certain it is that they are indications of the direction which college Faculties must take in the near future. To-day full half of the students in our best colleges are voters. They help to make the laws by which the colleges are themselves controlled. The State declares them to be men; it is worse than absurd for the college to continue to treat them as boys. The American method of solving the problem of government is self-government. This method assumes that all men of full age and sane mind are, if not able to take care of themselves, at least better able than their neighbors are to take care of them. A large proportion of the difficulties which make life in American college so often turbulent grow out of the violation of this American principle of political science. The principle is one of universal application. The negro may not be able to take care of himself; but he will suffer less from his own incompetence than he did suffer of old from the selfishness of the white race. The Indian may not be fitted for self-government; but he could hardly do worse for himself than the Indian Bureau has done for him. The Irishman is often pronounced unfit for self-government; but on the whole he makes a better figure in taking care of himself in the United States than the English aristocracy make in taking care of him in Ireland. If the liberty and responsibility of self-government were thrown upon the students in our colleges, doubtless they would make many blunders; but it is doubtful whether the blunders would be greater or more numerous than those which the average Faculty makes in treating them as school boys. And even the blunders which collegians will make in learning the art of self-government will be worth more than they cost; for they will teach them to avoid the same blunders when they get into the life of full grown citizenship. The college that teaches her students most effectually the art of self-government is the one most valuable to the country; and that college will teach self-government most effectually which devolves most completely on its students the duty of self-government, and therefore trains them the most thoroughly in the exercise of that difficult art.—Christian Union.

WE have received from Theo. Butterfield, Gen. Passenger Agent, Utica, N. Y., an elaborate and finely illustrated guide-book of the excursion tours by the Utica and Black River R. R. Tourists who desire to include in their trip the river St. Lawrence, the Thousand Islands, the Adirondack region, Montreal, or the Saguenay river, will find this book of great interest and value.—A trip to these places, especially the Thousand Islands, has been usually preceded by a journey to Niagara Falls; but so many people have visited this resort that a more direct route from this part of the country has been needed; and this want the Utica & Black River R. R. has supplied. We think this resort for pleasure travel is not as well known in this vicinity as its merits demand.—Some of the finest fishing in this country is to be found in that vicinity; there are two fine hotels—the Thousand Island House and the Crossman House—of easy access from Clayton, and a trip thither on the well-equipped road of the Utica & Black River R. R., is as fine a summer excursion as could be planned. Send two 3-cent stamps to Theo. Butterfield, Utica, N. Y., and a copy of the book will be mailed to any address.

Nobody of the "Grant crowd," in fact, seems to be at all cast down by the crisis, except the Rev. Dr. Newman, who was Gen. Grant's chaplain in Washington, and afterward his travelling "inspector of consulates." This gentleman delivered a terrible sermon on the Fourth, in which he demanded the disfranchisement of all persons of foreign birth and the suppression of infidel lecturers like Colonel "Bob" Ingersoll. The disfranchisement of all foreign-born citizens would, it seems to us, be a very harsh measure, and we trust that the Doctor will not insist upon it, even if the Stalwarts do come into power. Guiteau is not a foreigner, and, even if he were, why punish whole classes of citizens for the crime of one man? Besides, the foreigners are not as bad as they seem. Wilkes Booth was a native; so was Bill Tweed; so is Jim McDonald, the leading whiskey thief of the West; so was Jim Fisk; and so is his late partner, Jay Gould; and so is Bob Ingersoll, the eminent infidel; and so were Babcock and Casey. Andrew Johnson, who was well known for a while as the "greatest criminal of the age," was a native.—The "rebel brigadiers," too, are all natives. In fact, in the matter of wickedness the natives hold their own manfully with the bad fellows who come over in the emigrant ships.. We therefore propose as an amendment to Dr. Newman's suggestion that the wicked and atheistic natives be disfranchised along with the foreigners. We shall then be a happy and prosperous people. The "Half-Breed" consuls all over the world must by this time be trembling in their boots lest the Doctor should come round again to "inspect" them.—Nation.

OUR friend, Mr. B. F. Stevens, has our thanks for sample bottles of Stafford's Commercial Ink, which is an easy-flowing, jet black ink, being of a bluish tinge at first writing, but rapidly turning to black. Call and see him when in need of ink.

Try to keep a pretty China cup and saucer, a delicate plate and small goblet, to present food on to the sick, says a writer in the Fall River Daily Herald. One expert nurse always serves beef tea and milk in a wine glass; one of those thin, bell-shaped glasses that hold more than they look to hold. A sick person will turn away from a bowl of milk and be pleased with a pretty cupful. Sick children especially are amused and pleased with the color and patterns of cups and dishes, and there is a trace of the fretful child in every invalid.

There is something tempting in a small quantity. It does not tax the eye. Therefore present just as little as you judge the invalid wants to see. A coarse white dinner plate heaped with food, will take away all appetite, while a small plate or saucer, especially if it is a dainty one, will be successfully cleared. A mauve saucer, or pink plate will coax a feverish patient to eat rice pudding or orange cream, or a few grapes, when all other arts have failed: There seems to be an appetite of the eye as well as of the stomach, and it must not be offended. Very often the effort to lift the head, even if people are not dangerously ill, disinclines them to take refreshing or nourishing drinks. There is no need to disturb such sufferers by propping them up with pillows and making them lift their heads and change their position. A bent glass tube sold at the apothecary's is not a signal of extreme illness or lowness, except that the head may rest low. It simply means comfort and that the invalid need not to be disturbed, in a sick headache or extreme fatigue, but can take the beverage provided without a change of position. The art of comfort is not cure, but it goes a great way to help that desirable end.

THE VALUE OF THE PAPER.—The columns of a paper are the publisher's stock in trade, and the parties who ask to use them for their special benefit must expect to pay for the same. Every public spirited citizen of a place should have a pride in seeing his town and surroundings improve; every manufacturing establishment, every new business house erected, every new business opened, enhances the value of property in our midst. Every reflecting mind knows this to be true, and it should not be forgotten that the local newspaper adds much to the general wealth and prosperity of the place, as well as increases the reputation of the town abroad. It benefits all having business in the place; enhances the value of property, besides being a desirable public convenience. It increases trade, it cautions against imposition, it warns you of danger, it points out different advantages, and increases your profits. The local press is the power that moves the people; therefore support it by advertising in it liberally, subscribing for it and paying for it. —Corvallis (Oregon) Gazette.

The Eastern railroad company recently gave the Narrow Gauge company notice of their desire to withdraw from the verbal agreement entered into by these corporations some four years ago, to maintain uniform rates over the two lines. At the time the contract was was made, it was agreed that either party desiring the dissolution of the same should give the other one years notice. This is liable to make things lively in 1882.—Lynn Bee.

MISS MARY B. WILSON, well known to our lady patrons, has removed her Millinery establishment to No. 262 Essex street, a few doors from her old stand, the same being the store formerly occupied by Miss Spiller, the agent for Butterick's patterns. The friends of Miss Wilson will be sure to find her in her new quarters—as she has long been known as one of Salem's most successful milliners.

The steamer Empire State to-morrow makes a trip along the North Shore, one of the finest excursions made by that steamer. Friday an all-day fishing trip. Saturday the steamer is chartered by the Conant Thread Co., of Pawtucket, R. I., for an excursion of their employes, and Sunday the steamer goes to Provincetown.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Nice Ripe Bananas at Hewitt's, 9 Main street.—Adv.

CHANGED HIS OPINION.—A short time ago we called on a certain party in business in Vallejo, asking him why he did not advertise in the "Chronicle."

"Oh, because," he answered, "what is the use? Nobody will ever see it."

"You are mistaken," said we; "every page in our paper is read."

"Nonsense," he replied; "even if they did read my ad., people would never think of it again. I don't want to advertise."

"But—"

"No buts at all. I don't want to advertise, and don't bother me any more, I'm busy;" and he walked back to his store, and strangled a poor little fly that was helping itself rom a barrel of sugar.

Time passed and we never again intimated "advertisement" to him, though meeting him daily. Yesterday the gentleman called at our sanctum looking a little uncertain as to how he would be received. We cherished no hard feeling and motioned him to a chair.

"I suppose you heard of that little affair of mine below."

"Oh yes," said we; "that little escapade on Kearney street, night before last? Yes we've got all the particulars—"

"Hush! not so loud, please," said he; "of course you are going to say nothing in the paper about it."

"And why not? It's a matter of interest to your friends and people generally."

"Heavens! Why it would ruin me."

"Oh, no guess not, nobody will ever see it."

"Yes they will, and it will ruin me as sure as I am sitting here. I'll be the laughing-stock of the town. They will see it."

We rose and touched him impressively on the shoulder.

"Well, we will admit that the people will see it, but then you know they will never think of it again."

His words came back to him like a flash, and he trembled so violently that his eyeballs fairly jingled, and he was such an object of commiseration that we promised to keep mum. This little moral is drawn from the above, which is applicable the world over: Ask a man to advertise and he will immediately say, in the majority of cases, that "nobody will see it;" but advertise gratis some little indiscretion he may commit, and he immediately grows indignant over the certainty that the whole world will know it.—Vallejo, Cal., Chronicle.

Our readers should not forget that the Lowell Island House, in Salem Harbor, is now open for the season. This house is too well-known in this vicinity to need any extended mention. It has been a favorite resort for our citizens for years. By reference to advertisement in another column it will be seen that steamers run from Phillips Wharf at seasonable hours, giving an enjoyable sail and plenty of time for a nice fish dinner. A band of music has also been engaged for Saturday evenings and Sunday mornings, and everything has been done to enhance the comfort and enjoyment of its patrons by the proprietors of the Island House.

We are informed that, last Thursday night, on the arrival of some Peabody people in Salem from the Point of Pines, they met a car of the Naumkeag Street Railway, which had been to Peabody with passengers who had remained at the dance at the Willows, and was returning to the stables. The superintendent immediately ordered the car to return to Peabody at that late hour, and convey the passengers who desired to come thither from Salem. It is with great pleasure that we record such instances of the accommodating spirit of the company, which will not be forgotten by the public.

POLICE NOTES.—July 20. Thomas Myers, assault, (two charges), $18.20.

21st. John Linehan, keeping liquor with intent to sell, $50 and costs.

21st. Jas. Corbett, keeping liquor with intent to sell, $50 and costs.

25th. Peter Kiley, drunk, $5.85.

"You are very young to be stealing for a living. Are you going to make that your profession?" "Yes, sir; my father wants me to learn the rudiments thoroughly before I run for office."

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co. —Adv.

Extra Sweet Oranges, California Plums, at Hewitt's, 9 Main street.—Adv.

Poet's Corner.

(For the Fireside Favorite)

Sunset After the Tempest.

BY LYDIA DAVIS THOMPSON.

And there's a breathless stillness in the air,
And all the blue, beyond, is wondrous fair;
The thunder's heavy roll is heard no more,
The lightning all its fiery force hath spent—
Lulled is the wind that one short hour before
Would fain the heaven and earth in twain have rent,
And all the world lies peaceful and content,—
For, lo, the mighty storm-king's work is o'er.

Calm and subdued, a remnant of the cloud
That lately rode the air so grand and proud,
Lies in the west, tipped with refulgent gold
And matchless hues, no painter's brush hath told,
Reflected from the sun's late, lingering ray,
That yet athwart the hills and meads doth play,
And shimmers through the "never silent trees"
Where now the faintest semblance of a breeze
Just stirs the shining leaflets, with their weight
Of myriad pearly raindrops, tarrying late,
That, too, have caught the sun's all glorious light
And in it flash like yellow diamonds bright,—
All things are so like some sweet angel dream
That Nature from herself seems all estranged;
And lost in wonder, one indeed might deem
That far-off heaven awhile with earth had changed.

A Sailor's Song.

[Modern Ending.]

He sailed away at break of day
And left her all forlorn.
She sat and gazed upon the bay,
With grief and anguish torn.

A month had passed; and still she wept
For her lost sailor lover.
For him a silent watch she kept,
While he was half seas over.

A year had passed; the storm was high,
Ah! would the good ship come?
She gazed upon the angry sky
And rushed from out her home.

The storm had fled with dawning day,
The rising sun was red,
Lo! there beside the wharf he lay,
Her sailor boy—was dead-(drunk).

—The Score.

The Value of Opera.

One leaves the dessert with regret;
The sweets and cream are nice, and yet
One can't his taste for champagne get Until he's had an olive eat.

—Puck.

And when one has had an olive eat
One does not feel contented yet,—
Not by a lengthy chalk, you bet,—
Until one has had one's cigarette.

—Somerville Journal.

And when you've done the cigarette,
Contented from the table get,
Say, as your finger-tips you wet,
"I am content with 'all I've eat.'"

—The Score.

Selected Story.

A KITCHEN REVOLT.

"Then I shall be under the necessity of giving you your week's notice!" said Mrs. Youngbride, just after breakfast; having given Biddy, the cook, directions against which that official rebelled, and she left the kitchen fearing a storm. She trusted for the dinner to what the cook should please, and a bootless trust it was.

The dinner, we need hardly say, was execrable, and execrably served. The husband was a man of amiable temper, and wonderful discretion; and checked his young wife, who would else have gone into a long discussion of the difficulties with the kitchen cabinet. The waitingmaid, who had expected to have a full budget to report to Biddy, in the kitchen, as usual, could only state her inferences and deductions. These were that the gentlemen had decidedly reproved his wife for giving the cook her notice; and, therefore, the said notice would very likely be revoked, and that Biddy might then demand increased wages if she remained, and would be a fool if she did not do so. And so a rebellious conclave was being held in the kitchen. Waitingmaid resolved upon an increase, chambermaid ditto.—And that included the whole force.

What the lady and her husband did say to each other, when their natural enemies, the servants, were all out of hearing, it is not necessary to relate. Its tenor, however, may be guessed by what followed. The husband had left the house; and Biddy was sailing out, dressed in her best, without the formality of stating her gracious intentions. Her mistress called her, and said:—

"Here are your wages, including the coming week, and the sooner you leave the house, the better it will be."

"But, ma'am, you have not got a new cook yet, and I have not got a new place."

"The first is my business, and the second is your own."

"But won't I stop here, ma'am, till I get a new situation?"

"Indeed you won't if I can help it."

"But where will I go then?".

"That is your lookout and not mine. I shall not endure your impertinence for a whole week or suffer you to make use of my house for your new base of operations."

"Base, is it? Base! Sure, if there's any law or justice in the land, I'll take it."

Bridget did not understand the terms, however well she might the operation of "strategy." So she departed in high dudgeon. But she had good fortune, and soon returned, all smiles and compliments.

"Sure, I've found a place. ma'am, and will leave in the morning, ma'am, and we'll part good friends, ma'am, and forget and forgive, ma'am."

"Very glad to hear it, Bridget, and I hope you will do as you should in your new place, and not be dismissed for impertinence and sloveliness."

"That's what I never was yet, ma'am," said Bridget, bridling. "The best of folks may have a tiff sometimes. I'm soon up, and it's soon over."

"Very well, Bridget," said Mrs. Youngbride, willing to dismiss her without altercation. But Bridget was not done yet.

"I'm to go to Mrs. Brown's, ma'am."

The lady was cogitating within herself whether she ought not to put her friend Mrs. Brown on her guard, but concluded it was unnecessary. Bridget was honest, as honesty is regarded among her class; and Mrs. Brown might find out her faults at her leisure. But Biddy was not disposed to be content with such negative proceedings.

"If you please, ma'am, Mrs. Brown said, ma'am, that she would take a line from you, ma'am, if you please, ma'am."

"Do you mean that I am to give you a recommendation?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Bridget, her face lighting up; "that's it, a bit of writin', if you please."

"And not a bit of any sort will you get from me, Bridget, unless you want a certificate that you are so intolerable that I am glad to be rid of you on any terms."

Terrible was the wrath of Bridget. We cannot undertake to report the harangue, commencing with threats and terminating with a penitent and doleful whining.

"Would you ruin a poor body who had only her character and her hands to depend on?"

But the lady was inflexible. And she was none the less determined when she found that Bridget's fellow-servants took part with her. Waiter and chamber-maid gave notice and were summarily discharged; and the husband and wife actually took breakfast alone in the house next morning. After breakfast a little search enabled the lady to secure a temporary assistant, in a good-natured but not very efficient person, who had served them before in similar straits. They declared her awkwardness was rather amusing than otherwise.

"Now," said the husband, "you must look for new servants."

"Indeed I shall not," said the lady. "There is just the difficulty. They think themselves in too much demand. They must look for me."

The gentleman was amused. That was precisely his opinion, too. But wise husbands do not volunteer advice in domestic matters. Very soon the door bell rang. Mrs. Youngbride answered it herself. A fierce looking termagant desired to see the "Missis."

"You do see her."

"And isn't it a shame, now, that the likes of you should be running to the door! You will be wanting a waiter, and I am tould, a cook. I've lived in the best places, and I've had the best wages. Have you a range, ma'am, and proper conveniences?"

"Who sent you here?"

"I came from the office, ma'am; they tould me of you there, and I thought I would see if the place suited me."

"I don't think you will suit the place. You may go back to the office and tell them that when I want their services I will let them know."

"But sure your name is on their books."

"And sure I did not put it there," said Mrs. Youngbride, determined to close the conference, and shut the door in the woman's face.

As Mrs. Youngbride would not go to the mountain, the mountain, reversing Mahomet's experience, came to her. She had the grim satisfaction of shutting the door in the face of a dozen applicants during the first day. Her husband, as yesterday's "baked meats did coldly furnish forth" the dinner table, was surprised, but more amused at her account of the proceedings. He inquired if, with so many applications, she did not consider herself as sufficiently "sought."

"Not yet," she said, "I am a little coy, as you remember. Do not come home to dinner to-morrow till seven o'clock."

"I am all obedience. What are you going to do?"

"Don't ask. And do not come to see. I am not at home to any of my callers. Like Mrs. Gargery, I am on a rampage, and if you value your place, keep out of it. Send up your porter from the store if you can spare him."

And verily, she was on a rampage. With a supplementary force, enlisted somewhere by her day woman, she turned every dust hole on the premises inside out from the attic to the cellar. Broom and mops were the order of the day. The kitchen department, larder and pantries were turned up as they had never been before. All the damaged, battered, bruised and dirty utensils were cast out, or distributed as perquisites to the women who had officiated in the cleansing process; and at five in the afternoon Mrs. Youngbride was ready to rest on her laurels. All the day long the door bell had jingled in vain. The "ringers" who had an office look about them were permitted to ring at their leisure, and all other applicants were turned civilly away. It was a day of triumph, and Mrs. Youngbride felt like a heroic commander, who has sustained a seige, and successfully repelled all attacks.

The dinner was a success. It was a perfect treat for an epicure, and her liege-lord, who had a little weakness in that direction, asked her how she contrived to get it up.

"I did not," she answered. "It came from the restaurant."

"Good again!" he shouted. "But can we do this every day?"

"Wait and see. I am not done yet. You are not to come to-morrow until seven again."

On the morrow Mrs. Youngbride made a sortie from her citadel, leaving her sister, whose aid she had now secured, in charge of the garrison. She went out to a kitchen-furnishing store, and invested judiciously in half a hundred of those really ingenious contrivances which true housekeepers can make use of. At an early hour they were all in place, and many of them were in operation. And at seven a little dinner was ready to which Lucullus might have been invited.

"Better and better!" cried the husband. "Where did this dinner come from?"

"Our own kitchen," she answered, "and after dinner you shall have a look at it."

"But you and your sister do not really mean to turn cooks?"

"I don't know. She could make better wages at it than many a well educated lady does at teaching; and a cook's wages and board together amount to a greater sum annually than many a parish pays its clergyman. We might do a great deal worse than turn cooks."

After dinner they adjourned to the kitchen. A nice new oil-cloth was on the floor; bright tins and other utensils, and every possible convenience which ingenuity should devise were in the place.

"Upon my word," said Mr. Youngbride, lighting a cigar and taking a chair, "I could toss up a supper here myself, fit for a queen. Will you have your oysters stewed, fried, or roasted in the shell?"

"You get up a supper?" said the wife.

"Yes, indeed. Did I not graduate at Yale? And didn't we have nice suppers there? Suppers they were, too. I think I will get up the breakfast to-morrow morning, at any rate."

"Do!" said his wife. And he did.

Housekeeping was a rare frolic for two or three days longer. Then Mrs. Youngbride announced that her new servant was coming, and that Mr. Youngbride must keep out of the kitchen.

"Only one?" he asked. "You discharged three."

"Yes. I shall take one at a time, and break them in."

The one, when she came, was a half-grown girl, who was glad of a home, and knew how to prize it. Mrs. Youngbride was head and eyes to her, and the small servant was only hands and feet. Breakfast and tea were easy enough. Bread came from the baker's, and about every other day dinner from the restaurant. And when Mrs. Youngbride gave an entertainment it all came from the same place, servants and all.

In a few weeks another young girl was taken on trial, and was made to understand that she was the junior. The two, kept distinct as to their duties, worked well together. To make a long story short, Mrs. Youngbride herself overseeing everything, soon had a trio of competent young girls at work. Not the least of their wages was the instruction they received. When any cause removed one from her service she supplied her place with another, training them all like the members of a French theatrical company, to do what they were told.

Her household moves like clock-work. Her husband says she is a true "Sister of Charity," a "Domestic Missionary," and that her kitchen is a training school of the very best kind. She certainly accomplished not a little good, while she secures her own comfort and that of her household.

Miscellaneous.

Historical Incidents.

The New York Times publishes a sketch of the life of Hannibal Hamlin, of Maine, which contains many interesting reminiscences of the war. The following concerning the emancipation act and the employment of negroes in the army, are interesting from a historical standpoint:

When the war commenced the Vice-President, in advance of many of his associates, foresaw that its ultimate result must be the liberation of the slaves. It is not claimed, certainly not by him, the most modest of men, that he had any accurate idea as to the exact manner in which such liberation was to occur; still he was convinced that, sooner or later, and in some way, the slaves would be set free. Holding these views, as the war progressed he repeatedly pressed upon the President the advisability of issuing an emancipation proclamation. To all the arguments in favor of such a course Mr. Lincoln gave the most thoughtful and earnest attention, but still let drop no hint as to what his action in the matter would be.—This was the situation one evening when Mr. Hamlin went to the White House and announced to the President that he intended to leave that night for a visit to his home.

"No, you don't intend to do anything of the sort," was the somewhat remarkable response of the President.

"Oh, yes, but I do," replied Hamlin, not quite understanding Mr. Lincoln.

"No," said the latter, "you do not intend anything of the sort. In short, Mr. Vice-President, you will not leave Washington at present." This Mr. Lincoln said with a look that was far more significant than his words, and Hamlin, seeing that he had something of more than ordinary importance on his mind, replied:

"Of course, I will not think of doing so if you wish otherwise. You are the commander-in-chief, and I am under orders."

"And I order you," continued the President, laughing, "to sit in that chair, and afterward to ride with me to supper." Hamlin did as he was directed, and shortly afterward the two gentlemen, guarded by a file of soldiers, rode on horseback out to the summer residence of the President. There they quietly partook of a light supper, and then the President invited his guest into the library. Here, having carefully closed the door, he turned to his trusty adviser and said:

"Mr. Hamlin, you have been repeatedly urging me to issue a proclamation emancipating the slaves. I have concluded to yield to your advice in the matter, and that of other friends, at the same time, as I may say, following my own judgment. Now, listen to me while I read this paper. We will correct it together as we go on." Saying which the President unrolled and read the famous proclamation which gave liberty to four million human chattels.

Still another important incident in the same direction: Mr. Stanton, the secretary of war, together with Vice-President Hamlin, had frequently urged upon President Lincoln the advisability of organizing regiments of colored troops. The President, however, did not at first look favorably upon the proposition, and Mr. Stanton had almost given up hope of bringing him to his way of thinking. One evening, while this was the situation, a deputation of army officers, all brave, well-informed and earnest men, though none of them of particularly high rank, went to the Vice-President's lodgings and begged him to urge the President to authorize the arming of negroes.

"If such a thing can be done," said Mr. Hamlin, after hearing them through, "would you and other men like you be willing to command the colored troops?"

"Yes, sir, gladly," they replied, almost in a breath.

"Very well," was the decisive response of Mr. Hamlin, "if you are willing to undertake the task, I will see to it that you have an opportunity of presenting your views to the President." Saying this, though it was 10 o'clock at night, he sent a messenger to the White House asking when it would be convenient for Mr. Lincoln to see him and his army friends. The President, without delay, fixed an interview for 8 o'clock the next morning.

At that hour Mr. Hamlin, with ten officers went to the White House. The latter fully presented the case to Mr. Lincoln. When they had done so he turned to Hamlin and said, evidently much perplexed:

"What is your best judgment about this?"

"I think," was the reply, "that these gentlemen are entirely right. If they are ready to move—if they and other good men like them are ready to give up their present positions and take places in negro regiments—I am sure it is but right that you should give them authority to do so."

"Yes, yes," repeated the President three or four times, and then with the exclamation, "I suppose the time has come!" he turned to his desk and for a few moments wrote rapidly. Then, turning to Hamlin, he said: "Here is an order to Secretary Stanton authorizing the arming of colored troops."

"May I be your messenger to the secretary?" eagerly asked Mr. Hamlin.

"Yes, yes," said the President, smiling in his own quaint way; "take it to Stanton, take it to Stanton; I am glad to know that you are both satisfied."

Without a moment's delay the Vice-President hurried to the war office, found the secretary in his private room, and hastily told what had occurred.

"No, no; it can't be possible," exclaimed Stanton, with suppressed excitement, and hardly daring to believe that one of his pet schemes was about to go into effect.

"Here is the President's order," was Hamlin's simple response. Hastily the secretary took and read it, was silent for a moment, and then throwing aside his usual gruffness of manner, his real, deep, earnest, impulsive feeling came to the surface, great tears welled into his eyes, and flowed over his care-worn face. Then convulsively throwing his arms about Hamlin, he cried out with all the earnestness of a deep, strong nature:

"Thank God for this! thank God for this!"

A LITTLE GIRL'S MITE.—About nine years ago a little girl came with her mother asking to be received as a member of the Cohocsink church, Philadelphia. She was but seven years old, and the session was not disposed to receive her on account of her age, though she had answered the questions asked better than many adults. They asked; "Don't you think that you had better wait a while?" But she said; "You said last Sunday the Lord's Supper was for those who love and obey Him and I am sure I love and I am trying to obey Him." The pastor asked if she had been coming to church, to which she replied: "Mamma and I come at night. We are poor, and our clothes are not good enough to come in the daytime." The pastor then said: "Brethren, if you feel that you cannot receive this child, I think I will have to take her on my own responsibility." She was accordingly received. She was a frail child and not afterward able to be at church; and during the following summer her father and mother took her to Vermont to see if the change and mountain air would improve her health. On the first Sabbath in September of that year the pastor was sent for to be with her in her dying hour. He talked and prayed with her as an heir almost of heaven, and when he came to part with her she told her mother to get her money, all that she had received in her life, consisting of a one-dollar bill and three and five-cent pieces, amounting to $4.21. This she placed with her own feeble hands in the box in which was the last powder of her medicine, saying as she put in the money: "I shall not want any more medicine;" and then turning to her pastor with an inexpressible look of loving confidence, thinking, in her childish simplicity, that this money was enough, and taking his hand, said: "I want you to take this money and build with it a church for poor people like us. Now," she said, "promise me, so I shall know, when I am in heaven, that it is done." She died that evening.

The pastor who received thus her mite was the Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Mutchmore. He accepted the trust, and soon began sending out a circular under the title of "A Child's Legacy," asking for additions to the fund. The result has at length been the building of a sixty-thousand dollar church to the memory of the little girl. The property at Montgomery avenue and Bouvier street, Philadelphia, was first purchased and mortgaged for $7,000, the instrument being held by the late Alexander Stuart, of New York, and his brother, Robert Stuart, who agreed to cancel the mortgage, provided the church should be finished by January 1, 1882. Alexander Stuart died, but his brother Robert signed an agreement to carry out the original contract. Having the ground, Pastor Mutchmore cast around to get a congregation and place of worship. The church must necessarily be built by voluntary subscriptions. On the night of May 26, 1876, the congregation was organized in a little frame shanty and numbered forty-two persons, and a Sabbathschool was founded; both have been growing ever since. The church was built over and around the old shanty, which was taken out after the first floor of the new edifice was ready to be laid. The new building is to be literally a church for poor people, being free in all its privileges. It has now a membership of 284 persons and an average attendance of 600. Its Sunday-schools comprise forty-five teachers and 355 scholars in the main classes, and five teachers and 284 scholars in the infant class, and it is situated in one of the most rapidly developing sections of Philadelphia.—New York Times.

CONRAD'S ADVERTISEMENT.

CONRAD'S CLEARING-OUT SALE.

1000 One Dollar Hats, at 13c.

500 Fifty Cent Canvas Belts, at 17c.

100 $2.25 Misses Madras Gingham Dresses, trimmed with Lace and Hamburg, at $1.25.

50 doz. $1.00 Shetland Shawls, at 50c.

75 Misses' Lawn Suits in 3 pieces, for $1.25—regular price $3.50.

Also great Bargains in Ladies' Suits, Jackets, Capes, &c., &c.

Marked Down to Close the Season's Stock.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

191-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors,
Sitting Rooms,
Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

WE HAVE A FULL LINE OF

SCOTCH AND AMERICAN

GINGHAMS, LAWNS, ETC.,

FOR SUMMER WEAR, AT LOW PRICES.

Also, a large assortment

LADIES' NECKWEAR,

NEW GOODS AND VERY HANDSOME.

SPRING SACKS AND DOLMANS,

Marked down to close out.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

"I say, Mac, do you know why you remind me of a river?" Mac thought there was a compliment in store for him and guessed that it was because something sparkling comes out of his mouth all the time. "Not quite," responded Gilhooly; "you remind me of a river because your mouth is bigger than your head."

☞ There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

A gentleman in the New York Swamp met a rather "uncertain" acquantaince the other day, when the latter says, "I'm a little short, and would like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic." "Proceed," observed the gentleman, "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had $10 in your pocket, and I should ask you for $5, how much would remain?" Ten dollars," was the prompt answer.

Deacon-about-to-manage-a-Sunday-school picnic: Yes, lemonade is sometimes made of lemons, but we don't know how it would do to use that kind at a Sunday school picnic. It's an experiment.

It is better to wear a poor vest with a royal heart beneath it than to wear a royal vest with a beggar heart inside.

☞ Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

The husband of Barnum's fat woman, who weighs 498, has one consolation. He knows no other fellow will ever get his arm around her

A New Jersey widow could only earn six dollars at the washtub, but as soon as she became a clairvoyant her income increased to sixty.—Detroit Free Press.

☞ How to Get a Husband.—Take of modesty a large proportion; unite it with urbanity and good humor; to which add good sense, and plenty of love, with a virtuous heart and pretty face. Take Simmon's Liver Regulator regularly, that the blood and complexion be pure and good.

"From actual exyerience in my practice, I am satisfied to prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

jy27 "T. W. Mason, M. D.

In Idaho a young lady punched out one of a black bear's eyes with her parasol. That bear will know better next time than to go near a woman with a parasol. He'll give her the whole sidewalk, same as we poor men have to.

A man was found dead on a country road in Kentucky, with fourteen bullet holes in him, and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of 'Death from undue excitement.'

Mr. Orlando Weatherbee, says an exchange of ours, proprietor "The Spencer Pharmacy," Spencer, Mass., reports: My customers speak very highly of the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, it having always given satisfaction. One of them, Mr. Henry Belcher, has been greatly benefited by its use in a case of severe rheumatism, and he refers to it in terms of highest praise.

There is an old gateman in the railway station in Media, Pennsylvania, who instead of the usual 'show your ticket!' accosts the traveler with, 'Whar to stranger?' Persons going to Boston used to be startled at Springfield by a brakeman's cry: 'Springfield! Swap cars for the Connecticut River road!'

Eunice was 6 years old and Sarah was 5. One morning Sarah said to Eunice, "I won't love you if you do so." Eunice said: "You must not say so. God won't love you if you don't love everybody." Sarah replied: "Well, I guess God did not hear me. He is away up high, and I guess he is a little deaf."

A Card.

Glen's Falls, N. Y., Dec. 14, 1880.
Rev. Mr. L. N. St. Onge,

Dear Sir:—Will you please state below what satisfaction St. Jacobs Oil gives you, which you got of us some time ago, and oblige

Leggett & Bush.

Very effective. L. N. St. Onge.
—Glen's Falls (N. Y.) Times.

'Our hearts, our thoughts, our very beings grow tender with age,' said the boarding house keeper, thoughtfully. 'Yes,' said the new boarder, who was battling with a piece of fowl; 'but hens do not.' The landlady looked as if she saw the point.

A young woman who has recently taken editorial control of the Ellis (Kansas) Headlight announces that she is "a girl, with a girl's love for fun, frolic, and romance." Perhaps, then, it would be better for her to transpose the syllables of th name of her paper.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

The question of who was the author of the expression: "I hate a fly!" is agitating Philadelphia papers. We'll decide it as soon as somebody will inform us who who the first man to see a fly.

The printer set up the name "Donn Piatt" as "Dan'l Pratt." Piatt thought he could stand it, but Pratt said it was a contemptible outrage.

The best people will vote for the best man everytime. And we judge by the number of the St. Jacobs Oil constituency, that it is the best remedy for the rheumatesm known. Prof. Tice, of St. Louis, among others, says so.—Rural New Yorker.

THE BLUE LAWS OE CONNECTICUT.

We often hear mention made of the Blue Laws of Connecticut, but how many of our readers know just what they were We publish them below in full. It was not deemed necessary in those early times to publish statute books containing hundreds of pages of laws to keep the feet of the people in the straight and narrow path that leads to salvation. The laws, though few, were to the point, and were not so liable as at the present time to be twisted by lawyers to suit the exigencies of any case that might arise. They are so plain that "he who runs may read." The laws of Virginia were almost identical with those of Connecticut. The following are the Connecticut laws.

The governor and magistrates convened in general assembly are the supreme power under God of this independent dominion.

From the determination of the assembly no appeal shall be made.

The governor is amenable to the voice of the people.

The governor shall not have a single vote in determining any question, except a casting vote, on which the general assembly shall be equally divided.

If any person turn Quaker, he shall be banished, and not suffered to return upon pain of death.

No Catholic priest shall abide in this dominion; he shall be banished and suffer death on his return.

Priests may be seized by anyone without a warrant.

No one can cross a river, but with an authorized ferryman.

No one shall run on the Sabbath day, or walk in his garden, or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting.

No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave on Sunday.

No woman shall kiss her children on the Sabbath or any fasting days.

The Sabbath shall begin at Sunset on Saturday.

To pick an ear of corn growing in a neighbor's garden shall be deemed a theft.

A person accused of trespass in the night shall be judged guilty, unless he clear himself by his oath.

No one shall buy or sell land without permission of the selectmen.

The assembly of the people shall not be dismissed by the governor, but shall dismiss itself.

Conspiracy against the dominion shall be punished with death.

Whosoever says there is power and jurisdiction above and over this dominion shall suffer death.

The judges shall determine controversies without a jury.

No one shall be a freeman or give a vote unless he be converted and a member in full communion of one of the churches allowed in the state.

Each freeman shall swear by the blessed God to bear true allegiance to this dominion, and that Jesus is the only King.

No Quaker, or dissenter from the established worship of this dominion, shall be allowed to give a vote for the election of magistrates, or any officer.

No food or lodging shall be offered to a Quaker. Adamite or other heretics.

A drunkard shall have a master appointed by the selectmen, who are to debar him from buying and selling.

Whoever publishes a lie to the prejudice of his neighbor, shall be set in the stocks or whipped ten stripes.

No minister shall keep a school

Every rateable person who refuses to pay his portion to support the minister of the town or parish, shall be fined by the court £2 and £4 every quarter, until he or she pays the rate to the minister.

Men stealers shall suffer death.

Whosoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver, or bone lace above 2s per yard, shall be presented by the grand jurors, and the selectmen shall tax the offender £300 estate.

A debtor in prison, swearing he has no estate, shall be sold to make satisfaction.

Whosoever sets fire in the woods, and it burns a house shall suffer death; and persons suspected of this crime shall be imprisoned without bail.

Righteous punishment comes sooner or later to pesterers and practical jokers. They should expect it any time. Says a contemporary;

Years ago, in Penobscot, Me., there lived a man by the name of H——, whose greatest pleasurewas in tormenting others. His own family were generally the butts of his sport. One cold and blustering night, he retired to bed at an early hour, his wife being absent at a neighbor's. Some time after, she, on returning, finding the door closed, demanded admittance.

"Who are you?" cried Mr. H——.

"You know who I am! Let me in,—it's very cold."

"Begone, you strolling vagabond! I want nothing of you here!"

"But I must come in!"

"What is your name?"

"You know my name,—it is Mrs. H!"

"Begone! Mrs. H—— is a very likely woman. She never keeps such late hours as this!"

"If you don't let me in," replied Mrs. H——, "I will drown myself in the well!"

"Do, if you please," he replied.

She then took a log and plunged it into the well, and returned to the side of the door. Mr. H——, hearing the noise, rushed from the house to save, as he supposed, his drowning wife. She, at the same time, slipped in and closed the door after her. Mr. H——, almost nude, in turn demanded admittance.

"Who are you?" she demanded.

"You know who I am. Let me in," or I shall freeze!"

"Begone, you great rogue! I want nothing of you here!"

"But I must come in!"

"What is your name. It is Mr. H——."

"Mr. H—— is a very likely man,—he don't keep such late hours."

Suffice it to say, she, after keeping him in the cold until she was satisfied, opened the door and let him in.

Ruskin never said a truer thing than this:—"If you want knowledge, you must toil for it; if food, you must toil for it; toil is the law. Pleasure comes through toil, and not by self-indulgence and indolence. When one gets to love work, his life is a happy one. Said a poor man in Brooklyn, the other day, with a family of eleven to provide for:—If I were worth a million dollars, I should not wish to do much different than I do now every day, working hour after hour. I love it a thousand times better than to rest." He has for nearly half a century been surrounded by workers, and has caught the spirit of industry. He loves his work better than food or sleep. He is happy who has conquered laziness once and forever.

Great
Reduction in Price of COAL,
—at—
PICKERINGS,
17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.
Where all first-class coals can be found.
Specialty made in Steam Coals.
Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.
Special rates made for large orders
Peabody selling agents:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.
Wharf, 17 Peabody Street.
WM. PICKERING, Jr. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.
jan 1

Coal. Wood. Bark.
Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.
Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.
Hard & Soft Wood,
Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.
Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.
C. S. CLARK,
COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,
also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

Batchelder & Co.,
DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.
Danversport and Peabody.
Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards
OFFICE IN PEABODY:
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,
Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.
Prices as Low as the Lowest,
for the same quality of goods.
HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.
OFFICE:
Second Door West of Hay Scales.
apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,
HUBON BLOCK,
MANUFACTURER OF
Coffins and Caskets,
Of new style, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.
☞ Grave Clothes of every description constantly on hand.
NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,
(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS
☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.
feb 18—tf

Vaughn & Fallon,
Manufacturing & Furnishing
UNDERTAKERS
Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.
7 MAIN ST., PEABODY SQ.
J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.
my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

Myro-Petroleum has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.
je 16

Graham Flour.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES.
nov 24 218 and 222 Derby Street.

Daniel T. Smith,
(Formerly Jesse Smith,)
WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS
Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,
FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,
234 Essex Street,
Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.
CLOCKS.  WATCHES.
JEWELRY,
SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.
—at—
220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,
ENGRAVER,
STENCIL PLATES.
DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,
Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.
234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
je 16—6m

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
REMOVAL.
F. A. WRUCK,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
HAS REMOVED TO
165 ESSEX STREET.
OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.
Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing
a specialty.
Also a good line of
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,
CONSTANTLY ON HAND.
F. A. WRUCK,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

HELLO!
Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,
U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
ap13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

Nador & Goodwin,
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in
PURE SOFT CANDIES!
We make a specialty of
ANGEL CAKE & FIG CANDY
Our 25 cent candies are not surpassed in this county.
Also a full line of House Plants.
Parties furnished with Ice Cream
NADOR & GOODWIN.
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
mch 23—3m

KEROSENE LAMPS. and Wicks, at Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps. Burners, Chimneys S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address True & Co., Augusta, Maine.

New Beans.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

Visit
SOUTHWICK'S
FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,
Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.
OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,
S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.
PEABODY SQUARE.

Cut Flowers,
—for—
Weddings & Funerals
ROSE BUDS,
RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,
PINKS, &c.,
—at—
WARD'S GREENHOUSES,
Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.
☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

Grocery Store
—at the—
COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,
The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see hisassortment of
CHOICE GROCERIES,
Country Produce,
And the best grades of
FLOUR,
n the market, at the lowest prices.
Passage to and from Ireland.
He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.
Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.
Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.
JOHN LINEHAN.
Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

Eben S. Howard,
DEALER IN Choice Family
GROCERIES,
FLOUR, GRAIN, &c.,
COR. MAIN and CALLER STS.,
PEABODY, MASS.

Boston Tea Store.
G. W. Potter & Co.,
Dealers in
First-Class Groceries,
of all kinds,
7 Allen's Block,
Peabody Square.

Samuel W. King,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
58 Main Street,
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1

Are you going
To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the
ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,
If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.
It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.
It will take you by a line which has
STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT
to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.
☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.
The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.
STEERAGE,
OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.
INTERMEDIATE,
$12 HIGHER.
Give the
ALLAN LINE
one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.
For Tickets and Full Information, apply to
CHAS. D. HOWARD,
Agent for Peabody.
Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,
GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,
—and—
PLUMBING.
Sole agent for Miner's
PATENT STREET LANTERNS.
Also dealer in
Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,
Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.
D. B. LORD, JR.,
NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.
7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.
Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS.
Advertising means "business."
It pays advertising men to remain among us.
Job Printing of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, exam- etc. ine,

NOTICE.
We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.
Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515-

Peabody Drug Store,
35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,
Where will be kept a good assortment of
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Toilet Articles, Perfumery,
FANCY GOODS,
And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.
—
OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

Chas. A. Ropes.
—
FAMILY FLOUR!
At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.
HAMS,
LARD IN SMALL TUBS,
MAPLE SUGAR,
Hay & Grain of all kinds
GENERAL PRODUCE.
For Sale by
CHAS. A. ROPES,
41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A Great Cause of
HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF
MANHOOD
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, Induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impoteney, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.
Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address
THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE MAN WHO SPENDS MONEY
For advertising in newspapers in these times without first obtaining an estimate of the cost from GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.'S Newspaper Advertising Bureau, No. 10 Spruce St., New York, is likely to pay $10 for what might be obtained for $5. Such estimates are furnished to all applicants gratis. Send 25 cents for 100-page pamphlet, with list of newspaper rates and references.

Cedar Posts for Sale.
A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of
J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. Hallett & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

A Whole

Piece of Linen Diaper for 88 cts.

A Nice

White Quilt—large—only 89 cts.

Crash.

A nice Linen Crash for 4 1-2 cts.

Prints.

A good line of Prints only 4 1-2 cts.

A Piece

12 yards of Irish Lace only 21 cts.

A Piece

12 yards Valencienne Lace only 25 cts.

Silk Hdkf.

A nice large Silk Handkerchief for 25 cts.

A No. 7

Ribbon—in Fancy Colors—for 5 cts.

A 29-Cent

Ribbon—in Fancy Colors—all silk 12 cts.

A Wide

Dotted Mull Tie—handsome, 25 cts.

One Cent.

A nice Japanese Fan—large 1 cent.

Two Nice

Lead Pencils for 5 cts.

Two Bottles

Moore's or Caw's Ink, 5 cts.

A Very Nice

Ebonized Easel and Satin Photograph Frame for 68 cts.

A Large

Bib Apron, 15 cents—or two for 25 cts.

Straw Cuffs,

All sizes—per pair only 5 cts.

A 25-Cent

Dressing Comb, slightly imperfect, 10 cts.

Jet Bracelets,

Nice patterns—ornamented, 10 cts.

Jet Bracelets,

Very pretty new patterns, 35 cts.

Steel Watch Keys,

All sizes, 2 cts.

Back Combs,

A nice new stock Steel Trimmed Back Combs—the new thing.

Rubber Round Combs for Children, only 5 cents.

Rain Umbrellas.

A Job Lot, decided bargain; 24 in. 88 cts. 26 in. $1; 28 in. $1.25; 30 in. $1.50.

Sun Umbrellas.

The Best and Cheapest line in the city, from 58 cents to $10. All colors and styles that are desirable.

BEADED BELTS,

LEATHER BELTS,

CANVAS BELTS,

BERNHARDT BELTS

Beaded Collars,

Beads by the bunch.

Corsets.

A nice Embroidered Corset for 31 cents. A set of cards with every pair.

CALDER'S DENTINE, only 15 cts.

A nice SILK HDKF., 25 cts.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, July 27, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.

Settled.

When the United States Senate reassembles, and New York has to send for a microscope to see who is sitting in ex-Senator Conkling's chair, the country will tender its sincere condolences that the Empire State should have so severely punished itself for Mr. Conkling's error.—Boston Traveller.

We think the country will tender its sincere condolences to the Empire State that the farce which has been going on for the past few months has been settled. Except in that corner of the State the bitter strife between defenders of the administration and the friends of Conkling has almost ceased during these three weeks that the President has been passing from death to life.—We had hoped that it would not have continued there. It was patent to the weakest mind that Conkling could not be elected; some who would from feelings of personal gratitude have voted for him, dared not go so directly contrary to the voices of their coustituents and the country. Had Conkling retired when he found it was impossible for him to secure his re-election, had he even withdrawn from the contest at the time of the assassination, he might have hoped to possess some influence in his party and State. But he is now in a hopeless minority, having lost his influence with the administration, and in some measure with his own adherents.

There is no question as to the ability of Roscoe Conkling, and it is to be regretted that he should have made such a serious mistake as to resign his place and influence in the Senate, because he could not control a certain nomination. It is also a matter of regret that the Republican party of New York have selected no abler men than Lapham and Miller as Senators from the State. But it would have been still more to be regretted if they had voted to return Conkling and Platt to their old places in the Senate. Gen. Grant has expressed himself in a very weak manner several times in favor of Conkling, when it is a matter of history that during his own administration he several times intimated that a Congressman had no more right to control nominations that were distasteful to him than Conkling had to oppose the nomination of Robertson. We trust that with the settlement at last of this issue will come the union of the Republican party. The political fall of Conkling will be the end of all movements in favor of Grant for a third term—which will surely be a relief. There will certainly be a golden opportunity before President Garfield should he be spared to the country.—We doubt not that he will improve it, and receive the encouragement and sympathy of the entire party.

Our recent articles in these columns criticising in some measure the management of the Eastern R. R., and advocating better accommodations for those who patronize the road from Peabody, have somewhat aroused the conservatism of our neighbor; and although he makes a faint attempt at a slur upon us, he commits himself at the same time to the very position we have maintained. We may say that we have never stated in our paper that we desired a "midnight train;" we called attention to the fact that for the amount of travel on the road the accommodations are very meagre in comparison to what is given by other roads situated the same distance from Boston, and we cited one instance which appeared to us to be an almost parallel case to our town, in regard to the situation of that town with reference to the Lowell R. R. We mentioned that to and from that town there were given many more trains and better accommodations than the Eastern R. R. gives our town, and that this town to which we referred had a train as late as 11.30 every night. We did not say—we do not say now—that we desired the Eastern R. R. to do likewise. We said then, and we repeat it, we ought to have late trains from Boston to Peabody. We are not particular as to the time; any time later than our present arrangement will be a vast improvement. At this season, for instance, there are many of our people who desire to enjoy a day's excursion upon the Empire State. No pleasanter or more refreshing trip on the water can be had. And yet it is impossible to return home from the excursion without coming to Salem, and taking the horse cars to Peabody. Again, people on daily excursions from Boston on other roads, people returning from New York city by the daily trains, are subject to the same inconvenience.—The last train from Boston is at 6 o'clock, coming through to this town, and we question if there is another town in the State, of equal size and within the same radius from Boston, that has the same reason for complaint. Our neighbor says: "We think the public along the route would be better accommodated by a train, leaving Boston at nine o'clock each evening, for Peabody." The italics are ours. The people along the route are accommodated well enough now; it is for the people of Peabody we plead. The people along the route and even to Salem have late trains—theatre trains if you will—each night. All we ask is that our town shall have a reasonable proportion of such accommodations.

Last Sunday was a fine day for our people to visit the Willows, and judging from the large crowd there in the evening, it was improved to a great extent. And just here we desire to say that if there are to be as many people there as last Sunday—full as many as on week-day evenings—the accommodations for transportation should be at least equal to that of week days. This they were not. There are about two hours in each evening when the crowd desire to return at nearly the same time; for this the Street railway has made very proper accommodations by running special cars to the Willows every ten minutes, and by doubling the cars some trips. But they have not done it Sunday—and the crowding and rushing to secure seats from the Pavilion is something that ought not to happen. Then again all the cars do not run directly to Peabody, and after succeeding in obtaining room in a car from the Willows, in many cases the same process of rushing has to be gone through with in Salem, besides a delay of from fifteen minutes to half an hour. If the Railway Co. would have some means of informing the people at the Pavilion the destination of every car as it leaves the Willows, Peabody people would be enabled to leave on the cars that go directly through. This would be necessary only on Sunday, as no cars from the Willows, we understand, run through on week days. It would be a great convenience to our people, and one that they would appreciate, if we could have several cars in the evening of each day that would run directly to Peabody without change. The patrons of the Willows from this town are numerous, and a little improvement in the arrangements of the Railway Co. would tend to further increase their number by increasing the facilities and pleasure of making the trip.

For the past few weeks there has been a cutting of rates for passenger traffic between New York City and the West—until we see that tickets are advertised to be sold as low as five dollars to Chicago. It is stated that the offices in the various cities in the East have been thronged with purchasers, and during this vacation season, students, school teachers and persons of various avocations are availing themselves of the opportunity thus afforded to visit friends in the West. Some people have regarded this war as a stock jobbing operation—merely a trick of Vanderbilt to bring down the price of the stock, and when that is accomplished the present prices of tickets will come to a speedy end. Be this as it may, many people are enabled to enjoy its benefits whose income would not otherwise permit it. It is in this way a benefit to the public. And it has been found that the receipts to the several roads are as large as before the reduction of the rates, although the number of passengers is greater.—This has been found to be the case with all roads that have been willing to try the experiment. The cost of railroad travel is a great deal too high, at the present time, on all the roads. We believe that a majority of the railroad companies, at a slight additional expense, could double their receipts by a reduction of the prices of tickets. Especially is this the case in the thickly settled portions in the vicinity of our large cities. Some of the corporations have tried the experiment somewhat, and with success, but they have only made a beginning. The staid Boston & Albany corporation were surprised beyond measure at the enormous amount of people who embraced the opportunity of participating in their excursions, last season, from Springfield and that region to our coast. We wish they would give us more of such surprises. We think the corporations in control of the rail and steamboat lines to New York made a great mistake in forming the combination which they entered into to increase the rate of passage. At no time for a number of years has the expense of a trip to that city been as great as it is now.—Many people who would go thither on business or pleasure once or twice in a week go once or twice per month. And we think the receipts under the present high rates are less than under the old regime. Cheap transportation is of benefit to the public and to the corporations alike.

We intimated in last week's issue that the Eastern R. R. would do well to give us occasionally an excursion to the Point of Pines, where they are so extensively advertising band concerts and fireworks. We take it all back. If the reports are true which we have received from parties who visited that place last Thursday, the entire management ought to be severely punished for the disappointment and lack of accommodations furnished to the thousands who were attracted thither. The comparatively small number who came there the next evening when the promised programme was carried out, ought to have taught the proprietors a lesson. We did not suppose that the Railroads or the large Hotels on the beach were novices in the art of transportation or accommodation of their patrons. But we must attribute it either to that or gross negligence. An enormous price was also charged in the way of refreshment. We hear of one instance where the sum of $1.67 was charged for two plates of clam chowder. It is very clear that this resort will not have or deserve patronage under such circumstances. It is getting to be altogether too common a thing to practice these extortions at seaside resorts, and in many cases the patrons are at such a decided disadvantage that submission is the only thing possible. The remedy consists in avoiding them in the future. Another grand display is offered at this Point of Pines for this week, and if the entertainment promised is carried out with as much reliability as it was last week, we advise our readers to remain away.

We have reason to feel encouraged at the very complimentary remarks we have received from many quarters, on our articles treating of affairs of a general local interest. We intend, as we have previously said, to make the Press in every sense of the word, a local paper, and the fact that the measures we have advocated have caused general comment, and even opposition in some quarters, is to us a very gratifying sign. We have even trod on the toes of our very conservative neighbor, who takes occasion in his last issue to refer to our measures and advertise our sheet to his readers in at least four different places, nearly as many times as there are original articles in his whole paper. For all these things we are profoundly grateful, and it assures us that, like the enforcement of the liquor law by the Selectmen, we have made a move in the right direction. The call for the Press is steadily on the increase, last week's demand more than exceeding our supply, and we intend to leave no stone unturned to make our paper all that our constant and united efforts can secure for it.

IT IS REPORTED

That the tax bills will soon be out.

That the owners of property hereabouts will be made happy.

That the picnic season is over.

That Camp-meetings are next in order.

That to many of the attendants the latter are only picnics on a large scale.

That now Peabody's shade trees are fully appreciated.

That more should be set out.

That in setting out trees the effect is better if the same kind of trees are set out on each street.

That this is amended to our neighbor's annual street improvement boom.

That our pastors are getting ready for their vacation.

That some of our churches will be closed.

That considerable opposition is being manifested in some quarters against such closing.

That this will not interfere with the vacations of the pastors themselves.

That after August 1st cable dispatches between Great Britain and the United States will be reduced to twenty-five cents per word.

That the Queen will undoubtedly communicate more frequently with the Press.

That the crowd in the cars from the Willows last Sunday was immense.

That the stock in the Street Railroad ought to be good.

That there was considerable hanging on to secure a passage.

That if the passengers succeed in "hanging on," the conductors do not.

That the landlord who thinks he can grow rich by advertising a poorly kept hotel will mourn his folly when too late.

That a guide board is a very good thing, but it can't mislead a man more than once.

That Peabody, Danvers and several other towns in this vicinity have been secured by capitalists who intend forming a company for lighting our streets and dwellings with the electric light.

That it will probably cause a reduction in the price of gas.

That we shall not sell our stock in the Salem Gas Light Co. this week.

That the fish dinners of Davis & Fay, at the Pavilion at the Willows, are just the thing.

That they are equal to any first class hotel in the country.

That they cost only fifty cents.

That a couple of Chinamen were in Salem last Friday, looking for a building in which to open a laundry.

That it would be a Celestial place.

That some people believe all men are created equal—except Chinamen.

That our articles on the history of the churches will be ready about Sept. 1.

That the Press will probably be in demand.

That the turnout of the Naumkeag Street Railway in Poole's Hollow is a decided nuisance.

That it is not used, and is half covered up with earth.

That it is not only inconvenient, but dangerous.

That our surveyors should attend to it.

That the Peabody Post office is to be made a money order office.

That this will be an improvement in the right direction.

That if the night watch should seize any liquor they would be in a bad fix.

That they would be compelled to go to Lawrence to testify against the liquor sellers.

That they would have to go in the day time and do duty at night.

That the Selectmen should provide a substitute for them.

That Woburn has got a new telegraph fire-alarm.

That our town is behind the times in this respect.

That it ought to have some sort of a fire-alarm system.

That a number of our citizens have paid for water for their lawn sprinklers this summer.

That they are puzzling their brains how to get even with the water commisioners in view of the frequent showers the season has thus far provided.

That lager at fifty cents a glass would soon ruin the liquor trade in Peabody.

That this is the price it was sold for at the Point of Pines last Thursday evening.

That the people there must have been thirsty.

That Stevens sells good soda for five cents a glass.

That the Press knows all about it.

Our Postmaster, Mr. Ward, informs us that by his exertions he has procured a new mail for the benefit of the people of Peabody, leaving Boston in the 12 o'clock train for this town. This mail will arrive at about 1 o'clock. The first one arrived Monday, July 25th. This mail will certainly be a great convenience to the public, and it is with pleasure that we record this evidence of Mr. Ward's desire to cater to the convenience and advantage of the citizens of the town.

The latest and greatest European wonder will be introduced for the first time on August 1st, at Bunnell's Museum, corner of Broadway and Ninth St., New York city. It is a two-headed girl with four arms and a single trunk. She, or they, can converse with each other and each can carry on conversation with separate persons. One talks English, French, Spanish and German. They remain in New York but a short time.

A subscriber asks, "Does the Press mean the Argus in its complimentary notices of the Salem handbill?"—Peabody Reporter.

Why don't our neighbor answer its correspondent? If he wishes the Press to reply, we will gladly do so, and give our reasons, in addition, for the title we have applied to the sheet in question.

Officers of the Eastern and Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad companies had a consultation on Saturday, in regard to the running of trains to and from Point of Pines. A mutual understanding was arrived at.

New Advertisements.

CLAM BAKE,

— AT THE —

LAFAYETTE HOUSE,

SALEM, MASS.,

Every Thursday,

Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
SALEM, MASS.
Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A DIVIDEND of Three Dollars per share will be payable at the office of the Treasurer, on WEDNESDAY, July 27, to stockholders of record July 23, 1879.
DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.
Salem, July 23, 1881. jy 27—3w

TENEMENT TO LET,

Near the Catholic Church. Inquire at jy 27 46 Lowell Street.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers,

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

FINE STATIONERY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books.

IN GREAT VARIETY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES.

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,

— AT —

SWAIN'S,

220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 27

HAY.—One car load extra quality No. 1 Bangor Hay. For sale low from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
32 Front street.

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at
S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS'.
32 Front Street.

HOTEL.

LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,

SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.

Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m. Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

E. V. EMILIO.

A Large Stock of

New and Second Hand

PIANOS AND ORGANS,

ALWAYS ON HAND AT

286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

E. V EMILIO.

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.
jy 20—3m

HOUSE LOTS

On Bowditch Court,

AT AUCTION.

Will be sold at Public Auction,

Wed., July 27, at 6 o'clock, P. M.,

FIVE HOUSE LOTS, containing about 5000 feet of land each, eligibly situated on Bowditch Court.
A large portion of the purchase money can lay on mortgage if desired.
jy 20 WILLIAM STIMPSON.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN V. STEVENS, late of Peabody, in the county of Essex, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same: and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
CHARLES P. STEVENS, Admr.,
12 Hawley Place.
Boston, July 18, 1881. 3w

VENNOR'S PREDICTIONS!

For this Month's Weather, prepared expressly for
STODDART'S REVIEW.
Sample copy mailed for 3c stamp.
J. M. STODDARDT, Pub., New York, Phila., or Chicago. jy 20—3t

A BARGAIN.

A fine, custom-made, diagonal, double-breasted frock coat and vest. This coat is a misfit, and was made for a $35.00 Suit. Size, 36. Price, $10. Inquire of je 13 W. WINSLOW.

WANTED.

Room and board for a gentleman and wife in the vicinity of the Square. First class references given and required. Address, with full particulars, TYRO, this office.
jy 13

WANTED

A few Boarders. MRS. M. A. DOW
No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Dogdays.

Summer's half gone.

Two berry parties went to Ipswich on Monday.

Miss Viola Putnam is visiting Mt. Vernon, N. H.

The days are more than twenty minutes shorter.

The Salem Gas Light Co. pay a $3 dividend July 27.

Pond lillies are now sold on our streets at two for a cent.

Rev. W. G. Sperry preached at the Andover street chapel, Sunday.

A number of cases of diphtheria are reported in South Peabody.

Mrs. James Buxton is spending a few weeks in Bangor, Me., on her vacation.

Mr. Frederick Marsh, on Summit St., is improving his barn and shed by shingling them.

The Essex Co. Homeopathic Medical Society picnic at Echo Grove, West Lynn, to-day.

Vennor dispenses the weather according to his revised schedule "weather" we like it or not.

The Naumkeag Clothing Co. of Salem, make an interesting announcement in to-day's issue.

Mr. Jos. Mansfield of South Peabody, who was recently prostrated by heat, is recovering.

Workmen are engaged in scraping and otherwise improving the walks at Monumental Cemetery.

Mr. L. R. Powers of Marblehead, will open a shoe store here if he can find a suitable location.

Mr. J. Arthur Trask is doing the mason work at Thomas E. Wilson's new house on Lowell street.

Miss Eliza Poor, teacher at the Bowditch School, has been spending a few weeks in Maine.

A son of Maurice Shea, on Hancock street, broke his arm last Wednesday by falling from a fence.

A band of street musicians entertained our citizens with singing and instrumental music Monday evening.

Mr. H. M. Osborn, Jr., and Mr. Charles Osborn start for the White Mountain House, Fabyan's, to-day.

The second annual re-union of Co. C, 5th Reg't. M.V.M., will be held at the Relay House, Nahant, to-morrow.

It is reported that our respected townsman, Elijah W. Upton, Esq., is seriously ill at his summer residence at Clifton.

Another steam whistle is added to the large number in town by the starting of Atherton & Co.'s leather factory.

A little fellow, 3 years old, named Arthur Blake, while out in the woods on Sunday, killed a snake over 3 feet long.

The shooting season now rapidly approaches, and our sportsmen are rubbing up the tools. Something has got to come.

A visit to a certain basement is very gratifying to one's thirst. We extend thanks to Schollar & Donnell for lemonade.

Some of the ushers in our churches would do well to avoid creaking boots or after the services have begun let people seat themselves.

Persons who know any items of interest will confer a favor by reporting them at this office. Small favors thankfully received.

Mr. Henry Clay Wilson, coachman for Mr. R. B. Nelson met with a painful accident yesterday by having his foot stepped on by a horse.

Several of Almy, Bigelow & Webber's clerks have gone on a yachting cruise, including among their number Mr. Howard Bott of this town.

A high staging has been erected on the south end of Dr. Worcester's residence, on Foster street, to accommodate workmen in making repairs.

Rev. Daniel Wait, formerly pastor of the Methodist church in Peabody, was in town this week. He preached in Beverly Sunday afternoon.

The Spiritualists have leased Ashland Hall of the Greenbackers for three nights in the week, including Sunday. They moved in last evening.

Horseback riding is getting quite popular. Several young ladies are seen on our streets and attract attention by their skillful handling of their steeds.

Mr. Frederick Marsh, while walking on the railroad track during the shower on Thursday, was knocked down by the electric fluid which ran along the rails.

Workmen have been engaged in constructing a covered trench in the rear of Winchester & Blaney's wool shop. This is used for the drainage of Walnut street.

Last Wednesday the police captured a barrel of beer at John Linehan's on Foster street, and a quantity of whiskey at James Corbet's on Tremont street.

Mr. Samuel Trask is laying the foundation for an L 20x30 feet to Mr. Geo. F. Osborne's house on Park street. Chas. G. Folsom will do the carpenter work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peabody Temperance Union will be held in the vestry of the South Cong. Church on Monday evening, Aug. 1, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Geo. Farrington has accepted a position as clerk in the office of O. B. Chadwick & Co., Insurance Agents.

Parties are formed in Peabody almost every week, who go on the pleasure excursions of the Empire State.

Sunday service: At the M. E. Church S. S. at 10.15 A. M.; preaching by Dr. Steele at 2.15 P. M.; prayer meeting at 7.30. All are welcome.

Miss Eva Flint has been appointed by the School Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Minnie P. Needham at the West Peabody school.

The firm of Ryan & Co., morocco dressers, has dissolved by mutual consent. The business will be continued by Mr. Sheehan at the old stand on Foster street.

We learn that the contract to build the engine house for the water works has been awarded to Chas. G. Folsom, and that J. Arthur Trask will do the mason work.

Last Wednesday a dog belonging to Billy Hayes severely bit "Jack" Melody and Frank E. Trask. Mr. Hayes requested Chief Peaslee to shoot the dog, which was done.

The long delayed and much needed drain to the drinking fountain near the flag staff has been built, and the entrance to Chestnut street is now in excellent condition.

Mr. William H. Pingree, formerly janitor at the Engine House, leaves to-day for San Antonio, Texas, where he will pursue his former occupation as locomotive engineer.

Mr. L. B. Nichols will sell at public auction commencing on Friday, July 29, all the groceries, etc., belonging to the store of Mr. Eben S. Howard, corner of Caller and Main streets.

Mr. B. F. Shaw of Lowell, (formerly of Peabody), is said to be forming a company in England, and E. A. Thissel at Montreal, to manufacture stockings under the former's patent.

While attempting to take off a wheel to the delivery wagon of Riley's marble team Monday, the workman used a little extra force, and the wheel came to pieces in his hand, every spoke falling out.

Frank Conlan, while wrestling Friday with another boy, fell or was thrown to the ground so heavily that it produced a fracture of the left leg. Medical attendance soon had him in splinters.

Two evenings during the week the Salem Brass Band has come up on the horse cars and furnished some fine music for a short time to those who were fortunate enough to be located on the square.

Mr. C. H. Tigh is about to open a morocco manufactory in Montreal, Canada. Mr. Tigh has been in company with a Mr. Fisk, of Montreal, for some time, but is now going to start a shop of his own.

The Poor family have a reunion in Newburyport, September 14th. An oration, poem, dinner, speeches, etc., will comprise the order of exercises. Those who spell their name with an e are invited.

A lost child was given into the hands of the police last Monday, and after some four hours it was ascertained that it belonged to Mr. Geo. Stone of Salem, who formerly resided on Tremont street, in this town.

A small boy ran into a buggy on the Square, driven by Mrs. Stone, Monday afternoon, and was knocked down, run over, and slightly bruised. He picked himself up, and went home more frightened than hurt.

A new side track has been laid by the E. R. R. at the tannery of Charles Harrington & Co. This track will be used for bark cars, and will be found quite convenient, as they have recently built a bark mill near the track.

At the county convention of the G. A. R., held in Salem on Wednesday, it was decided to hold a reunion of all the Posts in the county and Postmaster Ward was appointed to represent Union Post 50 on the executive committee.

Passengers from Peabody intending to catch the noon Boston trains from Salem should be sure to make connections by taking the cars that leave the square at 11.25 and 12.15 connecting with the 12 M. and 12.35 trains respectively.

At the Land League picnic, Thursday, the rowing race was won by Wm. Hennesey, of Salem. Daniel Gorman, of Peabody, came out ahead in the running match, and Phelix Cassidy, of the same place, won the prize for jumping.

Just at daybreak last Friday morning a big Newfoundland dog with a tin pan tied to its tail ran down Wallis street at a lively gait and howling frightfully. This brought many of the ladies to the windows in their nightclothes to see what was up.

Dr. Geo. Burdett and other well known test mediums from Lynn will hold a seance Thursday evening, at Ashland Hall, July 28, also on Sunday evening, July 31, good speakers, psychometric readings and names of departed friends given, commencing at 8 o'clock.

On Saturday evening, a wholesale liquor team was unloading a barrel of beer into the house of a man named Donovan, on Harris St., when Officer Ruth interrupted, and the discomfited driver was compelled to drive off without accomplishing his purpose.

A man named Geo. Ropes of Chelsea, a workman for Fairbanks, Brown & Co. of Boston, fell from a staging at Thomas' slaughtering establishment, where he has been working, a distance of some ten feet, breaking one of his ribs, and otherways seriously injuring him.

The large barn and stable at Asbury Grove, Hamilton Camp Ground, which is under the charge of Mr. Rankins, formerly keeper of the Alms House here, was struck by lightning Thursday, set on fire and entirely consumed together with a large amount of hay and two horses.

Considerable has been said about the color of the stones in the base of the soldiers' monument. The reason why they are not all one color is that a part of them were quarried last fall and have been exposed to the weather all winter. The others will soon be as dark.

Mr. William Bushby, an aged and respected citizen, was attacked with a paralytic shock on Monday, from which he did not recover, but died at his residence on the corner of Central and Tremont streets, this morning. Mr. Bushby was 87 years of age. His funeral will take place at his residence on Friday at 2 P.M.

That Peabody turns out well at band concerts on the Common and fireworks at the Willows would not be denied if one could see the packed horse cars that came from Salem last night at the close of the concert. A great number footed it. It is a big little town is Peabody.

Lightning struck in a potato patch of Mr. Jacob Bodge, on Andover street, and plowed the potatoes out of the ground to a considerable extent. And we have it from a young professional man that they were well baked by the lightning. Baking by electricity is certainly a new feature.

West Peabody and Lynnfield are very beautiful at this season, with their shaded drives, fine summer residences, their pleasant ponds and pretty farm houses which are unequaled for neatness, while the atmosphere is dry, and free from the east winds to a great extent. Many summer boarders make their home during this season.

Two drunken men adjourned from a liquor saloon in the vicinity of the Square last evening to the railroad track in the rear of the Town House and had a fight. After the belligerents had fairly satisfied their pounding propensities they separated and went in peace. The large crowd of spectators also dispersed.

Passengers from Peabody in the forenoon desiring to go to the Willows will make direct connection by taking the largest double end cars, which leave every forty minutes. There is a conductor on these cars, who will see that the ladies and children are properly transferred to the Willow car. Cars leave the square every 20 minutes, but every other car is a small one.

Charles H. Collins, cigar manufacturer and dealer, Peabody, who failed recently, has submitted a statement of his affairs to his creditors, and the liabilities are placed at about $4200, of which $1200 is secured by mortgage on the debtor's stock. The latter aggregates about $2500 nominally, but, at a forced sale, would realize, it is thought, not over one-fourth of that amount. There are no assets worthy of mention besides the stock, the accounts receivable, though aggregating $4000 nominally, being worth little, if anything. The debtor offers 12 1-2 cents on $1, and the most of the Boston creditors have accepted the proposition.

The case of Patrick J. Ronan, b. m., (boy martyr) was brought up before the District Court in Salem last week, and Mr. McGrath, the saloon keeper who made the charges against Ronan, did not dare to testify against him for fear he (Ronan) would denounce him for selling liquor, and said he only "bothered" him, although it amounted to a black eye for McGrath. A man named Sullivan testified that he saw the two engaged in a tussel on the floor and he separated them. Finally McGrath paid the cost, about $8, and Ronan was again allowed to pursue the path of the truly good (?) in which he has walked so long.

Our Hook & Ladder Co. went to Beverly last Saturday and played a match game of base ball with the Beverly Steamer No. 1. The game resulted in a score of 21 to 5 in favor of Peabody. After the game the Hooks were given a rousing reception, a drum corps was procured and they were escorted by the Beverly boys to their engine house in the rear of Town Hall, where a fine collation was partaken of. This was followed by a musical entertainment, after which they went to the house of the N. H. Foster H. & L. Co. and were again entertained. The affair was very pleasant and the boys say that Beverly did entertain them royally. It is their intention to return the compliment at no far distant day, and it is safe to say that a good time will be enjoyed by both.

A Melbourne correspondent writes: "The rabbits are increasing in some parts of the colony to an extent wholly incredible. The whole country appears one moving mass of bunnies. The odor from them, living and dead, is more than perceptible. They eat up every green thing. Dogs will not touch them, or even deign to give chase to them, after a day or two's experience. They have been attacked in different ways—shot, dug out, burnt out, birched out, fenced out; all has been found useless. The injection of carbonic acid into their holes has been found effective, but costly. Lately the government has taken to poisoning them with phosphorized oats, and they are disappearing from the districts where this is practised. They are said to be killed by hundreds of thousands, so there is hope that we may live to see the day when the 'rabbit pest,' as it is called here, will be got under. You may imagine that it is not altogether a cheerful thought that the rabbits you eat at table may have come to their end by poisoning or suffocation."

TUMBLE IN Refrigerators.

Owing to the lateness of the season, we will close our stock of Chest and Upright

REFRIGERATORS AT COST.

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Our Large Stock of

OIL CLOTH

Has jus been marked down to close.

CHAS. H. GOULDING,

Walnut Street, near Central.

apr 6

REITH & CO.

FRENCH FLOWERS

— IN —

WREATHS AND SPRAYS.

We have closed out the stock of an importer at about half price, and propose to give our customers the benefit of the Low Prices and Elegant Flowers.

REITH & CO.,

204 Essex Street, Salem, Mass

apr 27 3m

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

DINING SALOON.

The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in

Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,

and secured the services of a first-class cook.

Meals Served at All Hours.

A share of public patronage solicited.

W. J. ROOME.

je 15—3m

DAISY LAWN MOWER.

THE LATEST AND THE BEST.

Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.

Every Machine Warranted.

A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50

For Sale at

SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,

Walnut Street.

NADOR & GOODWIN.

DEALERS IN

CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.

We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a

First Class Ice Cream Saloon,

AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.

Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.

Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.

Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.

NADOR & GOODWIN,

239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 20

CARPET VARNISH.

Furniture Varnish and Carriage Varnishes, of the best quality, at

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',

apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

WE ANNOUNCE

To the business men of Peaboly and Salem, a large and complete stock of

Tanners', Curriers', Morocco and Sheep Skin Manufacturers'

SUPPLIES:

COBB LIME,

(By cask or car load.)

SICILY & AMERICAN SUMAC,

Logwood of all qualities.

COCHINEAL,

Pure Cider Vinegar,

Turks Island, Cadiz & Liverpool SALT,

ALUM, COPPERAS, WHITING,

EMERY,

Pearlash, Gum Arabic,

BI-CHROMATE, BLUE VITRIOL,

Neat's-Foot, Lard, Lubricating, Sperm, Paraffine & Currier's

OILS.

The above quoted articles (and many more) we are buying direct from the Manufacturers; therefore we guarantee to all everything at the

LOWEST QUOTED MARKET VALUE.

Thanking our citizens for their present liberal patronage, we hope by untiring energy, strict business principles, and prompt delivery of orders, to merit a still larger share of patronage.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

TO FARMERS, ETC.

CABBAGE & CELERY PLANTS.

50,000 CABBAGE PLANTS, in fine condition. Varieties, "Brunswick," "Improved Savoy," "Stone-Mason," &c.

50,000 CELERY PLANTS. Varieties, "Boston Market," "Red" and "Golden,"

— AT —

E. & C. WOODMAN'S,

DANVERS, MASS.,

Florists & Growers of Gardeners' Supplies.

Greenhouses, Holten St., Tapleyville.

je 30—1m

CALL EARLY AND GET THE BEST CHOICE.

Greatest Bargain Yet.

The balance of our Importer's stock of

GENUINE FRENCH FLOWERS

Bought at 50 cts. on the dollar, to close.

We shall sell them at

Less than one half the usual prices.

Call Early and get the Best.

Some very elegant ones among them.

Also the balance of Fancy Straws, Ribbons, &c., at reduced prices, to close the season.

L. T. ROBINSON,

253 Essex Street.

ALMY,

OUR REGULAR ANNUAL CLEARING OUT SALE,

Commencing

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, '81.

BIGELOW & WEBBER.

1, 2, AND 3 WEST BLOCK,

188 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

CLOSING OUT SALE

Commencing Monday, August 1.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale.

— OF —

MEN'S, YOUTHS',

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

Fine and Medium

Clothing,

BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

We shall offer for the next Thirty Days

BARGAINS IN MEN'S CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN BOYS' CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN YOUTHS' CLOTHING!

ALSO IN CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Opposite the Essex House.

Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

FERNALD & SAWYER'S ADVERTISEMENT.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

We offer as Rare Bargains,

FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS,

A few Specialties, which we have secured at very low prices.

LOT 1. 1000 yards of Light Dotted Cambrics in remnants, which we shall sell at 7 cts. per yard. These goods are just the thing to make up for Children's wear, and usually sold at 12 1-2 cts. per yard.

LOT 2. 1000 yards of extra fine Shirting Cambrics, in remnants, at 10 cts. per yard, which in regular goods are worth 25c per yard. This is a genuine bargain.

LOT 3. 100 dozen 200-yard Spool Linen Thread, in black and white, all numbers, at the extraordinary low price of 5 cts. per spool. We warrant this thread to be of good quality and strong—and it is sold at other stores for 8 and 10 cents.

We are also giving extra bargains every day in our

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

Our 7c UNBLEACHED COTTON, yard wide, cannot be matched in quality at any store in this town or Salem, at the same price.

And we guarantee to give you as low prices on our entire stock of

Cottons, Towels, Table Linens, Hosiery, Gloves, Buttons, Ribbons, Trimmings, Braids, &c.

as any store in Salem or Boston. Our assortment of goods is large and complete in every respect.

Fernald & Sawyer,

48 Main Street, Peabody.

Mr. D. O. Mill's gift of $75,000 to the University of California for the endowment of a philosophical professorship can only be invested in national or state securities, and consequently will only yield an income of about $2500 a year. The Sacramento Record-Union thinks the gift is not sufficient, and asks Mr. Mills to double it.

Lieut. Willie Swift will be detatched from the navy yard, Boston, Mass., July 31, and ordered to duty at the naval station, at New London, Conn., Aug. 1. Lieut. Louis Kingsley will be detached from the naval station at New London, Conn., Aug, 1, and placed on waiting orders.

Thursday afternoon, while a party was out yachting about a quarter of a mile from Ocean Spray Boston, Miss Emie Wethersby, now playing at the Museum, fell overboard. Her brother-in-law, N. S. Goodwin, jr., leaped into the water and succeeded in catching her and getting her nearly to the boat, but his strength failing, he got hold of a rope attached to the boat, got it round her, and then got into the boat to remove some of his clothing, after which he again sprang overboard and succeeded in getting the young lady to the boat. Both Mr. Goodwin and Miss Wethersby appeared as usual at the Museum last night.

The total earnings of the three state prisons in New York state for the six months ending June 30, 1881, were $200,505 74; total expenses $198,775 55; net earnings, $1730 19. This is the first time in the history of the State, says the Albany Journal, that the three prisons have shown net earning, though Sing Sing has been paying a handsome profit for several years, Auburn's earnings for the past six months have about equalled expenses, and at Clinton the expenses largely exceed the receipts.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 11.— Four young men broke into the house of Johanna Sullivan, a middle-aged woman, at Sandsfield Saturday night, and, taking her from her bed into the open air, brutally tarred and feathered her. The assault is thought to have been provoked by the woman's habit of getting herself and neighbors into the local courts by petty suits. As it was a moonlight night, she recognized three of the young men, and two of them— George White and Harlom Sago—were to-day bound over under heavy bonds. The other two men have fled.

Friday afternoon the commissioned officers of the eighth regiment met at their headquarters in Lynn. The matter of purchasing tent floors for the whole regiment, to be used at muster, was discussed, and finally tabled for further action. The intention is to have floors which shall be regimental property. The colonel announced that authority had been obtained from the governor by which the perpetrators of any more such acts of insubordination as were committed at Newburyport on the 17th of June might be drummed out of the regiment in due form, and by order of colonel such punishment will be meted out to offenders. A member of the Marblehead company is to be court-martialled for disobeying orders at Newburyport at the regimental drill on the 17th of June. several dishonorable discharges were issued for the good of the service.

The Postal Telegraph Company, recently incorporated under the laws of New York, with a capital of $21,000,000 completed its organization on Saturday.

Eight companies of the state militia of Wisconsin are encamped at Eau Claire in that State by order of the governor to preserve the peace against the alleged designs of the striking lumbermen. The popular impression seems to be that the strikers are peaceably inclined, and that the sending of the troops was entirely un-called for. One company of the state troops has been ordered to aid in the pursuit of the notorious Williams brothers.

About six o'clock Saturday evening the hydraulic elevator at the Revere House Boston fell twenty-one feet,—nearly the entire distance between the second and first floors. There were six persons in the car at the time —Mrs. Maurice McGraw, of New Orleans, four other ladies, relatives or friends of Mrs. McGraw, and the elevator boy. The most serious injury was to Mrs. McGraw, who broke one of her ankles and had to be attended by Dr. Cilley. The boy was somewhat cut about the head with bits of glass from the top of the elevator, but neither he nor any of the others are reported as very seriously injured. The cause of the accident is not known; the ropes appear to have became disconnected in some way.

"Don't you know it's very wrong to smoke, my boy?" said an elderly looking lady in a railway waiting room, to Young America, who persisted in smoking a cheap cigarette, much to the old lady's discomfort. "Oh, I smoke for my health," answered the boy emitting a volume of smoke from his mouth that very nearly strangled the old lady. "But you never heard of a cure from smoking," continued the lady when she had regained consciousness. "Oh yes I did," persisted the boy, as he formed his mouth into a young Vesuvius working on full time, "that's the way they cure pigs." "Smoke on, then," quickly replied the old lady, "there's some hope for you yet."

A Chinese mother at Fresno, Oregon, bandaged her little girl's feet, after the fashion of her country, and for several days the cries of the sufferer were heard throughout the mining town. Then a mob of indignant miners broke into the house, cut off the bandages, soaked the feet in liniment, and threatened to hang the woman if she renewed the process.

The growing season; "How things do grow this weather," said the deacon to Brother Amos. "Yes, they do," replied the brother. "Last night I heard you say you caught forty fish, and this morning I heard you tell Mr. Smith it was one hundred and fifty."

A country girl at a fashionable hotel in New York noticed that all the guests used their fork only in eating their pie. Upon her return home she reported the fact to the old lady, who comforted her by observing, "You shouldn't mind 'em Jemima; it's all becausc they're too lazy to use their knives."

Anecdotes.

A QUIET BOARDING-HOUSE.

"I have come in answer to your advertisement for board," said a nervous old lady to a pert miss of 13 as the latter showed her into a parlor of all the comforts of a home establishment on Henry street. "But I won't come here unless your house is perfectly quiet, now remember that."

"Quiet! well, you may smile," replied Miss. "That noise you hear now is the dentist, in the basement, pulling out a tooth, but he'll get it out, if it takes him a month. How much ean you afford to pay?"

"I think I hear some one upstairs shouting,"

"That's only a young lawyer practicing a case. You'll get used to him. Nobody liked it at first, but we've all got used to it and don't mind it now. Got any children? We don't take children, because our babies fight 'em so."

"No, I haven't. Who's that yelling in the next room?"

"That's the landlord trying to collect the rent. You know pa is very deaf, and you've got to howl at him. You'll have to pay in advance if you come here."

"Good gracious! What's that?" ejaculated the old lady, as a furious din swept through the lower regions.

"I guess the cook is driving grandma out of the kitchen with the clothespole. She often does that. Have you got much baggage?"

"Sakes alive! Somebody is being murdered up stairs. Who is it?"

"Oh! that's a literary fellow on the top floor. Whenever he writes anything he squeals like a pig. But he generally writes at night, and you needn't pay any attention to him."

"What are your terms?—good heaven, the roof has fallen in."

"No, it hasn't; that's a college professor, and that's the way he goes up and down stairs. If you listen you may hear him break his neck. Can you give any references? Anybody know you?"

"Certainly; if—was that a gun?"

"I guess so. My cousin has got a prairie down cellar where he hunts Indians and buffaloes and things. Sometimes he's a road agent, and then he robs us on the stairs. We always allow for it in the board, so it evens up. Got any money of your own?"

"Never mind whether I have or not; I don't think I want a room here, anyway. Let me out, please."

"Couldn't let you have one, anyhow," retorted Miss, preparing to slide down the balustrade. "There's only one empty one, and that's too high-priced for you; besides, you don't wear very good clothes, and we prefer not to have you around." And down the slide she went with a whiz-z, while the old lady pattered off after another home-like house.—Brooklyn Eagle.

HE SOT.

Elder Toots, at a meeting of the Lime-Kiln Club, arose and begged leave to inquire whether the club had taken any action toward relieving the sufferers of the Chicago fire. If not, he wanted to move that the sum of $100 be voted from the treasury for that purpose. For about a minute Paradise Hall was so silent that the ticking of the clock sounded like a boy pounding on an empty barrel. Then the President asked:

"W-what Chicago fire?"

"Why, sah, moas' of de hull city has bin burnt up."

"Whar did you git dat news?"

"Right heah, sah," was the reply, as the elder held up a scrap-book in which was pasted a newspaper account of the big conflagration of ten years ago. There was a general laugh and a wild uproar when the old man's mistake was realized, and after the excitement had subsided the President said:

"Elder Toots, you am a good man on a plain job of whitewashin', but when you tackle literature you am pretty sartin to git upset. Onless you desire to withdraw dat resolusion and substitute on wotin' money to buy Adam a spring obercoat, you'd better sot down."

The elder fell back in a lump and adjusted his spectacles for another wrestle with the old scrap book.—Detroit Free Press.

WOODEN PIPES.

Wooden pipes are now being used in Switzerland to convey the waters of a thermal mineral spring between Pfeffer and Ragaz. They are constructed of fir-wood made into staves, and bound together by means of iron hoops. After being carefully tarred both inside and out, they are perfectly water-tight, and possess many advantages over metal piping. They are, of course, much lighter, and are insensible to changes of temperature, while their cost is only about eight shillings per meter. It is interesting to note that the New River water was first brought to London by means of wooden pipes formed by boring out tree-trunks, and joining them length by length. Such pipes have been extensively used in America, and they are, under the best conditions, estimated to last thirty years.—English Paper.

Sometimes a kind heart is put into the body of an avaricious man, and then the contest between the two passions borders on the ridiculous; but avarice generally wins the battle.

He who attemps to be perfect in all things will be weak in many, and thus fall, an unpitied sacrifice to each one of those who have made themselves perfect in one thing.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated. have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1 y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificia Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors.

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented.

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,

LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MISS M. E. HUTCHINSON. MISS N. P. PEABODY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

NO HARNESS.

NO SPRINGS.

NO RUBBER.

A NEW SUSPENDER,

THE

L. R. S.

Less strain when stooping than when standing. See one! Try one! and you will wear no other. For sale by

W. WINSLOW,

Clothing, &c.,

9 Allen's Block, Square, Peabody.

je 15—1m

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM, MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargains at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

HOUSEKEEPING GOODS. Wooden Ware, Crockery Ware, China Ware, Glass Ware, Table Cutlery and every thing in the Housekeeping line at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store. 32 Front St.

DINNER WARE. Colored Dinner and Tea Ware, in complete sets, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M. 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M. 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 PM. Sundays 8 40 A M. 5 40 PM.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05. 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester— 8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07. 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M. 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M.

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 50AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42, 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 36 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45, 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem — 8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence— 7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers — 6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem — 7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN,
Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M. 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M. 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11 00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pulman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00. Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6,9 A.M., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL,
Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves	Peabody	at	9 47 A. M.
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M.
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—Peabody, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism. Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache. Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

337 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I anvise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, Inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere Houte, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal.

"He will give further pooof if you will call upon him.

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS,
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment," he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for Book Notices.

The August number of the North American Review devotes a liberal share of its space to a polemical duel between Col. Ingersoll, the great exponent of the unbelief of the day, and Judge Jeremiah S. Black, the eminent jurist.—Col. Ingersoll is master of some of the most effective arts of the rhetorician and popular orator. As an assailant of revealed religion he has more chance of success in confirming the skeptical and carrying away the wavering than perhaps any other infidel of modern times. Judge Black is distinguished alike for his steadfast faith in orthodox Christianity and for the power and skill with which he is able to sustain any cause in which his convictions are enlisted. He is, like the challenger, a man of the world in his serious occupations and modes of thought. Col. Ingersoll has made his attack in the Review and sustained it with all his force as an aggressive assailant. Judge Black has taken up the challenge as the champion of Christianity. It is well that the daring infidel should be called out and that he should be met by such an antagonist. The cause of truth can have nothing to fear from a contest of this kind. Of the merits of the case it is for an interested public to judge.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for August is magnificently illustrated. It opens with a frontispiece—an illustration for Margaret Veley's poem "Almond Blossom"—drawn by Abbey and engraved by Cole. Mr. Abbey contributes also a fine full-page illustration of Herrick's poem, "The Parcæ; or, Three Daintie Destinies."

Henry P. Johnston contributes a paper on "The Surrender of Cornwallis," which is richly illustrated.

Samuel Adams Drake's series of papers on the White Mountains is concluded. Mrs. Champney, T. B. Aldrich and Frederick G. Mather also have interesting papers. A brief article of a retrospective character, entitled "Then," written by James T. Fields during his last illness, is one of the most delightful things in the number. Richard M. Johnston contributes a humorous Georgia sketch, and another short story is a strong delineation of New England character. Hugh Craig contributes a suggestive article, entitled "Assassins and Nihilists," and William Pope Darner tells a very significent anecdote of President Madison and his discussion with a Baptist preacher concerning the ratification of the Constitution. Poems are contributed by Miss Sarah O. Jewett, Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton and Miss Margaret Veley. Mr. Curtis, in the Easy Chair, writes most charmingly of the Newport Belles of a century ago, of the Greek Play at Harvard, and of Edwin Booth's welcome in London. The other editorial departments are as full and interesting as usual.—For sale by the Peabody News Company, No. 9 Main street.

Mr. Richard Grant White is said to be engaged on a critical and historical sketch of music in America, for which he has accumulated a large mass of material, illustrating our musical annals for more than fifty years past. An important part of his work—the history of opera in New York—will soon appear in a series of articles in SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY, in which it will be illustrated by portraits of the principal artists who have appeared in America.

The forthcoming "Midsummer Number," of Scribner's will, it is said, contain some of the finest examples of American wood-engraving which have ever appeared. The frontispiece of the number is Butin's "Sailor's Wife," engraved by Closson. Bastien Lepage's famous "First Communion" is given here, the engraving being one of Cole's masterpieces.

The name of the corporation formerly known as Scribner & Co. has now been changed to The Century Co. The title of Scribner's Monthly will become The Century, with the next volume. St. Nicholas is slightly changed as to its sub-title, being now St. Nicholas, an Illustrated Magazine for Young Folks. The July numbers of these magazines are the first to bear the new corporate imprint.

Besides a wealth of literary and illustrated matter, there are also, in this number, the concluding chapters of two brilliant novelettes, "Madame Delphine," by George W. Cable, and "A Fearful Responsibility," by W. D. Howells. The May, June and July numbers, containing these two complete novelettes, are offered for $1.00.

Price of Scribner's Monthly, $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. St. Nicholas, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Sold everywhere.

The recent popular expression of opinion on the patronage system has shown that Mr. Albert Stickney did not anticipate public sentiment in naming his series of papers in Scribner on civil-service evils, "The People's Problem." Mr. Stickney puts forward his suggestions modestly, but with earnest conviction that they are in the right direction. The third and concluding paper will show how this plausible system can be practically put into operation.

Readers of Mr. Schuyler's "Peter the Great," in Scribner, will remember the order of that famous reformer requiring Russian seamen to be clean-shaven. The present Czar, who seems to have a decided dislike for anything which smacks of Western culture, has rescinded this rule and for the first time in two hundred years, beards will be worn by the sailors in the Russian navy.

INTERNATIONAL REVIEW.—The table of contents for the August number of the International Review is inviting enough to tempt the attention and reward a thorough reading. George W. Julian opens the number with a most entertaining chapter of "Reminiscences of the Thirty-first Congress," the Congress which first evidenced a decided element of anti-slavery sentiment, and had Webster, Clay, Calhoun, and other statesmen of note for members.—The accomplished pen of Mr. Julian, who was himself a member of this Congress, could scarcely fail of drawing interest of such a theme. Rev. Chas. F. Thwing writes of "College Graduates in the Ministry," and Eugene L. Didier has an article on "An American Bonaparte,"—Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, son of the weak brother of the great Napoleon, who sold his allegiance to his beautiful American wife for the crown of Westphalia, and the hand of the daughter of the King of Wurtemburg. There is not a dull line in any one of its seven articles, and the number has never been exceeded in elements of popular interest. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE.—The August number of the handsomely illustrated and popular Ballou's Magazine is issued, and will be read with much pleasure by its patrons, as there is such a variety in its contents that no other magazine in this country can surpass it. It should be in a hundred thousand families, for every home would be better for reading it, touching as it does upon a hundred different interesting topics. Among the contents of the August number are "Painting on China," "The City of York, England," "Poisoned for Love," etc. Published by Thomes & Talbot, 23 Hawley street, Boston, Mass., at only $1.50 per annum, postpaid, and for sale at all the news depots in the country at 15 cents a copy.

THE ILLUSTRATED SCIENTIFIC NEWS.—The July issue of the Illustrated Scientific News teems with interesting illustrated articles, among which are: The Doblear Telephone; Glass Grinding Machine; Ancient Pottery from Cyprus; Illustrations, explaining the bursting of Fly Wheels; A Velocipede Carriage, and others. In addition to the numerous engravings, there is a large number of interesting, useful and practical papers, relating to various departments of popular science.

This is one of the most elegantly printed and valuable periodicals. Sold by all newsdealers. Published by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York.

The contents of The Score for July are varied and interesting. In the "History of German Songs and Song Writers," Mr. Louis C. Elson (the editor) traces the rise of children's music in Germany. The Dramatic Department refutes the charge of "amateurishness." The Paragraphic Department is remarkably effective, and thoroughly honest in not appropriating the wit of others. "Trade Notes," "Staccoto Notes," criticisms and editorials, make up the rest of the literary portion of the number.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY.—There is a most excellent display, of articles, stories, sketches, poems and miscellany in the August number of this popular magazine, and the artistic display is equally attractive. "Our Immigrants" is the title of the opening article, by H. W. Domett; it is replete with exceedingly interesting information and has eighteen capital illustrations. There is a large number of other interesting articles. The number contains 128 quarto pages, nearly 100 engravings and a beautiful colored frontispiece, "At the Fair One's Door," from the famous painting by Erdmann. A single copy is only 25 cents; the yearly subscription, $3—sent postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

THE ART AMATEUR for July has a seasonable and spirited frontispiece by Adrien Marie—"The First Sea Bath," representing a nude and chubby urchin struggling sturdily with his nurse, who is about to dip him in the surf. Some piquant sketches by Madrazo and other Parisian artists are also full of interest. Among articles of special practical utility are those on "Landscape Painting in Water Colors," "Drawing-room Color and Decoration," "Turkey Carpets" and "Staining Wood." Some good embroidery designs, tile designs and plaque designs complete a useful number of this valuable magazine. 25 cents a single number. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York city.

THE SUNDAY MAGAZINE for August is one of the most interesting numbers yet issued of this popular periodical. The leading article, by George J. Manson, "The Jews in the Great Metropolis," will not fail to attract particular attention; it is admirably illustrated. A. H. Guernsey contributes No. 2 of "The Crusades," treating of the rise and decline of the Kingdom of Jerusalem. The great serial story, "Out of the World," by Mrs. Robert O'Reilly, is continued, and there is a story of thrilling interest by Juan Lewis, "A Fire Heroine." "Deborah" is the subject of No. 3 of "Women of the Bible." Single copies, 25 cents; $3 per annum. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for July is on our table. The present number is peculiarly rich in embellishments.—There is a profusely illustrated article on "Ancient and Modern Gardens," an illustrated love-story "Paste and Diamond," the first chapters of a historical novelet, "The News from Yorktown," which is also illustrated, besides many other sketches. In addition to this, there are some two score cuts of fashions, designs, a beautiful colored pattern for a photograph frame in daisies on black velvet.

"AMERICA" is an eight page, forty column monthly journal, published at Washington, D. C., is brimfull of good things for the citizen as well as for the soldier. It opposes monopoly, favors equal and exact justice to all, and is the special champion and defender of the soldier, his widow and orphans. Only twenty-five cents a year. Address, Gilmore & Co., Washington, D. C.

"The Dead Speak" is the title of a very interesting little pamphlet story laid on our desk by the Peabody News Company. It is published by the New England News Company of Boston, and is designed to show how a phonograph might be made useful in the discovery of crime. It is an interesting little story, and costs only twenty-five cents to read it.

Mr. Dio Lewis's Monthly for Jolly Folks is a new candidate for favor in the magazine line, the July number being the No. 1 of Vol. 1. It is for sale at A. F. Goldsmith's, Salem. Price 10 cents a copy: $1 a year.

THE NEW TESTAMENT.—A very neat and readable edition of the new translation of the New Testament, and the cheapest considering its quality, is that published by the American Book Exchange, 764 Broadway, New York.

The August Wide Awake, like the las Christmas number, will be brilliant wits groups of illustrated poems. Among the contributors will be Helen Hunt and Celia Thaxter. H. H. will be entitl, "The Baby Show," and is perhaps the longest children's poem she has ever published.

Miscellaneous.

She is not a wise housekeeper nor a good wife who permits her devotion to household art to interfere with her domestic duties. Perhaps the following humorous sketch from the Detroit Free Press may correct any such tendencies:

Nervously working his latch-key from the door the business man hurried into the house for his dinner. "Hello! I say, Jane, where are you?"

"Here I am, dear; I have got just one more feather to paint on this crane and then it will be finished. Isn't it going to be just love!"——

"I know, yes, yes. Where's Jennie?"

"She has gone out to get a few more autumn leaves; one or two bare spaces are left on the wall of her room, and"——

"Well well, of course; but where's Bridget?"

"Oh, she has gone to carry the basket; for Jennie, you know, isn't strong."

"To be sure, to be sure; but where's the dinner?"

"Now, John, how can you be so cruel? You know that"——

"Yes, I should think I did. I know that the next time I'm such a fool as to bring a copy of 'Household Art' into the house I'll be balder than I am now. It may be pretty. I'm hungry for a square meal. Painted storks ain't fricassed chicken, nor autumn leaves celery."

And he went out of the house in a decided manner, leaving Jane's tear-drops rapidly falling on her red and blue heron, washing all the pretty feathers out of its tail.

A young German was once pressing his suit, and in the midst of his ardor questioned the object of his choice as to her possible financial future. "I have heard," he said, "that your good father owns two large estates in Silesia." "Yes," was the native reply, "and he owns two more in Pommerania." The suitor hesitated a moment, as though to catch his breath, and then, falling on his knees and looking the young lady in the face, cried out "And can you, my darling, doubt my affection under such circumstances."

There is said to be living in Baden an old man who claims the unique title of 'boot-stretcher to the royal family.' For many years his sole duty was to wear the new boots of the father of the present Grand Duke until his master could put them on with comfort. The old man now enjoys a pension.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured. 20 hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND
COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address

CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

George Osborne,	Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney,	Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen,	George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.

John A. Lord,	George S. Osborne.
Amos Merrill,	Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little,	Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren,	Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill,	Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn,	John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER"
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicits, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.
STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.
PEABODY, MASS.

The crime of decoying English girls into Belgium for immoral purposes is very common, and is apparently quite untouched by any existing English law. The Saturday Review discusses the matter as follows:

"They have no idea when they leave England that they are going to be prostitutes. They go out in the expectation of being hired in some decent capacity—of becoming ladies' maids or actresses, nursery governesses or shopwomen. It is only when they reach Brussels or Antwerp that they find out for what end they have been got hold of. When they do come to understand this they are usually quite helpless.—They seldom speak French, so that they have great difficulty in appealing to the police, even if an opportunity offers itself. Nor are such opportunities at all abundant. A girl is kept a strict prisoner, and if she sees a policeman in the house, she probably does not know him to be one. More than this, it is permissible to suspect that the police themselves are not always anxious to know more than, in the interest of the keepers of these houses, it is expedient they should know. Worse still, the wish for deliverence very oftens disappears.—When a girl has been either seduced or drugged—and, under the circumstances, the girl who yields to persuasions is hardly a more willing victim than the girl who yields to violence—she ordinarily feels that, even if she could escape, she would not know what to do with herself. She cannot hope to live respectably in Belgium, and the fact that she was anxious to leave England in the first instance suggests that she was destitute of friends who might have enabled her to live respectably in England. There will be still less chance of such a living if she now goes back, and runs the risk of her life abroad being thrown in her teeth. The more respectably she has been brought up, and the more ties she has to bind her to England, the keener is more likely to be her shame, and the stronger her determination not to carry her shame home. It is impossible to conceive a more miserable fate than that which befalls a girl thus circumstanced. She has presumably a more than common share of natural energy, or she would not have determined to seek her fortune in a foreign country. In the first instance her hopes seem to be justified. She hears that she has a good prospect of finding immediate employment, or very probably has immediate employment offered her. She leaves England with what seems an excellent chance of making an honest livelihood, and a day or two later she finds herself in a Belgium brothel. Once there, everything makes against her. Her power of resistance is weakened by narcotics; and she sees no one except the servants, who are in league with the keepers of the house, or the visitors, who do not trouble themselves to distinguish between real or simulated modesty, and are not disposed, even if they suspect the truth, to provoke inquiries which may not be convenient to themselves. Unless she has an heroic determination of character, she sees nothing before her but a gradual descent to the level of the miserable creatures who are in the same position as herself. And all this has come upon her in an interval that can be expressed in hours, and without any real fault on her side. If any law can be devised that shall put an end to a trade so detestable in itself and so disastrous in its results, the plainest possible case has been made out for at once calling such a law into being."

A LEVEL-HEADED YOUNG WOMAN. In Montreal the other day a young woman found her way out of a dilemma and the example ought to be of profit to the young and fair elsewhere. She had aroused an uncontrollable passion in the breast of a young lawyer, whom, however, she did not care to wed. He grew gloomy and morose, took a trip to Europe, returned to Montreal, fell into lax ways and was going generally to the dogs. Meeting the young woman on the street one day she resumed the old acquaintance with warmth. Encouraged by the smiling reception the young man suggested a drive. This being refused he proposed a walk instead. To this the lady consented. They walked far, he telling the story of his trip, to which she listened with interest. Finally arriving in the limits of Mount Royal Park with no possibility of interference, the lover drew a pistol, grimly informing the astonished girl that unless she consented to go at once to a minister and get married he would blow her brains out and then his own. She seems to have been quite equal to the emergency. Assenting to visit the minister they set out at once, and on arriving the clever girl placed herself under the minister's protection, and the lover retired, embittered and vowing destruction upon himself for trusting a woman's word even at the altar.

"C-c-c-can that p-p-p-parrot talk?" asked a stuttering man of a German.

"Ven he don't talk so gooter as you I schop his head off."

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

It would appear from our experience in that direction, that unless a denunciation, of frauds occurs on nearly every page of the Herald, some advertisers fail to have the fact impressed upon their minds, that the Herald will not knowingly publish the advertisements of those who deal in what they term "rich, rare and racy" trash. Occasionally parties advertising other goods, to obtain names, flood applicants with circulars of obscene books and cards. We warn all advertisers against such proceedings, and when brought to our notice will give such parties the benefit of some free advertising.

The latest case of complaint is that against P. L. Calahan, Salem, Mass., who advertised 100 valuables for 25 cents. Parties answering his advertisements, received a lot of ordinary recipes—not even prepared for the occasion, but looking as though they had been cut out of an old almanac. This we consider in itself deserving severe censure, but when we examine the batch of circulars which accompany the "100 valuables." we are disgusted with the boldness of these dealers in demoralizing trash. After noting the dissatisfaction which was occasioned by Calahan's operations we wrote him immediately that his advertisement would not be again inserted, and that his yearly contract would be canceled. He wrote us, defending his course, and denied that he deals in obscene literature, and threatened that should we expose him, he would hold us reponsible for damages. We fear none of his threats, however, and do not hesitate to caution the public against sending him money. We want all advertisers of this class to know that we mean what we say, and whenever we are imposed upon by such, we will certainly not hesitate in stating the facts.—Agent's Herald.

Mrs. E. H. Chapin, widow of the eminent Universalist clergyman, Dr. E. H. Chapin, who died at Pigeon Cove, Mass., July 22, was widely known in connection with the charitable work of Dr. Chapin's church, chief among which was the Chapin Home for Aged Persons. Mrs. Chapin took a leading part in organizing this institution, and has served as its president since its organization 12 years ago. She was also connected with the Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Divine Paternity, and with the other prominent charitable organizations of the Universalist Church.—Boston Herald.

Miss Charlotte L. Turner, sister of L. P. H. Turner and a resident of Danvers until the past few years during which she has been a teacher in Montebello Ladies' Institute at Newbury, Vt., is spending a few weeks in town preparatory to starting for Kohala, one of the Hawaiian group of the Sandwich Islands, whither she goes as a teacher in a school which is under the control of the American Board of Foreign Missions, but which is partly supported by the Government of King Kalakaua. Miss Turner will start the 17th of August, going via San Francisco and Honolulu. She goes in company with Miss Lottie Manross, daughter of President Ordway of the Institute of Technology of Boston. The school they are to teach in has 150 scholars of the Hawaiian race. The principal is Edward Dyer of Mass., who went there some three years ago. Miss Turner's many friends here will regret her going so far away, but will wish her a safe journey and pleasant sojourn in that distant country.—Mirror.

Letters and Postals advertised July 20

Atherton Hall & Co., D. W. Burt, Geo. W. Copeland, Matthew Cann, Mrs. Wm. P. Cushing, Thos. Connor & Son, Lawrence Devine, Patrick Fox, R. Ferguson, Dr. J. W. Hazelton, John Hall, M. Kelly, Mrs. Dennis Kelly, Mrs. Studa Mackintire, Rufus B. Moulton, Thos S. McDonald, J. Macey, James H. Potter, Joseph F. Scott, J. H. Smith, Sec. of Peabody Land League 2, Mary Trask, Mrs. Samuel Wallace.

Letters and Postals advertised July 27

Joseph Anderson, W. Bond, Edward Boxwell, Patrick Butler, Alice O. Barker, Mrs. J. M. Carney, Mrs. Martha Calkins, Mrs. W. Catlin, Chas. H. Dukeshire, Miss Renem Forbes, Frank O. Goldthwait, A. J. Hoey, Collins C Munroe, W. Mahoney, Mary A. McGee, Anney McKeey, Mrs. Abbie F. Nador, Timothy O'Riordan, Chas. H. Potter, Daniel Royce, Mary A. Roberts, Mrs C. H. Russell, Allan Salsman, James Shehan, M. E. Twiss, Mary A. Wiggin.

W. M. Ward, P. M.

BARNARD MANUFACTURING CO.—Mr. Isaac L. Hart, Superintendent, No 3 Ashton street, says: I have used tha superior remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, in a severe case of rheumatism in my arm and its effect was wonderful, having banished, after a thorough trial, al pain, leaving my arm as well as ever.—Fall River (Mass.) Daily Herald.

It is simply envy which criticises ladies for kissing one another. The double barrelled sweetness is not lost and while, perhaps, it is not placed where it will do the most good it is something worth coveting and admiring Even men, especially among the Germans, sometimes kiss one another; bu we doubt that the action is accompanied by that delicious, graceful hypocrisy which attends a kiss between two ladies.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

Our five cent cigars are the best in town Peabody News Co.'s.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'. —Adv.

"Will the coming man use both hands?" is a question asked by a scientific exchange. We do not see how the coming man can use both hands unless the coming woman drives the horse.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

A South End girl thanked a man who gave her his seat in a street car, and he married her and proved to be worth $400,000. (We circulate this lie in the hope of inducing the girls to be more courteous.)—Boston Post.

A fashion paper tells us that silken hosiery is now all the rage in Paris, "with insertions of portraits and medallions of point lace." Fancy glancing at your ladylove's stocking, and finding there the portrait of some other fellow!—Burlington Hawkeye.

BUSINESS MEN can leave the Grand Central Depot, New York, at 11.35 P. M. (Sundays excepted), and arrive in Boston next morning at 8 o'clock, by purchasing tickets via N. Y. & N. E. Railroad. This affords a whole evening in New York.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Births.

In Salem, July 16, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Shute.

In Marblehead, July 18, a daughter to Stephen T. and Sarah M. Hodges; 21st, a daughter to John E. and Susan M. Gupper.

In Farmington, Me., July 19, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jacobs.

Marriages.

In Peabody, July 21, by Chas. E. Hoag, Esq., Chas. Richard of Moutreal, Ca., to Miss Alexandrine Buran of P.

In Salem, July 21, by Rev. Mr. Israel, Mr. John W. Avers of S. to Miss Mary Gage Obear of Beverly; by Rev. Mr. Knight, Mr. Richard C. Williams to Miss Sadie A. Silver; 25th, by Rev. E. C. Bolles, Wm. P. Story to Miss Ella A. Smith.

Deaths.

In Peabody, July 20, Mrs. Hannah Fitzgerald, 32 yrs.

27th, Mr. William Bushby, 87 yrs. 4 mos.

Funeral from his late residence, corner of Central and Tremont streets, Friday, July 29, at 2 P. M.

23d, Harry, son of Gustavus F. and Sarah S. Williams, 6 days.

24th, Mr. Owen Keefe, 25 yrs.

In Salem, July 20, Mr. Charles Parsons, 68 yrs.; 16th, Mrs. Bridget, wife of Jeremiah Coffin, 32 yrs.; 21, Ellen G., daughter of Thomas and Ann Morrow, 20 yrs. 1 mo. 20 days.

In Danvers, July 17, Mr. John O'Neil, 50 yrs.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES For sale by all Druggists. SAMPLE BOX mailed on receipt of 50c. by the manufacturers, CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

NEW DENTAL FIRM.

DUDLEY & EWELL,

Prices greatly reduced.

All operations warranted.

TEETH EXTRACTED FOR 25 CENTS.

Office, 224 Essex St., Salem.

DR. A. S. DUDLEY, 16 years in Salem.
DR. GEO. A. EWELL, late of Chicago.
my 18—tf

SPREAD A LITTLE MOTH POWDER around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.

MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR FOR SALE BY

WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence. Nov. 4. 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celbrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

THURSDAY, AT 10 A. M.
Trip Along the North Shore.
Giving delightful views of points of interest. Returns at 5.30. Fare $1.

FRIDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALL-DAY FISHING TRIPS,
On the Middle Grounds, where the 44-lb Cod was pulled in July 15. One Dollar per lb. bounty for the biggest codfish caught. Season ticket for second prize. Returns at 5.30, Fare $1.

SATURDAY,—Special charter to the CONANT THREAD COMPANY.

SUNDAY.
PROVINCETOWN.
The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and state-rooms at L. H Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN, Business Manager.

SOUTH SHORE S. S. CO.
Summer Arrangement.

Only ocean route to Portsmouth, connecting with Isles of Shoals, Rye and Old York Beaches, and Wentworth House, New Castle, N. H.

THE STEAMER ACUSHNET
will leave Comey's wharf, Boston, near foot of Hanover street, TUESDAYS and FRIDAYS at 10.30 A. M. Returning, leave Portsmouth WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS at 7.45 A. M. Rail connections from North and East at Portsmouth. Fare $1.00 to Portsmouth. Round Trip $1.50. Meals on board.

FOR PROVINCETOWN.
Only regular line landing at the wharf without delay of tides or boats. The Steamer Acushnet will leave Comey's wharf WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS at 4 P. M. Returning, leave Provincetown at 8 30 A. M. Fare $1.50.
For further information, tickets, etc., apply at Grand Trunk Ticket office, 280 Washington St., Boston, Mass., or Hoosac Tunnel ticket office, 250 Washington st., Boston.
J. M. SEAVER, Gen'l Agent,
jy 13—3t 19 Broad street.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.
On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.
The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.
Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.
Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1.00.
Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.
Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.
For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
je 8

PORTLAND STEAMERS.
REDUCTION IN FARES.
BOSTON TO PORTLAND, $1.00
BOSTON TO LEWISTON, $2.00
Low Rates to
OLD ORCHARD BEACH, POLAND SPRING, NORTH CONWAY, WHITE MOUNTAINS, and the various EASTERN RESORTS.
Steamers leave India Wharf, Boston, for Portland, EVERY EVENING at 7 o'clock (Sundays excepted.)
WM. WEEKS, Agent,
jy 6—3w India Wharf.

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS. 20 tons White Wheat Shorts and Middlings, for sale low by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
may 11 41 to 47 Central St., Salem.

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for ale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
ysr 27 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

FOR SALE.
A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.
All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE' & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
Attention is also called to a
PATENT RUBBER CUSHION
for tender feet, which we are using very successfully. OLD SHOP.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

THE MASON & HAMLIN
ORGAN CO.,

Makers of the Best Cabinet or Parlor Organs, offer new and improved styles at lower prices. For cash: three and a quarter octave organs, $22; four octaves, $30; four octave, five stops, $51; five octave, seven stops, $60; five octave, large and elegant case (see cut), eleven stops, $102; one hundred other styles up to $500 and more.—Table Organs, $7.50. Observe that Mason & Hamlin (Price $102.) Organs have greater power, variety, and capacity every way and very much better quality than the much advertised "cheap" organs with two or three times as many stops.
All except the very smallest styles of these organs are now sold
FOR EASY PAYMENTS,
from $5 per month up; or will be rented for reasonable rent, with privilege of return at any time, and agreement that if retained until the whole amount of rent paid equals the value of the organ it becomes the property of the party hiring it without further payment. The rent of an organ so taken is ten per cent. of its value per quarter year ($6.38 and up, according to size and value.) Organs will be furnished on these terms for any place within easy access from Boston.
Mason & Hamlin organs are certainly the best in the world, having taken the highest awards in every one of the great World's Industrial Exhibitions for more than thirteen years, no other American organs having been found equal to them at any. Illustrated catalogues and circulars with full particulars, free.
MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass,
je 15—6w

PAINT BRUSHES. All kinds of Paint Brushes, Artists' Tools, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

ALABASTINE. Alabastine is a valuable discovery. It constitutes a permanent finish for walls, assimilating with the plaster. Pure White, and a variety of beautiful tints at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A Tenement on corner of Walnut and English streets. Apply to jy 6—tf C. W. OSBORN.

TO LET.
Two Tenements in a house on Harris street. also a basement that is all fitted for a store, Aqueduct water with each. Inquire of
MRS. MARGARET LYNCH.
june 30—tf Harris Street.

$250 REWARD!
The undersigned, in behalf of the Town of Peabody, will pay the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars to any one who will furnish information which may lead to the detection and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the morning of July 9th, 1881, set fire to the building on Washington street, known as the Gen. Foster Engine House.
LEVI PRESTON,
W. B. RICHARDSON,
S. A. SOUTHWICK,
NATHAN H. POOR
} Selectmen of Peabody.
je 13—1m

$50 REWARD!
The undersigned will pay the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the old Foster Engine House, on the morning of July 9, 1881.
jy 13—1m HENRY C. TORR.

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

$50 REWARD!
The above reward will be paid by the undersigned for the arrest and conviction of the party who set fire to the building in South Peabody last Sunday morning., occupied by him for the storage of hair. GEO. UPTON, may 4 Peabody.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

WE PROPOSE TO INAUGURATE OUR ANNUAL
Mark Down Sale of
HOUSEHOLD GOODS,
Comprising Carpets, Furniture, Portable Ranges, Bedding, Tea and Dinner Sets, Plated Ware, Table Cutlery, Lamps, Clocks, etc., either for cash or by our system of
INSTALMENTS,
Tuesday, July 6, so as to enable us to keep all our hands, as well as to close out the balance of our Spring Stock, beside benefiting a large class of late trade. Being the largest distributors of Household Goods in New England, we entertain the hope that we may secure a trial order from all who have not purchased Household Goods by our System of Instalments, as we feel assured that the prices we shall offer our stock at will be lower than ever before quoted. In our department for REFRIGERATORS, we have taken account of them and marked them at prices that will close them out.
$6.50
Is the price of an ice chest; $10 is the price of a good Upright Refrigerator, marked down from $13. All our Refrigerators have Slate Shelves, are Zinc Lined, and warranted to consume but little ice. What few
CANOPY CARRIAGES,
MATS, and AFGHANS we have on hand will be offered at prices from $7.50 to $30. a mark-down of from 10 to 20 per cent. Parties going to the Seashore or Country are advised not to throw away this opportunity. We offer these goods on Easy Terms on Instalments. The large demand for the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE improved wire gauze, non-explosive continues unabated. They are the Safest and Best. If you contemplate the purchase of an Oil Stove, be sure you see them in full operation at our establishment. Send for price list and terms on instalments. Catalogue of Household Goods and Terms furnished to parties living at a distance. All orders by mail promptly attended to.
OIL STOVE,
The attention of BARBERS is called to our new pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer use, which we offer at the low price of $28 We also furnish Mugs, Mug Racks, Sinks, Copper Boilers, Mirrors, etc., on Easy Terms on Instalments. Send for Illustrated Price-List and Terms.
W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
apr 6—6 m

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
32 Front street.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 3, 1881. NO. 32.

GENTS' FINE HATS & FURNISHING GOODS.

PICKERING'S, 200 SX STREET.

GENTS' FINE HATS AND FURNISHING GOODS.

BEST GOODS! SUPERIOR WORKMANSHIP! LOWEST PRICES!

Being connected direct with New York Manufacturers, we can save you money by buying of us.

SOMETHING NEW RECEIVED EVERY DAY.

Silk Hats a Specialty. Our young men's style is very nobby. Call and see it.

Received this morning a fine line of Neck Wear from New York.

Also 500 doz. Fancy Shirts, .75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50.

Shirts made to order, and fit guaranteed.

Pickering's,

200 ESSEX ST., SALEM, MASS.

my 4—3m

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
Jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residence in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
ua1 t if

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to ja1

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

BOOTS, SHOES & RUBBERS.

FOR LOW PRICES,
—IN—
BOOTS, SHOES
—AND—
RUBBERS,
—ALSO—GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,
—CALL AT—
CHARLES E. TEAGUE'S,
52 MAIN STREET,

The Peabody Press.

Correspondence of Springfield Republican.

Leather and Letters at Peabody.

This town claims to tan more leather than any other in the world. It is certainly redolent with tan-yards from one end to the other, and a few years ago the North river became so polluted from here to Salem that houses painted with white lead were discolored by sulphuretted hydrogen in the atmosphere. An old mill-dam is now in process of being cleaned out, and the air of the place has considerably improved. The river will be confined to a stone-faced channel, and the refuse will thus be forced along into Salem harbor. Whether this will be a satisfactory solution of the sanitary problem remains to be seen. The town has an agreeable look, although like Salem, of which it used to be a part, it has an antique and "tucked-up" appearance. Few people seem to understand the beauty and comfort of a good stretch of lawn in front of the house, and even new houses are built unnecessarily near the dusty street.

The tanning and currying business is now active, but there is general grumbling at the smallness of the profits.—The hides consumed here are both foreign and domestic, and leather is split, "pebbled," made into morocco and reduced to almost every form in which it is served to the public. The splitting takes off the fleshy portion on the under side and leaves the grain side of even thickness; the "split" is sold as cheaper leather, sometimes painted up and colored to represent the "grain" or hair side. I was struck with the vast amount of labor laid out in imitation. For instance, genuine goat-skin has a wrinkled appearance; consequently tons and tons of cow-skin leather are "pebbled" or given a wrinkled appearance by machinery to be made up into "pebbled goat" shoes for women and children. A side of leather, after having the split taken off, is passed under a small steel cylinder cut into wrinkles, which are thus impressed upon the leather. The leather remains good cow-skin, but never will be as durable as real goat.

One mill here is devoted entirely to the dressing of sheep-skins imported from England. Formerly, wool was imported here in immense quantities on the fleece, and some of the old business houses have a carved sheep mounted over the door or on the roof as a symbol of the trade carried on in pelts and wool. The present tariff excludes wool on the skin; consequently the wool-pulling industry has been killed here, and sheep-skins have to be imported all-tanned from England. They come in tierces in a kind of wet pickle and are transformed into morocco by the firm of Pemberton & Son, who carry on a large business. They dye the skins with cochineal and aniline dyes, put on a smooth polish or a diagonal marking, and thus produce the leather which is made up into the colored shoes for children and is used for other purposes. I inquired about the effect of aniline dyes upon the men who worked in them, and was informed that they seemed to be injurious to some and not to others.—They are made in Germany, and the sumach for tanning is imported from Sicily at a cost of $70 per ton. I was told that the American sumach, which the agricultural department at Washington has been teaching the Virginians how to cure, is valued at about $12 less than the Italian. There is a good deal of waste land in New England where the sumach grows finely, and where it has never been considered of value, and its cultivation may become a practical question.

George Peabody rests here in the cemetery by the foul river, under the family monument—a plain granite model of a sarcophagus. The monument seems to be no more in honor of him than of his father and the rest of his family, the tablets being all alike. His bust in the Peabody Institute here is that of a wonderfully handsome man. Another striking bust in the same hall is that of Hawthorne, by Louise Landers of this town. It was modeled upon a cast from life, and so may be taken as our best portrait of Hawthorne, whose portraits are so scarce. It reminded me strongly of the bust of Goethe in his youth, and is almost godlike in the massive repose of the features. I wonder that it has not been photographed. The Peabody Institute is a plain building, a public library below and fine lecture hall above. It is immensely rich and has great capabilities of usefulness. Its funds amount to about $175,000, and its income to spend annually in new books is now $1200. J. Warren Upton is the librarian; he reports that the proportion of fiction read is declining, being now 71 per cent. Among the rare treasures of the library is a full set of the London Times, given by Mr. Peabody. The queen's portrait, presented to him and costing $15,000, is here exhibited, together with the gold medals presented to him by the British Parliament and by Congress, the gold box inclosing the freedom of the city of London and other personal memorials.—The most beautiful and artistic of these objects is the trophy given by Congress, which has fine symbolic figures in solid gold on either hand supporting the medal itself. These treasures are all kept in a large safe, so arranged that during public hours they are drawn forward and open to view.

Opposite the Peabody Institute is the substantial residence of the late Eben Sutton, a leading citizen of the town.—When he died, his widow, who supposed herself just comfortably provided for, found that his property vastly outrun her knowledge, and she has been devoting some of it to noble public uses. She had a little boy of feeble health, who spent much of his time in the Peabody Library, and when he also was taken away, she resolved to make a lasting memorial to him by founding the Eben Dale Sutton Reference Library. For this purpose she finished a portion of the second story of the Institute in black-walnut and established there the library above named. The portrait of the slender, spiritual lad looks down from the wall upon the unquestionable evidence that he had not lived in vain. This library is in the charge of a separate librarian, and has a fund of its own. Mrs. Sutton makes frequent and costly contributions to it. Among its valuable acquisitions are a full set of Hansard's debates in Parliament, Audubon's birds and the Versailles historic gallery of portraits.

The liquor question is of some interest here. Last year the selectmen licensed 60 places. This year the people rallied, under the lead of the best men, and protested. Consequently only seven places were licensed. Seizures were made a few days ago, and one of the town buildings was burned in consequence, but public sentiment is strongly with the enforcement of the law.

It is but a few minutes' walk from Peabody to Witches hill in Salem, the rocky pasture top, where 19 persons were hanged and Giles Corey was pressed to death two centuries ago. Cheap tenements and cheap population crowd close up to the summit, but the cows have undisputed sway of the historic spot, and on the back side of it the pasture extends unbroken by residence for many acres, now brilliantly golden with the wood-wax. It is a rocky hill-top and afforded ready material for pressing poor Corey. In about ten years, the bi-centennial anniversary of this fanaticism will occur, and steps ought to be taken to secure a proper if tardy monument to the victims of this delusion. Salem will probably not move in the matter, for her people are not proud of this event in their history. The town is full of interesting old houses, including the one where Hawthorne was born, and one where the preliminary examination of some of the witches was held, also the still fine residence where the famous Crowninshield murder was committed, which was the occasion of one of Webster's great jury speeches.—There are probably a dozen and perhaps more houses two centuries old, though hardly one has preserved its seven gables.

This is a convenient point from which to drive out to Marblehead, where a new story of Floyd Ireson is told.—When Julia Ward Howe lectured there and educed the tarring and feathering of "Flud," by the women of Marblehead as among the noble exploits of the sex, she was greeted with hisses. She paused and asked for an explanation, when a man in the back part of the audience rose and said: "I am a descendant of Flud Ireson. The story as told is a lie, for he did not desert the starving crew, although he was tarred and feathered, an act which the women of Marblehead would gladly forget." Mrs Howe appologized for the faux pas and went on.

LAST Wednesday, the Essex Co. Homeopathic Medical Society held their annual Field Meeting at Echo Grove, West Lynn. By invitation of members of the society in this town and Salem, quite a party of ladies and gentlemen from this town participated. The physicians and their friends numbered about one hundred and fifty, being mostly from this vicinity, with the addition of friends from Boston and the western part of the state. The early part of the day was passed in the usual picnic sports, including dancing, when a bountiful collation was partaken of at about one o'clock. The literary exercises of the Society followed, and included an address of welcome by Dr. H. M. Hunter of Lowell, address by the incoming president, Dr. N. R. Morse, of Salem; and poem by Dr. C. W. Scott, of Lawrence. Dr. Morse alluded in fitting terms, in his address, to the deceased members of the Society, who had passed away since the last Field Meeting, and paid an eloquent tribute to Dr. Scales, of Woburn. Dr. Samuel Worcester, of Salem, acted as toast-master, and short and witty responses were elicited from various members. Rev. Fielder Israel, of Salem, replied in his usual happy manner to the toast, Our invited friends. These literary exercises were interspersed with selections of music by the Barker family of Lynn, and Miss Amanda M. Bailey, of Salem, which, it is needless to say, gave entire satisfaction to the party. The exercises were closed by "Auld Lang Syne," which was sung by all present. The remainder of the day was devoted to dancing and social intercourse. During the day the visitors to the grove, through the courtesy of the proprietor, Mr. Raddin, partook freely of the waters of the famous Echo Grove Mineral Spring, and visited the observatory, from which a fine view of the surrounding county is to be obtained.

VENNOR'S FORECAST FOR AUGUST. Aug. 1, warm and oppressive; 2, pleasant or fairly warm; 4 and 5, cool to cold, with fall-like evenings and nights; 6, fair and pleasant; 7, heat and storms; 8, 9 and 10, sultry weather, with heavy showers, cooler evenings and nights; 11, 12 and 13, heat again in the United States, cloudy and sultry weather, with storms, in Canada; 14, cooler; 15, cooler to cold, cloudy and pleasant; 16, storms through portions of Virginia 17 and 18, hail storms and frosts probably in in some sections; 19 and 20, heat and storms; 21, sultry and stormy; 22, sultry and windy; 23 and 24, heat and wind; 25 and 26, heavy storms on the lakes, the St. Lawrence and around New York; 27, 28 and 29, cooler weather, with rains and frosts in northern sections; 30 and 31, fair and pleasant, with cool evenings and nights, with indications of returning heat.

IN our remarks in a late issue of the PRESS, on the subject of telegraphing, we did not wish to be understood as reflecting on any of the offices in this vicinity. If there is any one thing our town has reason to be proud of, it is our well managed telegraph office. An operator is on duty here fifteen hours per day and nothing is left to be desired in the way of promptness in the delivery by Mr. Grosvenor, its manager. We are led to call the attention of our readers to this, from the contrast between his management of the office and others which we have in mind. We think much of the delay in sending messages arises from the large offices in our cities, and that the large amount of business going through their hands leads to carelessness.

WINSLOW, on the Square, has an announcement in another column that should be heeded by our readers. We shall have a considerable share of sultry weather yet, in spite of Vennor, and those straw hats must go. His numerous patrons will consult their interest by visiting his store. Don't look any further when you can be suited to your entire satisfaction here at home, and at prices that will surprise you. He has also a first-class tailor, who will be glad to see all his old patrons and many new ones.

WE would remind our subscribers and friends that we shall be pleased to receive and publish any correspondence which they may feel disposed to furnish us with relative to their saunterings to the sea-shore, the mountains or other resorts. Such letters are welcome at all times.

VETERANS REJUVENATING. — On Thursday of last week, a reunion of Co. C, 5th Reg, was held at the Relay House, and as the boys cast care and dignity to the winds and just laid out for a nice time, a nice time they had. The meeting was called to order by Capt. R. S. Daniels, who made one of the stirring speeches he knows so well how to make on such occasions. Remarks interesting and appropriate were also made by Capt. Geo. F. Barnes, Sergts. L. A. Manning and W. H. Hildreth, Lieut. W. L. Thompson, Corps. W. F. Pingree and P. L. Winchester Jr., and comrades J. L. Hill, E. T. Tymer, and A. J. Wiggin. At 5.30 they sat down to a Relay House supper which we all know would almost tempt a dying man, and it is said proved themselves as sturdy and resistless with the knife and fork as of old with the sword and musket. A committee of arrangements for next year was appointed consisting of W. F. Pingree, W. H. Hildreth, F. A. Pemberton, P. L. Winchester Jr, I. D. Paul and Geo. F. Barnes. There were about forty present. They went from the headquarters of Post 50, in barges under the care of Quint, about 2 P. M. and arrived home at 10.30 after a very enjoyable day. They all toned down as they neared their respected domicils and all agreed to be on hand, Providence permitting, next year. VETERAN.

WHATEVER may have been the points in issue between Dr. Ewell and the man Purdy—it is clearly evident that there is something behind all the stories in circulation, which each of them is trying to conceal. And the suspicion of any crooked transaction such as has been intimated reflects upon the character of the place. We have noticed with pleasure that thus far, order and freedom from all rowdyism have uniformly prevailed at the Willows. No intoxicants are allowed to be sold on the ground, and it is certainly for the interest of the managers of the various attractions at that place to see to it that the stigma which in a certain sense attached to this little escapade should be removed. If this man is in the habit of drugging and robbing people—or if gambling and like influences are to be brought to bear upon the patrons of this resort, it will, of course, have its attractions for a certain class, and it is well that we should know it.

Surely many people who have been among the frequenters of the Willows on account of the freedom from such allurements, will in future remain away. Those who are in position to be interested in the welfare of this resort should see to it that the public are informed in a way that cannot be misinterpreted, to which of these classes of patrons they purpose catering.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER advertise in another column their regular clearing out sale, which commences this week. Our readers are pretty well informed as to what these sales mean.—No firm understands the secret of a successful business better than the one above mentioned, and their patrons will find it to their advantage to look in to their store during this interval between the busy seasons. Every thing in the way of a general stock of dry goods is to be found at their store, and there is no reason for the ladies to go to Boston for their selections, when they can find such an assortment of every thing needful at their store.

As will be seen by our advertising columns Mr. L. R. Power has taken the store No. 94 Main St. next to the store formerly occupied by E. S. Howard, and will open to-morrow, Thursday, with a full line of boots and shoes, which he offers at very low prices for cash. Mr. Power has a very successful business in Marblehead, is a very enterprising young man, thoroughly understands his business, and we bespeak for him a good share of patronage.

WE have received the initial copy of the Wampum Belt, a neat little sheet devoted to the interests of the Improved Order of Red Men, and published by C. H. Litchman, of Marblehead. Like all the work from the office of brother Litchman, it is a fine specimen of topography, and reflects credit upon its proprietor.

Our five cent cigars are the best in town, Peabody News Co.'s.—Adv.

The Eastern Railroad company in adopting the plan of running second class cars over its road on some through trains, has fallen into line with other leading railway corporations of the country. This looks like progressing backwards. A better plan would be to encourage travel by reducing the rates for regular fares to the lowest possible prices. This would accommodate the great bulk of the people. Those who can afford a more luxuriant or exclusive style of travelling will find their wants met in the Pullman palace cars. It does not conduce to the welfare of society to treat any portion of its members like cattle, or to do anything that has a tendency to lower the self-respect of individuals. As the country grows richer, the tendency to create class distinctions will be strong enough without being helped along by any such useless appendages as second-class cars. The public has no reason to complain of the accommodations furnished on the Eastern railroad, but we have not seen a car on the road that was too good for a poor man to ride in.—Salem Observer.

Mr. John Harris, the oldest conductor in the service of the Eastern railroad company, died at his residence in Marblehead on Thursday morning, July 28, in the 64th year of his age. In 1846 he was employed as fireman on the Marblehead branch of the Eastern Railroad, and one year later assumed the position conductor, which he retained until the time of his death. Mr. Harris has seen thirty-five years of continuous service as a conductor, and was well known throughout Essex county. In his manner he was genial and courteous, and endeared himself to all who knew him. Even in death the old conductor could not forget his duties, and shortly before his end he raised his head as if to give the usual signal for starting to the engineer, and feebly cried out "all aboard."—Boston Post.

THE Camp Meeting at Asbury Grove will begin August 15th, and continue the remainder of the week, it having been decided by the Association not to hold the meeting this year over Sunday. In this we think they are wise. Large numbers of people are usually in attendance on that day who are attracted by anything but the religious services, and as this is the confessed object of the Camp Meeting, consistency would seem to indicate this as the only course to pursue.

It seems almost superfluous to ask the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Lafayette House in Salem, for they have long been waiting the announcement that the clam-bakes so famous at this house were to be resumed. A goodly company from this town are to be found at the tables nearly every Thursday and Sunday evenings and those who have been there once need not to be told the reason why.

Mr. J. W. Hazelton and Mr. Geo. C. McKenzie, who were formerly located at 252 1-2 Essex St., were obliged to vacate their store as it was to be torn down. The former will be found at the store of Daniel T. Smith corner Washington and Essex sts., and the latter is in the store of A. J. Swain, 220 Essex st. Both will continue at their old business and be glad to see any of thier Peabody friends at their new stands.

A New York doctor of divinity owning a religious newspaper paid the lady who did most of the literary work $10 a week. Last year he raised it, with great reluctance, to $15. A rival publisher, discovering her value, made her a handsome offer. The doctor of divinity raised him by offering to marry her and he is going to do it. Whether this settlement will cost him any less has to be proved.—Detroit Free Press.

POLICE NOTES. — July 28, Bridget Marr, drunk, $6.55.

Aug. 2, Patrick McCarthy, assault, $5.05.

William Dalton, drunk, $14.85.

Jas. O'Brien of Newburyport, drunk, $5.85.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS advertises in another column that he has marked down his entire stock of spring and summer dress goods at prices that will ensure a speedy sale. Read his advertisement.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'. —Adv.

Poet's Corner.

(For the Peabody Press.)

Fanny Butterfly's Ball.

Pa-pa and Ma-ma of Butterfly Hall,
Resolved upon giving their daughter a ball.
The rumor soon spread over hill and thro' vale,
So rapid you'd think it was carried by mail.
A cricket (the gossip) just left all her labor,
To run here and there, and chat with a neighbor
Of the news she had heard—it was certainly true,
Altho' she pretended 't was known to but few.
But first to select was a suitable place,
Where the insects could dance with their exquisite grace—
Beneath a sweet eglantine bush was a plat
Smoother and richer than carpet or mat;
So shady, so airy, so fragrant, so green,
Miss Fanny declared 'twas the finest she'd seen.
Miss Fanny was notable—and each pleasant morning
Arose with the lark to direct its adorning.
Of some pearly white wax a few statues were made,
Which were moulded by bees and set in the shade.
The vases were beautiful — artists the same,
And crowned with bright flowers of every name.
The silk-worms and spiders had woven with care
Some curtains of gossamer, lighter than air—
Mrs. George Firefly, to add to the splendor,
Sent in a message to say she would lend her
With pleasure and welcome, if the evening were clear,
Her circle of brilliants—a bright chandelier.
The hall was complete and Miss Fanny retired—
The display of her taste was greatly admired.
The next matter of moment, when left to reflection,
She found was the toilette—so sent for direction
To a fashionable friend, who advised her to wear
A simple white veil thrown over her hair.
The day was appointed—the evening soon came.
The sunset was glorious, and so was the fame.
The insects assembled from greatest to least,
In marvelous numbers, all drest in their best.
The Brass Band of Crickets first took their places,
Full sixteen in number, with black grinning faces.
Next a party of ladies with a coach and a driver;
Misses Katy Did, Lady Bug, Firefly and Spider.
Col. Humble Bee soon from his carriage alighted,
Smoothed out his ruffles — his toilette soon righted,
Of bright velvet pants and yellow kid glove—
His presence was dignity — sweet as a dove.
A young Dr. Grasshopper passing thro' town
Attended the Col. in a green-silvered gown,
His graceful appearance produced a sensation,
And 'twas whispered around, "He's from some foreign nation."
Rev. Job Beetle Bug gravely walked in,
But looked as if acting a pardonless sin,
And fearing his parish might think it not right,
Slipped into a corner well sheltered from sight.
(Major Wasp, a great beau, and his friend Gen. Hornet, Attended the ball, tho' affecting to scorn it.)
The music struck up—the partners selected,
Though many a damsel felt sadly neglected.
At the second cotilion Esq. Devil's Needle bowed To Miss Tabitha Rose Bug far back in the crowd,
And leading her forth, at the top took a place
To lead off the set with an unrivaled grace;
But somehow or other, I cannot tell why,
He was either a cripple or blind of an eye,
For he knocked down the ladies, or trod on their toes,
And sadly disfigured Queen Honey Bee's nose.
He complained of the heat, and tortured with grief,
Forthwith made his bow, and hid under a leaf.
Father Longlegs was a guest with a suitable name,
For his great elevation had given him fame.
He had lived many days, and grown very tall,
And, tho' in his dotage, had come to the ball.
But I can't stop to tell you of all the disasters,
Which, had they been seen, would shock dancing masters.
How his long graceless limbs got entangled in roses,
And drawing them out made many black noses.
How a kindly meant gallantry gave him the rack
When he found himself prostrated flat on his back.
How he kicked down the curtains, the statues and vases.
And scattered the brilliants all over their faces.
How the ladies were frightened, and the beaux at the fall
Determined on putting an end to the ball.
All this may be true, or it may be a fable,
You may settle that matter as best you are able,
But when by tradition 'twas told the young folks,
Judge Humbug decided 'twas only a hoax.

Peabody, Aug. 1, 1881. LADY BUG.

Selected Story.

HIS ONLY RELATIVE.

The whole population of the village was going down the street, but Dr. Hicks was going up. His black coat was buttoned more tightly than usual about his spare form, his eyes glared rebukingly through his spectacles upon his neighbors hurrying to the circus.

The doctor, in his quiet house on the hill, had a dozen boys, who, under his teaching, were preparing for college. He knew that they were hard at work now, with the windows closed to keep out the sound of the band and the cheering under the big tent. He had attended to that before going out.

By dint of controlling boys twenty years, the doctor had begun to look upon all mankind as his pupils. He would have liked to wreak the ears of the 'squire or set him down to ninety lines of Virgil when he saw him going under the canvas cover.

The next moment the good old man stopped, appalled. There was his senior class—three boys who were reading the Iliad—standing at the ticket office—high hats, downy upper lips, canes and all.

"Young men, I thought better of you than this."

"We had a half-holiday, you remember, doctor."

"But to spend it in this scene of folly! You intend to become a physician, Mr. Maury. What confidence would a dying patient have in you, who had seen you staring at these painted creatures and human monstrosities? I do not exercise my authority. I only ask you to consider your own self-respect."

The boys grew red and angry. They had planned this visit for days. The doctor stood looking anxiously into their faces. Maury laughed.

"We'll not go, sir. But out of respect to you; not to ourselves. Come, boys."

Maury, who was always spokesman and leader, had not the least doubt that the boys would follow him. The doctor looked after him with friendly eyes. Judge Lloyd came up at the moment and said:

"It is easy to see who is your favorite scholar."

"No, no. Charley is not my best Grecian, and is deficient in mathematics. But he is an independent, high-spirited lad. Good blood. I knew his father well—James Maury."

"An orphan, eh?"

"Yes. His guardian sent him to me ten years ago. There was property; enough, it seems, to educate him, and no more. The boy has had a lonely life enough. He has no kinsfolks or friends. The other boys have letters, boxes, visits from their friends, and go home in the holidays; but Maury has nothing to give interest to his life—except, indeed, the wish not to disgrace the Maury name."

"If you please, sir, this is for you," said a queer-looking boy, running against the doctor's legs and handing him a note.

"DEAR SIR:"—the note ran—"I am the uncle and only living kinsman of your pupil, Charles Maury. As I wish to confer with you in reference to the boy, and cannot come to you, I shall feel myself greatly indebted to you if you will accompany the bearer, who will lead you to me. Respectfully,

"WM. K. SPERRY."

"Uncle! Maury! Most extraordinary coincidence. Ah! here is a postscript:

"'You will oblige me by keeping this communication a secret, especially from my nephew.'"

"And where is Mr. Sperry?" demanded the doctor, turning to the boy.

"I'll take you to him," he said, and he began to dodge through the crowd, the doctor following him. Finally he entered a house with windows looking to the circus.

The doctor sat down, bewildered by the sudden summons, the beating of drums, and the clangor of cymbals.

"Mr. Sperry, being a stranger, has doubtless wandered into lodgings in this place. It must be exceedingly unpleasant for a man of refinement to be within hearing of all this vulgarity. I shall take him home with me at once. 'Sperry?' Yes. Charley's father did marry a Sperry. Old Maryland family. Very strange I never heard of him before, though."

The doctor's eyes, as he meditated, wandered to the window. Opposite was a large opening in the canvas tent. The interior was in direct view. The doctor was human. He looked, rose, walked to the window.

The county had emptied itself into the circus. The massed heads rose, tier upon tier, from tan-bark to the roof. The ring master strutted into the centre of the circle, whip in hand.

"I have the pleasure, ladies and gentlemen, of introducing to you the world renowned giant, Magog, measuring seven feet five inches, from head to heel. Step out, Magog!"

Magog entered the arena, clothed in scarlet, with nodding plumes in an immense chapeau.

"One of a family of giants," shouted the showman. "Father and mother both giants. Magog. Feel his arms, gentlemen. Solid flesh. No deception."

The great creature stood still while a crowd of men and boys pinched and fingered his limbs. The doctor turned away with a sudden feeling of nausea. If this monstrosity had any human feeling, what tortures he must undergo to be thus exhibited as a beast. "But is it possible," thought the doctor, "that he is but an animal, after all?"

"Where is Mr. Sperry?" he demanded impatiently, of the boy. But that youth was staring through the window into the tent.

"Circus is broke up. Magog's comin' this way," he cried.

"Magog!"

"He lodges here, sir."

The doctor would have escaped, but it was too late. The door opened, and the great mass of flesh, scarlet, and nodding plumes entered. It filled the room. The doctor gasped for breath.

"I will go elsewhere to meet Mr. Sperry," he said.

"Why," laughed the boy, "this gentleman is Mr. Sperry."

Magog motioned the stunned doctor to a seat, and waited until the boy left the room before he spoke.

"I am Charles Maury's uncle," he then said, in a voice singularly low and almost tremulous. "I know all that you would say," he hastened to add, "the disgrace, the misery to him. Perhaps the boy can be saved from knowing it. That is why I sent for you."

He leaned his head on his great staff, and was silent. The doctor could not speak. The monster had some of the feelings of a man. That was plain; but this poor Charley—to find one of his family and kinsfolks in this—a creature not only set apart by nature from his kind, but so degraded as to be willing to make a show of himself.

"Charles does not know that he has any living kinsfolks," he said, guardedly. "Is it necessary that he should know?"

"That is for you to determine, doctor," said Magog, in the same low, humble tone. "I will tell you the circumstances:

"I was his mother's only brother. Owing to my—my misfortune," glancing hastily down at himself, "I never was able to enter any profession or trade. My father left me a small farm in Maryland—barely enough to support me and the black servants who waited on me.

"It is a very pretty place," he said, his grave face lighting up. "When Jenny died—that was Charley's mother—they brought the boy home to me.—He was a noble boy. He is very different from all other boys, still?"

"Yes, no doubt."

"Well, sir, I used to think much of that boy's future. He had no chance of an education. I had a bare pittance, he had nothing."

"Pardon me, his father left some property?"

"Not a penny. To cut the matter short, there was but one way to give him a chance to make a man of himself, and so I took it."

"You have exhibited yourself, so as to educate this boy. The money has come from you?"

The doctor rose as he spoke. His voice failed him, but he held out his hands.

"I honor you. You have done a noble deed. And it was just now that I had thought you—"

"A brute," said Magog, with a feeble laugh. "A great many people feel that way, but not all! God made us all with the same feelings, no matter how hideous our bodies. Many of the people who look at me remember that."

"This life must have been a terrible one to a man of sensitive feelings."

"It has not been pleasant," said Magog, quietly; "but the boy has been happy. He will take his place in the world; but we giants are not a strong race." He paused, with a smile on his face. "The exposure and fatigue has brought disease. The physicians say that my death will be sudden, and, if I continue in this line, immediate. I sent for you to ask what is to become of Charles. I have saved a sum sufficient to carry him through his medical course, which I will leave in your hands. The boy need never know me. When you have this money secure, I shall be contented. The end may come when God pleases."

"You do not wish to see the boy or speak to him?" the doctor asked, looking keenly at him.

The great creature trembled through all of his unwieldy body, but he answered quietly:

"I would give years of my life to touch his hand. Why, sir, what has kept me up through the life of torture but the thought of him? But no, no. Do not bring him here; he would despise me. I could bear that from other children, but not from Charley."

"You have left the matter with me," said the doctor, rising resolutely. "I am going to tell him the whole story, Mr. Sperry. I shall bring him here to you. Not a word; I know I am right."

But the doctor went home in a sort of anxiety. He was by no means sure the result would be right. Young Maury was a reticent, silent boy, proud of his name and blood. Was he capable of appreciating the noble self-sacrifice of his uncle's life? "If he does not, I shall be tempted to turn him out of my school," muttered the doctor.

He told Charley the story that evening. The boy listened without a word. When he had heard it all, he arose and took his hat. He was very pale.

"Where is my uncle?" he asked.

"I suppose in the circus. It is the hour for the performance," stammered the doctor.

"You will come with me?" he said, going to the door.

The doctor followed meekly. When they reached the street, outside of the circus, a great crowd was in wild excitement.

"The giant Magog! He is dying," some of them cried.

"Where is he?"

"In that side tent there. He fell in the arena, poor monster."

A few moments later the crowd about the fallen giant was thrust aside, and Charley Maury rushed forward, dragging one of the most skillful physicians in the town to his side.

"You must save him! He is my uncle. He is the only friend I have in the world!" he cried.

"Uncle!" muttered tipsy Joe Hill. "Why, I thought that young man was a gentleman."

Charley caught the words.

"This is a gentleman," he said, laying his hand on poor Magog. "As noble a gentleman as ever God made."

The doctor drove the crowd out of the tent. When Magog opened his eyes they rested on Charley kneeling before him, and they filled with sudden terror. He struggled to rise.

"Do you know who I am?" he whispered.

"Oh, why did you not tell me before?" cried Charley. "I have been so alone in the world! I will never leave you again, uncle. I shall have a home now like other boys."

His uncle looked at him bewildered. Was the boy actually rejoicing to have found him?

"But you forget that I am a giant and have followed this low business."

"There could not be too much of you," he said; "surely not too much of such an uncle as you."

"How do you feel now, sir?" asked the physician, anxiously.

"Better, doctor; I can't afford to die now."

He did not die. Charley seemed suddenly grown to manhood. He hurried his uncle back to Maryland, took possession of the old farm, taught and studied by turns, until he had gained his profession. He is a physician now, with a loving little wife, and two rosy boys, who like himself, declare every day that they have the best uncle in the world, and that there never can be too much of him.

Miscellaneous.

LIVING IN FLATS.—Persons living in the apartment house neighborhoods between Thirty Fourth street and the Park, on the west side of the city, must have noticed during the last few years the increase in the business of caterers who send meals regularly to families living in flats. In the morning before 9 o'clock and from 6 to 7 o'clock in the evening scores of colored waiters may be seen hurrying from house to house carrying the peculiar tin boxes which hold a meal each. The more ambitious caterers have established wagons built somewhat after the plan of a pie wagon; such wagons hold thirty meal boxes nearly as big as a small trunk. Each box is divided into compartments for the different dishes—one for soup, another for fish, meats, desserts, etc. Everything is kept warm by means of the alcohol lamp at the bottom of the box. The usual arrangements made with these caterers—who are nearly all colored—is that dinner shall be furnished at so much a week per person. The caterer furnishes everything that goes on the table except the dishes, silver and linen. The meal box is delivered at the door of the apartment. When one box is received, the empty one in which the preceding meal was carried is taken away. The caterer is expected to furnish everything; he even keeps the castors replenished with salt, oil, vinegar, etc.

The cost of this mode of living depends upon the grade of meals furnished and the number of persons in a family. The most expensive caterer of this class in the business sends out only one grade of meals and charges $6 a week per person; children under 10 and one servant are not counted, it being expected that enough will be sent for them. If the family wishes to pay for more than three persons the charge is $5 per person. Other caterers have two prices, $6 and $4 a week, the meals furnished for $4 being, of course, simpler than $6, but the process is the same. At $6 a week each meal—fourteen a week—costs 42 cents a person; at $4 it is only 28 cents a person.

One person who has adopted this system of living said: "I have a wife, one child and a nurse. Our meals cost $10 a week by this plan; I pay for two persons and a half at $4 a person.—There is always ample for all of us, and the meals are quite as good as we should have if we had to buy and cook them. The money saving is great and the saving in trouble is still greater. In the first place, it does away with the cook, the cost of her wages and the cost of her waste and board; it takes the labor of marketing and the responsibility of breakfast and dinner off my wife's hands; it does away with a fire in the kitchen and with the odor of cooking, which in small apartments is almost unavoidable. Before trying this plan my grocer's and butcher's bills alone came to $10 a week, the cook cost me $14 a month, and my wife had to work hard. When I want an unusually good dinner I order it and pay the extra price. If I bring home a friend I send word an hour or two in advance, and an extra amount of food is sent. Our breakfast consists of steak, eggs, oatmeal, rolls and coffee, with such seasonable trifles as radishes, etc.; for dinner we have soup, fish, meat, salad, two or three kinds of vegetables and dessert. If we choose to make our $10 worth or meals suffice for a dozen persons, that is our lookout; the caterer sends so much food for so much money and does not care how many persons eat it."

The price at which meals are furnished by this plan seems to be low, but a little study of the matter shows that the business can be done at a profit. Taking an average price of $5 a week per person, each meal costs twenty-six cents allowing two meals a day. It is possible to get a simple meal at many restaurants for that price. At some of the German and French restaurants a complete dinner, including soup, meat and dessert, is given for half a dollar; yet the costs to the restaurant of such a meal is far greater than to the up-town caterer, who pays rent for a set of kitchens only; who pays for no crockery, silver or linen; and who has no waiters to hire, one man being able to deliver the meals for twenty families. The caterer buys his provisions wholesale, and is able to make use of every scrap. It is evident that if a restaurant keeper can make a profit by furnishing a dinner at his own table for half a dollar, the caterer can send out the same dinner for 30 cents and grow rich.

The first caterer who began to supply regular meals at fixed prices began the trade in 1874. There are now about twenty caterers in the business, each one having from fifty to one hundred families to supply. The business seems to increase with the building of apartment houses.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Dr. H. L. Wayland, of the National Baptist, is the son of a distinguished Baptist, who, like most teachers in the centres of Baptist learning, found it impossible to get up any enthusiasm for close communion. Prof. W. C. Wilkinson is the only marked exception to this rule that occurs to us, and he has lately resigned his professorship in Rochester. Dr. Wayland was lately in England, and questioned Mr. Spurgeon on the communion question. This was his reply:

"We occupy a conservative position among our churches on that matter. I believe that baptism and the Lord's Supper are the privilege of all Christians. I believe that any Christian has a right to baptise, and especially any minister. So I believe that any Christian has a right to partake of the Lord's Supper. When I am at Mentone, it is a great pleasure to me to break bread for all Christians who desire to unite in the Supper. But I do not believe that any one should be admitted to the Church without baptism. If any person of credible Christian character comes to us and asks to be admitted to the Lord's Supper, we give him the privilege for three months. At the end of that time we say to him: 'You have had an opportunity to know our views and our practice. If you choose to unite with us, we shall be glad to receive you. If not, you had better go to those with whom you are in fuller sympathy.' And in ninety-nine times out of a hundred the person says: 'I have seen your ways, and I am satisfied to be baptised.'"

We do not see why that is not a very defensible and wise position. American Baptists should consider it; but their papers cannot yet discuss it.—N. Y. Independent.

CONRAD'S ADVERTISEMENT.

CONRAD'S CLEARING-OUT SALE.

1000 One Dollar Hats, at 13c.

500 Fifty Cent Canvas Belts, at 17c.

100 $2.25 Misses Madras Gingham Dresses, trimmed with Lace and Hamburg, at $1.25.

50 doz. $1.00 Shetland Shawls, at 50c.

75 Misses' Lawn Suits in 3 pieces, for $1.25—regular price $3.50.

Also great Bargains in Ladies' Suits, Jackets, Capes, &c., &c.

Marked Down to Close the Season's Stock.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices. An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

"Wha," asked the Lowell lawyer, "are you kicing about? Didn't I win the case for you?" Said the client: "Yes, you won the case. But you didn't insinuate that the man against me abuses his wife or steals jens. Do you think that was earning your money?"

Novelist: What is the prettiest feminine name? Mehitabel. We know a girl of that name whose father is worth $1,00,000.

Lightning has struck a house in the village of Montpelier but once in seventy-nine years. Montpelier must be a very dead, unenterprising, no-fun sort of a place.

☞ There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Suffering Husband; Oh, your wife keeps pestering you to take her to Saratoga, and you don't want to, eh? Well, you tell her you saw in the papers that there's a lot of pretty widows there this year, and then show a disposition to go, and you'll find the madam has changed her mind and won't go anyway.

Mt. Mansfield has a carriage road one side and a bridle path the other. "How shall you go up?" said one matron to another, when a wee daughter says, before ma can reply, "On carriage-back, mamma!"

☞ Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

There is a very touching little story told of a poor woman with two children, who had not a bed for them to lie upon, and scarcely any clothes to cover them In the depth of winter they were early frozen, and the mother took the door of a cellar off the hinges and set it before the corner where they crouched down to sleep, that some of the draught and cold might be kept from them. One of the children whispered to her, when she complained of how badly off they were, "Mother, what do those dear little children do who have no cellar door to put up in front of them?" Even there, you see, the little heart found cause for thankfulness.

☞ How to Get a Husband.—Take of modesty a large proportion; unite it with urbanity and good humor: to which add good sense, and plenty of love, with a virtuous heart and pretty face. Take Simmon's Liver Regulator regularly, that the blood and complexion be pure and good.

"From actual experience in my practice, I am satisfied to prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

jy27 "T. W. Mason, M. D.

In London, the other day, they sent a poor old woman to jail for drinking the contents of a milk pitcher that stood on a doorstep, and a Cleveland editor makes out that it wasn't just right. Cleveland people don't understand why she wasn't sufficiently punished for the theft by drinking so much water.—[Lowell Citizen.

Jack: What shall you do for a broken heart? Oh, you think you're heart-broken, do you? Well, you take something to regulate your stomach and you'll come out all right. One of the most common errors in the world is to mistake an attack of biliousness for a case of broken heart.

Our city druggists report an immense sale of St. Jacobs Oil, saying the demand is based upon the popularity of its success. Wherever it has been used, it has proved its value a thousand fold, and receives its best encomiums from those who have tried it.—La. Fayette (Ind.) Daily Times.

Stranger: Have there ever been any wrecks at Nantasket? Gracious! More schooners have gone down there than at any other point on the coast.

An Iowa church choir has been singing the "Full Moons," for six weeks, under the impression that it was a hymn, and never found it out till one evening a Boston man attended their church and heard them and asked when they first began to give sacred concerts in that town.

Married Women: Why is it that young husband, though fond of good food doesn't find fault with that prepared by the cook, who is a fresh young girl and inexperienced. Well, we shan't tell you. If we did, it might set our wife to thinking.

Modest man asks: "What is that game that is played out on the green grass with a fish net, a lot of snow-shoes and some boys and girls?"

One day when Mr. H. was at a country house, he found a gentleman pacing up and down the parlor in great agitation. "Is anything the matter?" inquired Mr. H. anxiously. "The matter," he replied, "I should think there was! Three of the worst things that can happen to a man: I'm in love, I'm in debt, and I've doubts about the trinity."

They were touching up their toilets preparatory to the afternoon promenade. "Cicely, my dear, do you think I need any more color in my face?" "That depends. If you only want a delicate blush you have it just right. But if you want your complexion to match your hair put on a little more vermilion." Do you suppose they walked together that afternoon? Not any.

Itching Piles — Symptoms and Cure.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

Aurora, Ill., is to be lighted by electricity from the tops of six towers, each to be three hundred feet high. The towers are made of gas-pipe, and, it is claimed, can be raised without guys to the height of 300 feet, and constructed in such a substantial manner as to withstand any wind-storm.

Seven at Once.—About two weeks since, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, a physician living in Jackson County, Tenn., was called at 11 o'clock at night to preside at a childbirth about to take place in the neighborhood. After the child was born the doctor became satisfied that there were twins, and the woman was soon delivered of the second child, both girls. Convinced, of course, that there was no further need of his assistance the physician prepared to take his leave. Before reaching his horse, however, at the gate, he was recalled and delivered the woman of another girl baby. Again the physician took his leave and again he was recalled, bringing to light another girl baby. This was considered remarkable and the physician was greatly puzzled over the matter. He, however, congratulated the husband on his good fortune, and departed for home. He had not gone more than half a mile before he was overtaken by the excited husband of the woman; who in breathless haste informed him that there was still another child to be born. Hastening back, the physician arrived in time to aid in delivering the woman of her fifth child. The physician was then prevailed on by the husband and father to stay during the remainder of the night. He was not slow to accept the invitation, and sat down to await developments. In the course of fifteen or twenty minutes he was again called to the bedside of the woman, and very soon the sixth child was breathing the breath of life. Morning dawned, and the doctor took his leave. Having had no sleep during the night, he threw himself across the bed on his arrival at home, and was soon sound asleep. About 8 o'clock he was roused by his wife who stated that Mr. B. was at the gate and wanted to see him immediately.

"What's the matter now?" asked the doctor.

"Mary appears to be going to—you know." replied Mr. B.

"What! another one?" exclaimed the doctor, excitedly.

"That's it," said Mr. B.s smile spreading his mouth from ear to ear.

The doctor mounted his horse, and was soon at the house of Mr. B., but was too late, however, to be of any service, as the seventh child, a girl, was born a few minutes previous to his arrival. The doctor remained about the premises during the rest of the day, but his services were not again needed.

The seven babies, while not large, weighing from four to five pounds each, appear to be healthy, well-developed children. The occurrence has created considerable excitement in the neighborhood and the people for miles around flock to see the woman and her babies. The husband is described as being of small stature, in fact, exceedingly thin, while the wife is said to be strong and healthy. The physicians are considerably excited over the affair. A most singular feature of the children is that all of them have blue eyes, and so closely resemble each other that it is hard to tell "which from t'other."

"'Had drunk' is not good English grammar," says a high authority. It certainly is not. "Was drunk" is better grammar, and more in accordance with the fact, nine times out of ten.—New Haven Register.

President Garfield's liver may be more or less injured, but Conkling's spleen is in an awful condition.—N. Y. Mail.

A gentleman from Indiana recently registered in an Illinois hotel, and looked at the printed notice in his bedroom, "Please do not blow out the gas." The occupant of the adjoining room heard him remark, "I pay my money and I am going to blow out the gas if I want to."

A servant girl was given some macaroni by her mistress to prepare for the table. Noticing her surprise, the old lady said: "Didn't you cook macaroni at your last place?" "Cook it, is it? We used them things to light the gas with."

One of our correspondents writes us that upon calling at a house recently, where he had a sewing machine on trial, he found the latest addition to the family snugly stowed away in the machine cover, which was thereby made to answer for a cradle. Here is an important suggestion for a new sewing machine attachment, and one upon which all the sewing machine inventors will immediately go to work. Only think of the demand there would be for a sewing machine that had a cover with a patent combination cradle attachment, rockers, spring cushions, curtains and a bottle of soothing syrup, all complete, and so beautifully arranged that they are perfectly adjustable, easily understood, and not liable to get out of order, and as simple as a grind-stone.—Sewing Machine Journal.

Abandoned.—We perceive by one of our Massachusetts exchanges that Dr. Lorenzo Waite, of Westfield, an eminent physician of Berkshire Co., strongly indorses St. Jacobs Oil. With it he cured a case of Sciatica that resisted all regular professional treatment, and that had, in fact, been abandoned as incurable.—Albany (N. Y.) Daily Press and Knickerbocker.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

— AT —

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, Jr. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.

Jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,

also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:

Second Door West of Hay Scales.

apr6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

Of NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ Grave Clothes of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.

feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.

my 13—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at

A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.

je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES.
218 and 222 Derby Street.

nov 24

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly Jesse Smith,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.  WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

— AT —

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES.

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES.

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

165 Essex Street, Salem.

Opposite St. Peter St.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

ap13—6m

NADOR & GOODWIN,

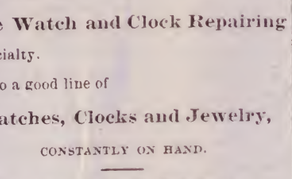
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

PURE SOFT CANDIES!

We make a specialty of

ANGEL CAKE & FIG CANDY

Our 25 cent candies are not surpassed in this county.



Also a full line of House Plants.

Parties furnished with Ice Cream

NADOR & GOODWIN.

239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

mch 23—3m

KEROSENE LAMPS. and Wicks, at Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps. Burners, Chimneys House Furnishing Store, S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

— FOR —

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

— AT —

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

— AT THE —

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.

He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

EBEN S. HOWARD,

DEALER IN

Choice Family

GROCERIES,

FLOUR, GRAIN, &c.,

COR. MAIN and CALLER STS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,

Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

— AND —

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. Job Printing of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, examine, etc.

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is Agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

GENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE MAN WHO SPENDS MONEY

For advertising in newspapers in these times without first obtaining an estimate of the cost from GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.'S Newspaper Advertising Bureau, No. 10 Spruce St., New York, is likely to pay $10 for what might be obtained for $5. Such estimates are furnished to all applicants gratis. Send 26 cents for 100-page pamphlet, with list of newspaper rates and references.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of

J. B. THOMAS,
Oak Street, Peabody.

may 5—tf

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. Hallett & Co., Portland, Me.

jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

A Whole

Piece of Linen Diaper for 88 cts.

A Nice

White Quilt—large—only 89 cts.

Crash.

A nice Linen Crash for 4 1-2 cts.

Prints.

A good line of Prints only 4 1-2 cts.

A Piece

12 yards of Irish Lace only 21 cts.

A Piece

12 yards Valencienne Lace only 25 cts.

Silk Hdkf.

A nice large Silk Handkerchief for 25 cts.

A No. 7

Ribbon—in Fancy Colors—for 5 cts.

A 29-Cent

Ribbon—in Fancy Colors—all silk 12 cts.

A Wide

Dotted Mull Tie—handsome, 25 cts.

One Cent.

A nice Japanese Fan—large 1 cent.

Two Nice

Lead Pencils for 5 cts.

Two Bottles

Moore's or Caw's Ink, 5 cts.

A Very Nice

Ebonized Easel and Satin Photograph Frame for 68 cts.

A Large

Bib Apron, 15 cents—or two for 25 cts.

Straw Cuffs,

All sizes—per pair only 5 cts.

A 25-Cent

Dressing Comb, slightly imperfect, 10 cts.

Jet Bracelets,

Nice patterns—ornamented, 10 cts.

Jet Bracelets,

Very pretty new patterns, 35 cts.

Steel Watch Keys,

All sizes, 2 cts.

Back Combs,

A nice new stock Steel Trimmed Back Combs—the new thing.

Rubber Round Combs for Children, only 5 cents.

Rain Umbrellas.

A Job Lot, decided bargain; 24 in. 88 cts. 26 in. $1; 28 in. $1.25; 30 in. $1.50.

Sun Umbrellas.

The Best and Cheapest line in the city, from 58 cents to $10. All colors and styles that are desirable.

BEADED BELTS,

LEATHER BELTS,

CANVAS BELTS,

BERNHARDT BELTS

Beaded Collars,

Beads by the bunch.

Corsets.

A nice Embroidered Corset for 31 cents. A set of cards with every pair.

CALDER'S DENTINE. only 15 cts.

A nice SILK HDKF., 25 cts.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 3, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.

The Divorce Question.

The attention of the press and the public has recently been called to the question of the dissimilarity of the laws existing in the different states on this subject, and the frequency and increase of the numbers who reap the benefit of the divorce laws in our country have called out statistics from various quarters. There is surely reason for apprehension at the existing state of affairs. Various causes have undoubtedly contributed to the large number of people whose matrimonial relations are not congenial. In the hurry and bustle with which all matters are attended to in this country, it would seem that in this matter also haste to enter the marriage state is attended with serious and very unhappy results. Then, too, the liberality of thought and relaxation from the severe austerity of the past, has its proper influence in moulding the character and modifying our laws and institutions. In Belgium the marriage contract can be dissolved at pleasure by either party; yet no unfortunate results follow. In France there has been no divorce possible under existing laws, and one state in our Union, South Carolina, prides itself upon having the same law on her statute books. No one will say that the morals of France have been improved by this law; nor is this the case in South Carolina; yet the opposite extreme seems to have been resorted to in some of the states, and the ease with which the marriage relation can be dissolved has led to great rashness in entering it.

It is proper and wise that some sort of legislation should be had. Where it is impossible for a man and wife to live happily—the laws of the land should provide a remedy. But on the other hand, the laws of divorce should be made more stringent, it should be made very difficult for one of the parties to become divorced save for the one scriptural cause. In this the Church can be a material aid. The Romish and the Protestant Episcopal Church, as is well known, will countenance no divorce save for adultery, and in the reaction from the form and ceremony of these churches, the more liberal branches, so called, have ceased to regard in so strict a manner the customs of the old established church in this particular. In this respect a return to first principles would seem desirable. We quote from the Nation:

"Dr. Woolsey, of New Haven, in an interview with a Herald reporter, insists upon the desirability of securing uniform laws on the subject of marriage and divorce throughout the country.—The statistics on the subject are very meagre, and thus far chiefly go to show the great popularity of divorce as an 'institution.' In 1878, for instance, there were more divorces granted in Massachusetts and Connecticut than in England and Wales together. Connecticut down to that year permitted divorce for 'any such misconduct as permanently destroys the happiness of the petitioner and defeats the purpose of the marriage relation,' a provision which practically made the matter one of judicial discretion; but in Massachusetts, where no such law has ever existed, and with a population of 1,783,000, six hundred divorces were granted in 1878, against eight hundred in England and Wales, with a population of 24,000,000. Dr. Woolsey thinks that divorce lawyers are the most bitter opponents of divorce law reform, and of course they can be hardly expected to favor it; but behind them there is a laxity of public sentiment which makes permanent improvement of the law difficult."

Many of the statistics published to reflect upon certain portions of the country, and comparing the percentage with the population of that region, are misleading. Many persons whose married life, from whatever cause, is unhappy, and who wish a divorce, will take up their residence for the time in one of the states where divorces are easily obtained. They are really residents elsewhere. And the percentage in these states is increased, while the true number of divorced couples from that state may be no larger than elsewhere. A uniform law of the country, as has been variously suggested, would provide a remedy for the evil. But this would require a constitutional amendment, and it is doubtful if such an one could be agreed upon.

The difficulty seems to be, as has been stated by a writer in the International Review, in the status of foreign divorces—in the sense that all states are foreign to each other. A man can obtain a divorce in one state that will not be recognized in another. In New York, for instance, the sole ground for absolute divorce is adultery, and a party who is divorced and can legally marry again in another state, can be indicted in that state for bigamy. Again, a man in N. Y. has an action brought against him, and successfully, for a divorce; he is prohibited from marrying again. He can, however, go to Ohio, marry, and the marriage will be legal. Yet the moment he returns to New York state, his marriage becomes null, and he can abandon his wife, who has no redress. Thus it will be seen that the innocent may in this way be made to suffer; and when there are children from these unhappy marriages numerous complications may arise. If each state would recognize the status of the divorced party to be the same as in the state where the action is brought, much of the difficulty would be solved. It might not reduce the number of divorces, but it would lead, possibly, in the future, to a more uniform law in the matter, which is greatly to be desired.

SENSATIONAL articles in the New York papers, claiming the disability of President Garfield, and reflecting in some measure upon Blaine, our Secretary of State, will deceive no one.—There is no doubt that our President is unable to perform any official duties, and the constitution provides that the Vice President shall, during the disability of the President, perform its duties. But it is to be doubted if there is a necessity for taking such a step. Congress is not in session, the horde of office-seekers can wait, and we know of nothing that has arisen to demand the official act of the President, of sufficient import to require the Vice President to act. Furthermore, while Gen. Garfield is very weak, we do not agree with the Boston Globe, who would have its readers infer that the mind of the President has been an entire blank from the time of his attack. We imagine he is more or less posted as to the surroundings and condition of affairs during his illness, and although a sick man, he is rapidly nearing a point when his official sanction and act could be obtained in cases which absolutely require it. But this is the season when the President in health is usually absent from the seat of government, and the excitement, or political capital, attempted to be drawn out of the fact that Blaine is Secretary of State, is the thinnest kind of a delusion. We know of no act that Blaine has performed exceeding in any measure the duties of his office. There has been no occasion for such act. He has informed our minister in England of the physical condition of the President, which is entirely within the sphere of the duties of the Secretary of State. It looks to us as if we could discern very clearly the hand of Conkling or his supporters in these attempts to make Blaine appear as acting President.

WE think Dr. Hammond shows himself to be very weak, to say the least, in condemning in such a wholesale manner, to the newspaper reporters, the acts of the President's consulting physicians. Even if there were just ground for them, the fact that he had been deposed from the office of Surgeon-General of the Army, bluuts the edge of his criticisms. Dr. Hammond is an able physician—so are the consulting physicians, Drs. Agnew and Hamilton, and we very much doubt if Dr. Hammond himself, if admitted to the councils of the doctors, would dissent from the mode of treatment as at present pursued. The President is receiving the best of care. This, and not the skillful operations of the surgeons, will pull him through. It must be remembered that a deal of sensational reports are and have been circulated about the case. The mole has been made a mountain, and while we recognize the fact that the President has been very near to death, the operation of opening the pus cavity, performed with so much flourish by Dr. Agnew, was by no means a difficult one, nor one that in any other case would have attracted the very minute description that has been given. Probably any of the other doctors could have as successfully opened it. These slurs by Dr. Hammond, and by others, who, a thousand miles away, and not having seen the President, think they are in better condition to state the case than the attendant physicians, show to us very plainly their want of knowledge, and do incalculable mischief to the public. Let us have charity to hope that the learned men in charge of President Garfield will do all that the best medical science can devise, for his recovery, and let us leave the matter, under the providence of God, in their hands.

IT IS REPORTED

That Daniel Pratt is going to Europe.

That he will probably give the crowned heads of Europe the benefit of his enlightened experience.

That he will return in season to be the next President of the United States.

That some of the ladies havn't got the hang of the horse car regulations.

That the three rear seats on the open cars are for smokers.

That in fact they are exclusively for gentlemen.

That a petition should be circulated, asking the Eastern R. R. to build a platform at our station between the two tracks.

That it is evident that they will make no move in the matter without it.

That the beauty of adjoining estates is greatly enhanced by the removal of fences between them when the parties are agreed.

That examples of this neighborly union of interests should be more common.

That our neighbor, in common with the Salem Gazette and Handbill, edified their readers in the vicinity of the Granite house with a report that a tree in front of that house had been struck by lightning.

That there is no such tree in front of the Granite House.

That there were no disastrous effects from electricity in that vicinity on Tuesday.

That the Asbury Grove Camp Meeting begins Aug. 15.

That it will not continue over Sunday.

That somebody will have to answer for the souls that might have been saved on that day.

That the financial loss to the Eastern R. R. by running a late train to Peabody at 11.30 once a week would be severe.

That the expense would only be in running an engine from Salem.

That there is a midnight train to Salem once a week, and a late train every night.

That we should expect the stock of the Eastern R. R. to go down 10 points, at least.

That when anyone is injured, there are plenty of people who declare they have had just such an experience.

That the wounding of Gen. Garfield has produced a large number of such persons.

That one would think it were healthy exercise for a man to make a target of himself.

That brag and exaggeration seem to be the stronghold of some people.

That there are 49 people in Peabody over 80 years old.

That our worthy deputy sheriff is among the number.

That Peabody is a healthy place to live in, after all.

That a flower mission in Peabody would be a very beautiful agency for bringing cheer and comfort to the sick.

That in many places a mission has been carried forward with great success.

That there are flowers enough in gardens and fields in the vicinity which would be gladly contributed.

That if some of our ladies would take it in hand, good results would surely follow.

That it is interesting to know what our neighbors think of us, as a town.

That our readers should peruse the article from the Springfield Republican, in another column.

That the colored voter always will be dangerous as long as he is ignorant.

That there are a lot of white voters who are not ignorant, but are just as dangerous.

That they are the so-called leaders of the ignorant classes.

That the presidential election didn't pauperize Hon. W. H. English, of Ind.

That his taxes this year amount to 20,000.

That the "long time" in which our neighbor had been advocating a noon mail extends to about three days before the Postmaster arranged for it.

That he knew at that time that Mr. Ward intended having it.

That, at all events, we did.

That we purpose giving credit to whom credit is due.

That the Brockton Enterprise considers the make-up of the Boston Advertiser the handsomest in Boston.

That we will shake hands with the Enterprise.

That this has been the form of the PRESS for years.

THE NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO., opposite the Essex House, Salem, have commenced their semi-annual closing out sale. When this firm advertise a mark-down they mean business every time. There is nothing in the way of boy's, youth's or men's ready made clothing that is not to be found at this establishment. By the lowest prices and uniform courtesy of treatment, they have secured a large and rapidly increasing patronage which they justly deserve. Read their advertisement and call and see them, when in want of ready made clothing.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Extra Sweet Oranges, California Plums, at Hewitt's, 9 Main street.—Adv.

After reading the story of the young woman who was hugged to death, a Reno girl laid down the paper with a sigh and said: "Well, she died happy, anyway."

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

The New York Herald says that Dr. Bliss speaks of the physicians as "medical gentlemen," and of journalists as "you fellows."

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

"Courtship is bliss," said an ardent young man. "Yes and matrimony is blister," snarled an old bachelor.

Nice Ripe Bananas at Hewitt's, 9 Main street.—Adv.

A Western editor wrote an article on "Rhubarb," and the compositor made pi of it.—Yonkers Statesman.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

Summer Saunterers.

Mr. Edw. A. Hutchinson of Cincinnati, O., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Wm. N. Osgood.

Miss Helen L. Osborn and Miss Francis E. Mihan, of Kansas City, were in town last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Proctor, Chas. A. Proctor, Sarah E. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Brown, Mrs. H. A. King and Miss Hattie Hardy, are at Pigeon Cove, Rockport.

Rev. W. G. Sperry will spend a week of his vacation in yachting, in company with Dr. C. C. Pike, David Claflin, Chas. A. Haskell, Frank I. Proctor, Dr. Odlin of Exeter, I. Adams, Esq., Philadelphia, Prof. E. G. Coy, Andover, Frank Baker, Brooklyn, N. Y. They left Phillips' Wharf, Salem, yesterday morning, in the yacht "Lila Bell," of Marblehead, Capt. Hamlin, for Martha's Vineyard.

Mrs. Stephen Blaney has been visiting the Isle of Shoals.

Mr. John A. Lord is at Old Orchard Beach.

Mr. C. Warren Osborn, Chas. O. Warner and Arthur W. Clark are at Rangely Lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Osborn and Miss Maria Osborn are boarding at Mrs. Galen Coffin's, Marblehead Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Munroe are at Jackson, N. H.

Mrs. Jonathan King and daughters were at Poland Springs last week.

Mr. Arthur Littlefield, Herman Campbell, Grace Goodrich and Emma Bancroft are at Mt. Vernon, N. H.

Mr. C. A. Haskell's family are at Magnolia.

Mr. C. B. Farley and family are at Ware Cottage, Marblehead.

Miss Alice C. Hart is spending her vacation at So. Chemsford, Mass.

The following Peabody people attend the Unitarian camp meeting at Weirs' Landing, N. H.: Mr. Frank W. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Southwick and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. B. Merrill and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Dodge and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Little and daughter, Miss Mary Fornis, Miss Carrie Upton, Miss Lucy Simonds, Miss Maria Winchester and Miss Nettie Cooke.

A daughter of Mr. Samuel L. Pray, of Baltimore, Md., is spending her vacation with her grandfather, Mr. Price, on Andover street.

Miss Mary Lizzie Smith, formerly of this town, now a school teacher at Washington, D.C., is spending her vacation here with her parents.

Miss Lizzie Southwick will spend the next two weeks at Lineboro, N. H.

Mr. Frank T. Arnold and family left town yesterday, for an extended western tour, stopping at Toledo, O., and Jackson, Ind.

Mrs. Chas. A. Williams will spend the next three weeks at Cape Porpoise, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. David Porter are spending a few days in Topsfield.

Mrs. B. F. Woodbury is stopping at Asbury Grove.

Miss Annie S. Merrill is at Wakefield, N. H.

Miss Vienna Batchelder is at London, N. H.

Miss Laura Whitney is at Reading, Mass.

Miss Hattie Chase is at Nashua, N.H.

Geo. F. Barnes has recently returned from Hillsboro', N. H.

Miss Dora McCausland has returned from a visit to Stoughton, Mass.

Miss Flora Hoyt has just returned from a three weeks' visit among the hills of New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Woodbury have recently returned from Martha's Vineyard.

Mrs. Geo. Clerk has returned from a three weeks' visit to New York.

Mr. Chas. Nevers of Lowell, has been visiting his parents in this town.

Mr. Frank Woodbury of Leominster, is spending his vacation in Peabody.

Mrs. A. T. Folsom, of Springfield, Mass., is visiting Mrs. Chas. D. Howard, Lowell St.

New Advertisements.

HAMILTON

CAMP MEETING!

The annual Camp-Meeting at

ASBURY GROVE, HAMILTON, MASS.,

Will commence on

MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1881,

and close on SATURDAY, the 20th.

The first service will be held at 2 P. M., Monday. Rev. Dr. Crowell will have charge of the meeting.

The Association will have charge of the Boarding arrangements as usual, and hope to make it entirely satisfactory to all. Board for 5 days $4.50, or $1.00 per day.

Address all mail matter to "Asbury Grove, Mass."

The Store and Post Office are now open. Meat, Fish, Vegetables and Milk are furnished to residents daily, and the bakery is open.

Barges at Wenham depot at every train Buy "Camp Meeting" tickets and get them exchanged at Post Office, before leaving the grounds. Persons wishing to rent cottages may address GEORGE C. RANKINS, Asbury Grove, Mass. For the Association, aug 3 JAS. P. MAGEE, Treas.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK, aug 3 30 Holten street.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots,

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers,

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

A complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free.

aug 3—6 w

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of RICHARD LORING, late of Peabody, in said county, carpenter, deceased:

Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George E. Luscombe, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to him, the executor therein named having declined to accept said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have against the same.

And said George E. Luscombe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

a3—3t J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A DIVIDEND of Three Dollars per share will be payable at the office of the Treasurer, on WEDNESDAY, July 27, to stockholders of record July 23, 1879.

DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.

Salem, July 23, 1881. jy 27—3w

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

NEW TOILET WARE.

A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

CLAM BAKE,

— AT THE —

LAFAYETTE HOUSE,

SALEM, MASS.,

Every Thursday,

Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.

jy 27—2m

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN V. STEVENS, late of Peabody, in the county of Essex, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same: and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

CHARLES P. STEVENS, Admr.,

12 Hawley Place.

Boston, July 18, 1881. 3w

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

HAY.—One car load extra quality No. 1 Bangor Hay. For sale low from car, by

CHARLES A. ROPES,

41 to 47 Central street.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Good weather—for April.

Needham family re-union to-morrow.

Mr. E. Whidden's "old white horse" is dead.

Prospects for fruit in this vicinity are excellent.

Thermometers are still in a high state of excitement.

Country teamsters begin to buckle to big city trunks.

Peabody is well represented at the Cadet Camp, Magnolia.

Wiley & Poor are erecting drying rails opposite their factory.

It seems likely that the price of coal will soon be advanced.

A large demand for sugar at present—canning time, you know.

The Clippers will play the Resolutes of Swampscott, next Saturday.

The sudden changes in temperature causes sickness. Be prudent.

Mr. Alfred Berry has purchased a house lot on Bowditch Court for $360.

Considerable damage is being done in destroying tree foliage by caterpillars.

There are now 11 religious organizations in town, all holding public worship.

The influx of city people into the country is now at its height.

Mr. Isaiah Chute is building a house for Miss Lydia M. Lord, on North street, Salem.

Last Thursday night a large flock of wild ducks struck into Geo. Upton's mill pond.

A new coal shed is being built at Atherton & Co., corner of Wallis and Walnut streets.

A son of Rev. L. L. Wood sustained injuries to his hip by falling from a ladder last week.

Nineteen Catholic children from Peabody are in charge of the Sisters of Charity, Salem.

Upton's Building looks decidedly better with its new windows and fancy painted trimmings.

Rev. L. L. Wood will preach at the Chapel on Andover street, next Sunday, at 4 o'clock.

Preaching services at the Unitarian church will be discontinued for the next four Sundays.

The new street leading from Washington, below Mr. Stephen Blaney's, is called Dustin street.

A boy was run into by a buggy near Caller street, yesterday, and received slight injuries.

The light of a fire on the farm of Capt. Caldwell, Danvers, was distinctly seen in town last evening.

The Clipper Base Ball Club, of this place, will play the Topsfield Club on Saturday of next week.

Mr. Ward has a very handsome plant in full bloom on exhibition at D. P. Grosvenor, Jr.'s, drug store.

"The telephone exchange will be left in charge of Mr. Elmer Poor during the absence of the regular operator."

Mr. J. B. Reith is holding the ribbons over Mr. S. A. Osborne's trotter—attached to the delivery wagon.

The examination of the books in the Peabody Library closed Friday, and all the books are now ready for delivery.

Mr. Isaac Munroe and a party numbering twenty-one, left town on Thursday, and are at present located at Jackson, N. H.

The Base Ball Club of Thomas Carroll's morocco shop, challenge any morocco shop's crew in Essex county to a game of base ball.

Mr. A. J. Hubbard is out with a new fancy painted team, with a chromo of a tree on it and the words Cook's Patent Tree Protector.

The large currying shop of Brown & Stanly have shut down for a few days. The weather has been such that no leather could be dried.

Mr. Lewis Foan has leased the old morocco shop, on Central street, opposite the Town Scales, and is fitting it up for that business.

Another one of those commercial outcasts was in town Thursday night, selling tin polish and linen markers, besides making lots of noise.

Improvements are going on at the Institute. The roof is being repaired by the slaters, and the globe on top of the tower is to be regilded.

Mr. Jas. P. King's milk wagon was overturned on Endicott street, this morning, and the earth not watered but milked by 14 cans of the fluid.

At the annual meeting of the Eighth Veteran Association at Newburyport, Monday, Capt. W. M. Ward of this town, was elected a Vice President.

Rev. Loven F. Berry of Plantsville, Conn., will preach Aug. 8, in the Cong. Church. Evening preaching service at 7.30, throughout the month.

Holten Lodge 104, I. O. O. F., will be represented in the meeting of the Grand Lodge, which commences at 9 o'clock to-morrow, at the Odd Fellows' Building.

The Newburyport Germ says the Peabody House, at Salisbury, owned by Mr. Geo. Merrill of this town, is still the popular resort of the sporting fraternity.

A six-year-old son of Patrick O'Keefe sustained a painful injury to his foot, last Thursday, by a piece of glass, which penetrated to the depth of an inch.

Mr. William Blaney has painted for Mr. John Tibbetts a neat sign, which he has placed on the front of his saloon, bearing the inscription, "Licensed Victualer."

Mr. Sylvester P. Taylor has just returned from Philadelphia, where he has been spending the past six weeks, looking after the wants of his numerous customers in that city.

Even our lamp-post supporters and curbstone loungers will never have a better chance to take Mr. Greeley's advice and "Go West." It costs but a trifle—about $5.

We are soon to be favored with addresses by two lights of the Greenback party. Hon. De La Matyr and Gen. Weaver will hold forth here some time during their visit to New England.

A dog belonging to Starr C. Hewitt, became heated by running Monday, and the cry mad dog was started. The owner, after throwing a few buckets of water on him, cooled him off.

Mr. Jefferson K. Cole, principal of the Center School, has moved his family from Boxford to this place. He will occupy the house opposite the School house, owned by Mr. Isaac Drown.

Adj. William H. Hildreth has recently presented Union Post 50, G. A. R., with two fine colored chromos—The Battle of Gettysburg and Sherman's March to the Sea.

John R. Arrington, the celebrated paper hanger, has gone to Acushnet Village, New Bedford, Mass., to recuperate his energies for the fall campaign. We hope to hear large hauls of blue fish.

At the M. E. Church, Sunday School commences at 10.15 A. M., preaching by Dr. Steele at 2.15 P.M.; also the reception of members and the Lord's Supper. At 7.20 Missionary concert, subject Japan.

The new boiler for Thomas E. Proctor's leather manufactory, arrived on the Lowell freight, from Lowell, Friday. It will be set by Mr. J. Arthur Trask. This will make the fourth boiler for this establishment, all of which are required to run this mammoth factory.

After next Sabbath, the Baptist Church will be closed for the three remaining Sabbaths in the month. Rev. Mr. Wood, the pastor, will spend his vacation at home, and will be thus enabled to attend to any pastoral work that may be needed during the closing of the Church.

A fancy patent medicine team attracted considerable attention on our streets, Wednesday. The words Hopkins' Healing Powder, Providence, R. I., together with a picture of a gentleman with a long beard were the decorations on the outside.

Brown & Stanley's tan-yard, on Walnut street, is every night occupied by a crowd of young men engaged in all kinds of athletic sports. This is the chief practicing ground of the Atlantic Base Ball Club. It is the nearest approach to a public field that we have.

Farmers have every reason to rejoice in the abundant crops. There is scarcely a poor piece of onions in town. Hay is being harvested, and is fully as good as last year. Corn is doing well. Pumpkins are in blossom. Beans have reached the tops of the poles, and the potato bug has lost his grip.

Watermelons are now arriving very freely. The quality, however, is very good and has seldom been better. The melons which we have now come from Georgia and Florida, with a few from North Carolina. They sell at a fair price. Georgias are considered the best and North Carolina next. Mr. Geo. Stevens will furnish either kind cheap.

Mr. John Pickering's store is certainly putting on a holiday appearance, the windows have been newly painted, and a bouquet has even been seen on the inside, while the wooden awning displays the fashionable shades in stripes down the top. We next expect to see the door adorned with lemon yellow with bottle green trimmings, striped with red.

Willow Park was brilliantly illumined last evening with Chinese lanterns, making a very fine display. A large crowd was in attendance, reminding one of the Vineyard on illumination night. The horse car arrangements were admirable, and the best of order prevailed. A still grander illumination, including fireworks on the water, is promised for Friday night.

An order for goods was secured the other evening by a clerk in one of our grocery stores. After filling the same the clerk took up the order and by mistake got the wrong side of the paper, when to his horror the following words met his view: "Charlie, meet me at 8 o'clock, and oblige your loving———" The young man says it was just one hour too early for him to leave the store.

A rousing meeting of the Land League was held at their rooms on Foster street, Tuesday evening. Speakers from Lynn were present, among whom were P. S. Curry, and Jos. Murphy, president of the Lynn League. Music was furnished by Messrs. John Ambrose and Dennis Flannagan, and singing by Messrs. Thomas and William Carroll of this town. The rooms were crowded.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co. —Adv.

Somebody is certainly taking an extraordinary interest in our depot and its surroundings. A new awning has been built around it; the old fountain which for several years has stood the heat of summer and the winter fosrts without a particle of water passing through it, has been painted and repaired; and now the platform, which has been badly worn for a long time, is being repaired and put in good condition.

Thomas Wyatt, who has recently come to this country, went berrying in Lynnfield on Friday and killed a large rattlesnake. He had never seen anything of the kind before, and as the reptile threatened him with uplifted head, he killed it with a well directed blow of his stick. The snake had 10 rattles, was 3 feet and 4 inches in length, and girted in the largest part 5½ inches. Truly a formidable obstacle to berry picking.

At the semi-annual election of the Goldsmith Literary Society, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, Francis Nugent; Vice President, Edward Flynn; Secretary, Richard Barry; Corresponding Secretary, John J. Nugent; Treasurer, P. J. Martin; Librarian, John Naughton; Critic, Thomas H. McGrath; Board of Investigation, Francis Nugent, Edward Flynn, Thomas H. McGrath, Thomas Murray and Daniel J. Tong.

The Peabody water board has taken the land at the head of Foster street for an engine house and pumping station, and awarded the owners $3,000. It has also taken one acre for the stand pipe on Buxton's hill, and awarded the sum of $1,000 for it. It has contracted with Charles G. Folsom to build the engine house and pumping station for $6,000. It has a contract ready to sign with George H. Norman of Newport, R. I., to furnish and lay all the pipes for $71,000.

The buildings to be erected by Mr. Folsom for the Water Committee will be as follows: The front facing on Foster street will be 21x29 feet, two and one-half stories, and will contain six rooms, 13x12 feet, with closets, halls, etc.; this is to be used as a dwelling house. Directly in the rear will be the engine room, 25x31 feet, and a coal shed, 10x21 feet. The whole is to be under one roof. The chimney will be 80 feet in height. Mr. J. Arthur Trask will do the mason work.

A gang of men are at work in the sheds off Warren street, making preparations to cement the pipes for the water works. A large amount of ten-inch sheet-iron pipe has already arrived, and cement is being constantly unloaded from schooners at Danversport, and transported to this place. The workmen are now engaged in melting asphaltum in the large iron kettle, and it has to be watched night and day to prevent it from cooling. It makes a very disagreeable odor, which causes much complaint from the residents in that vicinity, and a thick smoke is constantly arising, which blows, when the wind is right, directly upon and into the houses, to the infinite disgust of the occupants. If any way can be devised to abate this nuisance, it should be put into effect at once. There will be two miles of pipe cemented before ground is broken to commence laying it, and there will be in all about eight miles of pipe of different sizes used.

AN INTERESTING PIECE OF MACHINERY.—Calling yesterday at our friend, S. C. Hewitt's store, to time the pocket chronometer we lately purchased of him, we were surprised to see that the face and movement of his astronomical clock had disappeared from the handsome and elaborate walnut case. In answer to our query "Where is the clock," we were shown on Mr. H.'s work bench a conglomeration of wheels, plates and various other pieces of machinery, which he informed us were the parts comprising that reliable time-piece that all Peabody and many Danvers and Salem people have depended on for the past three years. Expressing a curiosity to see the true inwardness of this clock that had been such a mystery to us, we were at once invited behind the counter and made a close inspection of what seemed to us to be the perfection of mechanism. Our attention was called to the massive plates and the jewels therein, the finish of the different parts, especially the steel work, the sharp faces on the pinions, all polished to mirrorlike brightness. This clock was made to order for Mr. Hewitt by E. Howard & Co. of Boston, and its total variation from the true time for two years was but about twenty seconds. The pendulum is a polished steel rod, at the base of which are four glass jars of mercury which accurately adjusts the clock for the changes of temperature. Mr. Hewitt, who is a very obliging gentleman, is willing and pleased to set and regulate watches for the public generally, free of charge, it making no difference whether the same were purchased of him or not.

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.

jy 20—3m

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

TUMBLE IN Refrigerators.

Owing to the lateness of the season, we will close our stock of Chest and Upright

REFRIGERATORS AT COST.

CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES

AT REDUCED PRICES.

Our Large Stock of

OIL CLOTH

Has jus been marked down to close.

CHAS. H. GOULDING,

Walnut Street, near Central.

apr 6

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of

Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

FINE STATIONERY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES.

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,

— AT —

SWAIN'S,

220 Essex St., Salem.

jy 27

VENNOR'S PREDICTIONS!

For this Month's Weather, prepared expressly for

STODDART'S REVIEW.

Sample copy mailed for 3c stamp.

J. M. STODDARDT, Pub., New York, Phila., or Chicago. jy 20—3t

WANTED

A few Boarders. MRS. M. A. DOW. No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

WE ANNOUNCE

To the business men of Peabody and Salem, a large and complete stock of

Tanners', Curriers', Morocco and Sheep Skin Manufacturers'

SUPPLIES:

COBB LIME,

(By cask or car load.)

SICILY & AMERICAN SUMAC,

Logwood of all qualities.

COCHINEAL,

Pure Cider Vinegar,

Turks Island, Cadiz & Liverpool SALT,

ALUM, COPPERAS, WHITING,

EMERY,

Pearlash, Gum Arabic,

BI-CHROMATE, BLUE VITRIOL,

Neat's-Foot, Lard, Lubricating, Sperm, Paraffine & Currier's

OILS.

The above quoted articles (and many more) we are buying direct from the Manufacturers; therefore we guarantee to all everything at the

LOWEST QUOTED MARKET VALUE.

Thanking our citizens for their present liberal patronage, we hope by untiring energy, strict business principles, and prompt delivery of orders, to merit a still larger share of patronage.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

CALL EARLY AND GET THE BEST CHOICE.

Greatest Bargain Yet.

The balance of our Importer's stock of

GENUINE FRENCH FLOWERS

Bought at 50 cts. on the dollar, to close.

We shall sell them at

Less than one half the usual prices.

Call Early and get the Best.

Some very elegant ones among them.

Also the balance of Fancy Straws, Ribbons, &c., at reduced prices, to close the season.

L. T. ROBINSON,

255 Essex Street.

NADOR & GOODWIN.

DEALERS IN

CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.

We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a

First Class Ice Cream Saloon,

AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.

Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.

Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.

Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.

NADOR & GOODWIN,

239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 20

CARPET VARNISH.

Furniture Varnish and Carriage Varnishes, of the best quality, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St., Salem.

apr 27

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER.

OUR REGULAR ANNUAL CLEARING OUT SALE, Commencing MONDAY, AUGUST 1, '81.

1, 2, AND 3 WEST BLOCK, 188 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

CLOSING OUT SALE Commencing Monday, August 1.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale.

— OF —

MEN'S, YOUTHS',

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

Fine and Medium

Clothing,

BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

We shall offer for the next Thirty Days

BARGAINS IN MEN'S CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN BOYS' CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN YOUTHS' CLOTHING!

ALSO IN CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Opposite the Essex House.

Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

FERNALD & SAWYER'S ADVERTISEMENT.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

We offer as Rare Bargains,

FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS,

A few Specialties, which we have secured at very low prices.

LOT 1. 1000 yards of Light Dotted Cambrics in remnants, which we shall sell at 7 cts. per yard. These goods are just the thing to make up for Children's wear, and usually sold at 12 1-2 cts. per yard.

LOT 2. 1000 yards of extra fine Shirting Cambrics, in remnants, at 10 cts. per yard, which in regular goods are worth 25c per yard. This is a genuine bargain.

LOT 3. 100 dozen 200-yard Spool Linen Thread, in black and white, all numbers, at the extraordinary low price of 5 cts. per spool. We warrant this thread to be of good quality and strong—and it is sold at other stores for 8 and 10 cents.

We are also giving extra bargains every day in our

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

Our 7c UNBLEACHED COTTON, yard wide, cannot be matched in quality at any store in this town or Salem, at the same price.

And we guarantee to give you as low prices on our entire stock of

Cottons, Towels, Table Linens, Hosiery, Gloves, Buttons, Ribbons, Trimmings, Braids, &c.

as any store in Salem or Boston. Our assortment of goods is large and complete in every respect.

Fernald & Sawyer,

48 Main Street, Peabody.

MAJOR ANDRE'S REMAINS.

Twenty-four miles up the Hudson from New York is the ancient town of Tappan, lying about four miles back from the river. This place, it will be remembered, was the headquarters of General Washington at the time of Arnold's treason, and the scene of the execution of the gifted but unfortunate young Major Andre.

Although a populous village has grown up in the centre of the place, its general features have not materially changed since the days of the Revolution, and the different localities connected with the history of that period are pointed out to the tourist with the most perfect distinctness.

The spot of Andre's execution was upon an elevation where it could be witnessed by the whole army, who were encamped around in the vicinity.

During a summer ramble in this neighborhood, a few years since, our friend, the late J. H. Bowles, having a recollection of reading the fact that Andre's remains had been removed to England, in 1831, and placed near his monument in Westminster Abbey, had the curiosity to make some inquiries in relation to the event, and it chanced that the first person of whom he sought information was an eye-witness of the disinterment, and who gave him the following interesting account of it.

The British minister, then resident at New York, Mr. Buchanan, having been requested by the Duke of York to obtain permission for the removal of the remains, if any could be found, he proceeded to Tappan, and, on making known the object of his visit, received readily all the aid he needed in its execution.

The grave of Andre was located in the centre of a cultivated field of about a dozen acres, but the plowshare had never been permitted to approach within four yards of the spot, and a small peach tree was growing at the head of the grave, placed there by the kindly sympathy for the unfortunate dead.

There had been a tradition that Andre's remains were removed to England many years before, which was repeated at the time; but, on investigation into the matter, it was put to rest by some of the aged inhabitants, who were present at the interment, and who were satisfied the grave had never been reopened.

After digging to the depth of three or four feet, the coffin was reached, and, on being opened, the entire skeleton was discovered, all the bones in the most perfect order, and the root of the peach tree, having protruded through the coffin, forming a network around the skull. He was found to have been a man of small stature.

After removing the remains to the sarcophagus provided for their reception, search was made among the dust in the coffin to ascertain if he was buried in his uniform; but no buttons were found, and it was afterward remembered by an aged resident that his uniform had been given to his servant.

The scene at the grave was said to have been an affecting one, manifesting the great sympathy felt for the fate of a brave but misguided man, and on the removal of the remains to New York, bouquets of flowers of the most delicately beautiful description, and myrtle wreaths, were sent by ladies to Mr. Buchanan, to decorate the sarcophagus.

The consul, as he also learned, was able to obtain at Philadelphia the watch of Andre, which was sent with his remains to his surviving sisters.

A piece of plate and other articles of value were subsequently transmitted by these ladies, and the Duke of York, as testimonials of regard to the individuals at Tappan who had assisted Mr. Buchanan in fulfilling the object of his mission.

It was very remarkable, as will doubtless be conceded, that any considerable portion of the remains of Andre should have been found, after the lapse of so long a period.

Our friend's visit to Tappan, from the interesting historical associations connected with the place, was an exceedingly agreeable one; and nothing served to impress it more deeply upon his mind than the above truthful narration.—Philadelphia Saturday Night.

CHINESE BEDS.

There are two kinds of Chinese beds, and both are arranged for a complete shutting in by means of hanging curtains and tapestry. The expensive kind is like a sort of cage, having a flat wooden roof, just the size of the bed proper, supported at a hight of about eight feet from the floor on four corner posts and two intermediate ones. Then there is a sort of frieze or entablature work running around horizontally, above and below, so that when you are in bed you are safely penned in a sort of cage and cannot possibly tumble out. The carving on these beds is sometimes very rich, and they cost much; but the ordinary and cheaper kind is made of two frames of wood shaped something like the skeleton of an old-fashioned "settle," which are stood up on the floor, facing each other. A mattress is placed on the projecting part of these frames, and a couple of slight sticks across the top; then curtains and hangings shut all in, and make it look as pretty as the taste and money of the owner are able. Inside, there is a cotton quilt, laid on the mattress frame. The occupant of the bed lies on this, having a little roll of stuff for the bed, and for a covering a very thick cotton quilt.

This trying to separate precept from example and preserve a good average cannot be done.

Faith and patience are twins, and are always found together.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

Anecdotes.

A HORSE MARKET—INDIA.

The most favorite lounge in the fair, for Europeans, Afghans, Panthans, and Arabs, is the horse market. There was a large collection of almost all kinds of horses, the very inferior article vastly preponderating. The Thakurs of the native States of Marwar, Jeypore, and Meywar breed horses extensively, and bring them to the Pokur fair for sale. Large country bred mares were most sought after, although some good Arab and Persian horses from Bushire and Bussorah, from Muscat and Oman, were there also. The country-bred mares will do more work than the more slightly built Arab, particularly in the sandy plains of Rajputana. For military purposes the mares and geldings are more efficient than entire horses. They are more tractable and enduring. The air and gait of the Thakurs, as gentlemen horse-dealers, are exquisite. The indifference and nonchalance with which they lounge about, as if, although willing to sell, they were by no means anxious about the matter! Around each man's tent his stud is picketed. During the first days of the mela they will hardly answer a question about the price. They were not brought there for sale, or, if it was admitted that they were, a fancy price was asked. By and by whole batches of them were bought at reasonable prices by officers for Government purposes. A thousand rupees would be asked for an animal worth less than half that amount. Three, four, and even five hundred rupees would be asked for a pair of bullocks to be obtained subsequently for a hundred to a hundred and fifty. An easy-going Sarni camel would be valued at two to three hundred rupees, and common baggage animals from sixty to a hundred rupees. This is fully twenty per cent. dearer than the same animals could have been purchased for a few years ago. The greater number of the camels came from Jeysulmir and Bikanir, where they are bred in immense numbers. They cost little or nothing to their owners for keep, and if eight or ten are disposed of, the master of the herd goes on his way rejoicing. He has sufficient money to supply his simple wants for a year, and takes home the remainder of his stock willingly. A native will let out his beasts of burden to natives for half what he will let them for to Europeans, not because he fears he will not be paid, not because he fears maltreatment, as some will say, but simply because European baggage consists of hard, heavy, angular boxes, difficult to pack, and much more likely to gall the beasts of burden, where carts cannot be used, than the softer and bulkier bundles of the natives.—The Nineteenth Century.

EXCHANGE OF CORPSES.

Few stranger incidents have lately occurred than that which some time ago was the means of causing several thousand persons of high social and artistic position to follow to the grave, with every conceivable outward manifestation of sorrow and respect, the body of a young lady absolutely unknown to them, they all the while believing that they were paying honor to the mortal remains of Professor Nicholas Rubenstein, the late director of the Moscow Conservatoire. This eminent composer and artist died in Paris, and shortly before his death expressed a wish to be buried in Moscow. His body was dispatched by rail to that city, by order of his only surviving brother, Anton Rubinstein, the first of contemporary pianists. At Moscow Station, the coffin was delivered by the railway authorities to a deputation of notables, specially charged with its reception. Upon the same evening it was buried with extraordinary pomp. Three days later intelligence of a startling character reached Moscow by telegraph from Vilna. A noble family resident in the last named city had just received a coffin purporting to contain the corpse of a young female relative who had recently died in Paris. Upon opening the coffin in order to identify the deceased lady's remains, its contents were found to be the body of a man somewhat past the prime of life. Inquiries were at once instituted as to what might have become of the body originally expected. While these inquiries were being eagerly prosecuted, the substitute was discovered to be none other than Nicholas Rubinstein, in whose stead the missing young lady had been solemnly interred at Moscow. This amazing contremps has naturally caused great pain and embarrassment to the families of both the deceased. It is in contemplation to effect the necessary exchange between the misdirected bodies as privately as possible.

EXTRAORDINARILY SCRUPULOUS.

A celebrated liquor importer in Boston recently had his pocket-book, containing a large sum of money, cut from his pocket, while entering church. A few days subsequent he received the pocket-book through the post (postage unpaid), accompanied with a note, in which the writer stated that after spending the money, he discovered, to his utter horror, that he had been making use of money obtained in the infamous liquor traffic. He therefore returned the pocket-book, and would do the same by the money should he be able again to lay hands on it.

It has lately been suggested that Quebec might be made an iron manufacturing city, owing to the vicinity of the iron mines of St. Tite and Baie St. Paul, at which places the ore has hitherto been smelted just as taken from the mines.

Find earth where grows no weed, and you may find a heart wherein no error grows.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent

CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1 y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificia Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken. Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Sliver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH. are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors.

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented.

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,

LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MRS M. E. HUTCHINSON. MISS N. F. FEALEY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

NO HARNESS.

NO SPRINGS.

NO RUBBER.

A NEW SUSPENDER.

THE

L. R. S.

Less strain when stooping than when standing. See one! Try one! and you will wear no other. For sale by

W. WINSLOW,

Clothing, &c.,

9 Allen's Block, Square, Peabody.

je 15—1m

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM, MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargains at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

HOUSEKEEPING GOODS. Wooden Ware, Crockery Ware, China Ware, Glass Ware, Table Cutlery and every thing in the Housekeeping line at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store. 32 Front St.

DINNER WARE. Colored Dinner and Tea Ware, in complete sets, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 PM. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 PM.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M,

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M, 2 25, 4 20 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 40 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M Sundays 4 30AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42, 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40, 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45, 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN, Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 23, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A.

NEW YORK & New England

RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11 00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11 30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston 6.0 A.M., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M, 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M.
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M.
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflammation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

387 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable Liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere Houte, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal.

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment, and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS, 75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, MASS., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It is not only efficacious for rheumatism, but for strains, sprains, etc. It can not be recommended too highly as a family liniment. C. H. LEWIS.

It always relieves Neuralgia and if the application is continued a cure can be dependedupon.

[From H

Miscellaneous.

WHAT WOMEN SAY AT WEDDINGS.

The following remarks have mostly been said time after time at all our "tony" weddings, and will be said again and again on every such occasion:

Here she comes!
Pretty isn't she?
Who made her dress?
Is it Surah silk or satin?
Is her veil real lace?
She's as white as the wall!
Wonder how much he's worth?
Did he give her those diamonds?
He's scarred to death!
Isn't she the cool piece?
That train is horrid shape!
Isn't her mother a dowdy?
Aren't the bridesmaids homely?
That's a handsome usher?
Hasn't she a cute little hand?
Wonder what number her gloves are!
They say her shoes are fives.
Is his hair parted in the middle?
Wonder what on earth she married him for?
For his money of course.
Isn't he handsome?
He's as homely as a hedge hog!
He looks like a circus clown?
No, he's like a dancing master.
Good enough for her, anyway.
She was always a stuck up thing.
She'll be worse than ever now!
She jilted Sam Somebody, didn't she?
No, he never asked her.
He's left town anyway.
There, the ceremony has begun.
Isn't he awkward?
White as his collar!
Why don't they hurry up?
Did she say she would 'obey?'
What a precious fool!
There, they are married!
Doesn't she look happy?
Pity if she wouldn't!
Wish I were in her place?
What a handsome couple!
She was always a sweet little thing.
How gracefully she walks!
Dear me, what airs she puts on!
Wouldn't be in her place for a farm!
I'll bet those jewels were hired.
Well, she's off her father's hands at last!
Doesn't she cling tightly to him, though!
She has a mortgage on him now.
Hope they'll be happy.
They say she's awful smart.
Too smart for him by a jugful!
There! there getting in the carriage!
The magnificent dress will be squashed!
The way she does look at him!
I bet she worships him!
Worship be hanged! she's only making believe!
It's kind 'o nice to get married, isn't it?
No, it's a dreadful bore.
Wasn't it a stupid wedding!
What dowdy dresses!
I'll never go to another!
I'm just suffocated!
Tired to death.
Glad it's over?
Oh, dear.

There lives not a hundred miles from the State House, one of God's heroines, an old woman bent and worn, who supports four grandchildren, an invalid son, and has recently adopted a little mother less baby. The old lady sends the children to school, with the exception of the eldest girl, who remains at home to wait upon her invalid father. When asked if she did not need help her answer was: "Not while I can work, lady; when the day comes for me to stop, then I may be glad of it. In the morning I tidy the house and cook up something before I go out to work, and at night I make my poor boy comfortable, and get a nap as I can."

"How long has your son been ill?"

"More than six years; it's old-fashioned consumption, the doctors say.

"And the children's mother?"

"She died when the twins were born."

"Why did you take this little one when you are so poor?"

"It was born here, and I couldn't see it suffer, and the children are fond of little Maggie. A sup more or less will not hurt us; the Lord will see to it some way, and the child's funny ways amuse him when I am at work."

Only a scrub-woman, but did he not rightly call her a heroine? Uncomforted save by her own pure faith, uncheered save by the presence of her helpless ones, unaided by the great world outside, is she not grand, noble and heroic?

At the final roll call many such will surprise their more favored sisters.

K. T. W.

A WOMAN'S QUICK WIT.

The part of Tennessee through which I have been knocked about is full of reminiscences of the war, but there is none of its bitterness left. In war time the people were greatly divided in their sentiments, and no man could tell t'other from which. This remark reminds me of a story I heard yesterday, about an estimable woman of 70 odd, who died two or three years ago, here on the mountains. One day, during the war, when the country was fairly alive with guerrillas, she had occasion to take some valuable goods with her on a trip she was making, and put them on her horse, back of her. When she had gone some distance in the wood she heard a squad of guerrillas approaching, and, knowing her goods would not be safe for a moment, she straddled her horse, man fashion, and throwing her long skirt over the package behind her, completely concealed it. When the guerrillas rode up she was unable to guess whether they belonged to the North or to the South—their uniform being no solution whatever. She determined, if questioned, to play a bluff game with them and she soon had a chance to exercise her wit.

'Hello!' called one of the guerrillas.

'Hello!' she returned.

'What side are you on?' he challenged.

She laughed a good laugh at him as she replied, kicking out her feet.

'On both sides, of course; can't you see?'

This brought a roar from the whole squad, and they began to banter her in her own fashion.

'Which side is your old man on?" asked one of them.

'He's on neither side,' she laughed; 'he's on his back, and has been for years.'

Such wit saved her, and they let her pass on unmolested.—[Letter to Cincinnati Commercial.

Mark Trenton, an employe of Sell's circus, thrust his arm into the Bengal tiger's cage at Bellaire, O., recently, just to show how tame the beast was, and the experiment was eminently successful. It showed that the beast was just tame enough to chew up that arm in less than no time.

Student of Humanity: Is there any way to make a man acknowledge himself a hog. There is. Let some rich man make a will leaving $400 to every man in the state who will acknowledge himself a hog.

STOOPING TO CONQUER.

Wide mouths have come into fashion for women. This is a change from the prevailing style of the past year or two. The proper mouth of the present season is worn in a constant but mild smile, the corners being drawn back horizontally, with the lips left closed. The expression is one of amiable, quiet satisfaction with all the world—as though the mind was free from sorrow and the feet free from corns. Care should be taken not to broaden this into an actual grin, except on mirthful occasions; nor should the lips be compressed. All should be in repose. The lips may be reddened if the natural color be too light. A practice of painting the exposed membrane of the upper lip broad and bright just at the centre has crept in, but it is bad, for it gives an artificial and sensuous look. The fashionable belle has cut the puckering string of her mouth, and no longer murmurs, "prunes, prunes, prunes." She can kiss two men simultaneously, and give good satisfaction, where before only one could find room at a time.

The reader who supposes the above is fanciful, and not plain, straightforward news, is very much mistaken. Women can change the style of their faces, if not at will, at least considerably. The hair over the forehead can be arranged to produce any desired outline for the upper part of the face; the mouth can be made to widely vary its expression; the eyes can be kept partly wide open or languidly half closed; the cheeks can be rounded by using "plumpers; the eyebrows can be arched or straightened; the color can be controlled to a high degree. Thus it is apparent that a woman can, if clever, have to some extent the kind of face she wants. The nose is about the only intractable feature. It sticks right out in unalterable independence, defying all effort to shorten or straighten it. Let me interpolate the fact that not one woman in ten ever laughs or smiles naturally. Knowing full well our defects of teeth or expression, we try to hide or reform them. I know a girl who will never go to the minstrels, or any other funny show, because she isn't pretty when she laughs. If inadvertently caught by something comic, she buries the laugh in a handkerchief; but whenever possible she does all her laughing internally.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

WOMAN'S SUPERIOR MENTAL IMAGERY.

I have been astonished to find how superior women usually are to men in the vividness of their mental imagery, and in their powers of introspection. Though I have admirable returns from many men, I have frequently found others, even of the highest general ability, quite unable for some time to take in the meaning of such questions as these: "Think of some definite object, say your breakfast table, as you sat down to it this morning, and consider carefully the picture that rises before your mind's eye. Is the image dim or fairly color? Is its brightness comparable to that of the actual scene? Are the objects sharply defined? Are the colors quite distinct and natural?" etc. On the other hand I find the attention of women, especially women of ability, to be instantly aroused by these inquiries. They eagerly and carefully address themselves to consider their modes of thought, they put pertinent questions, they suggest tests, they express themselves in well-weighed language and with happy turns of expression, and they are evidently masters of the art of introspection. I do not find any particular tendency to exaggeration in this matter either among women or men; the only difference I have observed between them is that the former usually show an unexpected amount of intelligence, while many of the latter are as unexpectedly obtuse. The mental difference between the two sexes seems wider in the vividness of their mental imagery and the power of introspecting it than in respect to any other combination of mental faculties of which I can think.—Francis Galton, in Nature.

Washington Territory, with a total population of 45,977, has 29,143 females.

In St. Louis they are talking of keeping dissipated young men out of society.

The use of the English language is rapidly becoming common in New Mexico.

About a quarter of the Vermont towns have elected women as superintendents of schools.

Hell is a Texas town that deserves its name, judging by the brutality of recent murders.

Silver paper knives are in dagger shape, the hilt mounted by an owl or bear standing with open jaws.

In nine years the Church of England has contributed $28,000,000 for purposes of religious education.

At Bodie, recently, a Mexican played his wife off at a game of poker, and she cheerfully went with the winner.

It is said the postal card has decreased the sale of writing paper $12,000,000 annually in the United States.

Ducks' feathers, dyed a brilliant red and made into muffs and collars, are among the latest novelties.

A novel pump, discharging fifty gallons a minute, worked by hand, has been invented by a convict on Blackwell's Island, N. Y.

A rabid horse seized a cow by the neck with his teeth, at Evansville, Ind., and dragged her a block before a policeman's bullet released her.

Young Brown could not lift one end of a heavy timber, at Unionville, O., and old Brown, aged 70, showed him how to do it, but killed himself in so doing.

Albums containing photographs of ladies in each new dress they receive, colored to the exact hues of the material, are the latest society toys.

In Carson last week a woman arrayed in male attire visited a gambling house, and before her ex was discovered she had won and pocketed over $300.

A real Christian is a man who prays on Sunday, and then helps the Lord to answer his prayer the rest of the week.

A wise man ought to hope for the best, be prepared for the worst, and bear with equanimity whatever may happen.

Items of Interest.

The weight of the earth is 5,825,000,000,000 tons.

A bite on the ball of the thumb by a kitten with which he was playing killed E. L. Bradley, of San Jose, Cal.

Queen Olga, of Greece, has a perfectly-appointed kitchen, and has made cooking a fashionable accomplishment in that country.

To carry a letter under an umbrella in Burmah is to accord to it royal honors. Eight golden umbrellas are properly carried over a king's letter.

Fowls are very fond of milk, and will thrive wondrously upon it. If the meal mush is mixed with milk in lieu of water, a great benefit is derived therefrom.

The Baroness Roger de Launay ventured to ascend the Righi of the Alps without a guide. She slipped over a small precipice, and received injuries from which she expired two hours later.

The Charleston (S. C.) Courier says the colored people of that city do not live happily in the married state and the police court records show that in the family disturbances it is the husband who gets beaten.

Kit Carson, a son of the famous scout, says that he and Henry M. Stanley, of African renown, once clipped sheep at two cents a head in New Mexico, and worked with a team near Ogden, Utah, for $15 a month.

The Earl of Eldon's residence, in Dorset, was entered by burglars lately, and articles to the value of $100,000 were carried off. Among them was a large seal—stated to be probably that portion of the Great Seal of George III., which was presented to Lord Chancellor Eldon by George IV.

The Viceroys of India have rarely lived long. The Earl of Mayo perished at Port Blair under the blow of an Afghan convict; Lord Lawrence, who preceded him, died prematurely through his Eastern labors; Lord Elgin died upon the Indian hills, and Lords Canning and Dalhousie barely reached the shores of England to pass away.

As three lads were walking on the top of the cliffs at Trouphead, near Macduff, Scotland, recently, a seagull alighted a short distance in front of them. One of the lads, Walter Paterson, aged 17, sprang forward and attempted to catch the gull. In doing so, his foot met with a projecting stone, which gave way, and he was hurled over a precipice from a height of 350 feet and dashed to pieces.

Railroad men in Nevada say that the Union Pacific is literally lined with tramps. They swarm at every water-tank and station on the road, and, as the train-men have strict orders not to let them ride, they have to count the ties from station to station. A great many of them get into sealed cars at stations, and ride until detected or compelled by hunger and thirst to call for assistance and beg to be let out.

Deep mining in Nevada has peculiar dangers. Quite recently, while a miner was at work on the 2,828 level of the Yellow Jacket, a stream of hot water spurted out upon him, scalding the skin off his arm. On the 3,000 level of the Belcher the heat is so great as to almost blister the hands and faces of the workmen. One of them recently fell insensible and died a day or two after. In the Julia mine a miner was nearly drowned by a sudden outburst of hot water.

Activity prevails at the Meudon Æronautical School, where the French government has established extensive works for the construction of a large number of war balloons. Each of these, thirty-nine feet in diameter, will be made of silk, varnished by a process invented in 1794. The valve is to be made of metal, and the shape will be quite spherical. Not less than forty of them will be sent to the several French armies for the purpose of making captive or free ascents when required.

The people of Emerson, Manitoba, lately seized the opportunity afforded by the passage through the town of a theatrical company to Winnipeg. The mayor guaranteed the players a satisfactory remuneration, and "Rosedale" was acted in an old warehouse on a temporary stage. The orchestra seats were soap boxes, and rough planks formed the gallery. There was a packed house, and the audience was so delighted that they eagerly paid over again to witness "Pinafore," which was begun at midnight.

A dairyman at San Mateo, Cal., has a big churn, which is worked by goat power, the appliance being a treading wheel connected by a shaft. The goats, in operating the wheel, indulge their natural propensities for climbing, and they apply themselves to the work with great gusto. The herd consists of eight or ten animals, and when released from the pen they one and all, great and small, run bleating for the wheel, and the only trouble to contend with thereafter is the excess of power which they are apt to give it in the course of the frolicsome gambols.

A gentleman brought into the Baltimore Corn and Flour Exchange lately the most horrible and diabolical-looking worm which could possibly be turned out of the creation mill. It had been found in the cargo of a West India vessel which came into that port. It was about five inches long and about two inches in circumference, covered over the back with plates of a shelly-looking material of a drab green, and projecting from each one of the plates, of which there were ten, were from four to six prickles, which looked like burnished. The head was armed with two horns, and from the spot where the shoulders in any well-regulated being would have been, projected four long, scythe like prickles, each about an inch long, and beside these grew four little ones.

Examine the Corded Side Corset, at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pillat a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address

CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

Cross Photo.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St., Salem.
apr 27

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

George Osborne,	Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney,	Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen,	George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.

John A. Lord,	George S. Osborne.
Amos Merrill,	Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little,	Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren,	Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill,	Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn,	John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS, CHROMOS, OIL PAINTINGS, WIRE PICTURE CORD, NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT.
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicits, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.

STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
—IN—
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.
PEABODY, MASS.

A New Line to New York.

At length Boston has another through railroad line to New York, and is no longer at the mercy of the New York, New Haven and Hartford road, which has so long been the key to the situation. The New York and New England in completing its line to Brewsters, in New York State, has secured the much-coveted outlet; and is now in a position to say to the New Haven road, "Give good facilities and reasonable terms to the people of Boston and to the patrons along the New England line, or all that traffic shall be taken away and sent around to New York via Brewsters. Just as long as the New York and New England continues on friendly terms with the New Haven road, it will continue to send passengers to New York over that road, but whenever that corporation ceases to grant the reasonable requests of the New England, and refuses to do the fair thing by its passengers, the New England will make arrangements with the road with which it connects at Brewster to carry all passengers and freight that way. Heretofore the New Haven road has been very arbitrary at times, but connecting roads have been obliged to submit, owing to the fact that there was no other feasible route to New York City. Brewsters, the new western terminus of the New York and New England, is in Putnam county, New York State, just over the Connecticut line and fifty miles above New York City. The Connecticut railroad commisioners examined that portion of the newly-built road which lies in that State the other day and pronounced it satisfactory, and as no such examination is required in New York State the entire extension was ready for trains on Sunday last, and they are now running regularly between Boston and Brewsters, leaving Boston at 1.30 p. m. and arriving in Brewsters at 9.20 p. m., and leaving Brewsters at 3.30 p. m. and arriving in Boston at 11.30 p. m. The New York and New England Company now owns and operates, including the section just completed between Waterbury and the Hudson river, 336 miles of track; it leases and operates 90 miles more, making a total of 426 miles of completed road, together with 125 miles of steamboat line. The route of the road from Boston to Brewsters passes through one of the most fertile and luxuriant sections of New England. At times the scenery is bold and rugged, unattractive and uninviting to the hand of industry, while a large section is dotted with thriving villages and wide, cultivated and tillable acres. The road also touches a large number of cities and towns that are not only accommodated by the facilities which it affords, but also become substantial feeders to its business and success. In Connecticut alone there is Putnam with a population of nearly 6,000 people, Willimantic with 8,000, Hartford with 42,000, New Britain with 13,978, Waterbury 20,269, and Danbury 11,669. Besides these larger towns are many smaller villages bristling with energy and enterprise along the line. This portion of the road just completed to Brewsters, upon which work was begun twelve years ago and then temporarily abandoned, was again placed under contract at about the beginning of the last year, and has since been completed. As a freight route this possesses special advantages as relates to the handling of coal. By this line the latter article may be delivered to the consumer in the same cars in which it is first loaded at the coal banks, without trans-shipment or breaking of bulk. To the heavy consumers in Connecticut and southern Massachusetts this is a very appreciable advantage, as it must lessen, materially, the cost of transportation. In the matter of flour and grain the same advantages exist. The further extension of the road to Newburg, on the Hudson, will be completed, ready for the running of trains, about October 1, after which all New England freight from the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Erie railroads will come over this line without change, and will accomplish much good for Boston and towns along the line.

We would inform our readers that Mr. Ira L. Pray has taken the store recently occupied by W. L. Pray as a boot and shoe store, and will continue the business at the old stand corner of Lowell and Chestnut sts. After an experience of six years, he feels confident that he will be able to supply his patrons in a suitable manner, and at prices that will defy competition. His workshop is one of the finest in the county and custom work and repairing will be attended to in a thorough manner and satisfaction guaranteed.

We have received from W. R. Lavender, passenger agent of the Associated Southern Railway Lines, a neat guide book to Richmond and the battle fields. It proposes to answer the question, "what is there at Richmond worth seeing," and does it to the satisfaction of the reader. At the coming Centennial Celebration of the Surrender of Cornwallis, at Yorktown, many visitors thither will be sure to include the capital of the Old Dominion. Any information relative thereto will be cheerfully furnished at 306 Washington street, Boston.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

NEWBURYPORT.

Members of the Poor family, in this city, have received circulars with the following upon them: "The Poor—Poore Family Gathering. At a meeting held in Boston, Nov. 6, 1880, of members of the different branches of the family of Poor or Poore, all having a common origin, it was decided to hold on the 14th day of September, 1881, at Newburyport, Mass., a Gathering of all the members of the Family, not only those of our own name, but all kindred bearing other names. The exercises on the occasion will be an Oration by Ben: Perley Poore, a Poem, Singing—to be followed by a Dinner, at which Addresses will be made by different members of the family. Tickets $1.00, which will cover all expenses. Will you please, at your farthest convenience, and before Sept. 1st, 1881, notify the Secretary of the Committee, Mr. Alfred Poore, Salem, Mass., of your intention to be present, and of the number of persons who may accompany you, that suitable accommodations may be seasonably provided. Henry Varnum Poor, Brookline; George Horace Poor, Andover; Descendants of Daniel Poor, of Andover; John McCurdy Poor, Haverhill; Franklin Noyes Poor, Somerville; Descendants of John Poor, of Newbury; Nathaniel Coleworthy Poor, Boston; John Merrill Poor, West Newbury; Descendants of Samuel Poor, of Newbury, Committee appointed to take charge of the proposed Reunion."

The Newburyport Yacht Club are about to change their headquarters to the building, on Commercial wharf, formerly occupied by E. Perley Fowle.

DANVERS.

Croquet is getting to be quite interesting in town, when they have illuminated grounds to play on and play until 11 or 12 o'clock at night.

Loring Littlefield is at work in Topsfield with his team carting sand and gravel.

We want one more good livery stable in town to match H. H. Pillsbury's; he has the best rigs, but we want opposition, it is hard work to get a good team now unless you speak for it a week beforehand.

Quite a number of Danver's Boys Muster out with the Salem Cadets this week.

Mrs. Etta Pickering wife of a Baggage Master on the E. R. R. died very suddenly Saturday night, she had been sick but a few days.

Joseph Rice is fitting up his store in the best style for Fred C. Brown of Salem.

Rev. F. A. Dillingham of the Universalist church will have a vacation during the month of August, and there will be no services at that church during that time.

Mr. Geo. C. Putnam has opened his new store in Rope's Block, and is ready for a share of public patronage. Enterising, gentlemanly and accommodating he deserves and will doubtless receive it.

BEVERLY.

Edgestones and a brick side-walk are the improvements reported to be made in front of Lefavour's Block on Cabot street.

Mr. I. W. Allen has discontinued the publication of the Beverly Record for the present. It is expected to appear in the fall again in an enlarged form. We understand Mr. A. contemplates putting in a new engine and press soon.

Another one of those brutal wire-barbed fences has been put up along the side of the street near the schoolhouse at Dodge Row, by Charles Conant: there is some talk of residents in that vicinity making complaint to the selectmen as it is certainly dangerous to children going to and from school.

Messrs. E. B. Rogers, F. S. Raymond and F. R. Wyman, of Beverly, have made and offered to be sailed for, under the auspices of the Nautilus Yacht Club, of Salem, a handsome silver challenge cup, to be competed for on waters between Gloucester and Swampscott. The first race for the cup will be sailed August 4, at 2 P. M., and the gentlemen named will act as judges for the affair.

Our total valuation is $8,613,650; real estate, $5,668,200; personal, $2,945,450. The total gain in valuation is $205,350; the gain in real estate is $76 900; the gain in personal valuation is $128,450. There are 2132 polls, a gain of 18. The amount to be raised by taxation is $139,112.25, and the rate is $15.80 on $1000.

The cash receipts of the Beverly co-operative store for last week was one thousand and fifty-one dollars.

The contemplated improvements to the First Baptist Church and its surroundings have been commenced. The old steps have been removed and new ones are to be built. New edgestones for the sidewalk are to be set and the grounds around the church will be graded.

MARBLEHEAD.

P. Howard Shirley, salesman at Almy, Bigelow and Webber's, met with an accident Sunday by being thrown from his bicycle He received a cut over the eye besides being bruised other ways.

Mr. Joseph Strong has purchased the cigar and fruit stand on the corner of School and Pleasant streets.

William Tucker is to improve the corner of Pearl and Back street by rounding the corner of his lot.

On Prospect street five street lamps have been placed of the Savage & Morse pattern.

One day last week a party of strangers who were viewing the town, used the reading-room at Abbot Hall for a dining-room, and scattered pastry crumbs and bits of fried clams about the floor. A gentleman present found the janitor and entered a complaint, but before he could get to the room the diners had departed.

Next Saturday afternoon there will be a miniature boat race in the harbor. Arthur Wallace has been chosen commodore.

The funeral of John Harris, conductor on the Marblehead branch railroad, took place at his late residence on Village street, on Monday afternoon. Rev. B. H. Bailey conducted the services, which were very impressive. The floral tributes were profuse and appropriate, among which was a conductor's cap, contributed by the railroad employes, and "Gates Ajar," contributed by the conductors.

The petition for permit to build the new brick block on Essex street, on the Perley estate, was referred to the Committee on Streets with a view of having it set back on a line with the King building. We hope the committee will consider the narrowness of the street and report accordingly.

Business Men can leave the Grand Central Depot, New York, at 11.35 P. M. (Sundays excepted), and arrive in Boston next morning at 8 o'clock, by purchasing tickets via N. Y. & N. E. Railroad. This affords a whole evening in New York.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their Porter House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,

DENTAL SURGEON,

HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass., (Recently of Peabody, Mass.)

Not connected with any other Dental Office.

REFERENCES:

Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,

DENTIST,

238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Salem, July 26, by Rev. Mr. Towne, Mr. Benjamin Cook of Tombstone, Arizona, to Miss Millett L. Collins of S.

In Danvers, July 22, by Rev. Mr. Rice, Mr. Edward O. Lawson to Miss Bessie J. Johnson.

In Lynn, 24th, by Rev. Mr. Williams, Mr. Clarence W. Page to Miss Clara W. Moore, both of Peabody.

Deaths.

In Peabody, July 27, Mr. Bartholomew Connors, 45 yrs.

In West Peabody, July 31, Simon Hanscom, suddenly of heart disease.

In Salem, 21st, Miss Welthy J. Allen, 27 yrs. 4 mos. 11 days; 25th, Mrs. Ellen, widow of Mr. Joseph Lynch, 60 yrs.; 26th, Mr. Thomas Brackett, 62 yrs.; 27th, Mr. Brackley R. Peabody, 55 yrs. 11 mos.

In Danvers, 25th, Mr. Josiah Lucas, 58 yrs. 1 mo 21 days.

E. V. EMILIO.

A Large Stock of

New and Second Hand

PIANOS AND ORGANS,

ALWAYS ON HAND AT

286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

E. V EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.

THE LATEST AND THE BEST.

Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.

Every Machine Warranted.

A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50

For Sale at

SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store, Walnut Street.

DINING SALOON.

The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in

Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,

and secured the services of a first-class cook.

Meals Served at All Hours.

A share of public patronage solicited.

W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

NEW DENTAL FIRM.

DUDLEY & EWELL,

Prices greatly reduced.

All operations warranted.

TEETH EXTRACTED FOR 25 CENTS.

Office, 224 Essex St., Salem.

Dr. A. S. DUDLEY, 16 years in Salem.
Dr. GEO. A. EWELL, late of Chicago.
my 18—tf

SPREAD A LITTLE

MOTH POWDER

Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.

MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR

FOR SALE BY

WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,

126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

CATARRH,

THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,

—AND—

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,

CURED BY

DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,

No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,

BOSTON.

Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,

Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,

Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, Catarrh, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,

Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,

Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celbrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,

Piano Manufactuier, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, Jr.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.

February 9, 1881.

HOTEL.

LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,

SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.

Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m. Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN

RAILROAD.

DEPOT IN BOSTON,

350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.

June 26th, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS

FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.

EMPIRE STATE,

(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),

The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer

In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

THURSDAY, AT 10 A. M.

Trip Along the North Shore.

Giving delightful views of points of interest. Returns at 5.30. Fare $1.

FRIDAY and MONDAY, AT 10 A. M.

ALL-DAY FISHING TRIPS,

On the Middle Grounds, where the 44-lb Cod was pulled in July 15. One Dollar per lb. bounty for the biggest codfish caught. Season ticket for second prize. Returns at 5.30, Fare $1.

Moonlight Trips begin Friday.

SATURDAY, at 2.30.

BAY MATINEE.

Returns at 6. Fare 50 cents.

SUNDAY.

ALONG THE NORTH SHORE.

The Empire State Band,

C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER INDEFENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.

On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A. M. and 5 P. M. daily.

The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.

Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.

Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1 00.

Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.

Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.

For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
Je 8

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

EXTRA OATS.

One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central St. Salem.
ust 27

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'.
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

BUSHBY & CO.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,

BEST IN THE MARKET.

CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S

ENGLISH PICKLES.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'

BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.

Also, HAM.

HUCKINS' SOUPS

—AND—

SANDWICHED MEATS.

FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!

Having secured some of the

Choicest Brands,

of Flour in the market such as the

BRISTOL,

MIACOMET,

WORLD'S HAXALL,

Endicott's NEW PROCESS,

ROCKINGHAM, &c.

We are willing to sell them at the

LOWEST MARKET PRICES

—AND—

WARRANT EVERY BRAND.

BUSHBY & CO.,

76 MAIN STREET.

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of

MR. ISAAC NEAL,

well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.

Attention is also called to a

PATENT RUBBER CUSHION

for tender feet, which we are using very successfully. OLD SHOP.

JESSE H. SMITH,

RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

THE MASON & HAMLIN

ORGAN CO.,

Makers of the Best Cabinet or Parlor Organs, offer new and improved styles at lower prices. For cash: three and a quarter octave organs, $22; four octaves, $30; four octave, five stops, $51; five octave, seven stops, $60; five octave, large and elegant case (see cut), eleven stops, $102; one hundred other styles up to $500 and more.—Table Organs, $7.50. Observe that Mason & Hamlin (Price $102.) Organs have greater power, variety, and capacity every way and very much better quality than the much advertised "cheap" organs with two or three times as many stops.

All except the very smallest styles of these organs are now sold

FOR EASY PAYMENTS,

from $5 per month up; or will be rented for reasonable rent, with privilege of return at any time, and agreement that if retained until the whole amount of rent paid equals the value of the organ it becomes the property of the party hiring it without further payment. The rent of an organ so taken is ten per cent. of its value per quarter year ($6.38 and up, according to size and value.) Organs will be furnished on these terms for any place within easy access from Boston.

Mason & Hamlin organs are certainly the best in the world, having taken the highest awards in every one of the great World's Industrial Exhibitions for more than thirteen years, no other American organs having been found equal to them at any. Illustrated catalogues and circulars with full particulars, free.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO.,
154 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass,
Je 15—6w

PAINT BRUSHES. All kinds of Paint Brushes, Artists' Tools, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

ALABASTINE. Alabastine is a valuable discovery. It constitutes a permanent finish for walls, assimilating with the plaster. Pure White, and a variety of beautiful tints at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.

Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,

A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!

For Sale—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.

For Sale—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.

For Sale—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.

A Tenement on corner of Walnut and English streets. Apply to jy 6—tf C. W. OSBORN.

TENEMENT TO LET,

Near the Catholic Church. Inquire at jy 27 46 Lowell Street.

$250 REWARD!

The undersigned, in behalf of the Town of Peabody, will pay the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars to any one who will furnish information which may lead to the detection and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the morning of July 9th, 1881, set fire to the building on Washington street, known as the Gen. Foster Engine House.

LEVI PRESTON, W. B RICHARDSON, S. A. SOUTHWICK, NATHAN H. POOR } Selectmen of Peabody.
je 13—1m

$50 REWARD!

The undersigned will pay the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the old Foster Engine House, on the morning of July 9, 1881.
jy 13—1m HENRY C. TORR.

$25. REWARD.

We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

$50 REWARD!

The above reward will be paid by the undersigned for the arrest and conviction of the party who set fire to the building in South Peabody last Sunday morning, occupied by him for the storage of hair.
may 4 GEO. UPTON, Peabody.

WANTED.

Room and board for a gentleman and wife in the vicinity of the Square. First class references given and required address, with full particulars, TYRO. this office.
jy 13

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,

Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN

ALES & PORTERS

Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.

Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.

I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated

MILWAUKIE LAGER,

acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's

CHAMPAGNE CIDER,

In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including

GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.

SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.

I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.

Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.

S. B. WINN,

191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

WE PROPOSE TO INAUGURATE OUR ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale of

HOUSEHOLD GOODS,

Comprising Carpets, Furniture, Portable Ranges, Bedding, Tea and Dinner Sets, Plated Ware, Table Cutlery, Lamps, Clocks, etc., either for cash or by our system of

INSTALMENTS,

Tuesday, July 6, so as to enable us to keep all our hands, as well as to close out the balance of our Spring Stock, beside benefiting a large class of late trade. Being the largest distributors of Household Goods in New England, we entertain the hope that we may secure a trial order from all who have not purchased Household Goods by our System of Instalments, as we feel assured that the prices we shall offer our stock at will be lower than ever before quoted. In our department for REFRIGERATORS, we have taken account of them and marked them at prices that will close them out.

$6.50

Is the price of an ice chest; $10 is the price of a good Upright Refrigerator, marked down from $13. All our Refrigerators have Slate Shelves, are Zinc Lined, and warranted to consume but little ice. What few

CANOPY CARRIAGES,

MATS, and AFGHANS we have on hand will be offered at prices from $7 50 to $30. a mark-down of from 10 to 20 per cent. Parties going to the Seashore or Country are advised not to throw away this opportunity. We offer these goods on Easy Terms on Instalments. The large demand for the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE improved wire gauze, non-explosive continues unabated. They are the Safest and Best. If you contemplate the purchase of an Oil Stove, be sure you see them in full operation at our establishment. Send for price list and terms on instalments. Catalogue of Household Goods and Terms furnished to parties living at a distance. All orders by mail promptly attended to.

OIL STOVE,

The attention of BARBERS is called to our new pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer use, which we offer at the low price of $28. We also furnish Mugs, Mug Racks, Sinks, Copper Boilers, Mirrors, etc. on Easy Terms on Instalments. Send for Illustrated Price-List and Terms.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.,

5--UNION STREET--5

Opposite Friend St. Boston.
apr 6—6 m

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 10, 1881. NO. 33.

FERNALD & SAWYER'S ADVERTISEMENT.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

We offer as Rare Bargains,

FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS,

A few Specialties, which we have secured at very low prices.

LOT 1. 1000 yards of Light Dotted Cambrics in remnants, which we shall sell at 7 cts, per yard. These goods are just the thing to make up for Children's wear, and usually sold at 12 1-2 cts. per yard.

LOT 2. 1000 yards of extra fine Shirting Cambrics, in remnants, at 10 cts. per yard, which in regular goods are worth 25c per yard. This is a genuine bargain.

LOT 3. 100 dozen 200-yard Spool Linen Thread, in black and white, all numbers, at the extraordinary low price of 5 cts. per spool. We warrant this thread to be of good quality and strong—and it is sold at other stores for 8 and 10 cents.

We are also giving extra bargains every day in our

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

Our 7c UNBLEACHED COTTON, yard wide, cannot be matched in quality at any store in this town or Salem, at the same price.

And we guarantee to give you as low prices on our entire stock of

Cottons, Towels, Table Linens, Hosiery, Gloves, Buttons, Ribbons, Trimmings, Braids, &c.

as any store in Salem or Boston. Our assortment of goods is large and complete in every respect.

Fernald & Sawyer,

48 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residence in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
aul t tf

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper,
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to jy1

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons, wishing his services. jan 1—tf

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

BOOTS, SHOES & RUBBERS.

FOR

LOW PRICES,

—IN—

BOOTS,

SHOES

—AND—

RUBBERS,

—ALSO—

GENTS'

FURNISHING

GOODS,

—CALL AT—

CHARLES E. TEAGUE'S,

52 MAIN STREET,

The Peabody Press.

The Residence

OF MR. LEVERETT POOR, on Lowell street, is now nearly completed.—The painters and paperers are putting the finishing touches to the walls, and everything about the surroundings denote its readiness for the speedy occupancy by its proprietor. We visited the house this week and were fortunate in finding Mr. Lord, the contractor, who kindly gave us an invitation to make a slight tour of inspection.

The house presents a very commanding view from the street, being neatly painted with two contrasting colors, and the high tower in the center attracting the immediate attention of the visitor. The front porch and vestibule has a very roomy and ornate appearance and is a model of architecture. It has an inlaid floor of cherry, black walnut and maple, at once attractive and serviceable.

Entering the house we find on the west side of the building a large parlor 14 1-2x22 feet, with white marble mantel of a rich pattern. The room is papered and the painting of the wood work is to match the groundwork of the paper. This is also the case in every room in the house. In the rear of the room is a smaller one, to be used as a sewing room for the ladies. On the other side of the large main hall, and from which a fine view of the street is to be obtained, is the library 13x14 feet, finished in cherry. The mantel is finished in cherry, with a cherry chimney piece, making one of the pleasantest rooms in the house. Passing to the rear, and past a marble set bowl, we enter the dining room, containing a large closet and square bay window, with a mantel of French marble. The kitchen, pantry and closets are in the rear of the entire house, the wall extending only to the dining room. Here are set bowls, sinks, closets, shelving, and all the modern appliances. Arrangements are being made for hot and cold water, the cold water at present pumped from a well, but the piping will connect with the aqueduct when the service is complete. The kitchen and pantry are finished in pine, being shellacted and varnished. Ascending the front stairway, the railing and balustrades being of black walnut, we enter the large hall, running the whole length of the building, in the rear of which is the bath room. The formation of the tower makes a bay window in the hall over the front door, from which a view of the street in both directions can be obtained. Upstairs are five well finished chambers, all being heated and ventilated, and with marble mantels and set bowls. The paper is of a very neat pattern, with wide borders and gilt and colored moldings.

Mr. Poor will leave the attic unfurnished for the present, having all the necessary room below. In the cellar are set bowls and appliances for washing, and for a kitchen in warm weather. In the center is a large size Anthony's Furnace, which was set by Norton & Gilman.

It will be noticed that while the outside of this house is very different from that of his brother, the plan of the rooms is very similar. Both of the houses are ornaments to this portion of our town. The architects of this residence were Lord & Fuller of Boston; the contract for the entire work above the ground floor was taken by Messrs. Lord & Neal of Salem, who have completed it in a workmanlike and satisfactory manner. The mason work was done by Joseph M. Parsons, the painting by C. H. Pulsifer, and the plumbing by Frank A. Wendell, all of Salem.

The PRESS takes pleasure in chronicling these evidences of the business prosperity of our town and its residents, and we shall shortly notice in our columns several other fine residences, which are in process of erection.

OUR readers will notice that Almy Bigelow & Webber, of Salem, have purchased a large invoice of Cotton Underwear, which they propose offering to their patrons next week, beginning Aug. 15th, at about one third of the original cost. This announcement is made thus early that their patrons at the sea-shore and vicinity can make arrangements at their convenience to avail themselves of this unusual opportunity.

Reunion.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—As your paper appears to be the principal medium by which passing events are chronicled to the world, I thought that you would like an account of an interesting occasion, which took place a few days since in So. Peabody, and in which your correspondent was a participant.

I received an invitation to be present at the family reunion of the John Needham family, at Brown's Grove, a beautiful natural retreat, only a few rods from the busy portion of the village, but separated from it by cultivated fields and a belt of beautiful forest trees. This grove is near the homestead of this branch of the Needham family, and seems a fitting spot for their reunion. As my childhood days were passed in So. Peabody (then called Rockville), I was glad to avail myself of the invitation to meet once again my early playmates and relatives, and recall from memory's store-house events of long ago.

At an early hour the relatives began to arrive, and long before the dinner hour upwards of two hundred had assembled, and while the grove echoed the merry voices of the children engaged in the innocent sports of childhood, the older portion, some of whom had reached nearly four score years, spent the time in social intercourse, recalling by-gone years, living over again, as it were, the many years that had fled since, as children, they had roamed these pleasant woods as light-hearted as the youngest one present. The little hill-side cemetery was brought vividly to mind, as many a loved form, missing from the assembly, had been laid there since the first of these reunions was held.

After Rev. Mr. Colwell had invoked the Divine blessing to rest on the large family assembled in the beautiful grove on such a delightful day, gathered together to cement anew the ties of relationship, a bountiful repast was partaken of, after which the time was spent either in listening to appropriate music, singing, or in the social dance. Some of those present had not met each other for upwards of twenty-five years. As time waits for no man, and as all things have an end, so at a seasonable hour the friends separated, pleased with their sixth reunion.

DESCENDANT.

LAST week Thursday we enjoyed a trip on the Empire State, and it was an excursion long to be remembered. It was one of the hottest days of the season. The boat left the wharf promptly at 10 A. M., with a large number of passengers. The size and accommodations on board the Empire State, however, precluded any crowding or inconvenience therefrom. We sailed from the dock with the fine music of the band which always accompanies the excursionists on the boat, and steamed down the harbor towards the famous North Shore. The slight fog that threatened to obstruct the view during the early part of the day, soon lifted, and as we passed the shores of Nahant, the view became as clear as we could have wished. Down past Marblehead and the islands of Salem harbor, nearing Magnolia Shore, where the Cadets had encamped, rounding the rocky point of Gloucester and Pigeon Cove, the steamer glided into Ipswich bay.—The beauty of the scenery, the cool breeze, the delightful music—all conspired to make the trip full of variety as well as comfort. Capt. Phillips and officers are ever mindful of the interests of the passengers, and nothing is left undone by them to contribute to their pleasure. Many of the excursionists had taken lunches with them, and at noon, scattered here and there, could be seen small parties partaking of their meal in true picnic style. Others descended to the dining hall of the boat, where meals are served on the European plan. One of the specialties of this boat is the fine chowders provided at their dinners; and we never tasted better. It has been customary with many of these excursion boats to charge enormously for whatever in the way of refreshments one wished to obtain.—Not so the Empire State. The prices on this steamer are no higher than at an ordinary restaurant, and a party can enjoy a hearty meal without feeling his purse depleted to any considerable extent. The waiters are prompt and attentive, and furnish a remarkable and very satisfactory contrast to the hotels and dining halls at many of our so-called popular resorts.

Summer Saunterers.

Col. Cyrus T. Batchelder and family have been stopping at the White Mountains.

Mrs. J. A. Lord, Andrew Torr and wife, James Marsh and wife, Miss H. T. Marsh, and Mr. John Torr, were registered at the Glen Ellis House, Jackson, N. H., last week.

Mr. T. J. Putnam, of the Congressional Library, Washington, D. C., is spending his vacation here. We were pleased to receive a call from him last Saturday.

Miss Alice Lane has recently returned from an eastern trip.

Mr. Samuel Goodwin has gone to North Conway to spend his vacation.

Francis H. Appleton, Esq., is at the Glen House, N. H.

Mr. Henry Dorsett will spend the first part of his vacation at East Gloucester.

Miss Georgie Hart is at So. Cholmsford, Mass.

Mr. Alex B. Merrill and family are at Poland Springs, Me.

Mrs. C. H. Goulding is at Leominster, Mass.

Mr. Nathaniel Symonds has returned from a trip to the White Mountains.

Miss Sarah Merrill is at North Andover.

Gilbert L. Streeter, Esq., and family, are occupying a cottage at the Willows.

Mr. Stephen Peabody and Mr. Stephen A. Osborne, and families, occasionally occupy their cottages at the Willows.

Mr. Henry C. Torr, who, with his family, are occupying the Winslow cottage at the Willows, handsomely entertained a party from Springfield and Peabody at the Pavilion Cafe yesterday afternoon.

Mr. George Randall's family are rusticating at Tamworth Iron Works, N. H.

Mr. I. W. Goodwin leaves next Saturday for Tamworth Iron Works.

Mr. S. C. Larrabee will spend his vacation at Swampscott.

Mr. J. J. Carew, organist at St. John's Church, will sojourn in Maine for a few weeks.

Mr. George B. Chandler and Mr. Charles G. West started for N. Hampshire this morning.

Mr. Arthur Taylor Dodge has gone to Fabyan's, N. H., to recruit.

Mrs. W. L. Pray has started on a tour through Illinois.

WE WERE shown yesterday a medal which had been awarded Messrs. Dole & Osgood, our enterprising carriage manufacturers of this town, by the Sydney International Exhibition, of Sydney, New South Wales. This firm has been doing quite an extensive business, manufacturing their carriages for different parties in that country, for the last twenty years; and at the exhibition in 1879 they entered the list with competitors from foreign countries as well as our own, and received the First Degree of Merit. They obtained a diploma, a finely illustrated steel plate, awarded to Dole & Osgood, for "Light Farm Wagons," and has now received this medal as mentioned above. On one side is the name of the firm with the rank, first award, and on the reverse the "Sydney International Exhibition", date 1879, and the Latin motto "Orta regens quam pura nites."

It is an unusual occurrence for a medal and diploma to be presented to the same firm, by the same award, and Messrs. Dole & Osgood have reason to be justly proud of the result, in which our citizens should also share. We are advised that this is the first medal ever received by any of our Peabody manufacturers, and as such is entitled to favorable mention. Mr. Dole informs us that the firm are at present at work on a large order to be shipped to that country.

Mr. Dole has also recently obtained a patent on a wheel hub, which the firm are using on their carriages, and for which they predict a large sale. The enterprise of this firm is surely to be commended, and we congratulate them on their deserved business prosperity.

MR. C. H. GOULDING announces in another column the reduction in price of the Light-running Domestic Sewing Machine, for which he is agent in this town. These machines give entire satisfaction wherever they are in use, and our readers are cordially invited to call and examine them, and see the quality of work which they will do.

PEABODY.

Many persons noticed a strange object in the air last evening, which resembled a ball of fire, and was at first supposed to be a new comet. Investigation this morning, however, developed the fact that a kite with a Chinese lantern attached to one end and the PRESS office devil to the other, was the immediate cause of this strange appearance.

The following is an alleged preventive for too frequent visitations of the musical mosquito: Dissolve in a cupful of water as much alum as the water will contain—in other words, make the strongest possible solution of alum and water; add one-third portion of aromatic vinegar and one-fourth of glycerine. Apply constantly during the day to parts exposed to the attacks of the insects.

The members of Gen. Sutton steamer agreeably surprised, at his residence on Lowell street last Tuesday evening week, their foreman, Mr. W. J. Roome, and presented him with a fine chamber set valued at $80. Mr. R., although taken by surprise, did not forget his usual hospitality, and in a very short time the boys were made to feel at home, and the evening was enjoyably spent.

A man named Dennis Dullea 75 year of age was found dead on the floor of his room at Stephen Cragins boarding house Sunday morning. The cause of his death is supposed to be heart disease. He was employed by Franklin Osborne Jr. was about his work on Saturday. His funeral took place Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended by his fellow workmen and friends.

The present week is to be a gala one at the Willows. This evening there is to be a grand stereopticon entertainment with views upon a mammoth screen and fireworks. Thursday evening the marine exhibition will be given with the exception of the whale. There will be a brilliant display from floating batteries, serpents and dragons. Friday evening the stereopticon is to be repeated with fireworks and lantern illumination.

A party of Peabody gentlemen and their lady friends went down the harbor on Wednesday in the "Excelsior." The fog was so thick they could see scarcely a boat's length ahead and after drifting around for a while, although they had a man on the lookout, they run ashore at Misery Island, but fortunately without much damage to the boat. They were pushed off by some fishermen in a dory. After this misfortune the wind died down and they had to row up, reaching Salem about 9 o'clock, tired and feeling rather sore about their poor luck.

It was an amusing spectacle those who were in the vicinity of Smith's barber shop witnessed, when the alarm of fire was given on Saturday evening. Mr. David Brown, the popular driver of the old steamer, who was seated in the chair, was well lathered, and the tonsorial artist had drawn the razor lovingly across one side of his face once or twice, when the bell struck, and David rushed from the shop, never thinking of his ludicrous appearance till he was well under way; and as he wiped the lather from his face with his sleeve, he remarked that "it must always be duty before pleasure."

A brutal assault was made Wednesday at about noon time by a woman named Barry, residing on Fulton street, upon a Mrs. Linehan, living in the same place. As the latter was walking up the street, the Barry woman rushed from behind a fence and struck her over the head with the broken handle of a spade, inflicting a severe wound and cutting an artery on the back of the head. Mrs. Linehan remained for nearly two hours before a doctor was called, and would have bled to death had he not come as he did. The trouble arose out of some old misunderstandings between the parties.

Last Friday noon, Dr. C. C. Pike's favorite canine, "Jeff," was found in the yard of a resident on Main street, and was supposed by the inmates to be mad. He was taken in a team to the stable in the rear of the PRESS office, and Mr. William A. Smith, the barber, an authority on dogs, was sent for. He said the dog had run too much and had become heated. Mr. Chas. H. Davis, the Veterinary Surgeon, was sent for and pronounced it sunstroke, and about a quart of oil and a half bottle of ginger were poured down his throat, the dog making several attempts to bite the persons attending. About four o'clock, after suffering intensely, he died. It is supposed that the dog was poisoned.

OUR readers will notice the advertisement of the Bryant & Stratton Commercial College, in Boston. This is the oldest school of the kind in the country, and offers unusual advantages. The principal, Mr. Hibbard, is thorough and practical in his instruction, and it is the best institution of the kind in this vicinity.

SUICIDE.

At noon to-day news was received that the dead body of a man apparently about 35 years of age, had been found at 9 o'clock this morning by a man named Wiggin, near the old turnpike road, about a quarter of a mile from the residence of Mr. J. S. Needham, at West Peabody. It was found upon investigation that the man's throat had been cut with a common pocket knife, severing the jugular vein. To all appearances the man had been dead about 48 hours. There were found on his person a bunch of keys, several receipted grocery bills, a tax bill, diary, etc., and about $100 in money.—On the key check was the name N. Berry, Great Falls, N. H. Medical Examiner Geo. S. Osborne viewed the remains and Undertaker Wm. S. Osborne took charge of them. At this writing there is no cause assigned for the horrible deed, but it is supposed that the stranger left the train at the junction, and chose this lonely spot to end his life.

EDISON'S IRON SEPARATOR.—Edison now has 400 men at work in his different workshops and claims that he has made enormous improvements in his machinery and lamps since the Menlo Park experiments of two years ago. He has been making so much money by his magnetic separator for getting pure iron out of the black sea sand along the Long Island shore near Quogue, that his friends feared at one time that it might interrupt his work upon the electric light, for like all inventors, he is liable to drop important work for some toy. Many inventors have tried to get iron out of the Quogue sea sand, for there are millions of tons of sand there containing 26 per cent. of pure iron which is of splendid quality, but the sand also contains particles of titanite iron, a substance also magnetic, but which renders iron unfit for use. Inventors came to grief with this titanite iron seeing no way of separating it from the pure iron. Edison found out that the titanic particles are less attracted by a magnet than pure iron. He let a stream of sand fall and deflected the shower by means of powerful magnets. The pure iron which is attracted most strongly falls in one box, the titanic iron is not attracted so much and falls in another box, and the sand not being deflected at all falls straight down into a third. One boy can manage such a machine, turning out 20 tons of pure iron from 100 tons of sand. Men with carts keep his hopper full. Such a machine costs $700 to build. There are now seven at work, turning out 140 tons of superb iron, which costs the company $2 to produce and sells for $6 a ton. Edison has refused large sums of money for the patent, prefering to receive a royalty of $1 a ton upon the iron produced. He therefore is now receiving $140 a day royalty.

LAST Friday evening several well known barges from this town took full loads of passengers to the Willows. We do not see why it would not pay the proprietors of these barges to run them every pleasant night. There are many people who would prefer to pay the small extra charge, and be sure of a comfortable passage both ways. It would not interfere with the travel or patronage on the street railway, for on nights of extra attractions there, they are taxed to their utmost to accommodate their patrons. Many people will not go at all, on account of the crowding and rushing, both at the Pavilion and in Salem, to secure seats in the horse cars. If the owners of the barges, when not otherwise engaged, would run one trip each evening, say leaving the square at about 7 o'clock, and return at a convenient season, we think it would pay them, and it would be a great accommodation to many people who would not otherwise enjoy the trip thither.

OUR readers will note the advertisement of excursions to the White Mountains, in another column. We cordially recommend parties travelling that way to take the Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R., which leaves from the depot of the Boston & Lowell R. R. in Boston. The route to Plymouth, N. H., and thence up the mountain valley, is through some of the finest scenery in the country. Parties can leave Peabody, go directly to Lowell on the Salem & Lowell branch, and connect directly. Tickets can also be obtained here at about the same rates, and baggage checked through.

Poet's Corner.

Behind the Screen.

I'm but a rustic country lad,
And have not learned the ways
That village boys so soon adopt
In these progressive days;
And some things I can't understand
Which I have often seen.
One is, why all the saloon bars
Are hidden behind a screen.

Another is, why men who work
Ten hours every day,
And constantly are grumbling at
Their small amount of pay,
Should squander it for worse than naught.
'Tis appetite, I ween,
That makes them spend so much for drink,
Behind the saloon screen.

Another is, why many that Should early be at home,
Night after night, till twelve o'clock
Prefer the streets to roam;
E'en boys of young and tender age,
From ten years to sixteen,
Are forming habits hard to change
Behind the saloon screen.

Another is, how men can feel
'Tis right to dim the brain,
And stimulate the baser thoughts
Where reason ought to reign;
And if the men who sell and drink
Don't think the business mean,
Why do they always strive so hard
To hide behind a screen?

All this I honestly admit
I cannot understand,
And to this question pertinent
An answer I demand;
If whiskey, wine, and lager beer
Do not mankind demean,
Why not dispense them openly,
And not behind a screen?

The Water-Mill.

Oh, listen to the water-mill, through all the livelong day—
"Your salary will stop about the time you lose your pay:
The fellow at the ladder's top, to him all glory goes,
And the fellow at the bottom is the fellow no one knows.
No good are all the 'had beens,' for in country and in town,
Nobody cares how high you've been, when once you have come down.
When once you have been president, and are president no more,
You may run a farm, or teach a school, or keep a country store,
No one will ask about you, you never will be missed—
The mill will only grind for you while you supply the grist."

—Burlington Hawkeye.

Selected Story.

As We Forgive Our Debtors.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

When a mere lad we were struck with the remark of an eminent physician, and have thought of it hundreds of times since. His collector, in making returns, reported as valueless an account against a man who had recently failed in business.

The physician took the bill, quietly tore it into pieces, and then turning to the unfortunate debtors account, wrote across it "settled."

"Rather a losing business that," remarked the collector.

"I hope to be able to say the Lord's Prayer so long as I live," was the physician's calm reply. "'Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors.' When we say that prayer, my friend, it behooves us to look into our hearts and ask ourselves how we forgive our debtors. 'With what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again."

Yes, hundreds of times since then, in our world experience and contact with men, have we thought of that physician's remark. But very few have we met, who, like him, could say the Lord's Prayer without asking for a curse instead of a blessing; for if the Lord forgave their debts as they forgave their debtors, their chances of eternal salvation would not be worth the fraction of a mite.

The defect of non-forgiveness is not confined to the non-professor—to him whose lips repeat not daily the holy words of that holy petition. So far as our experience and observation go, they who profess to have "had much forgiven, because they had sinned much," are as rigid in their exaction of the utmost farthing as the men who assume no sanctity of life or conversation. We speak here in general terms. There are noble exceptions in both classes; but not, we are inclined to believe, in one more than in the other. With an individual of the former class we have now to deal. We do not intend to be hard with him; we shall not aggravate his defects, for his purposes are good, and when he sees what is evil he honestly tries to overcome it. But self-love and self-interest blind us all. They blinded Mr. Harvey Green, notwithstanding he had passed from "death to life," and had the evidence of the change in the fact that he "loved the brethren."

Harvey Green was a shrewd man in business—honest in all his dealings, yet ever exacting in his own. He took no advantage of others, and was very careful not to let others take advantage of him. While acting on the precept, "Owe no man anything," he never lost sight sight of a debtor, nor rested while the obligation remained in force. A very natural result was that Harvey Green prospered in the things of this world—not that he became very rich, but so well off as to leave every reasonable want supplied.

It so happened, a few days ago, that a man named Wilkins, after an unsuccessful struggle with fortune, continued through six or seven years, failed in business. Few men had toiled harder, or suffered more; and when, at last, he yielded to the pressure of iron circumstances, he sank down for a season prostrate in body and mind. Everything that he had was given up to his creditors—the property paid but a small percentage on their claims—and then he went forth into the world, all his business relations broken up, and under the heavy disadvantage of his situation, bravely sought to gain for his large, dependent family, things needful to their sustenance and growth in mind and body.

Among his creditors was Green. Now Wilkins belonged to the same church that numbered Green among its members. When the latter heard of the failure, he was a good deal disturbed, although the sum owed to him was not over three or four hundred dollars. On reflection he grew more composed.

"Wilkins is an honest man," he said to himself. "He'll pay sooner or later."

It did not take long to sell off, at a sad sacrifice, the stock of goods remaining on the hands of the debtor, for he threw no impediment in the way of those who sought to obtain their due.

"Ah, my friend," said the latter, on meeting with Green, a few days after the closing up of his insolvent estate, "this is a sad business! But if God gives me strength, I will pay every dollar of this debt before I die. An honest man can never sleep soundly while he owes his neighbor a farthing."

"The right spirit, brother Wilkins," answered Green, "the right spirit! Hold fast to that declaration, and all will come out right in the end. Though I can't very well lie out of my money, yet I will wait patiently until you are able to pay me. I always said you were an honest man; and I am sure you will make good my words."

"God helping me, I will," said the debtor; his voice trembled, and his eyes grew moist. Oh, how dark all looked in the future! What a cloud was on his path! What a weight of grief, mortification and despondency on his heart!

The two men parted, and each took his homeward way—the debtor and the creditor. The one with countenance erect, self-complacent feelings and elastic step; the other sad and depressed.

That night Mr. Green prayed, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." Yet scarcely had the words died on his lips ere he was musing on the chances in favor of his ever receiving from the penniless Wilkins the few hundred dollars owed him by the unhappy individual. There was no sympathy for him in his heart; no thought of his terrible prostration of spirit; nothing of pity or forgiveness. A selfish regard for his own interests completely absorbed all humane consideration.

Time passed on. Mr. Wilkins was no drone. An earnest, active man, he soon found employment—not very remunerative at first, but still sufficiently so to enable him to secure many comforts for his family, and to provide for their education. One, two, three years glided by. With the growth of his children his expenses increased, and kept so close a tread upon his income that he had not been able to pay off any of the old obligations; although he never lost sight of them, and never ceased to feel troubled on account of their existence.

"O, debt, debt, debt!" he would often sigh to himself. "What would I not give to be able to say, 'I owe no man anything.' But with my large family and limited income, what hope is there?"

This was his depressed state of mind one day when Mr. Green called in to see him. Many times before this the unhappy man had been reminded of his debt.

"How are you getting on?" inquired the creditor, fixing his eyes steadily upon poor Mr. Wilkins, who felt a sense of suffocation, and quailed before his tyrant.

"I have much to be thankful for," meekly answered the debtor. "My health has been good, and I have had steady employment."

"You are living very comfortable."

"And we are grateful to a kind Providence for our blessings."

"Your salary is one thousand dollars."

"It is; and I have six children to support."

"You ought to save something. I've been easy with you a long time; it's three years now, and you haven't offered me one cent. If you'd paid me five or ten dollars at a time, the debt would have been lessened. I wish you would begin to make some arrangement. You ought to save at least two hundred dollars from your salary. I know plenty of men who only get eight hundred dollars a year, and have as large families as yours."

The eyes of Mr. Wilkins fell heavily to the floor; he felt as if a heavy weight had been laid upon his bosom. He made no reply, for what could he say?

"I have always upheld you as an honest man," remarked Green, in a tone of voice that implied an awakening doubt as to whether this view of the debtor's character was really correct.

"That is between God and my own conscience," said Wilkins, lifting his eyes from the floor and looking with some sternness into the face of his persecuting creditor.

"For your own sake, I trust you will keep a clear conscience," returned Green. "As for the present matter between us, all I wish to know is, whether you mean to pay my debt; and if so, when may I expect to receive something?"

"How much is the debt?" asked Wilkins.

"It was three hundred and seventy dollars at the time of your failure. Interest added, it now amounts to four hundred and fifty," said Green.

"There are other debts besides yours."

"Of course there are; but I have nothing to do with them."

"The whole amount of my indebtedness was twenty thousand dollars. The yearly interest on this debt is more than my whole income. I cannot pay even the interest, to say nothing of the principal."

"But you can pay my small claim if you will; you could have paid it before this time if the disposition had existed. You talk of conscience, but I am afraid, brother Wilkins, in your case there is a a very narrow foundation of honesty for conscience to rest upon. I don't put much faith in the profession of men who live after the fashion you live, and refuse to pay their debts. I am a plain-spoken individual, and you have my mind freely."

The tone and manner of the creditor were harsh in the extreme.

"Perhaps," said Wilkins, with forced calmness, "there may be less dishonesty in my withholding than in yours in demanding."

"Dishonesty? Do you dare?" The creditor's face flushed, and his lips quivered with indignation.

"There are ten creditors in all," said Wilkins, with regained composure.—"Let me put to you a question. I owe John Martin six hundred dollars, and little prospect of his getting any more, and were I to pay the whole of it over to John Martin, instead of dividing it equally between you and all my creditors, would you deem the act right on my part? Or, would you think Martin really honest, if he were to crowd and chafe me until, in very desperation, as it were, I gave him the whole of what mainly belonged to others? Would you not say that he had possessed himself of your property? I know you would. And let me say to you plainly, that I do not think your present effort to get me to pay off your claim entire, regardless of others equally as much entitled to be paid as yourself, at all indicative of unselfishness, or a spirit of genuine honesty. If I have any money to pay, it belongs equally to all my creditors—not to any one of them exclusively."

To be turned upon thus by a man who was in debt to him—to be charged with a dishonest spirit by the poor creature whose relation to society he regarded as essentially dishonest—this was too much for the self-complacency of Mr. Green. He rose up quickly, saying, in a threatening tone:

"You will repent of this insult, sir! I have forborne for years, believing that you were really honest; but for this forbearance I now meet with outrage. I shall forbear no longer. You are able enough to pay me, and I will find a way to compel you to do so."

Left alone with his troubled thoughts, poor Mr. Wilkins felt not only humiliated and wretched, but alarmed for the integrity of his household. There was no way in which his creditor could extort the sum due except by seizing upon his household furniture. That Green would do this he had but too good reasons to fear, for he had done it in other cases.

His fears proved not altogether groundless. On the very next day a sheriff's writ was served on him at the suit of Harvey Green.

"What do you propose doing?" asked Wilkins, on meeting with his creditor, a few days afterwards.

"Get my money," was answered, sternly.

"But I've nothing."

"We will soon see about that! Good morning!"

Mr. Green imagined that the indignation felt toward Wilkins was directed against his dishonest spirit, and was, in fact, a righteous indignation, when its spring was really in cupidity and wounded pride.

It was the day before the trial of his cause against Wilkins, when he expected to get judgment by default, and no answer had been made by the defendant in the case. And it was his purpose, as it had been from the beginning, to order an execution as soon as the matter was through the court, and seize upon any property that could be found.

Evening came, and Mr. Green sat, with his children around him, in his pleasant home. A sweet little boy knelt before him, his pure hands clasped in prayer, while from his lips came musically the words taught by the Lord to his disciples, "Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors." There seemed a deeper meaning in the words, murmured by innocent childhood, than had ever before reached his perceptions. His thoughts were stirred; new emotions awakened. The prayer was said, the little one arose from his knees and lifted his rosy lips for the good-night kiss.

"Father," said he, turning back after going across the room, "I'm not going to let Fred Williams pay me for that sled. It got broke all to pieces the next day after I let him have it."

"He bought it from you," said Mr. Green.

"I know he did; but Fred's mother is poor, and he only gets a penny now and then. It will take him a long, long time to save a dollar; and then the sled is broken, and no good to him. I have a great many more nice things than he has, and why should I want his pennies when he has so few?"

"What made you think of this?" asked the father, who was touched by the words of his child.

"It came into my mind just now when I was saying my prayers. I prayed, 'Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.' Now, Fred is my debtor, is he not?"

"Yes, my son."

"Well, if I don't forgive him his debts, how can I expect God to forgive me mine? If I pray to him to forgive me as I forgive Fred, and I don't forgive Fred at all, don't I ask God not to forgive me, father?"

The child spoke earnestly, and stood with his large, deep, calm eyes fixed intently on his father's face. Almost involuntarily Mr. Green repeated the words:

"'If you forgive not men their trespasses,' said our Saviour, 'neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.'"

"I'll forgive Fred the debt, father. I'm sure he isn't able to pay for the sled, and I have a great many more nice things than he has. If I don't do it, how can I ever say that prayer again?"

"O, yes, yes! Forgive him the debt by all means," replied the father, kissing his boy.

That evening was spent by Mr. Green in closer self-communion than he had known for years. The words of his child had come to him like rebuking precepts from Heaven, and he bowed his head humiliated and repentant, resolving to forgive in the future as he would be forgiven.

On the morning that followed, as Mr. Wilkins, from whose mind the cloud had not lifted itself, and who was yet trembling for the home of his children, was passing from his door, a lad placed a letter in his hand. He knew the face of the boy from its likeness to that of Mr. Green.

"More trouble," he sighed to himself as he thrust the note into his pocket. An hour afterwards he opened it, and, to his bewilderment and surprise, found his account fully drawn out and receipted with the signature of Harvey Green. Below the receipt was written: "I stand rebuked. I must forgive if I hope to be forgiven."

It was with difficulty that Wilkins could restrain a gush of tears, so great was his instant revulsion of feeling.—Ah, if Harvey Green could have seen his heart at that moment, his debt would have been paid four-fold! No amount of money poured into his coffers could have produced such a feeling of heavenly delight.

Miscellaneous.

NAMING HER BABY.—On the Bay City train the other day was a woman with a baby about eight months old, and in the next seat back was an old man who couldn't sit still until he had said:

"That's a baby you have there, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir."

"About a year old, isn't he?"

"Mercy, no! He's hardly eight months old yet!"

"Isn't,eh? Well, I'm the father of nine children, but it's so long since I've seen a baby that I've forgotten how they ought to look. Is he a girl?"

"No, sir; he's a boy."

"Just me, agin. I never can tell one from 'tother. Is he purty healthy?"

"Oh, yes."

"Squall much nights?"

"Never squalls at all."

"Don't, eh? that's the kind of a young 'un I like to see around. My Samuel did nothing but howl for the first two years. Sarah was allus sick, Moses fell out of his cradle and broke his arm, and something or other allus ailed every one of the lot. Have you named this baby yet?"

"No, sir."

"Haven't eh! Say?"

"Yes, sir."

"'Sposen you call him arter me? My fust name is Jefferson, and they Jeff me for short. I've got two $10 gold pieces here for him if you want to call him Jefferson."

"I'll do it!" promptly replied the woman.

"That's business. Here's the cash and the boy is named Jefferson, arter me. Lemme kiss him about four times."

The baby was duly kissed and congratulated, and at the next station left the train with its mother. The old man was tickled half to death over the matter, until the conductor came along and asked:

"Did you pay her anything to name that baby after you?"

"Yes—twenty dollars. He's a clipper and don't you forget it."

"And so is his mother. She's down in the Detroit House of Correction, and the woman who had him takes care of him for two dollars a week."

"N-o-a!"

"Fact!"

The old man's jaw fell, his eyes remained fixed on the ceiling for a minute, and then he fell back in his seat with the exclamation:

"Chaw me! Everybody has called me a fool for the past twenty years, and now I know they are right. Conductor!"

"Yes."

"Please mop the floor with me and break my neck, and step on me a thousand times and then throw the mangled wreck into some swamp, for I won't be no more good to this world."—Detroit Free Press.

An amusing story is told of a little fellow named Artie, one of three brothers, whose parents had brought them up to be brave and self-reliant. He could not do much, but what he could do he did it with all his might.

And as their parents were Methodists of the good old-fashioned kind, the boys were in the habit of hearing—at such times—the hearty "Amen" break forth from their father's lips when the sermon was particularly enjoyable.

One cold Sabbath day these children were left at home with many cautions to be careful.

Hardly had the parents left, ere the woodwork near the stove-pipe was discovered to be on fire, and out of the children's reach; but, with wonderful activity and energy, the eldest climbed upon the table and put out the flames.

When the father and mother returned they shuddered to see the danger to which their dear ones had been exposed and with thankful hearts praised them for their courage.

"How did you manage, Tommy, to reach the fire?" asked their father.

"Why," said Tommy, "I pushed the table up to the wall and got upon that."

"And did you help brother, Jimmy?" to the next.

"Yes, sir; I brought him a pail of water, and handed him the dipper."

"And what did you do?" said the proud father to his pet, the youngest of the group.

"Well papa," said Artie, "you see I was too small to help put out the fire, so I just stood by and hollered 'Amen.'"

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS DISGRACED.—Some of the New York city public school teachers, having been charged with using stolen examination papers so as to aid their pupils in passing the requisite examination for preferment, the Board of Education made an investigation. The Committee reported that Principal Boyle and Vice-Principal Walsh were fully aware of the character of the papers, but the other teachers were not. Mr. Boyle refused to disclose how he came into possession of the papers further than to say that he received them from a woman teacher. Commisioners Dowd, Walker and Wickham were of the opinion that such conduct should be followed by removal. The commitee agreed in recommending that a fine of three months' pay be imposed upon Principal Boyle, and a fine of one month's pay upon Vice-Principal Walsh. After a long debate the recommendation of the committee was adopted.

The offence involved deception and gross imposture, and the character of those guilty of it will be such in the eyes of the pupils as to make the men very unfit examples. They ought to resign and retire to some other employment.—New York Observer.

A BUILDER'S TESTIMONY. — Chas, S. Strickland, Esq., of 9 Boylston Place-Boston, Mass., after relating his surprising recovery from Rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil, says: I cannot find words to convey my praise and gratitude to the discoverer of this liniment. —Grand Rapids Times.

CONRAD'S ADVERTISEMENT.

CONRAD'S

Greatest Mark-down SALE

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

NOTE---This is a Bona Fide Mark-Down.

$1.00 Surah and Ombre Ribbons, five inches wide, for 50 cents.
$6.00 Trimmed Hats and Bonnets, for $3.00
$1.00 Mull Ties, for 50 cents. 50 cent Lace Collars, nice style, 25 cents.
$.50 Macrame Bags, handsomely lined, 75 cents. $1.00 Gent's Ties, 25 cent.
75 cent Embroidered Corsets, double clasps and side steels, 29 cents.
$1.25 Tuscan untrimmed Bonnets, 68 cents. 75 cent Hats, 13 cents.
$2.00 Gingham Dresses, $1.00. 25 cent Lunch Baskets, 12 1-2 cents.
72 cent Wrappers, fast colors, 50 cents.
Other Goods in the same proportion. We are bound to close out our Summer Stock to make room for our immense Fall Stock now arriving.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

A BAD CASE.—He was an old man, and said he'd seen better times. I hoped he had, but as I was unusually busy and didn't want any life insurance, if he would excuse me—

"Oh yes" said he, "all right young man, I'll drop in again."

The next day he did 'drop in,' and, sitting down on my desk, he began: "Nothing in this world, my young friend, will pay so big a per cent. on the little money invested as a policy in the Mutual Benefit association, the most, and, in fact, the only company on earth; capital over seven million, and so prompt—why, I insured a man last week for $10,000, and the same day he was run over by a street car, so when I sent in the policy and premium, I just said, by way of a P S., 'Run over by a horse car not an hour after insured; better send on a check, as he can't live; both legs cut off.' The very next day I got a check payable to his heirs, for $10,560. Dividend, my friend, was more than the premium, and don't you call it prompt? That man's widow got this check before he had been dead fifteen minutes."

"But," said I, "I have no wife and I don't want any insurance, I tell you."

"The investment, my young friend, —the investment. Look at the dividend. This man got five hundred and sixty dollars in one hour, you might say; and then you will have a wife some day. Now you do want a policy in this company? I know you do. I'm an old man; have had a large and varied experience, and I know you are just aching for one of these policies, only you are so extremely modest. Now I'll just make out your application, it only costs you— let me see. How old are you?"

"Twenty-six but—"

"Twenty-six, hum. Father living?"

"No."

"How old was he when he died?"

"Twenty-seven."

"Twenty-seven, hey? What did he die of? Accident, I presume."

"No, sir, consumption."

"Consumption? you don't look consumptive."

"But I am consumptive, and—"

"Mother's living, I doubt not?"

"No, sir, she died at twenty-eight."

"What was the cause of her death?"

"Insanity, sir, hereditary insanity; family's full of it. All my brothers, thirteen of us in all, sir, died between twenty-four and twenty-eight of the same disease. Dangerous, too, some of them; my oldest brother was taken about this time one day, and he killed his partner, three clerks and fourteen customers before they could secure him, and—"

"You don't tell me. This is wonderful. You look like a strong, healthy man, likely to live fifty years. Was you ever sick?"

"Oh, yes; I've had inflammatory rheumatism, pneumonia, dysentery, small-pox, mumps, liver complaint, fits, corns, and—"

"Good heavens! And you want me to insure your life. Well, my company is a good company, willing to take an ordinary business risk, but I must say I never knew them to insure a corpse. I'd like to accommodate you, and I feel interested in your family, but our surgeon wouldn't pass such an application. Good day."—Oil City Derrick Died at the Orphan Asylum in this city, on the 4th inst., of gastritis or inflamation of the stomach, Monsignor Joseph Desaultels, Domestic Prelate to His Holiness Leo XIII, and Parish Priest of Varennes, Canada, aged 67 years and 8 months.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret we chronicle the demise of the deceased reverend gentleman, who was born in Chambly, C. E., Oct. 26, 1814. He studied in the college of his native place, from which he graduated with the highest honors, and was ordained priest in 1838. His life during the 43 years of his sacred ministry was one of zeal for the glory of his Divine Master, the honor of our holy religion, and the good of the souls confided to his care. For the last 26 years he was the parish priest of Varennes, one of the largest and most important parishes in Lower Canada. As a proof of the high esteem in which he was held by his Ecclesiastical Superior, while yet young he was first advanced to the position of Honorary Canon, and afterwards to that of Vicar General of the Diocese of Montreal. He accompanied the Bishop of Montreal in each of his journeys to the Eternal City. In one of these visits His Holiness, Pius IX, honored him with the title of Monsignor, together with that of Honorary Chaplain to His Holiness. He was ever active in promoting the interests of education, a proof of which remains in the college and other institutions he founded, and in a great measure maintained. His last great work was the erection of an Orphanage and Home for Aged People, which was dedicated last December. He expressed his intention of leaving at least $6000 to this institution at his death. In this charitable undertaking he was nobly assisted by his zealous assistants and parishioners. Rev. Father Lorion took upon himself the entire superintendence of the work from beginning until end.

Although his health had been failing for some time past, yet his death was n a measure unexpected. He arrivedi here two weeks ago expecting to spend his vacation and recruit his failing health as he had done in years past. But man proposes and God disposes. As he gradually grew worse his attending physician called to his assistance Dr. Kimball of Salem, and also Dr. Painchand of Varennes; but all human aid was vain. He sank gradually, and fortified by the rites of our holy religion the good priest saw his end approaching, resigned to the will of his Lord and Master. He was well prepared and death had no terrors for him. He passed to a better life, surrounded by his brother priests and the good Sisters of Charity, who waited upon him during his last illness.

Charitable institutions, especially those similar in nature to the Orphan Asylum, not supported by endowments and bequests, but who rely entirely upon the generosity of the public for their maintainance, must naturally have felt the effects of the hard times with greater severity in times past. While few donations were received, yet the applications were far more numerous than in times of business prosperity. There are at present over one hundred inmates in the Asylum in this city, and while the institution has been managed with the closest economy, the expenses of maintaining the institution exceed the sum of six thousand dollars per annum. This seems a large sum to raise in these times, but when we remember that the public have never yet failed to respond generously to the appeals of the Sisters of Charity, for assistance to enable them to carry on their self-sacrificing work of love and charity, in behalf of unfortunate and suffering humanity, we feel confident that their present appeal will not be in vain.

But few persons in the community are aware of the amount of good which the Orphan Asylum has done since its establishment in 1866.—From October 30th, 1866, when the Asylum was opened, to the 1st of July, 1881, a period of nearly fifteen years, 610 children were received in the institution, of which number 535 were provided with homes or returned to relatives; 9 died, and 66 still remain in the Asylum. During the same space of time, 205 aged people and sick patients were received; of this number 167 were discharged, 15 died, and 23 remain to be provided for.

The first house occupied by the Sisters and their orphans, on the corner of Bridge and Washington sts., was the gift of the late Thomas Looby, of Salem. The site on which the present building now stands, with the dwelling thereon, were purchased in July, 1871, at a cost of $20,000, from George Peabody Russell, who very generously gave $1,000 to the institution. The inmates were removed about the same time to the dwelling on Lafayette Street, and in December of the same year the old Asylum was sold for the sum of $5,000. In the spring of 1873, the contract for the new building was given, and the dedication took place October 20th, 1875. The ceremony was performed by his Grace Archbishop Williams, assisted by the clergy of Salem and the surrounding parishes.

As has been stated, the number of children in the Asylum at the present time is 66; 30 boys and 36 girls, varying in age from 7 months to 14 years. 28 pay from $1.00 to $1.50 per week, 38 gratis. The boys are kept until the age of 12 years, and the girls until they are old enough to earn their own living. When we find good homes and are free to place children we settle them at all ages. Notwithstanding that a heavy debt still remains on the institution, the Sisters feel confident that through the generosity of the public it will be speedily lessened, and in a few years entirely discharged. Within the past two years $5,000 has been paid by means of collections in the different parishes. It is earnestly hoped that the remainder of the debt will be paid as early as possible.

A New York girl stuffed the sleeve of an old coat with straw and placed it around her waist as she sat in the bay-window wrapped in the soft June twilight. It looked all right and natural from a distance, and broke the neighbors' girls up with envy, but the satisfaction she derived from the hug was about as thin as strained moonshine.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

— AT —

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.

jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,
also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER.

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:
Second Door West of Hay Scales.

apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets.

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.

feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.

my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. | Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.

je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES.

nov 24 218 and 222 Derby Street.

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH.)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.

WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

— AT —

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES,

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.

Opposite St. Peter St.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,
U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
apl13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

NADOR & GOODWIN,

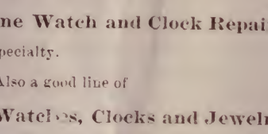
Wholesale and Retail Dealers in

PURE SOFT CANDIES!

We make a specialty of

ANGEL CAKE & FIG CANDY

Our 25 cent candies are not surpassed in this county.



Also a full line of House Plants.

Parties furnished with Ice Cream

NADOR & GOODWIN.

239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

mch 23—3m

KEROSENE LAMPS. | Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps, Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. | Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

— FOR —

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

— AT —

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

— AT THE —

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see hisassortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.

He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.
Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.
Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

EBEN S. HOWARD,

DEALER IN

Choice Family

GROCERIES,

FLOUR, GRAIN, &c.,

COR. MAIN and CALLER STS.,

PEABODY, MASS.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line or

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.
The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,

Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

— AND —

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, examine, etc.

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

CENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

"IT'S ONLY A COLD" has sent thousands to premature graves. A cold stops up the avenues of the system, and disease must result. Neglected, most violent remedies must be used to remove the obstruction. Taken timely, a few doses of

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

will carry off naturally the cause of the suffering, and save days, months, or even years of suffering.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT.

COMER'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

is the oldest institution of its class in America. It still continues to give superior instruction in all the Commercial Branches. Over Two Hundred of its graduates were assisted to suitable Employment last year, which vouches for its high standing with business men. Send for the latest catalogue. 666 Washington street, corner of Beach St., Boston, Mass.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of

J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfitfree. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.

jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

"Get the Best."

THE COMFORT CORSET

Is the Best.

We have all grades of Corsets from 31 cents up.

WE GIVE

A Set of Nice Cards with every pair.

JOHN P. PEABODY.

Sea Shore Shade Hats, Misses' Hats,

Lace Fichus,

Spanish Fichus,

Mull Ties,

Black Fichus,

White Fichus.

Antique Laces with Insertions to match.

BLACK FRENCH LACES,
NICE PEARL BUTTONS, 10 cts.

Vegetable Ivory Buttons—for Calico—4 cents—card, 8 dozen for 10 cents.

A GOOD SERGE SUN SHADE,
58 Cents.

RUBBER DRESSING COMBS, 10 cents.

INITIAL LETTERS for marking Linen, 10 cents per dozen.

RUBBER DOLLS, 18 cents.
RUBBER RATTLES, 10 cents.

RICK-RACK BRAID.

A handsome Ebony Cabinet Frame, with Easel, for 68 cts., worth $1.25.

N. B.

A nice Serge Sun Umbrella that we have sold this season for $1.50, marked down to $1.00 in order to close them out. Buy now for next season—it will pay.

$1.00 Straw Bonnets down to 25 cts.

Nice Brocade Ribbons from 29 cts. to 12 c.

Fayal Hats, 39 cts.

TORCHON LACES,

SWISS EMBROIDERIES,

SILK HDKFS., 25 cts.

Toilet Soaps,

Brushes, Powders,

Lily White, Cocoaine,

Castorine,

Cosmetique, Sozodont,

Calder's Tooth Powder,

&c., &c., &c.

Rubber Sheeting, Oiled Silks, &c.

Closing-Out Prices.

Bargains are always to be found on our counters at this season of the year, for we mark down until all is closed out; for we must have the room for our fall and winter stock.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 10, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.

Child Labor.

The Marblehead Statesman had an article in a recent issue on the above subject, which we heartily endorse, as far as the labor of children, and especially young girls, is concerned. But we think our brother takes a step backward when he institutes the same comparison, towards labor, with women. Female labor is becoming in this part of the country and exceptionally in Massachusetts, an important element. To say that the places now open to their labor, and which they have striven many years to obtain, should be closed to them, and that only men should be employed in their places, would be to produce a complication which even the most brilliant of the labor reformers could not solve. It should be remembered that in our large cities, and in Massachusetts this is especially the case, it is impossible that woman should be "queen of the home;" the superabundance of the female population, by the statistics, is enormously large; unless some provision is open for their labor they would starve. So large is the proportion in their favor that it has been urged with good effect, that their labor should be employed in cases where male labor could be had, in preference; and for the reason that fewer avenues are open to them, and male labor should be employed where, from the nature of the case, female labor can never enter. We saw it recently stated that a woman, the daughter of a wealthy merchant in New York, had opened and successfully operated a summer resort on the Hudson river, and the Springfield Republican pertinently remarks that "the time is coming, and is nearer here than many people imagine, when a woman at twenty-five will feel it as much a disgrace to be out of employment as a man of the same age."

With regard to the employment of children, it is to be regretted that it is becoming so general in this country; so much so that it has been found necessary to establish a society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, one of the effects of which has been the passage of a law forbidding the employment of the youth of our country, under of a certain age, beyond a certain number of months in the year. This has a good effect as far as it goes. But it does not go far enough. The hope, success and prosperity of our country depends upon the education of its children. In this the State has taken an active part, and the sentiment of the community should uphold her. But in our large cities, and elsewhere, it is becoming common to employ girls in mills and shops, and even in stores, where the employment of boys of the same age would be less objectionable. It is bad enough to see boys from eight to twelve years taking places that should be filled by their superiors. But it is much worse to see young girls of this age in these places. We have seen them employed as cash girls in large Dry Goods stores, being obliged to work harder than the saleswomen behind the counter, from 7.30 in the morning until 6.30 at night, with only a half hour allowed them for dinner, at the extravagant compensation of $1.50 per week. We sometimes doubt if the men or corporations who can pay such prices have souls. Here is surely an opportunity for our philanthropists and legislators. We would be in favor of a law that should prevent the employment under any circumstances of girls under a certain age; the restrictions need not be so severe regarding boys. They are physically stronger, and under proper instructions, can be of great service to themselves in future years by performing certain light tasks and being taught the value of labor. We quote a few sentences from the article referred to, in the Statesman, and commend the subject to the consideration of those whose voice or influence can be lent to the reformation of this branch of the question of labor:

If, indeed, no higher consideration should influence the men employed, that of selfishness should be sufficiently powerful. Every child employed takes the place of a man. If the child was not employed, the man would be, necessarily. The child can be hired more cheaply. The man must, therefore, work at the wages paid to the child or surrender entirely that branch of the trade where child labor is employed. The man who, under the pressure of poverty, places his child in a factory at an age when he should be at play or in school obtains a merely temporary relief. He must do one of two things—take the child out or raise more children to put in with the first.

When a man offers to do work cheaper than anyone else can do it, and claims that he has all the work he can do, and yet cannot pay his bills, it is safe to say that he makes a mistake in his calculations somewhere.—Woburn Advertiser.

THIS is the time when the population of our large cities and towns is depleted by the excursionists to the sea-shore and mountains. Vacations are now getting to be fashionable. It is no longer considered respectable or proper, among the devotees of fashion, to remain at home during the heated term. Fashion is a blind goddess, and when followed too closely, unfortunate results often follow. Still we believe in vacations—and this time of year from custom and inclination has become the recognized season for enjoying it.—From the merchant to his clerk, from the clergyman to the office boy—all must join in this annual hegira to the sea-shore or some other resort. The difficulty is that custom in this respect leads a man often beyond his means. The fashionable hotels charge high rates for board—being patronized only in summer, they are compelled to—and many people are attracted to these places, when it would be better to select some more quiet and home-like resort, where there would be more rest, and less expense. The continual round of activity at these large places, forbids seclusion to any great extent, and the merchant often returns to his counting room as weary as when he left it.—While to many of our travellers the expense of these fashionable hotels leads to no pecuniary disadvantage, we question whether in many cases the seclusion and quiet obtainable at many of the less pretentious resorts would not be of infinitely greater value. It would also serve to encourage a like attempt on the part of those to whose finances the smaller and quieter hotels would be preferable, but who feel impelled by the force of fashion to patronize the more luxurious and extravagant resorts.

Vacations, as such, all persons must take, in some manner, if they regard their own health or that of their families. We claim that no man or woman can afford to withhold from themselves the benefit which a few weeks of change and rest will bring. Regarding the method of so enjoying it, large hotel bills and railroad fares are not necessary. But we should all have ambition so to regulate our business or our labor as to bring to ourselves and our families this needed recreation.

WE have noticed that it is customary on the Old Colony and many other of the roads leading out of Boston, for the brakemen to announce on leaving a station the name of the next station at which the train would stop. This gives passengers who are not familiar with the stops made by the train an opportunity to be ready to leave the cars as soon as the train is brought to a stop, and as we all know, in many of the accommodation trains, this is a great advantage. We should like to see it adopted on the Eastern R. R. Those of us who are accustomed to ride to and from Boston daily need no reminder; and we would judge from the actions of some of the brakemen and conductors that they thought that all passengers were thus familiar. We have seen but recently instances of this, where several ladies would have been carried by the city of Lynn, had they not enquired of the other passengers in the car. There are certain trains in the day that are composed mostly of season passengers, and when a stranger gets on board one of these trains, he is very liable, if not somewhat acquainted, to be carried past his destination. It is the local travel and not the season passengers, that bring the most profit to these corporations, and it would surely be to their advantage if the custom of the Old Colony R. R. were adopted on the roads this side of Boston.

WE have placed over the door of our office a large and finely painted sign, which has attracted considerable attention and favorable comment. The center contains a beautiful painted likeness of George Peabody, and all who observe it need not to be told that it is almost perfect. Surrounding it are the words "Peabody Press Publishing Office." We have no hesitation in saying that it is by far the best executed piece of sign painting in this town or vicinity. It was done by C. C. Redmond, of Salem, and reflects great credit on his artistic ability in this direction.

The present gives us an opportunity of reminding our readers that this office has unusual facilities for newspaper, book and job printing. All our presses are run by steam power; we have recently added a full line of modern type, and we can say without egotism that we have one of the finest appointed offices in the county. MR. ALBERT VITTUM, its manager, is one of the best job printers in the state, and we guarantee to do our work at as low prices and in a better manner than any other office in this vicinity. Our friends are cordially invited to call and examine samples of our work, and compare our prices.

OUR neighbor appears very much troubled at our intimation, in last week's issue, that to Mr. Ward belonged the credit of the noon mail from Boston, and he indulges in a torrent of abuse and personalities which no respectable sheet would allow to appear in its columns. His forced metaphors about fountains, streams, wasps, and the like, only amuse us, and furnish him with innocent pastime. We stated only what we believe to be the truth; that we have just as much right to claim the credit of what our Postmaster has done in the matter of the noon mail, as our neighbor, and if he had not indulged in such extravagant expressions of successful advocacy, we should have let it pass. We can not reply to the spirit of our neighbor's article without referring to personal matters. Should we be compelled to do so, we shall beg the indulgence of our readers while we ventilate what may be for the good of the community, though it should reflect seriously on our neighbor.

THE WAR of rates on the Western railroads still continues, and we learn that the Grand Trunk railroad has commenced selling tickets from Chicago eastward for $5.00. Surely there never has been a fitter time for persons of moderate income to visit the great commercial city of the West. Most, if not all of the roads, are selling rebate tickets. That is, $15.00 is charged for the ticket and a rebate of $10 is allowed the passenger on reaching his destination. It is also necessary that the purchaser should sign a receipt for it at the end of the route. This is to prevent the tickets falling into the hands of scalpers.—Some of the roads have reduced the rates of freight materially to and from different parts of the West, and the effect has been that the railroads have secured large quantities of freight which is usually sent on the canals, so that the railroads do no lose by it. We trust a valuable lesson will be learned by the corporations in this war. There is no reason why double the amount of traffic should not be done, and the rates for passengers and freight be materially and permanently reduced.

JUDGE COLT, one of the justices of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, died by his own hand Tuesday evening, Aug. 9th, at Pittsfield, Mass. He has a room connected with the Berkshire Savings Bank, and it was there that he was found dead, having shot himself with a Smith & Wesson revolver belonging to the bank. Judge Colt was born in Pittsfield, Oct. 8, 1816, graduated at Williams College, in 1834, was a teacher in Natchez, Miss., and a law student in that State in the office of United States Dist.-Atty. Gaines. He returned to Pittsfield in 1840, and studied with Judge Rockwell and at Cambridge law school, was admitted to the Berkshire bar in 1842, and became partner with Judge Rockwell, remaining in this connection until 1858, when he and his partner were appointed to the superior bench. He was appointed to the Supreme bench in 1865. For the past few months his health has been failing, and his suicide is not a surprise to those who best know him. He returned from Nantucket, after a short trip in the hopes of regaining strength, last week. He leaves a widow and five children.

THE LATEST reports from the President, as signed by the physicians, are somewhat encouraging after the operation performed by Dr. Agnew on Monday. It is becoming more and more evident that it is to Drs. Agnew and Hamilton that we must look for the relief and permanent cure of Gen. Garfield. Dr. Hamilton gives it as his opinion that the course of the ball was not as has been stated by Dr. Bliss, and supposed to be located satisfactorily by Dr. Bell's electrical apparatus. In fact, these experiments were found, after the examination of Monday, to have been of no value. It is very evident that there have been serious mistakes in the treatment of the President in the earlier stages, and it is fortunate that the firmness of Mrs. Garfield and family have succeeded in putting Drs. Agnew and Hamilton for the present in charge. The worst symptom is the constant rise of the pulse and temperature, coupled with fever, each evening. He can make no permanent improvement till this subsides.

COLLECTOR ROBERTSON assumed official control of the New York Custom House last week. It is stated that he will make no removals at present, but allow the business to proceed under the well regulated system of the late Collector, which has been so satisfactory to the people of that port. Considering the fact that his office has been the bone of contention between the two wings of the party in that state, he will naturally feel some delicacy in making any important changes. We hope he will prove to be as good a Collector as his predecessor.

IT IS REPORTED

That Gen. Butler will run for Governor this fall.

That he has his eye on several country papers in this vicinity for the furtherance of his object.

That some of them need his aid.

That the base of the Soldier's Monument continues to be the resort of those who were born tired.

That the number seems to be on the increase.

That Vennor has made a failure of his weather predictions so far this month.

That his cool days have been the hottest of the season.

That there is nothing like an alarm of fire in "Dublin" to draw out the younger portion of the population.

That there were probably 300 between the ages of 5 and 12 at the fire on Saturday night.

That this is only a drop in the bucket compared with what they could show.

That a railroad locomotive water tank will be built near the town scales.

That it is only waiting for high service.

That our neighbor thinks we are jealous.

That anyone who could be jealous of such a sheet would be a fit subject for Danvers or Somerville.

That it is characteristic of small minds to imagine everyone jealous of them.

That it is now lawful to kill deer and other game in the Adirondacks.

That several gentlemen from this vicinity will soon visit them and enjoy this liberty of hunting and fishing.

That houses and stores are scarce in this town.

That it speaks well for our business prosperity.

That a fine brick block, on the site of Symonds' grocery, would be an addition to the square, and would be readily taken.

That a Catholic priest in Springfield has ordered his congregation to "boycott" the Republican of that city.

That it said the policy of the Catholic church, in relation to its people, was antagonistic to the principles of the republic.

That the contract for building the pumping station has been awarded.

That it has caused discussion and unfavorable remarks in some quarters.

That the addition of a new coat of paint to Upton's building on the Square is a great improvement.

That we should like to see more of them in this vicinity.

That the time for hay fever is close at hand.

That we know of no better place to avoid it than an excursion to some of the places on the line of the Boston Concord & Montreal R. R. advertised in these columns.

That violations of the Sunday law are becoming too frequent in town.

That card playing in public places is a nuisance that should be stopped.

That the police should make a few examples.

That Prof. Bell is inventing an improvement on his electric apparatus.

That a correspondent suggests that it be applied to boarding-house fish-balls and hash.

That the Pond divorce case has assumed a new phase.

That it is the fair Isabel, this time, who sues for divorce.

That she hasn't consulted Henry Ward Beecher.

That our neighbor says we have misrepresented his business affairs.

That we must, at some time, unconsciously have spoken of the sheet of our neighbor as a newspaper.

That he will please accept our apology.

WE HAVE been handed a little book, being a review of the opinions of the Judges of the Supreme Court in Maine, in reply to questions by Gov. Garcelon, and others. The articles were originally published in the Boston Globe, and display great ability and thorough knowledge of the questions discussed. We understand the work is the production of Hon. William D. Northend, of Salem.

A CHILD'S QUESTION.—We have never seen a finer bit of sarcasm than the following:—A little Shelbyville boy, who is in the habit of saying his prayers before going to bed, the other night asked his mother: "Mamma, how long will it be before I'm big enough to leave off saying my prayers? You never say yours, do you?" And the mother said: "Little boys shouldn't ask so many questions. Go to sleep, child."

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'. —Adv.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

New Advertisements.

HORSE FOR SALE.

A LARGE, BAY, FAMILY HORSE,

With black points, very stylish, good age, all seasoned, and will work well in any place.
Can be seen and driven at
DANIEL PROCTOR FARM,
Near Proctor's Crossing,
Peabody.

aug 10—3w

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots,

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET. - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers.

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

WHITE MOUNTAIN

EXCURSIONS,

VIA THE

Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,

WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.

GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my carrying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.

aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.

aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK, aug 3 30 Holten street.

FRESH ARRIVAL.

Shortly before the rise in BLACK WALNUT, WE ORDERED 200 BLACK WALNUT CHAMBER SETS, which have now arrived, and have been placed in our storehouse. Being too late for our Spring Trade, we propose to offer them at the low price of $45,

Either for cash or by our system of

INSTALMENTS.

These sets COMPRISE TEN PIECES. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c.; are handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the marble is the BEST ITALIAN, and the Walnut is warranted Kiln Dried. The regular Prices for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55. That small incomes may be no bar to obtaining one of these beautiful and useful articles of Furniture, we propose to give purchasers

EIGHT MONTHS

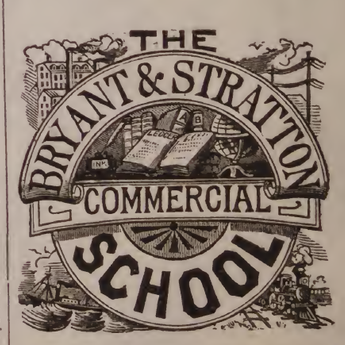
In which to pay for them on instalments. In face of the fact that WALNUT is RAPIDLY ADVANCING, we advise everybody in want of a Walnut Set, whether for present or future use, to purchase one of these sets, as the opportunity for so great a bargain may never occur again. Catalogue of household goods and terms furnished to parties living anywhere in New England. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

Attention is called to our stock of the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE Improved Wire-Gauze, Non-Explosive

OIL STOVE,

Which we offer for $4. They are the only Stoves sold that are PRONOUNCED ABSOLUTELY SAFE by the Insurance Commissioners. Be sure and see them in full operation at our establishment. Price List and terms on Instalments furnished on application.

The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on Instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.



W. H. HERVEY & CO.,

5--UNION STREET--5

Opposite Friend St. Boston.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.

apr 6—6 m

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free.

aug 3—6 w

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

There is promise of a big chestnut crop.

This charming (?) weather still continues.

Ninety-eight in the shade was about the size of it last Friday.

Mr. B. F. Hutchinson lost a horse by death last Thursday.

Mr. Power's new shoe store makes a pleasing and attractive appearance.

Mr. Hardy has add another patent tan presser at his yard on Walnut street.

Mr. John H. Derby conducted the religious services at the Alms House, Sunday.

An "old bach" wishes to know whether a girl makes more noise with a bang or a bustle.

Miss Fannie W. Osborn has been admitted as a pupil of the Peabody High School.

Mrs. H. M. Wells of Salem, will lecture on Spiritualism in Ashland Hall next Sunday evening.

D. J. Gorman, of this town, won the running match at the Orphans' picnic, yesterday.

Some impecunious individual has been heartless enough to call them "summer squanderers."

The old friends and patrons of Mr. Eben S. Howard will find him with W. O. Batchelder.

A ventilator has lately been placed in St. John's Church. Folsom and Trask did the work.

Mr. D. B. Lord is putting in a large supply pipe for Richardson, Doyle & Co., on Walnut street.

Mr. Frank A. Wendell of Salem, will do the plumbing at Mr. W. P. Clark's new house on Main street.

We learn that the St. John's C. T. A. Society are out about forty dollars on their picnic. Sorry.

Green corn sold for fifteen cents a dozen in our streets Saturday. There must have been a mistake.

The early pears are now ripe, but owing to the continued wet weather they are not as sweet as usual.

The American Hibernian Benevolent Association will hold a picnic at Smith's park, Andover, Aug. 25.

A child fell from the rear platform of the half past three train yesterday, but was not seriously injured.

There will be a temperance prayer meeting in the Baptist vestry, on next Sabbath evening, at 7.30 o'clock.

Mr. David T. Winter has secured space to exhibit his improved measuring machine at both fairs in Boston this fall.

The police made a raid on "Steve" Cragin's liquor saloon last Wednesday afternoon and seized a quantity of the ardent.

Mr. Martin Brophy has converted the front room of his dwelling house. on Mason street into a retail grocery store.

Mr. Henry C. Wilson has opened a veterinary stable on Central street. Disease of the hoof and teeth are made specialties.

Judging from the musical sound that occasionally greets us, we should think some of our bark mills were running overtime.

The executive committee of the county G. A. R. Posts have decided to hold their annual picnic at Balch's grove, the same as last year.

At the semi-annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of this state, last week, it was shown that there were 25,559 active members.

Workmen are building a drain from the new residence of Mr. Geo. A. Whitney across Central street to the culvert on the east side of the street.

Rev. Loven F. Berry of Plantsville, Conn., will preach Aug. 14, in the Cong. Church. Evening preaching service at 7.30 throughout the month.

The medal and diploma awarded Dole & Osgood, a description of which will be found in another column, is on exhibition at Winslow's clothing store.

It is queried whether mosquito bars should be allowed in the windows of liquor saloons. The supposition is that each saloon is licensed for one bar only.

The Star base ball club of this town, played the Resolutes of Swampscott, on the "Star" ground last Saturday, and resulted in a victory for the Stars. Score 6 to 5.

Mr. James N. Estes has a hen's egg measuring 8 3-4 by 6 3-4. The hen is mixed Brahma and White Leghorn breed, and has laid quite a number of the same size.

A young child named Curry belonging in Boston and visiting at the house of William Pinder, strayed away Monday, but after several hours search, was found and returned.

The first appointment of Mr. J. E. Mahoney, cadet midshipman, is to China. This is one of the best chances the navy affords, and most of the graduates asked for the berth.

The wooden bridge over the E. R. R. track just this side of "high bridge" was discovered to be on fire on Thursday night but was put out with buckets. No alarm was given.

The alarm of fire last Saturday night, about eight o'clock, was caused by the burning of a chimney in one of Mr. Isaac Hardy's tenement houses at the foot of Webster street.

The Celtic Literary Society dropped several passengers here Thursday night on the return from their picnic about half past nine. A large crowd was at the depot waiting for the train.

We extend thanks to the First Mass. Heavy Artillery Association for complimentary ticket to their 13th Annual Reunion, to be held at Oak Island Grove, Revere, to-morrow (Thursday).

The St. John's Sunday School Society will hold their annual picnic at Centennial Grove to-morrow (Thursday). A good time is expected. Our thanks are extended for complimentary tickets.

We certainly like the idea advanced of the Newburyport Garfield and Arthur and Hancock and English clubs of that city uniting in a grand jollification in the event of the recovery of the President.

The old Ashland Hall is being re-furnished, cleaned, painted and otherwise improved and beautified by the Spiritualists, who intend to keep up the organization and hold meetings regularly.

A large number of rattlesnakes have been killed in the vicinity of Lynnfield, and it is said that quite a number have been seen in the rear of the Bryant's residence on Lynnfield street, So. Peabody.

There was a severe fight between several Salem and Peabody roughs near Union street, on Sunday, in which several of them were frightfully injured, one of them having his hand badly chewed up.

Mr. Stephen Fernald will build a cottage house of nine rooms on Tremont street, next to the house of Mr. William Pickering. Messrs. Lord & Neal of Salem, have taken the contract for the entire work.

A missionary concert was held at the Baptist Vestry, last Sunday evening.—The exercises were similar to other Sabbath School concerts, except the subject is "giving," and passages of Scripture relating to that subject were recited.

Invitations have been sent to hand-engine companies to attend a firemen's muster at either Mystic or Beacon parks. We learn that parties in town are interested, and that if fifteen machines decide to attend the muster will be held.

Mr. Frank Wilson of this town, a member of the Forest River Boat Club of Salem won the first money, $10, in the single scull working boat at the picnic of the Celtic Literary Society at Riverside Park, South Lawrence, on Thursday.

The fire department was called out to attend a fire about 12 o'clock Sunday night, on High street. The fire was in an old building belonging to Mr. W. H. Brown and had formerly been occupied as a dwelling. The origin was incendiary.

Mr. Nathan Lakeman, of this town, while at the fireworks at the Willows last Friday evening, was struck by that bomb that escaped. It struck him in the shoulder, making a bad bruise about six inches square, and in one place breaking the skin.

The horse cars carried 7,375 passengers to the Willows on Friday, and, with the patrons who came by barges and in private conveyances, the number present on the grounds could not have fallen far short of 10,000.

A rare sight may be seen at the store of S. C. Hewitt & Co., where there are twelve native peaches raised in the open air by G. D. Walton, of Peabody. This is rather a remarkable fact, as Southern peaches have not made their appearance in town as yet.

Four carrier pigeons owned by Woodward A. Webber, at West Lynn, were taken to Peabody by C. O. Stone, on his return trip on Tuesday, Aug 3. They were let loose at 8.20 A.M., and arrived at their coop in West Lynn at 8.27, making the passage in seven minutes.

Some roughs broke into the shop owned by Mr. Stephen Blaney, on Crowninshield street, last week, and did considerable damage. Mr. Blaney had only recently put in new lights, and made other repairs on the estate. He offers a reward for their detection, and also for any such depredations in the future.

There are in town at the present time a large number of rough looking men, attracted here probably by hopes of obtaining work on our water works. They are seen in gangs and often in an intoxicated condition. We do not think it safe for our lady readers to be upon the back streets after dark without an escort.

Our Cadet Midshipman, Mr. Jas. E. Mahoney, leaves Peabody Saturday for New York, and from there he will go first to Panama and then to San Francisco, where he embarks on the flag-ship, "Richmond," and proceeds to China. He will remain there two years, cruising along the coasts of China and Japan and as far south as Australia.

We saw on one of our principal streets the other evening, some—we were going to say young ladies—step up to several door bells, pull them and run. This, of course, was done for a lark, but at the same time, they would not like to have their parents know of it. Don't do it again, girls, and we won't give you away.

A boy named Hanson fell from a tree near Proctor's Crossing Thursday and snapped a tendon connecting one of the principal muscles with the forearm, which is about as bad as having a bone broken. He will probably not attempt to steal green apples again this season as it will be some weeks before he can use his arm to advantage.

A young man who had just returned from the Cadet Camp last Friday night, and was filled pretty full of patriotism and poor liquor—principally the latter—mounted the base of the Soldiers' Monument and exclaimed:

Noble Republic! happiest of lands,
Foremost of nations, Columbia stands,
Freedom's proud banner floats in the skies,
Where shouts of Liberty daily arise.
"United we stand, divided we fall."
Union forever—freedom to all.

Last Saturday morning, as a horse attached to a milk wagon belonging to Mr. N. M. Quint was left in charge of a young lad named Johnny Brewer, a nephew of Mr. Quint, the reins got under the horse's tail, causing him to run away. He soon collided with an iron hitching post in front of Mr. W. C. Munroe's, breaking it off, and also striking an elm tree, taking off a portion of the bark and upsetting wagon. About 16 cans of milk were spilt, and the Brewer boy was found to be considerably frightened, and was removed to the residence of Mr. Elbridge Rust near by, where the lady of the house did all in her power to allay his fear and make him comfortable. He was conveyed to his home and a physician sent for and a slight fracture was found on his head, but which we are pleased to learn will not result seriously.

A meeting of the New England Cracker manufacturers was held at the office of Messrs. Thurston, Hall & Co., Boston, yesterday, the business being chiefly the propriety of advancing the prices of crackers. Mr. Hall, of T. H. & Co., was chosen chairman and F. A. Bragdon of Peabody, secretary, after which questions pertaining to the object of the meeting were advanced and discussed. A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Stone of Salem, Whiting of Charlestown, Bragdon of Peabody, Blake of Portland, and Carr of Springfield, were chosen to determine upon the future price of crackers, their report being unanimously adopted, the same to take effect Monday, the 15th of Aug. A printed price list will be immediately forwarded to all manufacturers. An arbitration committee of three were chosen to adjust all difficulties or misunderstandings that may arise in the future, after which the meeting was adjourned.

About four hundred people went to Smith's grove, Wednesday, to attend the picnic of the St. John's C. T. A. Society, of this town. The weather was all that could be desired, in spite of the inclement way in which it set in. The sports were the principal features of the day. The four-oared working boat race was won by the Forest River, of Salem, taking the first prize, $25; the Enterprise boat club, of the same place, took the second prize, $15; and the North Ends, also of Salem, came in third, and got third money, $10. In the amateur single scull, the first prize, a gold medal, was won by T. Lomasney, of Salem, and the second, a silver cup, by B. T. Harrington, of Salem. In this race Dodd fouled Harrington, and the two rowed over the course again, Harrington again leading. In the five-mile walk Driscoll of Lynn, won the first money, $15; and Hayden of Lynn, the second, $10. Hourihan won first prize, $8, in the 3-mile run, and McNulty second, $5. The first prize ($5) in the 150-yard dash was taken by McGuire of Lowell, and second ($3) by Latham of Lynn. The party returned at about 8.30.

A sad case of suicide occurred in this town last week. The particulars of the case are as follows: Mr. Jacob C. Rogers, while in England recently, engaged the services of a man named John Kerridge, who had been in the employ of a friend of Mr. R's for the past eight years. The man arrived in this country on Monday of last week. In the meantime the position he desired had been taken by another man, and he was offered a situation with the Somerset Club of Boston, which he did not accept, and finally he was given the job here, and the other man was sent to Boston. Mr. R. noticed that Kerridge did not take the interest in his work that was desired, and he spoke to him about it. The Englishman said he didn't feel well; that it was probably the weather. On Thursday morning Mr. R. heard some one at an early hour walking in the hall past his door, and supposing it to be a relative, thought no more about it, until, upon inquiry, it was found that none of the family were up at the time, and that the Englishman had disappeared. This seemed strange when all the doors and windows were apparently secured.—Our police were telephoned for, and upon investigation a rear window was found open and the prints of a man's feet in the earth outside. The police immediately notified by postals the police of other places to look out for the wanderer, and Mr. R. had some posters issued, but nothing was heard from the man till his dead body was found in a brook in the rear of Lowell Railroad by one of the farm hands, who had gone there to bathe. It was found that the man had cut his throat with a razor, then folded up and replaced it in his pocket, and then laid down to die. Medical Examiner Osborne viewed the remains and decided an inquest unnecessary. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Osborne. The only cause that can possibly be assigned to the rash act was that of insanity. In a recent interview with a friend who came over with him, he says that the man acted strangely on the passage, and it is supposed that the thoughts of leaving home, and the excitement attending it, worked upon his brain, causing temporary insanity. He was about 40 years of age.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

HAMILTON

CAMP MEETING!

The annual Camp-Meeting at

ASBURY GROVE, HAMILTON, MASS.,

Will commence on

MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1881

and close on SATURDAY, the 20th.

The first service will be held at 2 P. M., Monday. Rev. Dr. Crowell will have charge of the meeting.

The Association will have charge of the Boarding arrangements as usual, and hope to make it entirely satisfactory to all. Board for 5 days $4.50, or $1.00 per day.

Address all mail matter to "Asbury Grove, Mass."

The Store and Post Office are now open. Meat, Fish, Vegetables and Milk are furnished to residents daily, and the bakery is open.

Barges at Wenham depot at every train. Buy "Camp Meeting" tickets and get them exchanged at Post Office, before leaving the grounds. Persons wishing to rent cottages may address GEORGE C. RANKINS, Asbury Grove, Mass. For the Association, aug 3 JAS. P. MAGEE, Treas.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of RICHARD LORING, late of Peabody, in said county, carpenter, deceased:

Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George E. Luscombe, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to him, the executor therein named having declined to accept said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have against the same.

And said George E. Luscombe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

a3—3t J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

SALEM GAS LIGHT CO.

A DIVIDEND of Three Dollars per share will be payable at the office of the Treasurer, on WEDNESDAY, July 27, to stockholders of record July 23, 1879.

DAVID MOORE, Treasurer.

Salem, July 23, 1881. jy 27—3w

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

HAY.—One car load extra quality No. 1 Bangor Hay. For sale low from car, by CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

WE ANNOUNCE

To the business men of Peabody and Salem, a large and complete stock of

Tanners', Curriers', Morocco and Sheep Skin Manufacturers'

SUPPLIES:

COBB LIME,

(By cask or car load.)

SICILY & AMERICAN SUMAC,

Logwood of all qualities.

COCHINEAL,

Pure Cider Vinegar,

Turks Island, Cadiz & Liverpool SALT,

ALUM, COPPERAS, WHITING,

EMERY,

Pearlash, Gum Arabic,

BI-CHROMATE, BLUE VITRIOL,

Neat's-Foot, Lard, Lubricating, Sperm, Paraffine & Currier's

OILS.

The above quoted articles (and many more) we are buying direct from the Manufacturers; therefore we guarantee to all everything at the

LOWEST QUOTED MARKET VALUE.

Thanking our citizens for their present liberal patronage, we hope by untiring energy, strict business principles, and prompt delivery of orders, to merit a still larger share of patronage.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

FINE STATIONERY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,

— AT —

SWAIN'S,

220 Essex St., Salem.

jy 27

VENNOR'S PREDICTIONS!

For this Month's Weather, prepared expressly for

STODDART'S REVIEW.

Sample copy mailed for 3c stamp.

J. M. STODDARDT, Pub., New York, Phila., or Chicago. jy 20—3t

WANTED

A few Boarders. Mrs. M. A. DOW No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

CARPET VARNISH.

Furniture Varnish and Carriage Varnishes, of the best quality, at

S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',

apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW.

UNDERWEAR

At prices which throw all previous offerings into the shade, will be the Feature of next week, commencing MONDAY, AUG. 15, at ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER'S, on the second floor of their store. Having just completed the purchase of an entire New York Manufacturer's stock of COTTON UNDERWEAR, we are determined to offer such Goods at such prices that Ladies will feel compelled, in justice to themselves and their pocket books, to come and look at them. This is all we ask. The Centre Counter on second floor will be filled with an assortment of Ladies' Night Dresses, Chemises, Drawers and Corset Covers in sufficient variety to stock an ordinary store, all of which will be offered at one uniform price. We shall also occupy for this Sale enough additional room to make two other immense showings, each lot at a uniform price; in fact the entire Stock will be divided into 3 lots and sold at 3 prices. There is not a single piece in the entire lot that could be duplicated for double the money; there are very few pieces that could be bought for three times the prices at which we shall offer them; in short, we mean to make this the Underwear Sale of the year, and no mistake about it. The goods are first class; the stock is very large; the prices which we shall put upon the goods will be ridiculously low; and any lady who fails to secure an outfit for a year for one-third its usual cost, will have only herself to thank for it. The Sale will commence each day at 10 o'clock A. M., for one week, commencing Monday, August 15.

We announce this extraordinary sale of Ladies' Cotton Underwear one week in advance, in order that all our customers out of town, at the beach, or elsewhere, may have an equal opportunity with those living in the city.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM, MASS.

☞ Orders sent by mail, and left at our discretion, will be filled with fidelity and despatch.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale.

— OF —

MEN'S, YOUTHS',

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

Fine and Medium

Clothing,

BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

We shall offer for the next Thirty Days

BARGAINS IN MEN'S CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN BOYS' CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN YOUTHS' CLOTHING!

ALSO IN CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Opposite the Essex House.

Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.

jy 20—3m

Anecdotes.

Love's Follies.

When lulled in passion's dream my senses slept,
How did I act? e'en as a wayward child;
I smiled with pleasure when I should have wept,
And wept with sorrow when I should have smiled.

When Gracia, beautiful, but faithless fair,
Who long in passion's bonds my heart had kept,
First with false blushes pitied my despair,
I smiled with pleasure! Should I not have wept?

And when, to gratify some wealthier wight,
She left to grief the heart she had beguiled,
The heart grew sick, and saddening at the sight,
I wept with sorrow! Should I not have smiled?

The Story of a Screen.

The level beams of the mellow May sunset were revealing every flaw and crack in the cheap papering which covered the walls of the little garret-room where Mabel Moore sat busily at her sewing-machine, and a single pot of blue velvet pansies in the high, narrow window made a spot of color for poor Mrs. Moore's weary eyes to rest upon, as she toiled at the floss-silk embroidery which was her whole occupation.

The room was small and scantily furnished, but there was within its walls one relic of evanished days—a black satin screen, mounted on a standard of gilded bamboo, and painted in deep rich colors, with a scarlet flamingo floating upward against a background of reeds and grasses, while in the distance flamed a stormy sunset sky.

"Mamma did it herself, when she was a girl at boarding-school," said Mabel Moore, to those who sometimes asked the history of this one remaining token of luxury. "We have kept it through everything. I would not part with it for its weight in gold."

And then she would laughingly tell the tale of how half a dozen collectors of antiques and æsthetic furniture had, at different times, endeavored to purchase the old satin screen.

"One man wanted to buy it with a pair of tongs and a brass coal-scuttle," said she; "another one offered a broken set of Thackeray's novels and a fender; and a third bargained with a tete-a-tete set of china, and a broken-nosed alabaster statue of Pysche.

For Mabel was a bright-eyed, sweet-faced girl, who had a very keen sense of the ridiculous, and lived through the hard realities of her life with the quiet fortitude of an inborn heroine.

But after all, the second-hand dealers were nothing in resolution and persistence as compared with Miss Ann Azalea Harper, the daughter of the landlord from whose leaky and badly drained premises they had removed a few weeks previously. Miss Ann Azalea had a very fair idea of bric-a-brac treasures, and she had cast her fine eyes upon this very screen.

"It's worth a deal of money," said Ann Azalea to herself. "And it was only this morning that Aunt Hepsy was wishing for just such an old fashioned screen."

Now Aunt Hepsy was a rich old maid, shrewd, crusty, elderly, and full of distrust of all the smooth-tongued relatives whose professions of love and respect were so extreme.

"A screen?" said Aunt Hepsy. "Yes, I want a screen."

"I'll paint you one, dear aunt," said Ann Azalea.

"Much of a screen you could paint," said the old lady, disdainfully.

"I improved a good deal at boarding-school," said Ann Azalea, meekly. "And I'll stretch it upon an ique bamboo rack, and I really think it will please you."

"I don't," said Aunt Hepsy.

"May I try, dear aunt?"

"Yes," said the old lady, grudgingly; "you may try."

And Ann Azalea, who had already in her mind appropriated poor Mrs. Moore's antique screen, set diligently about the work of getting possession of the same.

"You owe my pa ten dollars for rent," said Ann Azalea, spitefully, as she sat painting for breath in the little garret-room, after having toiled up the three long and narrow flights of stairs. "You can't deny it."

"It is quite true," acknowledged meek Mrs. Moore, who, in her daughter's absence, was absolutely defenceless; "but—"

"You ought to be ashamed to owe so much money as that," said Ann Azalea.

"We have been very unfortunate of late," said Mrs. Moore. "But we fully intend to repay all our indebtedness in full as soon as my daughter—"

"Oh, that's all nonsense," brusquely interrupted Ann Azalea. "Pa ought to have put an execution—that's what he ought to have done."

Poor Mrs. Moore shuddered.

"And it ain't too late now," added the young lady, ignoring the Code and all its provisions.

"Oh, Miss Harper!"

"But we don't want to be exorbitant," graciously went on Ann Azalea. "So, sooner than be the expense of a law-suit, I'll take some trifle or other in pay. That screen, for instance," with her greedy eyes fixed on the pictured flight of the scarlet flamingo. "Ten dollars is a deal of money and the screen is an old-style thing, but I wouldn't mind calling things even, just to ease your conscience, if—"

"I couldn't—oh, I couldn't!" cried poor Mrs. Moore, the tears coming into her eyes. "It was work I did as a girl. My own poor mother sketched in the green rushes and grass with her own pencil, and—if any one is to have it, it is already promised to an old family friend, who is to pay twenty-five dollars for it."

"Very well," said Miss Harper, rising, with an ominous toss of her head. "Then, if you really mean to swindle us—"

"Miss Harper!"

"If you really mean to swindle us," severely repeated Ann Azalea, "I may as well stop at the constable's on my way back and put on the distraint at once."

Mrs. Moore clasped her thin hands in a sort of nervous horror.

If poor Mabel, who had gone out so buoyantly to carry home her little parcel of finished work, should return and find the minions of the law in possession!

"I am a selfish creature," she told herself, "to prefer my own inclinations to dear May's happiness."

And so she told Ann Azalea, with a burst of tears, that the screen should be hers.

"I will send it to you—in the evening," said she, piteously.

"If you'll only wrap a bit of brown paper around it, I'll take it now," suggested Miss Harper, who believed firmly in the ancient adage of the "bird in the hand being worth two in the bush."

And so the scarlet flamnigo was carried away in the triumphant arms of Miss Ann Azalea Harper.

"After all," soliloquized she, "I got it for absolutely nothing. For pa said the old mahogany bookcase he took off them was worth a third more than all the rent they owed; and any one but a fool like that little whimpering Mrs. Moore would have known it perfectly well. And I'm sure it'll suit Aunt Hepsy to a T."

While poor Mrs. Moore, sobbing bitterly before the empty place where her beloved screen had stood, felt as if all the sweet associations of her early youth had been wrenched away.

"Mother—dear mother! why are you crying?" questioned Mabel, hurrying into the room. "Is your neuralgic headache worse? Oh, mother! where is the old screen? I have brought Miss Millman to see you about it. She says she will give you thirty dollars for it, if—"

"I have sold it," said Mrs. Moore, "for ten dollars. To our landlord's daughter. Or rather I have let her take it away in payment for the balance of the rent we owed them."

"She has deceived you, mother!" cried Mabel, coloring up with honest indignation. "We owed her not a single cent. Oh, dear, mother, if I had only been at home."

Miss Millman, a stout, short, grizzle-headed lady, stood still in the centre of the room, looking sharply about her.

"Don't fret, Alice Moore," said she. "Tears never yet did any good. You may depend upon it, this woman's cruel deceit will yet recoil upon her own head. What is your landlord's name?"

"Harper," said Mrs. Moore. "Ebenezer Harper."

"Oh," said Miss Millman.

And then she went away.

"I think she grows more eccentric every day," said Mabel, looking after the retreating figure of the stout lady.

"Rich people have a right to be eccentric if they please," sighed Mrs. Moore, still looking at the empty place where the screen had once stood.

* * * * * * *

"Dear Aunt Hepsy," said Ann Azalea, radiantly, "I've come to wish you many happy returns of your birthday. And here's a little present—the satin screen I promised you."

"Eh?" said Aunt Hepsy.

"My own work," said Ann Azalea. "And I do so hope you will like it."

"Humph!" commented the old lady.

"I've worked day and night to get it finished," said Ann Azalea, fervently.

"Ann Azalea," said the old lady, suddenly becoming inspired with some degree of animation, "where do you expect to go to when you die?"

"Dear aunt," said Ann Azalea, "I don't in the least understand you."

"Because you are telling a perfect tissue of lies, each one more outrageous than the other," said this painfully frank old lady. "The screen isn't your own work at all. The satin was painted by an old school-friend of mine, fifty odd years ago. You cheated her out of it, the day before yesterday, by a regular piece of swindling that would have disgraced a mock auctioneer. And now you may go and carry it back to her—Mrs. Moore, No. 7 Lilac Court—with my compliments. And, Ann Azalea—"

"Yes, aunt," said the dejected young lady.

"You needn't trouble to come back here again. If I adopt an heiress it must be some one who is pure, and good, and truthful—not such a one as you! And I'm rather disposed to think that it shall be Mabel Moore."

And so Miss Ann Azalea Harper's grand scheme resulted in utter failure. The screen was borne ignominiously back, and Mabel Moore is now her aunt's adopted darling. And Papa Harper, instead of tenderly consoling his daughter, says gruffly:

"It's all your own fault."

SIMPLE FIRE ESCAPE.

The netting which trapeze performers use to break their fall, in case of accident, the Fireman's Journal suggests, might furnish a valuable hint to the Fire Department officials. Such a net could easily be carried in a small compass attached to the hook and ladder truck, and could be readily and securely fastened by ropes to lamp posts, telegraph poles, awning posts or the like, in front of the burning house, or in case of need be upheld by dozens of sturdy and willing arms. It would help to save many lives of persons compelled to jump from upper windows. Such a device has been tried in Germany with good results.

Hard workers are usually honest. Industry lifts them above temptation.

Orphan children have not so much need of guardians as stupid men.

Examine the Corded Side Corset, at Peabody's.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent

CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificia Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men. ☜

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

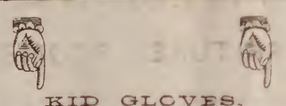
WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,



LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MRS M. E. HUTCHINSON. MISS N. F. HALEY.

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

NO HARNESS.

NO SPRINGS,
NO RUBBER.

A NEW SUSPENDER,

THE

L. R. S.

Less strain when stooping than when standing. See one! Try one! and you will wear no other. For sale by

W. WINSLOW,

Clothing, &c.,

9 Allen's Block, Square, Peabody.

je 15—1m

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

HOUSEKEEPING GOODS. Wooden Ware, Crockery Ware, China Ware, Glass Ware, Table Cutlery and every thing in the Housekeeping line at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

DINNER WARE. Colored Dinner and Tea Ware, in complete sets, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway)—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10 A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 A M.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 55 P M

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 56 P M

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 36 A M., 2 25, 4 20 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 5 05 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 1 M.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 40 A M 6 45, 5 45, 7 20, 8 40 P M Sundays 4 50 AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 50, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 08, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42 8 16, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40, 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 00 P M

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 56, 2 23, 3 21, 4 53, 6 27, 6 50, 8 29, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 23, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 60, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 40, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45 7 28 P M

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 20, 1 20, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 27, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 55, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 20 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 30 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN,
Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶ Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11 00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.45 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6.9 A.M., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6.15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL,
Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M, 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M.
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M.
Express "	Boston at	3 30 P. M.
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS," which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, C. K. MAYO.

337 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend it to my patrons. C. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I anvise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS.
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rheumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remed

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

PUNISHMENT FOR ADULTERATION OF FOOD IN LONDON IN THE MIDDLE AGES.—In the 'Memorials of London' we find that, in 1311, a baker was arrested for selling putrid bread, and in 1316 another baker was sentenced to be drawn on a hurdle through the principal streets of the city for selling 'light bread deficient in weight;' and in the same year the punishment of the pillory was inflicted upon a man and a woman for selling bread of 'rotten materials,' and deficient in weight. In 1319, a certain William Spelyng was adjudged to be put on a pillory, and two putrid beef carcasses to be burnt under him, for exposing the said carcasses for sale; and in 1320 we find two cases similar to the preceding. In 1348 and 1353 the punishment of the pillory was inflicted for selling carrion—in one case the meat being burnt under the offender.

In 1351, proclamations were issued as to the sale of fish. In 1364 a seller of unsound wine was punished by being made to drink it. In the following year the punishment of the pillory was inflicted upon a poulterer for selling putrid pigeons. In 1372 a woman was punished for selling putrid sole; the fish was ordered to be burnt, and the cause of her punishment proclaimed; and we find another case of punishment by the pillory in 1381, for exposing putrid pigeons for sale. In 1390 twelve barrels of eels were ordered to be taken out of the city, and buried in some place under ground, lest the air might become infected through the stench arising therefrom. An important proclamation against the adulteration and mixture of wines was issued by Henry V., in 1419, and the punishment of the pillory was ordered for all who sold false wines. If a few examples similar to the above kind were made at the present day, they would be of infinite service to the community.

PEOPLE IN GLASS HOUSES, ETC.—While it may be proper that those "living in glass houses should never throw stones," we think it is eminently proper that those working in glass houses should say a "good word" for anything of benefit to themselves. In this connection, Mr. Isaac Correy, Manager Salem, N.J., Glass Works, remarks: I am pleased to say that I have used the Great Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, for Rheumatism with excellent results; other members of my family have also been greatly benefited by it use.—St. Louis Evening Chronicle.

A Detroit minister had his hat stolen, and was obliged to go home with a shabbier one than his own. The following day the hat was returned with this note: "I'll never take a minister's hat again. You cannot think what queer things I've had running through my head ever since I put that hat on."

☞ HOW TO GET A HUSBAND.—Take of modesty a large proportion; unite it with urbanity and good humor; to which add good sense, and plenty of love, with a virtuous heart and pretty face. Take Simmon's Liver Regulator regularly, that the blood and complexion be pure and good.

"From actual experience in my practice, I am satisfied to prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

jy27 "T. W. MASON, M. D.

A servant girl was given some macaroni by her mistress to prepare for the table. Noticing her surprise, the old lady said: "Didn't you cook macaroni at your last place?" "Cook it, is it? We used them things to light the gas with."

Chicago Inter-Ocean: A six-pound orange has grown in California. It weighed only one pound when it was picked, but twelve editors have seen it since, and there's nothing like editors to make things grow.

☞ Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents, all druggists.

The bashful young man who asked a lady on the beach if he "could see her home," was much surprised to hear her reply "that he could go up and see it, if he wanted to, but she didn't think her father wanted to sell," and then coolly walked off with the man of her choice.

ITCHING PILES — SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

President Garfield's liver may be more or less injured, but Conkling's spleen is in an awful condition.—N. Y. Mail.

If you are tired taking the large, old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills, and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

THE OLD MAN'S GHOST.

Several days ago, a celebrated Spiritualist came to Little Rock, and stated that before giving a public entertainment he would give a seance, where any member of a small invited circle could call up the spirits of their friends and converse with them. By mistake a man from down the river was admitted, a man whose reputation for deeds of violence would not place his spirit above par in the soul market. After listening awhile to tapping, horn-blowing and gauze vail materialzation, the bad man arose and said:

"Say, Cap'n, whar's the old man's ghost?"

"What old man?" asked the medium.

"My old man, the governor. Call him up."

"What's his name?"

"Tom Bealick; call him up!"

"I don't think we are in communication with him to-night."

"What's the matter, wire down?"

"No, the old gentleman is off on a visit."

"Now, here, jest shut up your wardrobe and turn out your light. If you don't give the old man's ghost a show, the thing shan't run."

"Wait; I'll see if he'll come," said the spiritualist. "If he raps three times he is willing; if only once, he has other engagements."

A sharp rap sounded.

"He is unwilling," continued the spiritualist.

"Now, here," said the bad man, "that want my ole man's knock. Why, ef he'd hit that table he'd splintered it. Call him up," and drawing a revolver the affectionate son cast a severe look on the medium.

"To tell the truth, I can't call him up."

"Tell him that I want to see him. That'll fetch him."

"No; he won't come; but I beg of you to be patient. Wait; ah, he will come presently. He is here and desires to talk with you. He says that he is perfectly happy, and that he longs for the time when you will be with him. He is one of the rulers in the spirit land."

"Cap'n, you are the infernalist liar in Arkansas."

"Why so, sir?"

"Because the old man is in the city prison, drunk as a fool."—Little Rock Gazette.

CHINESE BEDS.

There are two kinds of Chinese beds, and both arranged for a complete shutting in by means of hanging curtains and tapestry. The expensive kind is like a sort of cage, having a flat wooden roof, just the size of the bed proper, supported at a height of about eight feet from the floor on four corner posts and two intermediate ones. Then there is a sort of frieze or entablature work running around horizontally, above and below, so that when you are in bed you are safely penned in a sort of cage, and cannot possibly tumble out. The carving on these beds is sometimes very rich, and large sums are paid for them; but the ordinary and cheaper kind is made of two frames of wood shaped something like the skeleton of an old-fashioned "settee," which are stood up on the floor facing each other. A mattress is placed on the projecting parts of these frames, and a couple of slight sticks across the top; then curtains and hangings shut all in, and makes it look as pretty as the taste and money of the owner are able. Inside, there is a cotton quilt, laid on the mattress frame. The occupant of the bed lies on this, having a little roll of stuff for the head, and for a covering a very thick cotton quilt.

EL DORADO IN PHILADELPHIA.

If you will draw a line across the city, past Cherry Hill to Race street wharf, you will seperate by that line the part of Philadelphia which stands on original land, from the part which stands on soil deposited by the Schuykill. All this lower part of the city is built over a bed of auriferous or gold-bearing clay, and wherever you dig down you will find more or less gold. For all through these vast ages, while the river was gnawing away its western bank and depositing soil on its eastern, it was bringing down little particles of gold from some place in the interior of the State, where there were gold-bearing rocks and sands. The gold under the city has been repeatedly mined for, and enough of it got to make a coin or ring, or some similar trinket, but at a cost greater than its market value; for the quantity found is too small in proportion to the labor expended for it to be worth working.—The Penn Monthly.

AN UNDERGRADUATE'S EXCUSE.

An undergraduate was summoned before one of the Dons for not attending the seven o'clock morning chapel. "Sir," said the Don, "let me hear what you have to say in excuse of your persistent absence from morning prayers." "Sir," replied the delinquent, "the service is too late for me to be present." "Too late, sir? How can seven in the morning be considered a late hour?" "Well," replied the ingenious offender, "were the hour four or five, or even six, I might manage to be present; but to expect a man to sit up till seven o'clock in the morning in order to go to church is more than human nature will endure."—Chambers's Journal.

Every single thing in life is made to say to the man that purchases it, "You may have me if you will grow and make yourself large to take me."

Truth is the most powerful thing in the world, since fiction only pleases us by its resemblance to it.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

AN EDITOR'S DEBT.

In the years agone, when DeWitt, Clinton county, was the county seat and a right smart village in the woods, or on the way to be, the editor of its weekly paper had some subscribers who paid in wood, others in produce, others in fur, and others yet who didn't pay at all. One of these latter class was named Lemon, but to squeeze anything out of him was next to impossible. He had excuses at his tongue's end for not paying, and the longer the debt stood the more reasonable for excuses seemed to his creditors. One day the editor met him on the street, and after a general greeting began on him with:

"Mr. Lemon, you have been owing me for two years."

"Yes, but I had bad luck in my sugar-bush."

"But you might have brought wood."

"So I should, but I broke two new axes, and couldn't buy another."

"I offered to take it out in turnips and corn."

"I know, but the crows ate my corn up, and the Injuns stole all my turnips."

"Well, how are you getting on now?" asked the editor.

"First rate."

"Have you a good run of sugar?"

"Yes."

"Corn doing well?"

"Splendid."

"Wheat all right?"

"Yes, all right."

"Well, if corn, wheat, potatoes and turnips turn out good, and you keep well, and you have no losses, will you pay me in the Fall?"

The farmer scratched his head, and took a full minute to think over it, before he replied.

"That's an honest debt, and orter be paid, but I won't positively agree to square up this Fall until I know what sort of a corn season we are to have."

It is needless to say that he never squared.—Detroit Free Press.

TREATMENT OF WOMEN.

From the fall of the Roman empire in the West to the fourteenth and fifteenth century, women spent most of their time alone, almost entirely strangers to the joys of social life; they seldom went abroad but to be spectators of such public diversions and amusements as the fashion of the times countenanced. Francis I. was the first who introduced women on public days to court; before his time nothing was to be seen in any of the courts in Europe but gray-bearded politicians, plotting the destruction of the rights and liberties of mankind, and warriors clad in complete armor, all ready to put their plots into execution. In the thirteenth and the fourteenth centuries elegance had scarcely any existence, and even cleanliness was hardly considered as laudable. The use of linen was not known, and the most delicate of the fair sex wore woolen underclothing. In Paris they had meat only three times a week; and ten pounds was a large "portion" for a young lady. The better sort of citizens used splinters of wood and rags dipped in oil instead of candles, which in those days were a luxury rarely to be met with. Wine was only to be had at the shops of the apothecaries, where it was sold as a cordial; and to ride in a two-wheeled car was reckoned a grandeur so enviable that Philip the Fair prohibited the wives of citizens from enjoying it. In the time of Henry VIII. of England, the peers of the realm carried their wives behind them on horseback when they went to London, and in the same manner took them back to their country seats, with hoods of waxed linen over their heads, and wrapped in mantles of cloth to secure them from the cold.

HOW TO HANG PICTURES.

No picture ought to be hung higher than the height of the average human eye when the owner of the eye is standing. It is the most universal rule in our houses to hang pictures much above this level, and they cannot be enjoyed there. If the picture is a portrait, or it has human faces in it, its eyes should look as nearly into ours as possible; and if there be no such a simple guide, perhaps a good rule will be to have the line that divides the picture horizontally into equal parts level with the eye. If one starts to hanging pictures with the determination to place them so that they can be easily seen and enjoyed without stretching the neck in the least, or stooping the body, he will be pretty sure to do well. In remote farm-houses and country taverns we often see pictures, particularly portraits, skyed as high as if their owners had been academy hangers, and the painters young rivals of a new school. I suppose that the reason is that the simple-hearted owners think a picture such a precious thing that it cannot be hung too securely out of the reach of meddling hands. They are often not clear in their minds as to what the picture is meant for, and not finding it in any particular relation to human life and society they treat it with reverence, and put it where it will disturb them as little as possible. But, as people come to enjoy pictures and to get some intellectual, spiritual nourishment out of them, they want them as they want their books, where they can see them and use them.

The oldest white settler of Oregon is a Canadian Frenchman by the name of Garmer, and he lives at Sinslaw. He crossed the mountains in 1820 with a party of sixty-four men, he being the only one of the company now alive.

Life resembles a cup of clear water, which becomes muddy as we drink it.

Large Japanese Fan for 1 cent, at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pillat a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhea, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials; and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co., of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at apr 27 S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

George Osborne,	Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney,	Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen,	George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.

John A. Lord,	George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,	Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little,	Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren,	Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill,	Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn,	John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicits, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.
STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF

MERCANTILE PRINTING,

Is executed at this establishment,

DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST

In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.

In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.

Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,

And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have

ADDED TO THE OFFICE

A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to

EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING

Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.
PEABODY, MASS.

CUTTING IT SHORT.—The nationally gratifying fact that Edwin Booth made so palpable a hit in London in Shylock, calls to mind a little story told by our leading star to the writer one Sunday during his last visit here, while taking a look at the Golden Gate from the lantern of the Point Bonita lighthouse.

"Once, during the days of my early struggles in the profession," said Booth, "and while we were barn-storming down in Virginia, an odd thing happened, which illustrates the shifts to which the 'poor player' was then put in order to get along. We were playing—'showing,' they called it then—one night at a little place named Lee's Landing, and the tobacco warehouse we had improvised into a theatre was crowded by the planters for miles around. We had arranged to take the weekly steamer that we expected would touch here late that night, and between the acts were all busy packing up. The play was 'The Merchant of Venice,' and we were just going in for the court scene, where the Jew insists on his pound of flesh, when we heard a whistle blow, and the manager came running in to say that the steamer had arrived ahead of time and would leave in ten minutes.

As that was the only chance of getting down to Chesapeake for a week, we were naturally in a terrible quandary. 'If we stop right here and explain,' said the manager, 'the audience will think they are being cheated, and go in for a free fight. The only thing for us to do is for you fellows to get up some sort of a natural-like impromptu ending for the piece, and ring down the drop. Go right ahead, ladies and gentlemen, and take your cue from Ned. here,' and he hurried away to get the luggage on board.

"If it had been any other portion of the country I wouldn't have had the assurance to do as he said, but the ignorance of the 'clay-eaters,' or ordinary Virginians of those days was something marvelous, so when old George Ruggles, who was doing Shylock, got to where he sharpens his knife on his shoe, I walked solemnly up to him and said:

"'Your bound to have the flesh, are you?'"

"'You bet your life,' said George under the impression that he was improvising very skillfully indeed.

"'Now I'll make you one more dicker,' I continued, 'in addition to this bag of ducats, I'll throw in two kegs of niggerhead terback, a shotgun and two of the best coon dogs in the State.'

"'I'm blamed if I don't do it,' said Shylock, much to the approbation of the audience, who were tobacco-raisers and coon-hunters from the ground up.

"'And to show that there is no hard feeling,' said Portia, "we will wind up with a Virginny reel.'

"And as the prompter struck up 'Money Musk' on his fiddle, we danced a couple of figures, and made a break for the boat as the curtain fell, amid thunders of applause.

"When we got on board, the steamer's captain, who had witnessed the conclusion of the play with great delight, tendered the troupe the compliment of a hot supper, and remarked as we sat down to what was a rare treat in those 'palmy days of the drama':—

"'I'd like to see the whole of that play sometime, gentlemen. I'm blamed if I thought that fellow Shakespere had so much snap to him!"—San Francisco Post.

P. O. DEAPRTMENT RULINGS.—Pocket knives are unmailable.

It is the duty of the mail carrier to receive mail matter properly prepaid and enclosed in United States stamped envelopes, when one mile or more from a post office.

Crayon drawings are subject to letter rates of postage, the same as any other matter produced by pen or pencil.

A mark calling attention to some particular paragraph in a newspaper does not subject it to additional postage.

The postal laws prohibit the exchange of postal stamps of one denomination for those of other denominations.

Some part of a publication must be printed in the county wherein the claimed office of publication is located, to enable the same to be sent free to subscribers residing in said county.

There is no law excluding postal cards from the mails because of notices of indebtedness being printed or written thereon, but no indecent language, or terms of epithets will be allowed in such notices.

All letters having one full-rate prepaid must be forwarded. Second and third class matter must be fully prepaid.

The postal law forbids the renting of boxes in post offices to two families or firms.

A printed business card may be mailed at a third class rate, providing it has no writing upon it other than the address.

Regular newspapers cannot be admitted to the mails at pound rates when a hand-bill or circular is inclosed.

The department rules that no post-office shall be kept in a bar-room or a room directly connected therewith, nor must any mails be opened in or delivered in any such room.

Letters passing through the mails cannot lawfully be opened by any officer of the law for the purpose of detecting criminals.

The Post-office department is not responsible for matter lost in the mails.

Letters and Postals advertised Aug. 3d, 1881.

L. P. Averill, S. M. J. Beckwith, James Conroy, Bridget D. Cremin, Chas. A. Currier, Patrick Cusick, James Doherty, Mrs. S. E. Dempsey, C. S. Eustre, Patrick Foley, Handley C. Flirt, Alvin B. Ham, J. F. Ingraham, G. A. Kimball, Chas. F. Lougee, John Leary, Eben Monach, Willie A. McDonell, Isaac B. Neal, Wm. Owen, Mrs. Louisa Osborne, Mrs. Dollie Peabody, Mary A. Roberts, Dennis Sullivan, Ralph Stahle, Mons. St. Pierre, John Shehan, Mrs. N. E. Simonds, Chas. B. Steele, Jesse Tyler, J. P. Turrell, Geo. Taylor, Chas. B. Taggard, John Thorne, Wm. Wheeler, Mrs. Johanna Ware, Thomas Wetherby, Benj. Wilson, Mrs. Delia Yelverton.

Letters and Postals advertised Aug. 10, 1881.

James Atherton, Mrs. Elizabeth Batchellor, J. T. Batavia, Timothy Barrett, Gilman Collamore, D. 1. Crosay, Hannah Cotter, John Devine, S. E. Durkee, Patrick Ellis, Fenderson & Stone, Robert M. Fields, Minnie Floyd, Mrs. A. F. Foster, Aaron Guilford, John Gartland, Mrs. S. S. Hart, Patrick Hayes, Lavina Harris, Geo. C. Jeffrey, Mrs. Joyce, M. F. Kellock, Mess. Larrabee & Co., Hugh McKenny, Mrs. Ann Murphy, Mrs. Ann M. Moulton, Mrs. Maria Moulton, A. J. Mock, Wm. McDonell, 2, J. T. McDonald, W. G. Nichols, P. E. Osborne, John O'Connell, Patrick O'Shea, Mrs. C. Osborne, Mrs. H. R. Osborne, L. J. Peck, Mrs. Chas. H. Peabody, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. O. K. Pratt, H. C. Prescott, Chas. H. Potter, Poor, Milton & Tapley, Peter Splane, Geo. Stevenson, Denis Sweeny, Mrs. Edward Symonds, Mrs. Louisa Teague, Mrs. Wm. H. Tailey, David Trask, 2, Joseph Walton, Maria T. Wadsworth, Mrs. Alice Young.

W. M. WARD, P. M.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

MARBLEHEAD.

Mr. Samuel Roads, Jr., the Marblehead Historian, has been honored by the presence of many distinguished literary gentlemen at his cottage on Mugford street.

The hot weather of last week brought with it many to the town and Neck who come to enjoy the cooling breezes of the sea shore. One needs to be well booked to answer all the questions that the strangers ask us. Of course in visiting our town they want to learn all the points of interest but I think the cheapest way for them to d · would be to buy one of Roads's Guide to Marblehead. This is a cheap and valuable book to every one.

Mr. Swain, the milliner, and George P. Graves, the School street merchant, have returned from their trip to Chicago.

Mr. Henry A. Potter chairman of the Board of Selectmen, when, last heard from was at Rome, Italy, and about to depart from that for Naples. He was in good health and enjoying the tour th roughly.

DANVERS.

Beacon Light Division, S. of T., will picnic at Nahant on Wednesday.

E. & A. Mudge & Co. have advanced the wages of their lasters 25 and 30 cents per case on some kinds of work.

A horse belonging to J. W. Tapley ran away yesterday but was caught, promptly, and no damage done.

Mr. Niel Moynahan has returned from his trip to the White Mountains.

Mr. Irvin Rackliffe has left his school at Cochesett to take one of a higher grade at Somerset, near Fall River.

NEWBURYPORT.

Since July 27th, no challenge has been received by the Yacht Yankee Maid Moody Bros., which has won the prize, four times out of five, and still holds it.

A silver tankard weighing 13 1-2 oz. bearing the name of Paul Revere, was sold in this city, last week, to a gentleman from Lynn, for $20.

BEVERLY.

There is now a great demand for tenements. A few good tenement houses would be a paying investment for some of our contractors.

Beverly is in need of a street sprinkler. We have beautiful drives but the dust makes it almost a penance to enjoy them. Happy are the Cove people who have this evil remedied.

New planking is being put down on Beverly Bridge. This makes a good place for carpenters to work out their taxes.

Four young men have hired the barge, Venus, and with a pair of nice horses gone on a trip to New Hampshire to spend their vacations and no doubt will enjoy themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Oakes celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage Friday, at their residence on Pleasant street. A large number of relatives and friends called, among which was a delegation from Atlantic Lodge, Knights of Honor. Mr. and Mrs. Oakes received many presents appropriate to the occasion.

A short time ago a resident in the vicinity of the Hale street cemetery was alarmed at seeing some one with a lantern digging among the graves at about midnight. Thinking it were body snatchers a closer inspection was made, and it was found to be one of our well-known citizens taking advantage of the silent watches of the night to improve his family lot.

Rumor has it that the Beverly Farms hose house is to be removed, but whether it is to be by a whirlwind or an earthquake, Rumor does not inform us.

In connection with the firemen's parade this fall, it would be a good idea for the trades to turn out.

Mr. Ezra Standley, of this town, has received the appointment as D. D. G. Patriarch, of Naumkeag Encampment, No. 13, I. O. O. F., of Salem, and Summit Encampment, No. 41, of this town.

The addition to Mr. J. H. Baker's shoe manufactory is nearly completed and ready for occupancy.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co. —Adv.

The enterprising Boston furnishing house, W. H. Hervey & Co., offer our patrons Bicycles at low prices, and by their system of installments.

A "corner" in bricks is reported—in fact eight corners to each brick.

Remark by Platt: "Hum! A bull-dog pistol is no doubt dangerous, but a man shot with a step ladder never recovers."

BUSINESS MEN can leave the Grand Central Depot, New York, at 11.35 P. M. (Sundays excepted), and arrive in Boston next morning at 8 o'clock, by purchasing tickets via N. Y. & N. E. Railroad. This affords a whole evening in New York.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

The advertisement of the Bryant & Stratton Commercial School will interest all those who are seeking a thorough business education.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College:
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School:
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Aug. 9th, by Rev. J. W. Hudson, Mr. George S. Shove to Miss Lizzie L. Galeucia, both of Peabody.

In Beverly, 1st by Rev. Mr. Davis, Mr. Charles R. Knox to Miss Esther A. Cunningham.

In Marblehead, 4th, by Rev. Mr. Williams, Mr. Thomas C. Grove of Baltimore, Md., to Miss Alice M. Boardman.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 4, Mr. Thomas S. Mugford, 68 yrs. 11 mos. 6 days.
7th, Mr. Dennis Dullea, 70 yrs. 2 mos.
7th, Mrs. Joanna Mahoney, 57 yrs.
5th, Mr. John Kerridge, about 40 yrs.
7th, Miss Sarah A. Clough, 22 yrs. 8 mos.
6th, Saving Lamphear, 89 yrs. 2 mos.
In Salem, 4th, Monsignor Joseph Desantels, 67 yrs.; 2d, Mr. William Tibbets, 56 yrs. 4 mos.

SANFORD'S
THE WISE ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
GINGER

Impure water, unhealthy climate, unripe fruit, unwholesome food, cramps, chills, malaria, excessive heat and the thousand and one ills that beset the traveler or family are nothing to those fortified and sustained by the use of SANFORD'S GINGER, "the delicious." As a beverage it quenches thirst, opens the pores, relieves the head, regulates the stomach and bowels, eradicates a craving for intoxicants and imparts new life to the languid, careworn, overworked, nervous and sleepless. Beware of imitations said to be as good. ASK for SANFORD'S GINGER and take NO other.
Sold everywhere. WEEKS & POTTER, Boston,

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.
We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a
First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.
Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.
Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.
Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.
NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

FOR SALE.
A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.
All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'.
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.
Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence. Ms

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celebrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.
From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL. JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.
From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.
From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE,
— AT THE —
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thursday.
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

HOTEL.
LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,
SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.
Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m. Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn, by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TA BLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.
JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.
THURSDAY, AT 9.30 A. M.
PROVINCETOWN.
FRIDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALL-DAY FISHING TRIPS,
On the Middle Grounds, where the 44-lb Cod was pulled in July 15. One Dollar per lb. bounty for the biggest codfish caught. Season ticket for second prize. Returns at 5.30. Fare $1.

MOONLIGHT TRIPS
Will continue through the present week.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.

On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.
The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.
Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.
Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1 00.
Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.
Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.
For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
je 8

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
my 27 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Couch, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL.
MIACOMET.
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
— AND —
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

DINING SALOON.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.
Meals Served at All Hours.
A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

PAINT BRUSHES. All kinds of Paint Brushes, Artists' Tools, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A Tenement on corner of Walnut and English streets. Apply to jy 6—tf C. W. OSBORN.

TENEMENT TO LET,
Near the Catholic Church. Inquire at jy 27 46 Lowell Street.

$250 REWARD!

The undersigned, in behalf of the Town of Peabody, will pay the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars to any one who will furnish information which may lead to the detection and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the morning of July 9th, 1881, set fire to the building on Washington street, known as the Gen. Foster Engine House.
LEVI PRESTON, W. B RICHARDSON, S. A. SOUTHWICK, NATHAN H. POOR } Selectmen of Peabody.
je 13—1m

$50 REWARD!
The undersigned will pay the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the old Foster Engine House, on the morning of July 9, 1881.
jy 13—1m HENRY C. TORR.

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL

$50 REWARD!
The above reward will be paid by the undersigned for the arrest and conviction of the party who set fire to the building in South Peabody last Sunday morning, occupied by him for the storage of hair. GEO. UPTON.
may 4 Peabody.

WANTED.
Room and board for a gentleman and wife in the vicinity of the Square. First class references given and required. Address, with full particulars. TYRO this office.
jy 13

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter.
Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
Attention is also called to a
PATENT RUBBER CUSHION
for tender feet, which we are using very successfully. OLD SHOP.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES
For sale by all Druggists.
SAMPLE BOX
mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,
CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 17, 1881. NO. 34.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere. as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residence in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
us1 t ff

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. jan

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

The Peabody Press.

Vacation Rambles.

TAMWORTH IRON WORKS, N. H.

DEAR PRESS,—Since everybody and his wife goes somewhere now-a-days during the heated term, we have fallen into line and left home for a while, and are among the mountains, not indeed the grandest and most frequented region among the stern old hills, but rather on the borders of Paradise. And yet there is enough here to interest and inspire without the accompanying rush and frivolity of more fashionable resorts. We never weary of the seashore, but this summer our minds have been turned northward to the haven where our bodies are now. "The sea is a fickle creature and runs to kiss the feet of each inconstant wooer, but the mountains stand forever, immovable and grand."

Our route was one passed over by so many that there is nothing new or startling to tell in connection with it. Leaving Salem at 9.08, we sped on in the express to Newburyport, across the Merrimac, the blue river winding far away upon one side and spreading out to meet the ocean on the other; by Hampton and Rye beaches, which are said to be actually and literally unable to accommodate any more; by quaint old Portsmouth, over the antiquated long bridge just beyond, and on to Conway junction, where the train divides, like the comet, the head going to Portland, and the tail, with us and others, switching off, left oblique, mountainward. We reached Rochester at half past eleven, and a few minutes past twelve arrived at Wolfboro' junction, where the train waited fifteen minutes for the engine to take in more fuel and water and the passengers to take in more edibles and bibibies, which they did as rapidly as the comet assimilates the aerolites which cross its path. Here many changed for Wolfboro' and Lake Winipiseogee, which being interpreted, signifies, "Smile of the Great Spirit." But we kept on another hour, arriving at West Ossipee at 1.09. The view at this station is very fine, and would be more strongly admired were it not for the many attractions still further north. We took seats in the coach—that is what the vehicle was called—driven by Billy Hayford, one of the most genial and obliging public servants in this section, and rode three miles to our destination. The day was intensely hot, so that after the long car ride we did not enjoy this part of the trip as we otherwise might. It is, however, a very pleasant ride. Our destination is the house of Mr. I. W. Goodwin, well known in Peabody. He has here a large, airy and well-arranged house, a few minutes' walk from the village, and a cordial welcome awaited us. Mr. and Mrs. Emery, of Lawrence, rode from the station with us and spoke of meeting Peabody people at different times at Rye Beach. Mr. Goodwin has a large farm, and can accommodate a goodly sized party when necessary. From the sitting room window there is a pretty view; near at hand the green fields reaching out toward the little village, beyond which rises the sharp peak of Chocorua, seemingly close by, really twenty miles, about, away.

In the village there is a church, a schoolhouse, one store, and a cluster of pleasant country homes. We made an easy acquaintance with some of the people, several of whom had at different times been in Peabody. An ascent of Mount Chocorua and return, from Mr. Goodwin's, occupies about a day, if the trip is made leisurely. The climb is a hard one, but breathing spells can be taken as often as wished, and the view from the top on a clear day fully repays for the labor. One day it rained hard all the forenoon, obscuring the hills on every side. Towards evening the storm cleared away, and it was a fine sight to see the mist roll up like a veil, slowly disclosing the hills. At one time it was clear around the top of Chocorua, and the mist cleared from below until a narrow band of it encircled the hill like a delicate white wreath, the top being bright with the light of the setting sun.

"You should have seen that long hill range,
With gaps of brightness riven,
How through each pass and hollow streamed
The purpling lights of heaven."

At the rear of the house there is a wide sweep, bounded by a range of hills which rear their blue summits, one above another, until they seem to mingle with the blue sky above. Not very far away is a small but pretty pond, well stocked with lilies, and near by grow lots of berries. A portion of the pond is fringed by a growth of tall, beautiful trees which seem to watch it like stately sentinels. Chocorua lake, with its fine sandy beach, is a pleasant place to visit and easily reached from here. A few miles away is Silver lake, a large and pretty sheet of water, with a calm aspect which makes the appropriateness of its name apparent. It is a pleasant drive from here to White Pond, to Tamworth Centre, to Sandwich, and not too great a jaunt to visit the many attractions around Conway and North Conway, where some of our Peabody young people are now registered. We are just far enough from the village to be secluded and quiet, and yet not too far to walk to it easily. Mr. Goodwin tells us that he is ready to take other boarders, and we advise those who do not care to take a long jaunt, but want country life and air and the inspiration of the hills, to talk with him. He is stopping in Peabody, and a postal to him would doubtless bring a prompt response. Several Peabody people have been visiting here before us, and have been pleased with their trip and visit. It is not a fashionable resort, so that we cannot chronicle a long list of notabilities, or of wonderful costumes; but it is a good place to come to for those who want to do just as they please, with time and disposition to search the surrounding woods and hills and lakes. A little later, when the foliage begins to turn, it will be full as pleasant as now, and will be none too late for a visit. VIATOR.

GLEN HOUSE, N. H.,
Aug. 12, 1881.

MESSRS. EDITORS,—Sitting on the extensive front piazza of this excellently kept hotel, with its beautiful mountain panorama extending from far on the right to a distant summit on the left; with the mountain peaks of Madison, Adams, Jefferson and Washington forming the grandest and most wonderful scenery that I know of in this region, I am led to send you a few lines which may not be out of place. The constantly varying lights and shadows on the hill-sides, with the dark colors of the pines contrasting with lighter greens of the deciduous trees, and the distant deep ravines with rocky, barren slopes, are all a constantly changing scene for easy thought and admiration of the natural appearance of our wild surroundings. What better can one want than the retirement of this location to refresh the body and mind of those who have been wearied by the constant business and turmoil that surrounds them in the midst of the whirl of town or city life?

In the early days of the country, trade was mostly with other countries and communities than our own, and our cities and towns were the places of comparative rest to their respective inhabitants after leaving their offices; but now it seems to be largely changed, and trading is far more among ourselves at home. The result is that we get too little rest from "talking shop," as it is popularly called, and consequently too great strain is borne, until we feel the need of a real rest. To prevent or meet this end, I believe that some such place as this, totally removed from all that forms the city or town of to-day, removed from all railroads, is the best place to recruit at, with its complete surroundings of natural scenery and varied healthful occupations. It has at the same time all the comforts and none of the cares of home. I should feel that two weeks spent in such quiet as this is worth as much, if not more than twice the time spent away in the midst of the surroundings of any village.

The two stages from Glen Station have, some time since, been emptied of their loads, as also the noon stage from Gorham, and we are momentarily expecting the last stage from this latter place at 7 P. M. The stage is in and supper is ready, so that with this brief note of praise for what I should advise visiting, I remain,

Yours truly,

F. H. A.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

WE ACCIDENTALLY looked in, a few days since, to the stove and tin ware establishment of Messrs. D. A. & F. H. CASKIN, on the Square, and were surprised at the large variety which is carried by this enterprising firm.—They claim to have the best assorted stock in Essex County, and judging from the large number of stoves set up, besides what was shown us down stairs and up stairs, we have no reason to question the fact. Messrs. Caskin have bought largely for the fall trade in anticipation of the demand, and of an increase in price in many of the goods.—They have as many as twelve different styles and makes of ranges to select from, comprising, among others, the well known Magee, of which they make a specialty. We were shown a very handsome square stove, made by this company, which is different from anything ever got out by them. It can be made into an open grate, or closed up like any other stove, has an anti-clinker arrangement, and the cold air damper usual with this company, and is surrounded on the top by Chelsea tile, presenting a very neat and striking appearance. It is called the Ideal Parlor Stove, and this is the first season it has been before the public. This firm has also a very fine Magee Advance Range set up, besides all the styles and patterns of this celebrated manufactory. In furnaces we were shown two very large wrought iron ones, all ready to be set up in two of the new houses being built here in town. They keep a large line of carpet sweepers, tin ware, and all household and cooking utensils to be found in such establishments.—Messrs. Caskin have been in town but a short time, but they have largely increased their business, to which their enterprise and general assortment of goods has mainly contributed. This firm are also sole agents in this vicinity for the chimney top and ventilator of Geo. E. Barker of New York, an invention for regulating bad chimneys, doing away with hoods so often used, and which are constantly getting out of order. They are working very satisfactorily wherever tried, and the firm speak in the highest of terms of the invention.—The oil stoves of Messrs. Adams & Westlake are coming into great demand, and of these and other well-known makes this firm keeps a full supply. It is astonishing what a large amount of cooking can be done on these little stoves, after the owner becomes somewhat accustomed to their use, and many families in town are doing all their cooking with them easily and to their entire satisfaction. Messrs. Caskin are ready and willing to show them, and explain their working at any time, and a visit to their store and a careful examination of these, as well as other inventions for lightening the labor of the housewife, will more than repay our readers.

MISS Sadie A. Clough, whose death was chronicled in the PRESS last week, was a young lady of more than ordinary promise. She was one of a number of young ladies who made themselves prominent by their energetic and always well timed zeal in various good causes, especially the Temperance work. Miss Clough makes another of a circle who have died within two or three years, the others being Mrs. Jennie Osborn, Mrs. Hattie Chisholm and Miss Lucy Smith. They were a company of young people, all of pleasant disposition, and their early demise has made a great vacancy in our active charitable workers. They took a great interest in work in aid of the Grand Army, and all had an unusually large and sympathetic circle of friends. Miss Clough was sick but a short time, while the others lingered along for many months. She was born in Peabody, Jan. 7, 1858, and consequently at her death was 23 years 7 months. She was buried from her late home, on Thursday of last week, Rev. Mr. Harmon officiating. Let us hope that in some brighter world this little band of earnest workers are reunited, reaping the reward of their endeavors in this world. FRIEND.

D. CONRAD, in another column, advertises that he has inaugurated his greatest mark-down sale for fifteen years. Some of the prices mentioned in his advertisement are surely worthy of note. We advise our lady readers to scan them carefully, and visit his store at their earliest opportunity.

Temperance Lecture.

MR. EDITOR,—We listened to the temperance lecture delivered last Sabbath evening at the Methodist Church, by Prof. Gardner. We must say that in some respects it excelled all the lectures we ever heard. We have sat under Gough, we know not how many times, and always admired him. His wit was always sharp, his sarcastic thrusts keen, and his delivery rapid, as if it had been kept in store anxiously waiting for release—his thoughts coming down upon the audience like a shower of snow-flakes, pure and white.

But after all we can say of him, we can hardly admit that he stands on an exact level with the one we have above named. Prof. G. seems to be a fine orator and a finished scholar. His eloquence is not the jagged music of the mountain cataract, but the full-lipped harmony of the rolling sea, borne to the ear upon the wings of the wind.—The orb of his intellect would not girt so much as a man's like Daniel Webster, but for strong moral principle and denunciation of the evils in society he would outweigh a whole batallion like him. Our hope is, that he will be upheld as a great agitator on the subject of temperance wherever he goes.

The angel of reform on that subject need not, and must not, be like one of Milton's, "riding upon a sunbeam." No! let him come "girt with a whirlwind and sandalled with a storm," if necessary, to sweep one-third of the stars from our patriotic firmament that now seem to shine in the eyes of some. For no one, having the least amount of human sympathy, can listen to such a lecture as the one delivered last Sabbath evening, telling us of the vast amount of suffering brought on by the free sale of intoxicating drinks, without feeling a righteous indignation kindle in his breast, and burn like a volcanic eruption; wishing that one never ceasing, ever increasing, fiery, focal blaze be poured upon the heads of all who oppose the temperance movement, until, as the late Father Taylor once expressed it, the demon of Intemperance is chased out of the world into hell, and a stone rolled against the door as big as a planet. We would simply suggest one alteration in the Professor's delivery, viz.: that he let not some of his important expressions escape from his lips in such haste, for many of them of the most weight and value, burst forth and fly in such rapidity that the fear is they would glance over the head of a distiller or retailer without singeing a hair. P.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE, our popular boot and shoe man, has a new advertisement in another column, to which the attention of our readers is invited. This store is too well known to our readers to require mention by us. Since the refitting of his establishment, after the damage to the building some years ago by fire, he has the lightest, neatest and best arranged boot and shoe store in town. He keeps a well-assorted stock of boots and shoes of reliable and well-known makes, which he has kept and sold his patrons for years. Among these may be mentioned the Gents' Ipswich boots and shoes, which he has had the exclusive sale of in this town for twelve years, and which are warranted to give perfect satisfaction. He also keeps a fine workingmen's calf boot, made by C. H. Howard, of Randolph, which is meeting with a large sale. He also has a large line of kip boots for farmers, and everything in this department looks clean and fresh. In women's, misses' and children's boots and shoes, he cannot be excelled, keeping a stock of such well known makes as S. Newcomb & Co., Baldwin & Lamkin, J. N. Smith, Perley Very, and Johnson & Co., made from "Donga" American Kid, English Kid, Goat, Serge and Calf. Teague also keeps a good assortment of every kind of furnishing goods, including hats and caps, collars and cuffs, ties, overalls, and trunks. We advise our readers to visit his store before making their purchases and examine the choice line of goods which he is always ready to show.

THE SALE of Cotton Underwear at the store of Almy, Bigelow & Webber is creating quite a furore among their lady patrons. The department has been crowded with eager purchasers. The chemisette which they are selling at 19 cents, and the night-gowns worth $1.25 offered by them at 58 cts. can never be duplicated. There are a few more left.

The Church Militant.

The Rev. Angelo Canoll, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Newport, R.I., was changing his parsonical pants recently, when a pistol fell out of the hip pocket and was discharged, wounding the reverend gentleman in the calf of the leg.

In the unecclesiastical mind the question arises, what was the Rev. Canoll doing, or intending to do, with a pistol? If it is the habit of clergymen in the Isle of Peace to perform their pastoral duties and preach peace on earth good will toward men, with pocket pistols stowed away in their vestments, they ought to learn how to handle and carry their weapons, so as not to endanger their apostolic legs. If the pistol has taken the place of the prayer-book in the work of disseminating the truths of religion, we may expect to see Bob Ingersoll carrying on his crusade against creeds with Krupp cannon, and it is difficult to see how the defenders of the faith can consistently object to such artilery arguments.

This little episode, in which Rev. Canoll and a six-shooter are implicated, lets down the bars to a wide field of speculation, but in the limits of a newspaper article only the salient points can be touched upon. In the dark ages the weapons of spiritual warfare closely resembled the engines of carnal strife, but in these days it is popularly supposed that the church has given up the old system of evangelizing by violence and discarded the sword for the catechism, and any evidences of a return to the ancient practices will meet with serious opposition. Rev. Canoll might induce a man, at the muzzle of a self-cocking "bull-dog," to confess that he was a miserable sinner and give in his adherence to the particular form of faith expounded by the warlike parson. He might then hoist the convert to heaven with a glass bomb before he had time to backslide, thus assuring him eternal peace in the realms of bliss, but there are some fussy people in the world who would raise objections to this scheme, and who would perhaps get up an infernal machine to raise the schemer.

It is to be hoped that in accepting the revised Scriptures the clergy have not felt it incumbent upon them to revise their revival tactics also. This mania for revision is in danger of being carried too far, and if it continues, we shall be obliged to throw aside all accepted ideas concerning the future abode of the blest, and imagine the battlements of the "sweet bye-and-bye" bristling with columbiads, and the streets of the New Jerusalem guarded by Gatling guns.

The Reverend victim of hip-pocket carelessness relieves all anxiety on this score, however, by explaining that he carried the pistol to defend himself against thieves, but even this is inconsistent with his clerical character. It attacked by footpads he should meekly give up his worldly goods and forgive the rascals until such time as he could convince them of the error of their ways. To prevent any more accidents of the nature that befel Parson Canoll, tailors should firmly refuse to put hip-pockets in trousers ordered by gentlemen of the cloth.—Boston Globe.

AVOIDING SEA-SICKNESS.—Let your last day on shore be a day of perfect rest; no shopping or farewell calls; let your body, which is likely to be pretty well tired by previous fatigue, get thoroughly rested. At least twenty-four hours before you sail, take as strong a dose, or doses if necessary, of cathartic medicine as you can bear. Eat lighter meals than usual for two or three days before sailing. Of course I need not tell your readers to abstain from beer. Then, if the malady assail you on your first day out, take twenty or thirty grains of bromide of sodium and repeat if necessary.—Old Traveler.

A. H. Temple electrician of the Northern Telephone Company has constructed a microphone by which the ticking of a clock can be heard in Newburyport or Boston.—Salem Post.

There doesn't seem to be anything strange about that. We have a clock on our desk in the office, which we can hear ticking all day long.—Essex Statesman.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Poet's Corner.

London Bridge.

BY F. E. WEATHERBY.

Proud and lowly, beggar and lord,
Over the bridge they go;
Rags and velvet, fetter and sword,
Poverty, pomp and woe.
Laughing, weeping, hurrying ever,
Hour by hour they crowd along,
While, below, the mighty river
Sings them all a mocking song,—
Hurry along, sorrow and song,
All is vanity 'neath the sun;
Velvet and rags, so the world wags,
Until the river no more shall run.

Dainty, painted, powdered and gay,
Rolleth my lady by;
Rags-and-tatters over the way,
Carries a heart as high.
Flowers and dreams from country meadows
Dust and din thro' city skies,
Old men creeping with their shadows,
Children with their sunny eyes,—
Hurry along, shadow and song,
All is vanity 'neath the sun;
Velvet and rags, so the world wags,
Until the river no more shall run.

Storm and sunshine, peace and strife,
Over the bridge they go;
Floating on in the tide of life,
Whither no man shall know.
Who will miss them there to-morrow,
Waifs that drift to the shade or sun?
Gone away with their songs or sorrow;
Only the river still flows on.
Hurry along, sorrow and song,
All is vanity 'neath the sun;
Velvet and rags, so the world wags,
Until the river no more shall run.

"Write Them a Letter To-Night."

Don't go to the theatre, concert or ball,
But stay in your room to-night:
Deny yourself to the friends that call,
And a good long letter write—
Write to the sad old folks at home,
Who sit when the day is done,
With folded hands and downcast eyes,
And think of the absent one.

Don't selfishly scribble, "excuse my haste,
I've scarcely the time to write,"
Lest their brooding thoughts go wandering back
To many a by-gone night—
When they lost their needed sleep and rest,
And every breath was a prayer—
That God would leave their delicate babe
To their tender love and care.

Don't let them feel that you've no more need
Of their love and counsel wise;
For the heart grows strongly sensitive
When age has dimmed the eyes—
It might be well to let them believe
You never forget them quite;
That you deem it a pleasure when far away,
Long letters home to write.

Don't think that the young and giddy friends
Who made your pastime gay,
Have half the anxious thought for you
That the old folks have to-day.
The duty of writing do not put off,
Let sleep or pleasure wait,
Lest the letter for which they looked and longed
Be a day or an hour too late.

For the sad old folks at home,
With locks fast turning white,
Are longing to hear from the absent—
Write them a letter to-night.

On Concord River.

BY LILIAN WHITING.

Only while the lilies blow
Shall our boat be drifting low,
While the flush of sunset light
Fades into the purple night,
While the whipporwills are singing
And the twilight breeze is bringing Dreams of lands in sunset glow
Shall our boat be drifting low.

Only while the lilies blow,
While winds murmur soft and low,
Shall we drift on here together
In the golden summer weather.
Dreams of perfumes haunt us yet.
Eglantine and migonette,
Though our boat is drifting low
Only while the lilies blow.

—Boston Traveller.

Selected Story.

THE DOCTOR'S FEE.

The night was certainly very cold, thought Dr. Marsh, as he was making his way home from one of his professional visits. It was about 7 o'clock; the streets were full of people hurrying along, blue, cross and uncomfortable; and from under the glare of the lamps the slippery pavements in some places shone like glass.

Dr. Marsh had just repeated his observation concerning the coldness of the weather, as his eye rested, in passing, on the pinched face of a little girl who was peering anxiously in at the window of a druggist's, brilliant with its globes of liquid colors. Then with a second glance he stopped and turned back.

"See here, my child," he began.

The little creature, a child of ten or twelve perhaps, started at the quick, though kindly tone.

"I'm not going to hurt you," said the young man; "don't be afraid; but didn't I see you here an hour ago?"

Still hardly reassured she made some confused reply in the affirmative to the doctor's question.

"But you ought not to stand here five minutes on such a night as this," said Dr. Marsh, eyeing her thin clothing. "You'll freeze before you know it. Haven't you any home to go to?"

The child glanced up timidly in his face, and finding it pitying and trustworthy, broke down at once, so that the young man had some difficulty in separating her words from the sobs and stammering that rendered her speech incoherent.

She was hungry, she was cold; they had neither fire nor wood at home, where her mother was lying ill in bed without nourishment or medicine. She had come out to beg for assistance, but did not know how as she had never begged before, and most of the people had passed by without noticing her, so that all she had was a few pence—enough to buy a loaf, perhaps, but not to get the things her mother needed.

Such was the child's story, and after hearing it, Dr. Marsh lost no time in accompanying her home.—On reaching the poor place that afforded a bare shelter—and hardly that—to these destitute ones, he found that he had come at a crisis. The mother, a woman of respectable appearance, who had evidently seen better days, was just on the eve of a dangerous illness, which the young physician was happily in time to avert. Having done his best for her, and relieved mind as well as body by the certainty of possessing the means of comparative health and comfort, Dr. Marsh buttoned his coat around him and went out again into the bitter winter night.

Bitterer than ever it had grown by this time; but Dr. George Marsh, hurrying home from his errand of mercy, did not heed the cold. When the keen blast came driving around the street corners, he only turned his head aside from its fury and quickened his step to a pace that bade defiance to wind and weather. Nor was his spirit one whit less brave.—A young man just struggling up in an already over-crowded profession, he had incurred to-night, and would incur again, perhaps indefinitely, an expense that was no trifle to his limited means.

The next day, at as early an hour as custom would permit, Dr. Marsh made his way up the steps of a handsome house on a fashionable street. He seemed to be a familiar visitor, for the servant who answered his knock ushered him at once into a parlor, where he waited until the entrance of a young lady made him turn towards her.

"Oh, Dr. Marsh, who would have thought you could have forgotten me last evening?" she exclaimed, with a sort of playful reproach in her tone which was not all jesting.

"Miss Helen, do not condemn me unheard," he answered, falling into her manner. Then he gave a simple account of the cause of his detention on the previous evening, to which she listened with much interest. "And now, you will say that you will forgive me for what after all was a greater loss to me than to anyone else?" he said, as he concluded.

"Oh, Dr. Marsh, you must not turn flatterer!" she responded, archly. "That would be a new part for you to play."

"I was not speaking a compliment, but the simple truth," said he. "You hardly need that assurance, I think."

"Thank you for saying so; but do you really enjoy any time that's not spent with your books or patients?"

Dr. Marsh laughed.

"I am certainly very much interested in my profsssion," said he, "but does it follow that I care for nothing else?"

"Why, yes, I suppose so. Isn't your whole heart bound up in it?"

Dr. Marsh laughed again, but this time with some effort.

"My heart?" he repeated. "It is held by some that a physician should have no heart—only a head."

"Ah, but you have no head, you know, and one or the other is absolutely necessary!"

"I have no head? And why, Miss Helen?"

"Because if you had one you would never waste your time in attending poor people who can never pay you! Oh, yes, you may look surprised now, Dr. Marsh! Although you so skillfully kept all that in the background, do you suppose I could not guess what you have been doing? Oh, you'll never make your fortune in that way, depend upon it!"

Dr. Marsh, to all appearance, had been intently studying the pattern on the carpet. As she finished her bantering speech, he lifted his eyes to her face.

"Miss Willoughby," he said quietly, "I never expect to make my fortune, so that consideration need not weigh with me."

"Then you truly do not care for money?"

"Not for money simply as such, certainly."

"But for what it could give you? Ah, think of that before you become utterly philosophical."

The young man's face changed at these words; it grew wistful, grave, then quiet again.

"I am a very weak philosopher, I fear," he said, presently. "I do not even profess to be indifferent towards some things which money could, perhaps, gain me; but—"

"Some things?" interposed Miss Helen, questioningly. "Won't you give me an instance, please, Dr. Marsh? Ladies are privileged to be curious, you know. What is one of the 'some things' you want and think you can't have?"

"If I had said one thing instead of some I should have spoken a more exact truth," answered Dr. Marsh, after a pause.

"Ah! and that one—"

"That one, Miss Helen," he replied, looking straight into her face, "I am too proud, as well as too poor, to dream of asking for."

She dropped her eyes beneath his gaze, and in another moment he had risen. Then she rose too, and came and stood beside him.

"Dr. Marsh," she said, "I have a favor to ask of you. Will you promise to grant it?"

"Gladly, if it is within my power."

"Well, I want to do something for those poor people you were telling me of; please don't deny me."

"Indeed, Miss Helen," he answered, with a half smile, "I have no disposition to deny you; I shall be very glad of your help. And as it is scarcely a place where you would care to go alone, if you will permit me I will call for you and take you there."

"Thank you! and—Dr. Marsh, you are not offended with me for my nonsense about making your fortune?"

"Offended with you!" he repeated. "That is something I never could be, my—my dear Miss Helen!"

With that he let go her hand, which she had given him, and went out into the street, occupied with his thoughts as he went along.

And Miss Helen Willoughby, left alone, compressed her pretty lips as she mentally pronounced the young doctor provokingly proud.

The next day, according to promise, the young physician called for Miss Willoughby and took her to see his proteges. At the door, however, he was obliged to leave her, promising to return for her when he should have fulfilled a professional engagement which required him at that hour.

When he did come back he found the most confidential terms established between the party; Miss Willoughby sat by the bedside, holding the little girl in her lap and smoothing down her hair, while she talked soothingly and sympathizingly to the mother, who, too weak to say much herself, listened to the cheering words with an expression on her face such as the young man had never seen before there, not even when he brought her such unexpected assistance. It showed that her heart, no less than her body, had been starved.

"Dr. Marsh," said Helen Willoughby, turning a beaming face upon him as he entered, "you could have had no idea—for I am sure I had none—what a serviee you were doing in bringing me here. Only think! Mrs. Jackson is my dear old nurse, that used to be, long ago, when I was a tiny thing, too small to remember anything about her but how good she was to me. As long as I live I am not likely to forget her indulgence."

"Indeed, miss," said the woman looking fondly into her bright face, "I don't know who could have helped being good to you. You were a perfect little angel when you were a baby."

"Oh," said Helen, laughing; "does that mean that I'm not one now? Dr. Marsh, I appeal to you—if I was a little angel then, what can I be now but a great angel?"

"Ah, Miss Helen," answered the young man, laughing and shaking his head, "you warned me once not to flatter you."

"Really! So you think that would be flattery, do you?" and she pretended to pout. "Well, I am glad to know your true opinion of me. Then you don't consider me an angel, great or little?"

"Well, not a great one certainly," he answered, looking down at her petite figure. "Further than that I shall not say, since even the truth is not to be spoken at all times."

"Very well, Dr. Marsh; I shall punish you by calling in some other physician when I am ill," said Miss Willoughby, in meek revenge.

"Ah, miss," said the invalid, "I hope that will be a long time first."

"So do I," timidly whispered the child, who seemed to have an understanding and appreciation of illness beyond her years.

"Thank you, pet," said Helen; "so do I too. And now, Dr. Marsh, what have you to say about it, or is it a subject in which you feel no interest?"

"When that day comes, Miss Helen, which I trust may be very distant, I will try and show you my feelings better than words could express them."

Something in his manner and the grave look which he fixed on her face slightly embarrased her. She rose to depart.

"To think of my finding my dear old nurse," she said; "and you were the means of it, Dr. Marsh. I don't know how to thank you."

Dr. Marsh's answer was too slight to keep up the conversation and there was silence again. Then the young lady resumed, with some hesitation: "She told me all the good you had done for her—and—and—you know, Dr. Marsh, I consider her as my property again, so I take upon myself her debts. So, if you please, you will send in your bill to Miss Willoughby, who will be happy to receive it."

She had assumed a playful manner, but Dr. Marsh answered, seriously, "Thank you, Miss Willoughby, but I have no bill to send in."

"Now, Dr. Marsh, I insist——"

"But, Miss Helen, allow me, too, to insist."

"You are determined not to take anything from me?" she exclaimed, in mortified vexation.

He heard her voice falter; he felt, also, the little hand tremble upon his arm. For a moment he forgot himself.

"There is only one thing I would take from you, Helen," he said, "and that—"

"And that?" she quickly repeated, looking full in his face.

Their eyes met; doubt and pride were for the time forgotten.

"Yourself," he said, still looking down at her.

She laughed, half frightened, half saucy.

"If you want me, why don't you take me, George Marsh?"

And so Dr. Marsh got his fee.

Miscellaneous.

REMEMBERING THE ORPHANS.—At eight o'clock the other morning, a wife followed her husband down to the gate as he was starting for down-town, and said to him:

"William, you know how sadly I need a blue bunting dress."

"Yes, dear," he remarked, "but you know how hard up I am. As soon as I can see my way clear you shall have the dress and a new hat to boot. Be patient, be good, and your reward shall be great."

Forty minutes after he emerged from a restaurant, with a big basket and a fish pole, bound up the river. In the basket were a chicken, pickles, cake, fruit, pie and a bottle of liquid of a rich color, and he was just lighting a twenty cent cigar, when his wife came along.

"What, are you here?" he exclaimed.

"Yes, I was going to market. Where are you going? What's in your basket?"

"I was going to carry this fish-pole around the corner here, to a friend on Jefferson avenue," he modestly answered.

"And that basket?"

"This basket—well, I was going to take it to the asylum as a present to the children. It is a donation from six leading citizens."

"William, I don't believe it."

"Sh! Don't talk so loud."

"William, I shall talk louder yet," she exclaimed. "I'll bet you're going fishing."

"Mary, have I ever deceived you?" he plaintively asked. "I never have. As proof of my sincerity, you can take the basket to the orphan asylum yourself."

"And I'll do it," she promptly replied, as she relieved him of it.

"Mary, hadn't you—"

"No, sir, I hadn't! You'd better hurry up with that fish-pole, as the man may want it, and be careful how you stand around in the sun."

She left him there. He watched her take the car for home, then he returned the fish-pole, and crossed the street, and said to an acquaintance:

"Tom, I'm suffering with neuralgia, and the excursion is off till next week. Too bad, but we never can tell what a day may bring forth."

There were chicken and pickles and other good things on the table at dinner, but he never smiled. Even when his wife wished she was an orphan, if that was the way they were fed, he never betrayed the gloom in his heart. It was only when she handed him the bottle he had so carefully tucked into the basket, and he saw it labelled, "Good for Little Children," that he said:

"Mary, it's an awful thing for a wife to get the impression that her husband is a cold-blooded liar."

"It must be," she replied, as she took the other chicken leg.

HE OUTPRAYED 'EM.—At Atchinson, Kan., the women crusaders visited a liquor saloon, and tried by praying to induce the proprietor of the saloon to close his place. The proprietor invited the ladies to seats and asked them to pray, and then offered himself the following prayer:

"Almighty Creator in heaven! Thou who hast made the heaven and earth, and created man in Thine own image as ruler of this earth, whilst animals are living on grass and water, Thou didst teach thy servant Noah to make wine and Thou didst not punish him for making intemperate use of it. At the wedding of Cana, Thine only Son, Jesus Christ, transformed water into wine when the juice of the grape was exhausted, that the enjoyment of the guests might not be disturbed. The great reformer Martin Luther, said: 'He who does not love wine, woman and song, remaineth a fool all his life long.' And all the great men upon this earth have been drinking of the wine Thou hast given Thy children upon this earth. O Lord! we pray Thee, have pity upon these women here who are not grateful for Thy gifts, who want to make Thy children like the beasts of the field and compel them to drink water like an ox, while they dress extravagantly and lead their husbands to other extravagances not tending to our well being; to bankruptcy, depriving them of all the pleasures of this world, and driving them to suicide.

"O Lord, have mercy upon these ladies: look upon them: they wear not even the color of the face which Thou hast given them, but they are sinning against Thee, and not content with nature, paint their faces. O Lord! Thou canst also perceive that their figure is not as Thou hast made it; but they wear humps upon their backs like camels; Thou seest O Lord, that their headdress consists of false hair, and when they open their mouths Thou seest their false teeth. O Lord, these women want men who will patiently accept all this without using the power Thou hast given to man that all women shall be subject to man. They will not bear the burdens of married life, and obey Thy commands to multiply and replenish the earth, but they are too lazy to raise their children; and, O Lord! Thou knowest the crimes they commit. O Lord! have mercy upon them and take them back to Thy bosom, take folly out of their hearts, give them common sense, that they may see their own foolishness, and grant that they become worthy citizens of our beloved city of Atchinson. O Lord! we thank Thee for all the blessings bestowed upon us, and ask Thee to deliver us from all evils, especially hypocritical women, and Thine shall be the praise forever and ever. Amen."

A Connecticut woman says that a large majority of the Chicago ladies are not handsome. The Chicago woman's opinion of Connecticut ladies will be given in another issue. It is being revised with red ink.

CONRAD'S ADVERTISEMENT.

Cotton Underwear.

CONRAD has negotiated for a large stock of which is to be made for a special sale.

LADIES' COTTON UNDERWEAR,

It is not a soiled Job Lot, but fresh, clean, and made of the best material, in the newest and best styles, and in every respect equal to custom-made goods. We shall open the stock on in our beautiful and airy show-room, on the second floor.

TUESDAY, AUG. 16th,

We assure our customers the prices will astonish all who see them, as such goods have never been sold at such low figures.

We advise ladies to examine early, as we anticipate a great rush.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

191-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices. An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Peabody Library.

BOOKS ADDED AUGUST, 1881.

BIOGRAPHY.

Borel, T. Life of De Gasparin. 553 49
Broome, E. W. Life of Rowland Hill. 574 55
Celeste, Sister. Private Life of Galileo. 554 32
Heath, R. Early Life and Writings of E. Quinet. 552 43
Livermore, A. A. Memoir and Papers of C. H. Brigham. 583 71
*Poore, A. Genealogy of the Poore Family. 572 4
Quilter, H. Giotto. 554 50
Stowe, E. Velazquez. 554 51

CATALOGUES, DICTIONARIES, ETC.

*Coolidge, J. T. and others. Harvard Lampoon. Vols. 4 and 5. R 9 1
*Crocker, S. R. Pub's Literary World. Vols. 5—11. 308 2
*Dewey, M. and others. Library Journal. 5 vols. 308 3
*Noyes, S. B. Brooklyn Library Catalogue. 308 4
*Sampson, Davenport & Co. Boston Directory, 1881. 308 6
*Wilhelm, T. Military Dictionary. 605 8

CHURCH HISTORY, THEOLOGY, SERMONS, ETC.

Caird, J. and others. Scotch Sermons, 1880. 55 75
Chambers, W. Scotish Church. 94 29
Diman, J. L. The Theistic Argument, as affected by recent theories. 53 14
Geikie, C. Hours with the Bible. Vol. 2. 51 21
Gibson, J. M. The Mosaic Era. 55 69
Haley, J. W. The Hereafter of Sin. 55 74
Merrill, G. E. The Story of the Manuscripts. 51 20
Mueller, F.M. The Dhammapada. 90 10
Mulford, E. The Republic of God. 43 86
Storrs, R. S. The Recognition of the Supernatural in letters and in life. 55 72
Whiton, J. M. The Gospel of the Resurrection. 55 73
Wordsworth, Ch. Church History to the Council of Nicæa, A. D. 325. 44 34

DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL.

Huges, T. Rugby, Tennessee. 527 69
Rodwell, G. F. Etna. 453 32
Thompson, J. To the Central African Lakes and back. 430 29
Smith, H. Tent life with English Gipsies in Norway. 440 28
White, R. G. England without and within. 471 31

DISEASES, ETC.

Beard, G. M. American Nervousness. 619 28
Cooke, M. The Wilderness Cure. 617 84
Hammond, W. A. Diseases of the Nervous System. 619 27

ENGINEERING HANDBOOKS.

Roper, S. Hand-books of Land and Marine Engines. 648 83
Roper, S. Hand-book of the Locomotive. 648 81
Roper, S. Hand-book of Steam Fire Engines. 648 84
Roper, S. Use and Abuse of Steam Boilers. 648 82
Trautwine, J. C. Laying out Curves for Railroads. 648 80

ESSAYS, ETC.

Centz, P. C. The Republic of Republics. 514 45
Harper, T. Metaphysics of the Schools. Vol. 2. 44 56
Mead, E. D. Philosophy of Carlyle. 197 13
Mueller, F. M. Chips from a German Workshop. Vol. 5. 194 20
Richardson, A. S. Familiar Talks on English Literature. 141 17
Sellar, W. Y. Roman Poets of the Republic. 140 36
Watson, J. Kant and his English Critics. 44 57

FICTION.

! ! ! G. H. Hepworth. 342 18
Among the Hills. E. F. Poynter. 342 17
Annals of Brookdale. 342 14
Book of Love Stories. N. Perry. 342 15
Cobwebs and Cables. H. Smith. 350 83
Contrasts. M. R. Grendel. 342 13
Friends, a duet. E. S. Phelps. 381 9
Gentleman of Leisure. E. Fawcett. 342 24
Georgians, The. 342 23
Nihilist Princess, The. M. L. Gagneur. 413 12
Ranthorpe. G. H. Lewes. 342 19
Shadows of Shasta. C. H. Miller. 342 22

HISTORY.

Abbot, A. History of Andover to 1829. 527 68
Bryant, W. C. and Gay, S. H. History of U. States. Vols. 2, 3, 4. 517 23
Davis, J. Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government, 2 vols. 526 32
Griffiths, A. Millbank Prison, Eng., 2 vols. 20 53
Ketchum, W. History of Buffalo. 527 67
Pallain, M. G. Correspondence of Talleyrand and Louis XVIII, during the Congress of Vienna. 553 48
Rathbone, H. M. Diary of Lady Willoughby relating to the period of Charles I. 530 99
Raum, J. O. History of N. Jersey. 2 vols. 512 36
Rawlinson, G. History of Ancient Egypt. 3 vols. 540 97
Senior, N. W. Correspondence and Conversation of De Tocqueville with N. W. Senior, from 1834 to 1859. 2 vols. 553 47
N. Testament. Clark, R. L. and others, Eds. Variorium Edition of the N. Testament. 51 17
Comparative Edition of the N. Testament. 51 19
Lightfoot, J. B. and others. Revision of the English Version of the New Testament. 51 18

POETRY, ETC.

Brandram, S. Selected Plays from Shakespeare. 271 38
Carlton, W. Farm Festivals. 295 41
Heine, H. Poems and Ballads. 833 32
Piatt, J. J. Idyls and Lyrics of the Ohio Valley. 291 3

SCIENCE.

Chambers, G. F. Cycle of Celestial Objects. 652 37
Peirce, B. Ideality in the Physical Sciences. 645 33
Hervey, A. B. Sea Mosses. 670 43
Tyler, E. B. Anthropology. 694 63

MISCELLANEOUS.

Bright, H. A. English Flower Garden. 661 46
Dahlgren, Mrs. Etiquette in Social life in Washington. 40 61
Greener, W. W. The Gun and its development. 631 24
Oakey, A. F. Home Grounds. 661 47
Oakey, Mrs. Beauty in Dress. 612 63
Poynter, E. J., Ed. German, Flemish and Dutch Painting. 568 60
Sewell, E. M. Note Book of an Elderly Lady. 31 77
Woolever, A. Treasury of Wisdom, Wit and Humor. 220 9

Dean Stanley.

Dean Stanley, who died last week, was the most distinguished representative clergyman of the Established Church of England. He believed in the Church; he had faith in its goodness; he put trust in God. He was the favorite of the people, of royalty, of scholars. He was greater and stronger than a bishop or an archbishop, because he was very manly. He was manly in that he believed in fairness, and justice, and equal rights, and hated pretense, assumption and show. Of course, then, he was a liberal of the liberals. He was not a favorite with the Pharisee element in the Church. They feared and hated him.

Dean Stanley was a great favorite with Dissenters. He could not see that a Churchman was any better than a Dissenter. He freely attended the public services in dissenting "chapels" and spoke from their pulpits. He was fond of speaking of Dissenters as Churchmen somewhat out of their true relations. He wanted to bring together all believers in the nation into a single body, with no detriment to their private liberty. As he put on no lofty airs with those who are for their dissent under a certain social and religious disadvantage in England, he was a favorite with them.

Dean Stanley was an ecclesiastical scholar, and he had a deep sense of contempt for the trivialities of ecclesiastical rite and millinery, of which a class in his Church make so much. He knew very well that the meanings put by Ritualists upon garments have no historical basis, and he was thoroughly ashamed and angry at the nonsense, and he expressed himself accordingly. His mind was strong enough to look through the form and seek the substance; and he could see where the real struggle was and he had no patience with those who were putting colored patches on old clothes. Hence, he was a leader of the younger generation of scholars, who viewed him with something of that worship which a generation ago was felt for Carlyle.

The one thing lacking in Dean Stanley's record has relation to a very important matter. While it is, doubtless, true that he that feareth God and worketh righteousness will be accepted of God, whatever may be his relation to Christianity, yet historical Christianity has its place of infinite importance in the economy of redemption, and that embraces as its chief feature the supernatural—namely, the miracles and resurrection of Jesus Christ; but we fail to recall evidence in his writings that Dean Stanley was a believer in the supernatural history of Jesus Christ. He seems to speak in such a way as to leave it in doubt what was his belief. We question whether he ever satisfied his own mind on this subject. His sympathies seem to have been too much with the wing of the English Church called "Broad," a word in England used of a latitudinarian faith, rather than, as here, of breadth of comprehension. This phase of his influence we deeply regret; and doubt if Baptists and Presbyterians and others who have been charmed by his fraternal Christian fellowship and his frank acceptance of their right scholarly positions, have not been too ready to condone his lack of positive expressed faith. We should like to omit this criticism on the writings of a man whom we so much admire; but it cannot be passed by in a fair review of his life. But this does not detract from the value of his writings, for the objects which they intended, nor from the spiritual profit with which they are read.—N. Y. Independent.

WHAT WE HATE.—We hate growling, and recommend herewith the remedy. Use St. Jacobs Oil and laugh at pain. It will do the work every time. —St. Paul Pioneer Press.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

—AT—

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.

jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,
also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards.

OFFICE IN PEABODY:
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:
Second Door West of Hay Scales.

apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.

feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.

my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.

je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS A. ROPES.
218 and 222 Derby Street.

nov 24

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.  WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

—AT—

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES,

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

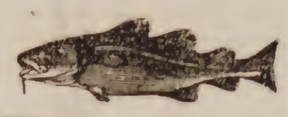
KEROSENE LAMPS. Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps, Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.



A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.

aug 17

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

—FOR—

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

—AT THE—

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

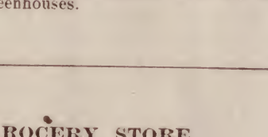
Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.



He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,

Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass.

dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

—AND—

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. Job PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, exam- etc. ine,

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partiespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

GENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT. New York. Chemists.

"IT'S ONLY A COLD" has sent thousands to premature graves. A cold stops up the avenues of the system, and disease must result. Neglected, most violent remedies must be used to remove the obstruction. Taken timely, a few doses of

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

will carry off naturally the cause of the suffering, and save days, months, or even years of suffering.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT.

COMER'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

is the oldest institution of its class in America. It still continues to give superior instruction in all the Commercial Branches. Over Two Hundred of its graduates were assisted to suitable Employment last year, which vouches for its high standing with business men. Send for the latest catalogue. 666 Washington street, corner of Beach St., Boston, Mass.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of
J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

—

BLACK CASHMERES.

A Special Bargain

— IN —

BLACK CASHMERES,

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

4 1-2 Cents.

Good Prints 4 1-2 Cents per yard.

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

THE COMFORT CORSET.

The Best Corset made. Suits every time.

BARGAINS

In every Department to reduce stock.

Prices Lower than the Lowest.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 17, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.

THE LATEST news received from the bedside of the President seems more hopeful. The wound appears to be doing well, and the surgeons still have hope that, if the rest which his stomach has had for the last forty-eight hours will enable it to once more resume its functions, he may pull through. It cannot be denied that his condition is extremely critical—more so, perhaps, than at any time during his illness.—Many of our people who have heretofore felt that he would recover have lost courage this week. Dr. Bliss is the most cheerful of any of the President's attendants, and has succeeded in inspiring others with some of his confidence. We can only hope and wait.—It is probable that the events of the next twenty-four hours will decide the issue between life and death. Meanwhile, the anxiety of the entire country is intensified by every bulletin, and the result, if fatal, will not be unexpected.

The Liquor Question.

The removal of Mr. Faxon by the Selectmen of Quincy, from his position as special police officer for the enforcement of the liquor law, to which he was elected by a vote of the town, has caused much comment there and elsewhere. The radical position this gentleman has taken on the temperance question, the sincerity of which we think is beyond question, gives special prominence to it at this time. It is doubted by some whether the Selectmen did not exceed their power in thus deposing him, inasmuch as he was not appointed by them, but elected by a direct vote of the people of his town. The cause of complaint given was that Mr. Faxon prosecuted with vigor some of the liquor sellers, and was actuated by feelings of revenge and spite against them, while other alleged violaters of the law escaped.—This Mr. Faxon denies, and it has been well said that this point should have been overcome by the Selectmen, were they anxious to see the law enforced, by taking measuring and directing special efforts themselves against those who were known to them to be illegally selling intoxicants, and whom they claim Faxon did not prosecute. It is frequently the case that in taking special measures and electing special officers to enforce any law, too much is left to the party so chosen, leading to indifference and even neglect on the part of those whose duty it is to be equally interested and vigilant. Mr. Faxon claims that he can do as much good, and wage war equally against the rumsellers, in his capacity as a private citizen.

The trouble which has thus arisen shows one of two things: either that the Selectmen are not in earnest in their attempts to enforce the law, or that the influence of those interested in the traffic and who are opposed to its enforcement has been brought to bear successfully on them. We think it probable that both of these causes have contributed to the result. We think Mr. Faxon is in the work from principle, and however radical he may be, we think, if the law is to be enforced, he should be upheld and supported in all his attempts in that direction.

It is also evident that a strict enforcement of this law in this town would meet with considerable opposition, as it has already. There have been a few demonstrations, and a few seizures and arrests. But it is well known that liquor is still sold in these places, and in some cases within fifteen minutes after the departure of the officers. If the Selectmen or the temperance people mean to suppress the liquor traffic within the limits of those to whom they have granted licenses, they are certainly making very slow progress. We don't know of a single instance where they have closed up a dram shop, and there have been new ones added since the time for the enforcement of the law. We believe many, if not most, of these unlicensed shops could be closed; only, though, by persistent and hard work, necessitating, perhaps, the arrest of the parties several times in the same day. But if the traffic is to be restricted within certain limits—and on this platform the Selectmen have taken their stand—we should like to see it done. If it is not to be thus, we see no reason why all the liquor sellers should not be licensed, and no attempts be made to prevent the sale.

WE are informed that our School Committee have decided to admit to the Peabody High School the applicants whose percentage in the examination did not entitle them to such admission. It is understood that if they keep up in their studies with the rest of the class they will be allowed to remain. What will happen if they do not, or by what standard they will be judged in comparison with those who passed the satisfactory examination, does not appear. It is probable that this will be the last that will be heard of the matter, and very likely they will stand as well in their class as their fellow-classmates who were more fortunate in passing the examination. This is as it should be, and we are glad that our Committee have taken this step, as it is one that should receive the commendation of all. These examinations for admission to High Schools are, in the majority of cases, a farce. Many of the applicants fail from nervousness, undue excitement and other causes, who are good scholars, and others succeed from a certain amount of drill in a line of questions which are almost sure to be propounded at these examinations. This is a step in the right direction by the School Board; and if they go farther and abolish the competitive examination for the High School altogether, they will do a still wiser thing.

THE Charleston S. C. Courier a short time ago found fault with what they judged was an apathetic feeling on the part of the blacks in that state, in regard to the assassination of President Garfield. They resented the imputation, and called meetings and expressed their sympathy in appropriate resolutions. This shows in a measure the state of affairs in the Southern states. With all the warmth of their Southern nature, they have been more expressive in their sympathies than we of the North, and the warmest adulations appear to have come from the political opponents of the President. We shall not be surprised to see in this a signal of the breaking up of the so-called "Solid South," nor to see the approaching conventions and elections arrayed in an unmistakable manner in favor of the principles of the Administration and under which Gen. Garfield was elected. Indications of this are seen in the action of the Southern democrats in Virginia. They have come out in their platform strongly against repudiation, and in favor of "freedom of the press," "freedom of person" and "the election for public offices of those who are honest and best fitted to fill them." There is no tinge of the "greenback heresy" so prevalent in some portions of the democratic party hree; and it shows that the leaders of that party in the South find it necessary to take higher ground than before in their platforms to prevent their being entirely swept away before the incoming tide of Administration following.

THIS WEEK the Camp Meeting at Asbury Grove, Hamilton, will interest and attract our Methodist people from this town and vicinity; this is also the week for the Methodist Camp Meeting at Martha's Vineyard. In both of these places, for numbers of weeks, the cottages have been filled with visitors. They are beautiful places of summer resort, and the Vineyard more especially has attractions for its visitors outside of the camp meeting element.—The time was, not many years ago, when these seasons were looked upon with interest and great attention by those in sympathy with the object for which the meetings were held. We think this time has, in a great measure, passed. As a means of social enjoyment, recreation, and vacation, no pleasanter place of resort can be found than these and other grove meetings held by them and other religious denominations in different portions of the country. As such, they are to be commended, encouraged and enjoyed. Opportunity is also afforded to hear the best and ablest speakers, and if this were all that was attempted, we think equal good would be accomplished and the interest in the meetings intensified.

IT IS REPORTED

That watermelons were sold on the streets last week for 15 cents.

That the colic was thrown in for nothing.

That those on Thomas' windows look very inviting.

That we haven't been invited to try them.

That a singular phenomenon occurred in this town last Friday night.

That a late train passed through this town that night in the Eastern R. R.

That this is the first time for years that such a thing has happened.

That a public drinking fountain near the head of Foster St. would be desirable.

That the only drink easily accessible in that locality is to be had at the Washington House.

That the Woburn Advertiser says the average attendance at one of the churches in that town is 8 1-3 adults and 4 2-3 children.

That the official records give the number of communicants as 85.

That there must be something wrong somewhere.

That it is quite a walk to high bridge, where the boys go in for a swim.

That the refreshing comfort to be had from a salt water bath will compensate for the walk.

That Roscoe Conkling has learned wisdom from experience.

That he can now enter the lecture field.

That there are "millions in it."

That the Queen of the Turf reduced her record at Rochester, N. Y. on Thursday.

That Maud S. trotted a mile in 2 10 1-4.

That some of our barbers run lawn mowers over the heads of their customers.

That they finish up the job by sandpapering.

That they have a female blacksmith in Virginia.

That our neighbor came very near giving us one here last week.

That the city auditor's report of Boston says: "For entertaining John Kelly of New York, $94.10.

That editors are usually "left" on such occasions.

That Dr. Agnew is no respecter of persons.

That he held that the lives of two poor men with broken skulls in his Philadelphia practice required his presence more than the President.

That the name of S. C. Bancroft is on the list of the official members of Massachusetts Press Association, for 1881-2.

That members of the association must be editors or publishers of a paper.

That the gentleman mentioned must be the editor and proprietor of the sheet called the Reporter.

That we thought so.

That it is expected that the Soldiers' Monument will be ready for dedication about the middle of September.

That our G. A. R. post will not have charge of the arrangements.

ROCK AND RYE. — There are all sorts of dodges by which laws relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors are avoided. Prohibition does not prohibit, and even under the most stringent license law there are doubtless many unlicensed places of sale. The United States excise laws are more strictly enforced, and are better observed; but there are moonshiners at the South, whiskey frauds at the North, and liquor sold as medicines everywhere. One of the dodges to escape taxation was that sovereign remedy for colds, coughs and consumption, "Rock and Rye." Whiskey and sugar would hardly go down with the Treasury Department, though it would with a multitude of drinking people, but Rock and Rye had a sort of medicinal sound, and for some time it was sold as a medicine, and many of those who sold it escaped the rectifiers' and the dealers' licenses. Rock and Rye became quite the rage in most parts of the country, and it seemed as if fifty millions of people had suddenly been stricken with coughs, colds and consumption, so that their systems needed toning up with this new and highly popular remedy. The internal revenue commissioner put his eye to the bottle, smelt of the tumbler, concluded that it had a familiar odor more suggestive of convivial parties than of a sick bed, and so he decided that Rock and Rye was not a medicine within the meaning of the law, but that the manufacturer required a rectifiers' license, and all the other processes of getting it from the still house to the drinking glass must be paid for, just like any ordinary tipple. So it is not likely to be as popular as it was. — Newburyport Herald.

ASBURY GROVE CAMP MEETING commenced on Monday last and closes on Saturday, Presiding Elder Crowell having charge of the meetings. Tickets, exchangeable for free return passes at the depot at the grove, will be sold at the Eastern depot. They must be exchanged in each instance for return passes, and passengers are warned that unless so exchanged, the full return fare will be collected.

Camp meeting trains will run as follows:

Leave Salem for Asbury grove, at 8.10, 9.20, and 11.30 A.M., and 3.50, 5.15 and 8.28 P.M.

Leave Asbury Grove for Salem at 6.40, 7.20, 8.15, 8.45, and 10.15 A. M., and 3, 5.15, 6, and 9.30 P. M.

South Reading Branch trains will connect at Salem with trains for the Grove. The train leaving Salem at 9.20 A. M. will stop to take passengers at North River Depot from the Salem and Lowell Railroad, and the 3 P. M. train from Asbury Grove connects at the North River depot with the train for Lowell.

THE New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute Fair will open in Boston to-morrow (Thursday) at 11 o'clock. The exhibition will be opened by Gov. Long, and an oration will be delivered by Dr. George B. Loring.—The admission will be only twenty-five cents, and at this price can surely be enjoyed by all. Mr. David T. Winter, of this town, will exhibit his improved measuring machine, which he has already set up in the building, he being, we are informed, one of the first exhibitors on hand.

Summer Saunterers.

We published last week the names of those who attended the Unitarian camp meeting at Weirs, N. H., as far as we could obtain them. Since then we have been enabled to obtain a full list, viz:

A. B. Merrill, wife and two daughters; Charles H. Dodge, wife, son and daughter; Wm. H. Brown, Mrs. Thos. Brown, F. W. Stanley, Warren Wilson Jr., Miss Hattie Stanley, Miss Mary Forness, Miss Carrie Upton, Miss Lucy L. Symonds, Mrs. E. M. Little, Miss A. A. Little, Mrs. P. T. Nelson, Mrs. S. P. Kittredge and daughter, A. W. Bancroft, wife and daughter; Miss L. Maria Winchester, Mrs. Russell of Boston, Miss Nettie Cook, S. A. Southwick, wife and daughter.

The following Peabody parties are at Asbury Grove: Rev. Dr. Steele and family, Mrs. J. S. Paul, Mrs. Malachi Batchelder, Mrs. L. F. Moulton, Mrs. Judith Buxton, Mrs. Sarah Buxton, Mrs. N. Perkins, Mrs. Humphrey, Mr. John Steele and family, Peter Sim and family, Miss Sadie Warner, Miss Hattie Saunders.

Miss L. Flora Howard is stopping at Marblehead Neck, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Osborn.

Willie Gray and Edw. Porter are taking a trip to Yarmouth.

Eben I. Kimball and family returned from camping out at Baker's Island on Saturday last.

John O. Buxton, Jesse Barrett, and several other Peabody boys, have been camping out at Ipswich Neck.

Capts. John and Frank Beadle are at the home of their father on Lowell St.

Miss Nellie Miles, of Lynn, an accomplished violinist, is spending her vacation at the residence of Hervey Larrabee in South Peabody.

Nathan Lakeman is spending a week on the coast of Maine.

Thos. M. Stimpson is at Waterville, N. H.

Dr. G. W. Haley and wife will spend a month at Bath, Me.

Sylvanus L. Newhall has returned from his vacation at the Isles of Shoals and along the coast of Maine.

James N. Ham and sister, Mrs. C. L. Sanborn, are at Lewiston, Me.

E. C. Spofford, wife and son, and F. A. Pemberton and wife, are rusticating among the mountains of New Hampshire.

Miss Nettie Swett has returned from a visit to West Poland, Me.

John J. Heylingberg spent several days down on Cape Cod last week.

Herbert Gardner of Leominster was in town Sunday.

Perley King visited Weir's Landing, N. H., recently.

Miss Anna D. Smith will spend her vacation at Tamworth Iron Works, N. H.

Miss Hattie Chase is at Cottage City, Martha's Vineyard.

Miss Grace Jenkins is at Tamworth Iron Works, N. H.

Miss Grace Stevens is spending her vacation at Concord, N. H.

Miss Alice Maud Perkins is rusticating at Wells Beach, Me.

Mrs. Samuel Swett and Miss Carrie Trask left for Wolfboro, N. H., yesterday.

Herbert Farwell has left for Chicago.

Mrs. Geo. A. Whitney and Miss Laura P. Whitney started to-day for Western Massachusetts, where they will remain two weeks.

The families of James E. Smith and James Putnam, together with Mrs. Brown and son, are camping at Baker's Island.

Mrs. Joseph W. Reed spent her vacation at Sandwich, N. H.

Mrs. Albert Poor is in Sandwich, N. H.

Miss Susie Newhall, daughter of David M. Newhall, is spending her vacation at Beach Bluff.

Police officer Ferren is taking a vacation.

Edward Kavanagh Jr. will spend his vacation at Jefferson, N. H.

We were pleased to hear, through Mr. H. M. Osborn, Jr., on his return from Fabyan's, from our genial friend, W. H. H. Cowles, whose pleasant acquaintance we made at Sunapee, N. H., last summer.

New Advertisements.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Essex, ss.

Taken on execution and will be sold at Public Auction, on Saturday, September 17, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the office of the undersigned, in Post Office Building, in Salem, in said county, all the right in equity that ALFRED F. WHEELER, of Peabody, in said county, has this day to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate, to wit: A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Peabody and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on Main street, by land of Amos Osborn, and running southerly by said land and land of Eliza D. Clement, 178 feet, more or less, to land of Joseph Hamilton; thence westerly by said land of Hamilton 40 feet, more or less, to a lane 12 feet wide leading from Main street to Summer street, by the premises; and thence by said lane 178 feet, more or less, to said Main street; and thence easterly by said Main street 40 feet, more or less, to point begun at. Also all of said Wheeler's right, title and interest in said lane on the westerly side of said premises.

SAMUEL A. JOHNSON,
aug 17—3w Deputy Sheriff.

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low.
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots.

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers.

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MINING, MILLING

AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125,000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock, 250,000 shares
Common Stock, 125,000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs. Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines, and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury. 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.
jy 20—3m

WHITE MOUNTAIN

EXCURSIONS,

VIA THE

Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,

WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.

GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my carrying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.
aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

HORSE FOR SALE.

A LARGE, BAY, FAMILY HORSE,

With black points, very stylish, good age, all seasoned, and will work well in any place.
Can be seen and driven at DANIEL PROCTOR FARM, Near Proctor's Crossing, Peabody.
aug 10—3w

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,
FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Cold!

Frost!

Overcoats!

Spring Ulsters!

Good weather for Camp Meeting!

Has the new comet anything to do with it?

The lamp posts are being painted by Mr. B. F. Woodbury.

When you go off on your vacation have the PRESS sent to you.

The tax-bills have been put out—mostly through the Post-office.

Our thanks are extended to Jonathan E. Osborn for some fine native peaches.

The Upton buildings on Foster street, are being improved in both appearance and value.

A large and fine looking lot of watermelons fill the window at C. A. Thomas' market.

Venner has hit it this time. Cold and frosty. Good weather for picnics and camp meetings.

The familiar face of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham greets us at every corner—pasted on the fence.

The Clipper base ball club of Peabody, was defeated by the Topsfield club last Saturday. Score 8 to 2.

Now is the time to lay in your coal. The dealers say that the price of the black diamonds will surely advance.

The covered brook that follows along Walnut street is being cleared under the direction of the Board of Health.

Joseph Wiggin of So. Peabody, left home last Friday, and his wife and friends are anxious to hear from him.

C. O. Stone took a barge-load, consisting of the shops' crew of C. C. Farwell, of Danvers, to Nahant Saturday.

Needed improvements have been made in the sidewalk in front of Dr. Worcester's residence on Foster street.

The plank covering of the brook near Hardy's tannery, which fell in the other day, is being replaced by a new one.

Gorman, of Peabody, the pedestrian, won the prize at the running match at the Salem Boat Club picnic last Thursday.

Mr. Joseph S. Hodgkins lost his large black horse by death last week. This was a fine family horse and quite valuable.

We had the pleasure of receiving a call last week from our brother Francis Proctor, of the Cape Ann Advertiser, of Gloucester.

The roofs of several of the residences in the vicinity, and the currying shop of Mr. A. A. Messer, on Wallis street, have been recently painted.

Monday afternoon a lad named Ryan, living on Mt. Vernon street, was quite severely injured in the face and arms by the explosion of some powder he was playing with.

Jas. E. Trask of this town, and H. S. Strout of Salem, have purchased the Goodrich estate at So. Peabody with intention of engaging in the pork packing business.

A swarm of bees settled at the residence of Mrs. Clement last Wednesday, and were successfully hived by Mr. Richard Hurley, the gardener, although he was somewhat stung.

A splitter named Murphy, living on Mt. Vernon street, and employed at Brown & Stanley's, caught his foot in the shafting, Saturday, inflicting slight, though painful injuries.

Mr. Geo. Wilson's horse has been sick for some time, and was shot this morning by Mr. A. L. Ames' teamster. Mr. A. F. Clark also lost a horse recently by choking to death.

A teamster named McCarthy, in the employ of Munroe & Arnold, while at work on Foster street, fell from his seat and came down behind the horses, and received painful injuries by being kicked by them.

Another prize from the Salem boat club picnic would have come to Peabody if Mr. Frank Wilson, the single scull oarsmen, had not been barred out, because of a misunderstanding about his entering.

Chas. Giles, while cutting grass on the farm of William Hayes recently, struck his scythe into a large rattlesnake. After procuring a stick he killed the snake, which measured 4 ft. and 9 in., and had 3 rattles.

Last Saturday evening our lightning compositor, Fred Williams, while swimming at the High Bridge, sank from sight. Our devil, who was with him, heroically plunged in and rescued (?) him from a watery grave.

Mr. Eben Sutton Lord, for several years past with Starr C. Hewitt, has purchased the store of Henry C. Hewitt at Danvers, Mr. H. being obliged to give up the business on account of ill health. We wish him success.

A drunken row took place about a quarter before one, on Monday, near the foot of English street, in which some half a dozen people were engaged. It was witnessed by a large crowd, who seemed to enjoy the disgraceful sight.

Nothing new has been learned about Mr. Berry, the Great Falls man, who committed suicide at West Peabody last week. His brother was in town and had the remains conveyed to that place. No reason can be assigned for the act.

A large party of friends of Mrs. Martha Basford visited her residence on Wednesday evening, and witnessed the blooming of a Night Blooming Cereus. It began to blossom early in the evening, and when in full bloom was very beautiful and fragrant.

Workmen have been planting lamp posts about town the past week; about 90 new ones have been set up 20 of which will burn gas and the rest oil. There were previous to this 29 street lamps burning gas and 47 burning oil. The total number in town is 166.

Those who visit the Point of Pines will be glad to know that the tickets to that point sold by the Eastern or Revere Beach roads are good either way. That is, you can buy a round trip ticket on the Eastern from Lynn, and come back to Lynn on the Revere Beach with the same ticket.

People who travel on Lynn street, So. Peabody, in the vicinity of Brown's Pond, are disgusted at the sickening smell arising from a lot of decayed fish, which have been dumped by the wayside by fish peddlers, a number of times lately. The health committee should be notified, and such proceedings stopped.

Work on the Water Works is progressing. The work of excavating for the stand-pipe on Buxton's Hill commenced on Wednesday morning, and work has commenced on the foundation of the pumping station at the head of Foster street. Trenches for the water pipe on Mt. Vernon street are being dug.

Twenty-five lunatics in a car on a side track near the depot, last Thursday, called a large number of the standing committee to the spot, and when an extra loud noise was made, or a window broken, that dignified body had something to talk about for the next half day. They came from Danvers, and were attached to the Lowell train and taken to Tewksbury.

Quite a number of Peabody's young men pretend to go fishing, but seldom catch anything, although they tell with what patience they waited for a bite. Josh Billings says pashence iz a good thing for a man to hav, but when he hez got so much ov it that he kan fish all day over the side ov a boat without eny bait on his hook, lazyness is what's the matter ov him.

Prof. Gardner, of Connecticut, delivered a lecture on Temperance, in the Methodist Church, last Sunday evening. It was not generally known that such an address was to be delivered, still a large audience listened to the speaker, who held the close attention of the audience. Our correspondent, in another column, gives a graphic description of his style, to which we refer our readers.

Naumkeag Encampment No. 13, I. O. O. F., left Salem this morning at 9.20, on an excursion to Worcester, and will attend a reception by Wachusett Encampment of that city. Among the number are the following gentlemen from this town: Wm. F. Sawyer, David Brown, John O. Buxton, James Buxton, Joseph Forness and S. S. Littlefield.

The Spiritualists have again secured the services of Hattie M. Wells for Sunday evening, Aug. 21st, at Ashland Hall (over B. F. Hutchinson's store,) commencing at 7.45 o'clock. Those who did not hear her last Sunday missed a rare intellectual treat. As an inspirational speaker she has few equals. Don't fail to hear her.

Why isn't it tolerably comfortable here at home? and are those who take up their abode at the sea shore any better off there, than those who remain behind? As we can't get away, let's try to believe we are better off at home. Peabody has more summer visitors this year than have been here at any former season. There is even at the present time a demand for board at West Peabody and Lynnfield.

The Soldiers' Monument committee have decided to take entire charge of the dedication exercises and we learn that it will be in place about the first of next month and will be dedicated soon after. The committee have decided to invite all the G. A. R. Posts in Essex county to take part in the parade; also the Governor and staff and other dignitaries. The committee will do all in their power to make this a glorious day and one that in future years will be looked back upon as a fitting recognition of the appreciation of the devotion and heroism of the honored dead, to whom this monument is dedicated.—The committee have some money left from the appropriation, which they will probably use in defraying the dedication expenses.

The alarm of fire at a quarter before two o'clock on Sunday morning, was caused by the burning of the tool shop of Linehan & Putnam, at their ledge in the rear of Washington street. A few tools were burned, and the fire was of incendiary origin. Mr. Putnam had a large quantity of powder stored there till about the fourth of July, when fearing it would be set on fire, he removed it, and it had not been returned.

Mr. A. W. Jones is trying to protect the roof over his head by having the shingles of his shop painted with a new patent shingle-preserving, roof-protecting and lumber-saving paint. But this will not prevent Mr. Jones from attending to all calls for anything in the line of edge tools or general jobbing, which will always receive his prompt attention and be done in a thorough manner. If you want anything, remember him.

The passengers on the 7 o'clock train for Boston, Friday morning, witnessed the following narrow escape. Shortly after leaving the depot, a man was seen walking along the track, and as the train approached he stepped across to the other track. Just as he did so, the Lawrence train came thundering along on that track, and everybody expected to see the man crushed to death. But becoming conscious of his danger he jumped into the brook that runs beside the track and thus escaped a fearful death.

The work of laying the trench pipes on Mt. Vernon street for the High Service is rapidly progressing. Considerable difficulty was experienced in blasting the huge ledge of which the entire hill is formed. A large number of men are engaged here, and this obstruction is rapidly disappearing before them. Similar difficulties will be experienced on nearly every street in that neighborhood, but it is believed that this road is the worst. Considerable annoyance is caused to the residents of Mt. Vernon street by the escape of gas, and even during the hot days they were obliged to keep windows and doors tightly closed.

We have been shown by Mr. John A. Enos a curiosity in the shape of a check on the Bank of Commerce, dated at New York, Sept. 30, 1841, and signed by the Confederate general, Robert E. Lee, at that time Captain of Engineers. It was made payable to James C. Church on account of Fort Lafayette, and is for the amount of $94.92. Mr. Enos was a telegraph operator at the South during the war, and at one time visited the home of Lee after it had been deserted, and thus obtained this check. The writing and the General's autograph are very distinct.

On Thursday evening of this week, there will be a grand pyrotechnic display, at the Willows, Salem, and unlike anything before attempted. An immense Naumkeag Indian, ten feet in height, illustrating the enterprise of the Naumkeag Clothing House; a mammoth hat for Mr. C. F. Pickering; a colossal bee-hive for Mr. Frank Cousins, and a boot of the largest size for the New England Boot and Shoe Company, will be included among the set pieces. Nothing more tasteful and beautiful has been shown this season than Neptune's car, at the Willows, on Thursday evening.

As the writer of this item was passing from the depot to the platform by the side of Vaughn's coffin mill, shortly after 10 o'clock last evening, he saw by the light of the switch lamp an indistinct mass lying across the track just beyond the switch. Remembering that it was about time for the "shifter," he went to the spot to remove the obstruction, which he supposed was a sleeper, but it proved to be a man in a helpless state of intoxication stretched across the track. After giving him a thorough shaking, and informing him of his dangerous condition, it seemed to sober him somewhat, and after seeing him safely started in the direction of "Dublin," left him to take care of himself. The man said his name was Daniel Sweeney, and that he used to live in Woburn.

POLICE NOTES. — Aug. 10, John Burke, for being drunk, was fined $5.85.

Budger Melody, for being drunk, went to Salem Jail, being unable to pay a fine of $4.95.

Mary J. Carney, charged with keeping liquors with intent to sell, fined $50 and costs.

15, James Hammond and Thomas Brown of Salem, for malicious trespass, $2.75 each.

Thomas Noonan, keeping liquor with intent to sell, $50 and costs.

"I'm not very proud of your progress in school," remarked a New Haven mother to her son who was struggling along in grade five. "There's Charley Smart is way ahead of you, and he isn't as old."

"I know it. Teacher said he'd learned all there was to learn in my room, and that left me without anything to learn." Guess the boy will keep.—New Haven Register.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

HAMILTON

CAMP MEETING!

The annual Camp-Meeting at

ASBURY GROVE, HAMILTON, MASS.,

Will commence on

MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1881

and close on SATURDAY, the 20th.

The first service will be held at 2 P. M., Monday. Rev. Dr. Crowell will have charge of the meeting.

The Association will have charge of the Boarding arrangements as usual, and hope to make it entirely satisfactory to all. Board for 5 days $4.50, or $1.00 per day.

Address all mail matter to "Asbury Grove, Mass."

The Store and Post Office are now open. Meat, Fish, Vegetables and Milk are furnished to residents daily, and the bakery is open.

Barges at Wenham depot at every train. Buy "Camp Meeting" tickets and get them exchanged at Post Office, before leaving the grounds. Persons wishing to rent cottages may address GEORGE C. RANKINS, Asbury Grove, Mass. For the Association, aug 3 JAS. P. MAGEE, Treas.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of RICHARD LORING, late of Peabody, in said county, carpenter, deceased:

Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George E. Luscombe, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to him, the executor therein named having declined to accept said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have against the same.

And said George E. Luscombe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

a3—3t J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of

Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK, aug 3 30 Holten street.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

WE ANNOUNCE

To the business men of Peabody and Salem, a large and complete stock of

Tanners', Curriers', Morocco and Sheep Skin Manufacturers'

SUPPLIES:

COBB LIME,

(By cask or car load.)

SICILY & AMERICAN SUMAC,

Logwood of all qualities.

COCHINEAL,

Pure Cider Vinegar,

Turks Island, Cadiz & Liverpool SALT,

ALUM, COPPERAS, WHITING,

EMERY,

Pearlash, Gum Arabic,

BI-CHROMATE, BLUE VITRIOL,

Neat's-Foot, Lard, Lubricating, Sperm, Paraffine & Currier's

OILS.

The above quoted articles (and many more) we are buying direct from the Manufacturers; therefore we guarantee to all everything at the

LOWEST QUOTED MARKET VALUE.

Thanking our citizens for their present liberal patronage, we hope by untiring energy, strict business principles, and prompt delivery of orders, to merit a still larger share of patronage.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

FINE STATIONERY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,

IN GREAT VARIETY,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES,

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,

— AT —

SWAIN'S,

220 Essex St., Salem.

jy 27

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

WANTED

A few Boarders. Mrs. M. A. DOW No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW.

UNDERWEAR

At prices which throw all previous offerings into the shade, will be the Feature of next week, commencing MONDAY, AUG. 15, at ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER'S, on the second floor of their store. Having just completed the purchase of an entire New York Manufacturer's stock of COTTON UNDERWEAR, we are determined to offer such Goods at such prices that Ladies will feel compelled, in justice to themselves and their pocket books, to come and look at them. This is all we ask. The Centre Counter on second floor will be filled with an assortment of Ladies' Night Dresses, Chemises, Drawers and Corset Covers in sufficient variety to stock an ordinary store, all of which will be offered at one uniform price. We shall also occupy for this Sale enough additional room to make two other immense showings, each lot at a uniform price; in fact the entire Stock will be divided into 3 lots and sold at 3 prices. There is not a single piece in the entire lot that could be duplicated for double the money; there are very few pieces that could be bought for three times the prices at which we shall offer them; in short, we mean to make this the Underwear Sale of the year, and no mistake about it. The goods are first class; the stock is very large; the prices which we shall put upon the goods will be ridiculously low; and any lady who fails to secure an outfit for a year for one-third its usual cost, will have only herself to thank for it. The Sale will commence each day at 10 o'clock A. M., for one week, commencing Monday, August 15.

We announce this extraordinary sale of Ladies' Cotton Underwear one week in advance, in order that all our customers out of town, at the beach, or elsewhere, may have an equal opportunity with those living in the city.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM, MASS.

☞ Orders sent by mail, and left at our discretion, will be filled with fidelity and despatch.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale.

— OF —

MEN'S, YOUTHS',

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

Fine and Medium

Clothing,

BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

We shall offer for the next Thirty Days

BARGAINS IN MEN'S CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN BOYS' CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN YOUTHS' CLOTHING!

ALSO IN CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Opposite the Essex House.

Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

FERNALD & SAWYER'S ADVERTISEMENT.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT!

We offer as Rare Bargains,

FOR THE NEXT TEN DAYS,

A few Specialties, which we have secured at very low prices.

LOT 1. 1000 yards of Light Dotted Cambrics in remnants, which we shall sell at 7 cts, per yard. These goods are just the thing to make up for Children's wear, and usually sold at 12 1-2 cts. per yard.

LOT 2. 1000 yards of extra fine Shirting Cambrics, in remnants, at 10 cts. per yard, which in regular goods are worth 25c per yard. This is a genuine bargain.

LOT 3. 100 dozen 200-yard Spool Linen Thread, in black and white, all numbers, at the extraordinary low price of 5 cts. per spool. We warrant this thread to be of good quality and strong—and it is sold at other stores for 8 and 10 cents.

We are also giving extra bargains every day in our

DOMESTIC DEPARTMENT.

Our 7c UNBLEACHED COTTON, yard wide, cannot be matched in quality at any store in this town or Salem, at the same price.

And we guarantee to give you as low prices on our entire stock of

Cottons, Towels, Table Linens, Hosiery, Gloves, Buttons, Ribbons, Trimmings, Braids, &c.

as any store in Salem or Boston.. Our assortment of goods is large and complete in every respect.

Fernald & Sawyer,

48 Main Street, Peabody.

Anecdotes.

MRS. CARLYLE.

She was a helpmate to Carlyle in every way, shared his studies, entered into his literary ambitions, and often wrote his manuscripts. Her calligraphy was good; it was a clear hand; I always found it easy to read, and whether she recorded trivial matters or serious ones she always managed to make herself deeply interesting. Her very sudden death threw a deep gloom over the hearts of her old friends in Haddington, her native town; and it was to the house of one of those that her remains were brought from London and kept for a night till the funeral took place.

The epitaph on her gravestone is in every respect a true one. Some years after her death, her husband made a journey to Haddington that he might revisit her tomb, and when every one was wrapped in sleep he came and walked round the old house where his wife was born, and which had been so dear to her own loving heart.

Mrs. Carlyle's sudden death had something singularly pathetic about it. A friend who had occasion to leave London for some time confided to Mrs. Carlyle her pet dog. Driving one day in Hyde Park about four o'clock, she was greatly alarmed to see the little creature, which had been following alongside the brougham, run over by a carriage. It was lifted in beside her, little the worse for the accident, and the driver again moved on. The latter, however, receiving no call or directions from his mistress, as was usual, stopped to discover the reason, and was alarmed to find Mrs. Carlyle, as he thought, in a fit. He drove at once to St. George's Hospital, when it was disoovered that she had been dead for some time. Her last act had been an impulse of tenderness toward a dumb animal.

This sad event took place on 21st April, 1866, while Mr. Carlyle was in Scotland, whither he had gone to deliver his rectorial address to the Edinburgh students. He returned immediately to London after the receipt of the dreadful news, and we can picture to ourselves the wild desolation of her husband's stricken spirit as he looked upon all that was mortal of his beloved wife. The quick, impulsive heart that made her so lovable, stilled for ever—"the light of his life gone out," never to be kindled again.

Charles Dickens held Mrs. Carlyle in high esteem. His last interview with her was only a few weeks before her death. It was at the house of Mr. John Forster, and she came in flourishing a telegram in her hand, which she had just received from Professor Tyndall, telling her in a couple of ardent words of her husband's success in the delivery of his rectorial address at Edinburgh. In the course of the evening she communicated to Dickens the outline of what she considered might be made the subject of a novel, from what she had herself observed at the outside of a house in her street in Chelsea; of which the various incidents were drawn from the condition of its blinds and curtains, the costumes visible at its windows, the cabs at its door, and such like; and the subtle, serious humor of it all, the truth in trifling bits of character, and the gradual progress of a half-romantic interest, enchanted, says Mr. Forster, the skilled novelist. This ideal plot was to be completed when they met again, but this never took place.—Chambers's Journal.

"RULE BRITTANIA."

Just one hundred and forty years ago, when the beautiful mansion of Cliveden was the residence of Frederick Prince of Wales, a fete-champetre was held in the gardens to celebrate alike the day of accession of the reigning King, George II., and the birthday of a young Princess. A masque, called Alfred, was performed in a theatre temporarily set up in the gardens. The story and words of the masque appear to have been the joint production of Thompson and Mallet. Evidence exists to show that Mallet wrote a patriotic ode, which was introduced in it, and which is no other than our famous "Rule Brittania." The masque was set to music by Dr. Arne, consisting chiefly of the ode, and sung by one of the characters as a bard. The masque itself was performed by Quin, Milward, Mrs. Horton, and other members of Drury Lane and Covent Garden Theatres. In the next following year, "Rule Brittania" having made a very favorable impression, was introduced in another masque, designated the "Jungment of Paris." Alterations were subsequently made in the song, some of the former verses being omitted, and three others by Bolingbroke introduced, but it is believed that our present popular version is nearly identical with that of Cliveden renown.—All the Year Round.

A BIRD-CATCHING CAT.

On the plains of Nevada, a mile from any house, a gentleman noticed a cat, a huge one. It lay on its back, its feet uppermost, and was apparently dead. Around it, feeding unsuspectingly, was a flock of small birds. Just as he was thinking how much easier it would be for the animal to feign death and catch a bird by deceiving it than by slipping up to it, he was astonished to see the cat suddenly roll over and grab one of the feathered tribe that was very near. The other birds flew away a hundred yards or so and alighted. The cat only made one or two mouthfuls of the game and then crept around to the windward of the birds, laid itself out again, and once more successfully played the dead dodge.

A joke never gains an enemy, but often loses a friend.

A joyful evening may follow a sorrowful morning.

Items of Interest.

A candidate for the situation of coachman advertises in a Cork paper that he has good testimonials, and is "both courageous and a good shot."

A person who is fond of figures states that our national debt, in silver dollars, could be removed by rail only with the aid of 5,550 cars, carrying ten tons each.

The common punishment in a Washington public school has been confinement in the boiler room, where the temperature is 110. One little girl was made seriously ill.

On a fairly uncrowded street of New York twenty men were counted as they passed rapidly along. Of the twenty exactly ten turned to the right when they met a pedestrian. The other ten took a great deal of trouble to turn to the left and made much confusion.

A Monsieur Loitel has been recently dredging in the Sea of Gallilee. It has a depth of over eight hundred feet, and contains twelve species of fish. The majority of these species have the singular habit of hatching their eggs and sheltering their young in their mouths.

In a prosecution for dog stealing, heard at the Middlesex Sessions, in England, the other day, a lady stated that she had had dogs stolen ten times, and for their recovery had paid upward of £100. One favorite pug had been stolen three times, and each time she had paid £25 for its recovery.

The proprietors of the International Hotel in Helena Mon. Terr., a few days ago loaded some stove wood with gunpowder, with which they proposed annihilating some wood thieves. By accident, however, they used some of the sticks themselves. The stove was smashed into small pieces.

A woman at Lodi, Pa., deliberately starved herself to death. The process required six weeks of total abstinence from food, though she drank sparingly of water. She had long been eccentric, and the death of her mother destroyed her reason. Thereupon she went to bed with the avowed intention of dying and never ate again.

A Chicago tenant informed the owner of the house he occupied that the drainage was defective, and demanded repairs, which were not made. His daughter was barely saved from death by diphtheria, and the physician declared that she was poisoned by sewer gas. A suit for $5,000 damages has been brought against the landlord.

A man in Binghamton, N.Y., recently sold his cottage to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad for $6,000, bought it back for $350 and removed it several miles away for $150.

The wife of an engineer on the Erie Railroad throws his dinner to him every day when the train passes his house in Wellsburg. He has caught it every time but once during the past eight years.

A cloud-burst, near Santa Rosa, Cal., recently, struck the mountain side at the head of a small canyon, making a hole or pit twenty feet deep where it struck the earth, and swept everything before it for nearly half a mile.

A young woman belonging to a wealthy family at Alanta, Ga., stepped into a railroad switch house, removed every particle of clothing, and started out for a walk. This was the first indication of what is pronounced hopeless insanity.

The new census of Germany shows a total population of 45,194,172, the Empire ranking as the third State in population. Russia and the United States having the first and second places. France stands fourth, and Austro-Hungary holds the fifth place.

Bald heads never dye.

A standing nuisance—The fellow on the curbstone.

The farmer's favorite vest—Harvest.—Agents' Herald.

Firemen, as well as other people, like to talk of their old flames.

Behind a man's back is before his face, isn't it?—Rochester Express.

He who fires a country hotel is assuredly an inn-cendiary.—New York News.

We hear of a grocer who calls his scales "ambush" because they lie in weight.—Lowell Citizen.

America's home rule is the wife.—Waterloo Observer. At school, it is the ferrule.—Meriden Recorder.

Professor—What are the constituents of quartz? Students—Pints. A bland smile creeps over the class.

The thrifty man will always put something away for a rainy day, even if it is nothing but a stolen umbrella.

It was a Vassar girl just graduated who inquired:—"Is the crack of the rifle the place where they put the powder?"

A locomotive is like a mustard plaster, because it draws, and because it is tender behind it.—Boston Transcript.

"What does a woman want to put on gloves in hot weather for?" asks a male subscriber. "Why, to keep her hand in, stupid!"

"There is no place like home," repeated Mr. Henpeck, looking at a motto, and he heartily added, "I'm devilish glad there isn't."—Meriden Recorder.

"Landlady," said he, "the coffee isn't settled?" She replied: "But it comes as near to it as your last month's board-bill does." He never spoke again.

"How far is it to Butler, if I keep straight on?" "Well, about twenty-five thousand miles; but if you turn the other way, it's about half a mile."

A young lady wrote some verses for a country paper about her birthday, and headed them, "May 30th." It almost made her hair turn gray when it appeared in print, "My 30th."

Man at restaurant—See 'ere, waiter, wot kinder stuff d'yer call this, eh? Waiter—That, sir, is game. Man, &c.—Game, yes sir, tough 'nough to be old sledge—handle and all.—Whitehall Times.

It you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated. have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent

CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1 y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificia Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds: Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c. Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,

LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is coming to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MRS M. E. BUTCHINSON MISS N. P. PARLEY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garment of good style and finish can get good bargains at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,

ap13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M. 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 PM. Sundays 8 40 A M. 5 40 PM.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M. 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newbury'port—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM. 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10. 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05. 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester— 8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07. 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor — 7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M.

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 30, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 50AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 66, 7 42 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 20 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M. 5 45. 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem — 8 37 A M. 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence— 7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers — 6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem — 7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN, Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M. 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶ Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11:00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6,9 AM., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6.15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at			9 47 A. M.
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M.
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes. — PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS," which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

337 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that ha ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend s to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy. and I anvise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal.

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is raising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

Boston Wire Works,
76 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

As a wit once said of an English lordling that "his first known ancestor came over with William the Conquerer, and none of the family had ever done anything since." so, says the Syracuse Herald, we might say of Elbridge Gerry Lapham, that he possesses the name of a statesman and none of his other attributes. But names have no essential saving grace. There is a magnificent catalogue of George Washingtons, Henry Clays and Daniel Websters on every police-court docket.

☞ How to Get a Husband.—Take of modesty a large proportion; unite it with urbanity and good humor; to which add good sense, and plenty of love, with a virtuous heart and pretty face. Take Simmon's Liver Regulator regularly, that the blood and complexion be pure and good.

"From actual exyerience in my practice, I am satisfied to prescribe it as a purgative medicine.

jy27 "T. W. Mason, M. D.

He has bought his summer clothes,
Ladeda.
Where he got them no one knows,
Ladeda.
Save the tailor and the hatter,
Who have listened to his chatter,
And can whistle for their ducats,
Ladeda, Ladeda.

☞ Those unhappy persons who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve Pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic sufferers. Price 25 cents, all druggists.

Address to a bottle:

'Tis very strange that you and I
Together cannot pull:
For you are full when I am dry,
And dry when I am full.

If you are tired taking the large, old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose.

"Oh, come to the bower I've shaded for thee,"
So sang a fair maiden, as fair as could be;
And he came, with a heart welling up to the brim,
And sat in the bower she had shaded for him.
But he sat down, alas! on a half concealed nest,
Wherein some tired hornets were taking a rest,
And though it was something uncommonly big
To see those tired hornets forget their fatigue,
'Twas bigger to see, as he fell where he rose,
How he wiped up the ground with his new Sunday clothes.

A Hammock's Wild Way.—An Illinois exchange feels called to thus deliver itself: "His hammock swung loose at the sport of the wind," and tumbled the Hon. J. S. Irwin on his head, and but for the application of St. Jacobs Oil, he might have gone "where the woodbine twineth." Even so, dear Beacon, as many others have gone, who failing to use the Great German Remein time, for their rheumatism and other dangerous diseases, "have paid the debt of Nature." Rub is our motto.

The Taunton Gazette says some of the latest sunshades look like decorated flower pots stuck on a stick.

☞ One Moment, Please.—When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against bilious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

aug17—3w

Lonely and sad, from sorrow awaking,
When all the world is locked in sleep,
With troubled soul to sorrow waking,
I watch the silent stars and weep;
I weep for hopes too early blighted,
I weep for him, though cold of heart,
Who scorns the vow I fondly plighted,
And wills that we forever part.

☞ Women Who Suffer.—The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it. aug17—3w

"'Had drunk' is not good English grammar," says a high authority. It certainly is not. "Was drunk" is better grammar, and more in accordance with the fact, nine times out of ten.—New Haven Register.

Itching Piles—Symptoms and Cure.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

Scientific.

Industrial Secrets.—A century ago what a man discovered in the arts he concealed. Workmen were put upon an oath never to reveal the process used by their employers. Doors were kept closed, artisans going out were searched, visitors were rigorously excluded from admission, and false operations blinded the workmen themselves. The mysteries of every craft were hedged in by thick-set fences of empirical pretensions and judicial affirmation. The royal manufactories of porcelain, for example, were carried on in Europe with a spirit of jealous enclusiveness. His Majesty of Saxony was especially circumspect. Not content with the oath of secrecy imposed upon his workpeople, he would not abate his kingly suspicion in favor of a brother monarch. Neither king nor king's delegate might enter the tabooed walls of Meissen. What is erroneously called the Dresden porcelain—that exquisite pottery of which the world has never seen its like—was procured for two hundred years by a process so secret that neither the bribery of princes nor the garrulity of the operatives revealed it. Other discoveries have been less successfully guarded, fortunately for the world. The manufacture of tinware in England originated in a stolen secret. Few readers need be informed that tinware is simply thin iron plated with tin by being dipped into the molten metal. In theory, it is an easy matter to clean the surface of iron, dip it into a bath of boiling tin, remove it enveloped with a silvery metal to a place of cooling. In practice, however, the process is one of the most difficult in the arts It was discovered in Holland, and guarded from publicity with the utmost vigilance for more than half a century. England tried in vain to discover the secret, until James Sherman, a Cornish miner, insinuated himself master of the secret, and brought it home. The secret of manufacturing cast steel was also stealthily obtained, and is now within the reach of all artisans.—Scientific American.

The Art Interchange instructs its readers how to color a pine floor which is to be partially covered with rugs, a fashion which prevails to a great extent just now. Obtain at any house-painter's store turpentine and linseed oil (not boiled.) Ask the clerk to put a little Japanese drier in the turpentine. Buy either burnt sienna or Vandyke brown, or both, according to the color of the rugs and the tint on the walls. These colors come put up in tin cans, smaller but otherwise similar to fruit or tomato cans. After the floor has been washed thoroughly clean, and dry, begin by mixing in another receptacle the oil, turpentine and paint. The mixture should be so thin that it will run with liquid readiness. Lay it on with a brush, stroking the brush the way of the grain of the wood. Protect your hands with old gloves, and go over the floor with a rag. In fact, you will need two rags, one pretty well charged with paint, to rub in every crevice, and another rag to rub off any superfluous paint. Do not stop in a straight line across the grain of the wood, but carry the brush irregularly down, taking a hint from nature's lines in the wood. By mixing the burnt sienna and Vandyke brown a rich color will be produced without using the paint thick. The mixture should be so thin that the grain of the wood will show through. If too much turpentine is used the paint will rub off. If too little, your room will need more days to dry. Use twice as much oil as turpentine. Do not economize the oil, and be as prodigal in rubbing as your strength will permit.

Sleep and Sleeplessness.—Doctor J. M. Granville, in his work on this subject, says, with reference to the difficulty some persons find in getting to sleep: "Habit greatly helps the performance of the initial act, and the cultivation of a habit of going to sleep in a particular way, at a particular time, will do more to procure regular and healthy sleep than any other artifice. The formation of the habit is, in fact, the creation or development of a special center, or combination, in the nervous system, which will henceforward produce sleep as a natural rythmical process. If this were more generally recognized persons who suffer from sleeplessness of the sort which consists in simply being 'unable to go to sleep,' would set themselves resolutely to form such a habit. It is necessary that the training should be explicit and include attention to details. It is not very important what a person does with the intention of going to sleep, but he should do precisely the same thing, in the same way, at the same time, and under as nearly as possible the same conditions, night after night for a considerable period, say three or four weeks at least."

It is stated that the Bank of France has almost entirely abandoned chemical tests in favor of the camera for detecting forgeries. The sensitive plate not only proclaims forthwith the doing of the eraser or penknife, but frequently shows, under the bold figures of the forger, the sum originally borne by the check. So ready is the camera to detect ink marks that a carte-de-visite inclosed in a letter may to the eye appear without a blemish, while a copy of it in the camera will probably exhibit traces of writing across the face, where it has merely been in contact with the written page.

In a letter to La Nature, M. Cornillon states that when observing the sun lately with a telescope, he was struck with certain undulatory movements on the disk. On inquiry into their cause he is led to connect them with the wind blowing on the earth's surface at the time.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

About six miles west of Beowawe Station, on the Central Pacific Road, there is a true geyser on the side of a mountain, or rather forty of them. The one which throws the highest stream is only about an inch and a half in diameter, but at intervals of thirty-five minutes it casts up boiling water to a height of twenty-five feet. A lot of others gush up in the vicinity over about forty acres of ground.

At a ball at Schwartzenberg, Saxony, a young man entered, having what appeared to be a cigar in his mouth. He went to the chandelier as if to light it, and a terrible explosion ensued. The lights were extinguished, the walls partly gave way, some of the dancers were covered with blood, and the young man was blown to pieces. He had killed himself by means of a dynamite cartridge.

While a Long Island family were eating their supper, recently, they heard a squeaking in the kitchen closet, and found on the floor a rat with its foot caught by a clam. The rat came out of the closet, and was assailed by the cat, but fiercely resisted, and bit the cat's ear so severely that the feline pet of the house ran out into the yard, wild with rage, carrying the rat on its ear, while the rat carried the clam on its leg. The rat rat finally met his fate.

A mean householder in Toronto refused to allow the body of a woman who had died on his premises to be removed for burial unless he was paid $50 for rent and attendance. He also presented another bill for $25, alleging that the visitors to the deceased had worn out his carpets. At the request of the officiating minister, a policeman was detailed to be present at the funeral, with instructions to arrest him if he created any trouble, which he was prudent enough to avoid.

When a man wants to enlist in the army of China his courage is subjected to a very unusual test. The recruiting officer places the candidate on a chair and proceeds to extract a tooth, and the conduct of the patient under this ordeal is said to decide the question as to his fitness for the military service of the empire. If he howls and jumps up and down he is pronounced unfit, but if he smiles and exhibits generally a feeling of satisfaction, he secures a permanent place in the ranks.

An attendant at the Oregon Insane Asylum was told to climb a tree and bring down a patient who had taken a position in its top. He had reached a height of thirty feet when a limb broke, and he fell, bouncing from branch to branch, and finally sitting on the ground like the hammer of a pile driver. For twenty years this man had been dumb, though able to hear, but now the spectators were astounded by such an outbreak of fluent and shocking profanity as they had never heard before. The cure was permanent, too

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals St. Jacobs Oil as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pillat a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purze, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents, Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address

CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

Moss Photo

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS, 256½ Essex St. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. Simonds', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.
George Osborne, Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney, Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen, George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.
John A. Lord, George S. Osborne.
Amos Merrill, Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler, Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little, Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren, Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill, Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn, John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
au 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicts, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.

STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

The Peabody Press is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST
in a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
Dustin Building, Lowell St.
PEABODY, MASS.

Nihilism in America.

BY LEONARD BACON, D. D., LL. D.

The oration given by Mr. Wendell Phillips, a few days ago, at Harvard College, was probably very much what the hearers expected; yet I cannot but think that even the most unscrupulous of his admirers must have been startled, if not shocked, by his professed approval of Russian Nihilism. Similar expressions from foreign citizens—naturalized in law, but not in mind and heart—have been indignantly rebuked by the American common sense of the hearers. In what way the Phi Beta Kappa Society of Harvard College received that truculent passage in Mr. Phillips' oration — whether with applause or with manifestations of displeasure; whether with enthusiasm of admiration or in stunned and wondering silence—I have not been informed. If a literary society invites a Thersites, a Danton, an Anacharsis Cloots, or any other well-known agitator, to be its anniversary orator, the presumption is that it will listen courteously to whatever he may say.

On Thursday, June 30th, Mr. Phillips proclaimed to the world his sympathy with Nihilism. Two days later Mr. Charles J. Guiteau made his attempt at political reformation by the Nihilistic method. That there was any connection of cause and effect between the reckless rhetoric at Cambridge and the bloody deed at Washington; that an impulse had been communicated through the newspapers from the orator to the assassin; that Guiteau, when he loaded his pistol, was rehearsing to himself the eloquence of Phillips, does not appear. Most probably the sequence, impressive as it may be and instructive, was merely accidental; but nothing is more certain than that the assassin is a disciple in the school of Nihilism. In his attempt to murder President Garfield he was evidently imitating, not the murderer of President Lincoln, but a more recent example—that of the Nihilists, who, after so many attempts, have succeeded in murdering another great emancipator.

What, then, is the Nihilism which has been commended to us, by word and deed, as being, under certain conditions, a necessary and legitimate method of political reformation? Who are the Russiam Nihilists? Are they the people? Do they in any sense represent or express the thought and desire of the people? Is there any indication that the majority or even an appreciable minority of the people in any province or district of that empire are in sympathy with Nihilist doctrines or Nihilist measurers? Was not the murder of Alexander II as great a horror to the people of Russia as the attempted murder of President Garfield was or as the completed murder would have been to the American people? Is there a particle of evidence to show that the Russian Nihilism is an outbreak of popular feeling at St. Petersburg or anywhere else? Will anybody tell us that "the down-trodden masses" in any locality of that great empire are ready to rise in arms for the defense of their liberty or the assertion of their rights against the Czar?

I ask these questions in good faith, for there is a deficiency of authentic information. Nihilism conceals itself, burrows underground, coming out now and then in an explosion or some other form of reckless and wholesale murder. So far as I have been able to learn, it is a secret society, somewhat like Freemasonry, but far less harmless; more like the "Ku-Klux Klan," now happily suppressed, but less excusable and more atrocious. It includes many sorts of people — some agnostic philosophers, with disciples, male and female; some sophists and rhetoricians; some ejected officeholders; some unsuccessful office-seekers; some ex-slaveholders, inexorably angry at the abolition of slavery and the consequent change in their own position—all professing to have no fear of God, the very fanatics of atheism. That secret society, so far as we are permitted to know about it, is a malignant conspiracy, not against the imperial government only, but against civilization, in whatever form; a conspiracy more extended, more thoroughly organized and disciplined, more persistent in its working, but not less cruel or in any respect less criminal than that Guy Fawkes' conspiracy, which intended to murder, by one explosion, the king and all the Parliament of England. In comparison with it the conspiracy of Catiline, even as described by Cicero, was respectable and honorable. History gives no record of any conspiracy so stupendously wicked; yet the Phi Beta Kappa orator at a Harvard Commencement proclaims his sympathy with it and declares that its methods (dynamite and the dagger) are, in the existing condition of the Russian Empire, "necessary and proper."

I am not saying that there is no need of political reformation in Russia. On the contrary, I hold that great changes in the government of that empire are essential to the welfare of all the races which it includes, and hardly less essential to the world's peace and progress. The theory of government by the will of an autocrat is offensive to our moral sense, and in Russia the administration of government by the servants of the autocrat is inevitably full of injustice and cruelty. But Nihilism, working with "dynamite and the dagger," has no tendency to reformation. The late emperor (he whom the Nihilists murdered so lately) had done and was doing more for his people and for the political reformation of his empire than Nihilism has ever dreamed of doing. He found himself at the head of an empire which was essentially Asiatic in its traditions and in the theory of its government, but which since the time of the Czar Peter had been effected in its westernmost provinces by contact with European civilization, and he aspired to be an imperial reformer. By one act of his autocratic will he gave liberty to twenty millions of slaves. That great decree of emancipation was his first step toward a new order of things throughout the empire, and was followed by other changes in the direction of free institutions. That one act secured (though it could not immediately accomplish) for the Russian peasantry what was gained for the French peasantry by the bloody crimes and agonies of a revolution which convulsed all Europe. Yet by that act and its consequences the imperial emancipator brought upon himself the hatred of those classes out of which have come the fiendish reformers whose implements are "dynamite and the dagger." No American ought to forget that, when the demand for the naturalization and unlimited extension of slavery in our country had become rebellion against the Union, while other imperial governments in Europe, and even the aristocratic government of England were ready to hail the downfall of the Great Republic, the Russian emperor, he whom the Nihilists have murdered, addressed his letter of personal sympathy, not to the Government at Washington, in the ordinary forms of international correspondence, but directly to the people of the United States—a sovereign monarch to a sovereign people. Would Mr. Phillips have us believe that the murder of that man by dynamite was a "necessary and proper" thing to do in the interest of liberty?

Under Alexander II, Nihilism, working by dynamite and the dagger, was the fatal obstacle in the way of reformation. Under his successor it can be nothing else. No compromise or negotiation with it is possible. No concession can be thought of other than absolute surrender; and surrender to Nihilism means annihilation—not of an obnoxious dynasty only, nor of worn-out institutions only, but of society itself.—The Nation.

WE COMMEND to the notice of our readers the advertisement of the New England & Colorado Mining, Milling and Prospecting Co., in another column. The office of the company is at No. 82 Devonshire street, Boston, and the financial agent refers to such men as H. B. Claflin of New York, and the other directors give equally high references. Their pamphlet and prospectus give full particulars and can be obtained of the financial agent; a copy of which we advise our readers interested to obtain.

A missionary orator stood on a Sydney platform. Before him was a large audience, which included many daintily mannered ladies. He had to describe the "customs" of certain savages, and of course everybody wanted to know how the darkies dress, and this is how he put it: They had, he said, only a single article of attire, and that was a fig-leaf, which was still on its native tree, a quarter of a mile off.

THE AGENTS' HERALD, published monthly by L. Lum Smith, 717 Samson street, Phila., is a paper that no agent can afford to be without. It costs only 50 cents per year in advance, and the official list of frauds, as furnished by the Post Office department, and the addition of others which this enterprising sheet has discovered, is worth five times the amount of subscription. Novelties and new inventions are advertised, for agents at coming fairs, the reliability of which is vouched for by the publishers. Send 10 cents for a sample copy.

WE ARE in receipt of a sample copy of Loomis' Musical and Masonic Journal, published by C. M. Loomis, of New Haven, Conn. It is a neat and well printed sheet of 20 pages folio, contains from four to six pages of music, and is filled with news and valuable information to all musical people. It also contains a Masonic department, in charge of an able editor of the craft, and contains suggestions and items of value to masons. Terms, $1.00 per year; published monthly. Sample copy sent on application.

Dr. Bliss had to be satisfied with the di-Agnew-sis of the president's case. Bring us a glass of water and a fan.—New Haven Register.

A very little money will buy a nice Breakfast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Salem, July 22 by Rev. Mr. Hosmer, Mr. Geo. W. Harrison to Miss Susan Donovan, both of Boston.

In Danvers, Aug. 19, by Rev. L. L. Drury, Mr. Elsom L. Banks to Miss Georgie E. Haskell.

In Boston, 12th, by Rev. Mr. Cruft, Mr. John A. Blakney of Salem to Mrs. Betsey Carter of Beverly.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 10, Mr. Solomon Warren Mackintire, 67 yrs. 8 mos.
[Funeral Friday at 2 P. M.]
William, son of John and Margaret O'Connell, 1 yr. 7 mos.

In West Peabody, Aug. 16th, Gilbert Haven Farwell, son of E. C. and B. S. Farwell, 9 mos. 29 days.

In Salem, Aug. 11 Mrs. Julia, wife of Mr. George E. Dodge, 25 yrs. 6 mos. 11 days; 13th Alfred B., son of Austin and Eliza Curtis, 5 yrs. 4 mos. 22 days.

FRESH ARRIVAL.

Shortly before the rise in BLACK WALNUT, WE ORDERED 200 BLACK WALNUT CHAMBER SETS, which have now arrived, and have been placed in our storehouse. Being too late for our Spring Trade, we propose to offer them at the low price of $45,

Either for cash or by our system of

INSTALMENTS.

These sets COMPRISE TEN PIECES. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c.; are handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the marble is the BEST ITALIAN, and the Walnut is warranted Kiln Dried. The regular Prices for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55. That small incomes may be no bar to obtaining one of these beautiful and useful articles of Furniture, we propose to give purchasers

EIGHT MONTHS

In which to pay for them on Instalments. In face of the fact that WALNUT is RAPIDLY ADVANCING, we advise everybody in want of a Walnut Set, whether for present or future use, to purchase one of these sets, as the opportunity for so great a bargain may never occur again. Catalogue of household goods and terms furnished to parties living anywhere in New England. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

Attention is called to our stock of the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE Improved Wire-Gauze, Non-Explosive

OIL STOVE,

Which we offer for $4. They are the only Stoves sold that are PRONOUNCED ABSOLUTELY SAFE by the Insurance Commissioners. Be sure and see them in full operation at our establishment. Price List and terms on Instalments furnished on application.

The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on Instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.
apr 6—6 m

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free
aug 3—6 w

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

VENNOR'S PREDICTIONS!

For this Month's Weather, prepared expressly for

STODDART'S REVIEW.

Sample copy mailed for 3c stamp.

J. M. STODDARDT, Pub., New York, Phila., or Chicago. jy 20—3t

---

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Mas.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celebrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufactuier, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill.—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.

I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery,

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE,
—AT THE—
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thursday,
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

HOTEL.
LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,
SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.

Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3. 4, 5. 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M., 1. 2, 3. 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

THURSDAY, AT 9.30 A. M.
PROVINCETOWN.

FRIDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALL-DAY FISHING TRIPS,
On the Middle Grounds, where the 44-lb Cod was pulled in July 15. One Dollar per lb. bounty for the biggest codfish caught. Season ticket for second prize. Returns at 5.30, Fare $1.

MOONLIGHT TRIPS
Will continue through the present week.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.

Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.

On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.

The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.

Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.

Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1.00.

Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.

Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.

For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
je 8

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.
aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.

CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.

HUCKINS' SOUPS
—AND—
SANDWICHED MEATS.

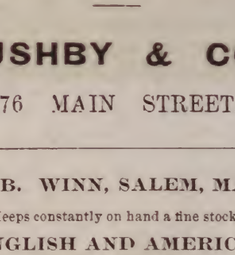
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.

We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.

BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.

Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.



I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.

I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.

Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.

S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.

JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILLOAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail.
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.

Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.

We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a

First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.

Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.

Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.

Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.

NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

DINING SALOON.

The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in

Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,

and secured the services of a first-class cook.

Meals Served at All Hours.

A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!

FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.

FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.

FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A Tenement on corner of Walnut and English streets. Apply to jy 6—tf C. W. OSBORN.

TENEMENT TO LET,
Near the Catholic Church. Inquire at jy 27 46 Lowell Street.

$250 REWARD!

The undersigned, in behalf of the Town of Peabody, will pay the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars to any one who will furnish information which may lead to the detection and conviction of the person or persons, who, on the morning of July 9th, 1881, set fire to the building on Washington street, known as the Gen. Foster Engine House.

LEVI PRESTON,
W. B. RICHARDSON,
S. A. SOUTHWICK,
NATHAN H. POOR
} Selectmen of Peabody.
je 13—1m

$50 REWARD!

The undersigned will pay the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the old Foster Engine House, on the morning of July 9, 1881.
jy 13—1m HENRY C. TORR.

$25. REWARD.

We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

$50 REWARD!

The above reward will be paid by the undersigned for the arrest and conviction of the party who set fire to the building in South Peabody last Sunday morning,, occupied by him for the storage of hair. GEO. UPTON, may 4 Peabody.

EXTRA OATS.

One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
ysr 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.
37

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 24, 1881. NO. 35.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
Jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
Jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residence in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
uwl t jt

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. jan

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper,
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY.
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. Jan 1—tf

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

The Peabody Press.

Lafayette House.

In scanning the records of our neighboring city of Salem, we find the Derby family brought into especial prominence as the merchant princes of this old and renowned seaport. Elias Haskett Derby, the noted merchant, who built the fine mansion, then on Derby Square, at a cost of $80,000, died in 1799, only a short time after its completion. A few years thereafter, in 1805, Mr. Ezekiel H. Derby, one of his sons, was one of the prominent aiders in the erection of the bridge to South Salem, which was then considered a foolish project. The land in this vicinity had been purchased by him, and on it he had erected a fine summer residence, familiarly known as the Derby farm, now the famous LAFAYETTE HOUSE. He was a great lover of agriculture and floriculture, and we find in one of the early reports especial mention made of some trees and shrubs which he had imported and set out on his estate at a large expense. It is related of him that the large trees which are now just inside the line of the street were purchased by him for its adornment; but becoming offended because of the action of the city in not calling the street on which this house is situated after his name, he removed them to his own grounds where they now stand. The large estate owned by Mr. Derby was purchased a number of years ago by James F. Almy, Charles S. Clark, Nathaniel Wiggin and others, and divided into house lots; but the immediate surroundings of the Lafayette House still remain. In 1824, on the second visit of Gen. Lafayette to this country, he was the guest of Mr. Derby at this fine villa, on his passage through the city of Salem, being met at the line of Lynn by an escort, among whom was Mr. Stephen Upton of this town.—From this fact it is supposed the name of the street was given, and in his honor the old farm mansion was called the Lafayette House.

This house is now kept by C. F. Kelly, who has occupied it over six years as a public lodging house. In it meals of all kinds are prepared to order, and at this season, especially, its clam bakes are known and enjoyed by guests from near and far. Very little change has been made in the immediate surroundings of this historical spot. As we enter the large drive-way we are at once attracted by the old portico, with its large and heavy blinds, serving as both doors and windows, surmounted by four pillars with carved tops, the architectural carving over the entrance being no small portion of the design. Stepping into the hall we find two large and well-arranged rooms, on either side, both about the same size, culminating in two circular or oval windows, instead of the modern bay window. The room on the north side was evidently used as a parlor, and is so furnished at the present time. It contains six windows, and in this room is a most elaborately constructed wood mantel, carved by hand, the center being a representation of horses to the plough, and on either side farm sketches with the sheaf of wheat. High old-fashioned mop-boards surround the entire room, surmounted with carved work which must have been entirely done by hand. Opposite this room on the other side of the hall is the reception or drawing room, now used by the present occupant for a billiard room, and there is here a black wood mantel with a carved iron open grate, all of the most antique pattern. These two rooms occupy the entire width of the house in front, and to the rear is the double dining room, with folding doors, and capable of seating about sixty persons. All the doors connecting, and throughout the house, have old-fashioned brass latches and locks, none of the keys belonging to them being preserved. The kitchen and pantry are large and commodious, and remain in its original form, with the old Rumford Roaster of date 1801, built by Summers, 98 Bond street, London. As we entered this room they were in the midst of preparations for a game dinner, consisting of grouse, yellow legs, woodcock and brook trout, all of which were being prepared under the immediate supervision of Mrs. Kelly. Ascending the stairs we find six commodious sleeping rooms on the second floor, the front corner room on the north side being the one which Gen. Lafayette is reported to have occupied. In the entire house there are thirteen lodging rooms, including the addition, so that the accommodations of the house are ample for the purpose required of it.

The history and antiquity of the mansion, together with the far-famed hospitality of the genial proprietor and his gentlemanly clerk, Mr. Stephen Williams, serve to attract large numbers of patrons to this house. To those of our readers who have visited the house—and they are numerous in this vicinity—any description or praise of the menu would be entirely superfluous. Suffice it to say that nothing in the way of delicacies, either in the selection or preparation of the bill of fare, is omitted, and the success which has thus far attended Mr. Kelly, is only the natural result of his well-earned endeavors to cater to the wants and study the wishes of his numerous guests.

Salem's Elevated Railway.

A novel invention for making change in our large stores is being introduced in Salem, in the stores of John P. Peabody and Almy, Bigelow & Webber. It consists of an elevated railway, or rather two lines of railway, one above the other, running the length of the counters in the different parts of the stores to the cashier's desk in the rear of the establishment. The cars consist of small balls of different sizes, so arranged that they can be opened, the cash put in, sent to the desk and returned to the salesgirl in a very short period of time. When money is to be sent, it is placed inside one of these balls, they being designated by the number of the saleswoman or the department, sent to the desk on the "in" track, where it is taken, and if there is change to be made it is placed inside the ball by the cashier and returned to the place from which it started on the "out" track, which is the upper one. A different line is made for each counter, and by a very ingenious contrivance the balls are all of a different size, the largest being near the desk, and each succeeding one a size smaller, and so on to the last one on the line. When, therefore, a ball is started on its homeward journey, and reaches the spot where it belongs, it touches a spring which the size of the particular ball allows it to do, and that lets it down an elevated plane to within easy reach of the saleswoman from whom it was originally sent. The smaller balls glide easily by the springs arranged to catch the larger balls, so that the arrangement works perfectly, and there is no fear of accidents or collisions.

This novelty is the invention of Mr. Lamson, formerly in the employ of Mr. Peabody. He has a store in Lowell, and it has been successfully tried in the store there, as well as one in Manchester, N. H. With these two exceptions the stores of Messrs. Peabody and Almy, Bigelow & Webber are the first ones to introduce its use. Arrangements have been made for its use in a store in Lynn. The railway is not sold to any of the parties, but is let to them at a certain price per year, the inventor taking it out at any time when the storekeepers see fit to discontinue its use. They speak, however, in enthusiastic terms of it, and its great desirability is in the promptness with which customers can be served. It is not introduced to save the expense of the cash girls—it is no saving in that direction—but as an improvement in the method of doing business, which these enterprising firms are always on the alert to discover and adopt, alike for their own advantage, and the convenience and facility afforded their patrons in their business intercourse.

The shape and size of the store of Messrs. Almy, Bigelow & Webber renders it impossible to prevent numerous curves and angles in the arrangement of the lines leading to the cashier's desk. It takes seven lines to cover the extent of the store in which they propose using it, and their longest line is 80 feet to the desk. The arrangement is just as perfect, and works with equal correctness at this remote distance. We timed one of the balls from the longest reach, and it was returned to its proper place in a few seconds over one minute. This is quick work, and will no doubt attract many of the patrons of these several stores to inspect, in a practical manner, the workings of this new system.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

WE CALL attention to the new advertisement of Fernald & Sawyer, in another column. This firm announce a genuine mark-down on all their summer Hosiery to make room for their fall and winter stock of goods. It is their intention to make the prices on their goods so low that it will be for the object of their patrons to purchase their goods in town. And judging from the trade which they are having we can feel sure that their efforts are appreciated. There are many reasons why it ought to be a matter of pride to our citizens to patronize their home dealers. It encourages the material prosperity of the town, and every step in this direction is a step in advance. Mr. Sawyer makes a speciality of Domestics, and in this line of goods is to be found at their store the largest and best assortment in town, and at the lowest Boston prices. We advise our readers in want of any goods in this department to visit this store before making their purchases.

GALA WEEK AT SALEM NECK.—The season is drawing to a close, and there are to be brilliant attractions at the Willows this week. This evening occurs the annual general illumination at both Juniper Point and the Willows, on a grand scale, in which new designs may be expected; on Thursday evening, Mr. Newcomb will show new stereoptican views; on Friday evening, there are to be marine pyrotechnics including the brilliant trade representations announced for last week, and Messrs. Hyde & Co.'s establishment will also be represented by an elaborate design. The numerous day attractions will be fully kept up, and the horse cars will no doubt receive an immense patronage.

THE NEW COMET has been visible here in the evening for several nights. It can be seen under the bowl of the Great Dipper, its tail pointing upward away from the direction of the sun. It does not require any optical aid to show the tail, though it is not conspicuous. There is no better instrument for popular observation of the comet than a well-made opera glass, since what is needed is not magnification, but an increase of brightness, and an opera glass is well suited for giving it. If this comet is to become brilliant, evidences of it should be apparent very soon, since it has now passed its perihelion. Some comets that gave little promise of brilliancy before perihelion have become famous by suddenly bursting forth with splendor after beginning their journey away from the sun.

Mr. Conkling was a great political "boss." When Collector Robertson entered upon the duties of his office at the port of New York the other day one of his first duties was to look up the horde of officeholders who had been put in place by Mr. Conkling. It was not much of a horde. It consisted of a widow and her son and a one-armed soldier from Utica. The ex-Senator has not made hay while the sun shone. But that pattern band box civil-service reformer, George William Curtis, has seventy-five fellows ensconced therein, foremost of whom was his brother, with a soft thing at $2200 a year.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Among the names mentioned as candidates for Governor on the National Labor Greenback ticket, are Hon. Jas. N. Buffum, of Lynn, Chas. H. Litchman, Esq., of Marblehead, and Hon. John I. Baker, of Beverly. We hear that Mr. Buffum is most favorably thought of. The Convention will be held at Worcester next Wednesday.—P. Reporter.

Our neighbor is authority on all matters relating to the Greenback party. Hear him.

WILL our neighbor have the kindness to inform the Press of this county and vicinity, how it happens, if Mr. S. C. Bancroft is not editor and proprietor of his sheet, that his name appears on the list of the members of the Massachusetts Press Association?

Burnham Wardwell in the N. York Sun says, that of 82 children sent to our Tewksbury almshouse, in twelve months 70 of them entered paupers' graves. Does B. W. tell the truth?

The Visitor considers it such a disgrace to be a Greenbacker, that it is cruel to allude to it when a man is in a critical state of health.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

The Times publishes some extracts from a letter on the subject of the proposed bankruptcy law, which calls attention to one of the most crying evils which the lack of a uniform law always produces. In many of the Western and Southwestern States, where public opinion and consequently legislation are apt to be strongly influenced by a consideration for the supposed interests of debtors, the exemption of "homesteads" from liability to sale under legal process has been carried to a point unknown to any other part of the civilized world. The Kansas Exemption law, for instance, covers a quarter-section of land in the country, an acre in an incorporated city, with all the improvements, and a good deal of personal property besides. It is said, and the estimate seems rather low, that under the provisions of this statute a debtor can withhold from seizure property to the extent of $100,000. The principle of the exemption of actual "homesteads" is a sound one, but the inflation of the "homestead" to this extent is objectionable. Such a law in many cases deprives a creditor of all redress. It is curious that communities which are always in the market as borrowers should think it advisable to pass laws which can only have the effect of frightening away lenders who do not like to take great risks; it is to the existence of such laws that the high rate of interest prevailing in the communities which pass them is partly due.—Nation.

Mr. Vanderbilt says that since the cutting in passenger rates began, the receipts from travel of the New York Central road show a large increase.—This will always be so. It is better to carry fifty passengers at $1 each than it is to carry almost the same number of cars with ten passengers at $2, $3 or $4 each. The Broadway stage lines were about to give up in despair at a 10-cent fare, but they are making a great deal of money at 5 cents. In 1871 the rate for first-class freight from New York to Chicago was $2.25 and $2.50 per hundred, and the roads had a large struggle for existence; now the rate is less than 50 cents per thousand and the business is not only vastly larger, but more profitable. The cutting of rates may bear fruit in a great and permanent reform.

The next ecclesiastical sensation will be the trial of Dr. H. W. Thomas, of Chicago. The Rev. Messrs. Jewett and Hatfield, who were appointed a committee of the Rock River Conference to formulate and prosecute charges of heresy against him, have performed their work. The charges are brief, and accuse the doctor of denying the inspiration of the Scriptures, denying the doctrine of the Atonement and teaching that of a probation after death.—The trial will be held in Chicago next month, and, if it resembles most trials of the kind, will damage most of all the influence of that peace and love upon which ecclesiastical trials as a rule bring contempt.—Christian Union.

MR. GEO. STEVENS, on the Square, is having a large increase in trade, by the patrons of his establishment, on his cigars. Mr. Stevens keeps a large and full assortment of all the popular brands, and sells as good a cigar for the price as can be found anywhere. His Sour Mash cigars (what a name!) are having a very extensive run, and in all the finer varieties, including genuine Key West, his store is the acknowledged headquarters. Give him a call, and see if we are not correct.

It is the most common thing in the country to find private burial-grounds on isolated farms, the necessity for which was far greater in ancient times when means for inter-communication were much inferior to those of our day. A gentleman in Danvers recently told me that some years before, having occasion to collect the facts when advocating the location of the large cemetery situated opposite the Institute building, he ascertained that at that time there were over ninety different burial-grounds in Danvers.—Cor. Marblehead Messenger.

An Erie young man has been turned out of church for dancing. He now wishes that he had gone to a Sunday school picnic and hugged and kissed the girls in the religious game of copenhagen, and thus retained his good standing in church.

A little boy was asked recently if he knew where the wicked finally went to. He answered: "They practice law here a spell and then go to the legislature."

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

LANGUAGE OF POSTAGE STAMPS. Some persons have given a meaning to the location of a postage stamp on a letter. For example, they say that when a stamp is inverted on the right hand upper corner it means the person written to is to write no more. If the stamp be placed on the left hand upper corner, inverted, the writer declares his affection for the receiver of the letter. When the stamp is in the centre at the top, it signifies an affirmative answer to a question, or the questions, as the case may be; and when it is at the bottom, or opposite this it is a negative. Should the stamp be on the right hand corner, at a right angle, it asks the question if the receiver of the letter loves the sender; while in the left hand corner it means that the writer hates the other. There is a shade of difference between desiring one's acquaintance and friendship. For example: The stamp at the upper corner on the right expresses the former, and on the lower left hand corner means the latter. The learned in this language request their correspondents to accept their love by placing the stamp on a line with the surname, and the response is made, if the party be engaged, by placing the stamp in the same place but reversing it. The writer may wish to say farewell to his sweetheart, or vice versa, and does so by placing the stamp straight up and down in the left hand corner. And so on to the end of the chapter.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Work is at present active at the shops of the New York and New England Road in Hartford, and about two hundred men are employed in building and repairing, under the direction of Master Mechanic Humstone. About one hundred men are employed in the machine shops, where the repairing is done for forty engines. All the frogs, of a new patent, now used on the road, are made at the car shops. The shops for handling cars, both passenger and freight for repainting, upholstering and general repairs, are busily employed. The engine house, which now has stalls for ten engines, is to be enlarged by adding twelve more stalls. This house, how in the form of a third of a circle, is to be enlarged to about three-fourths. This will necessitate the removal of the present car shed, and also of two small wooden cottages which are on the company's land.

Notwithstanding the close of camp meeting proper, at Asbury Grove, preaching services were held at the stand last Sabbath. In the afternoon Rev. J. O. Knowles, of Charlestown, formerly of this town, preached, and a correspondent of the Salem News says, "for splendid word-painting, beautiful rhetoric, wonderful eloquence and grand conceptions, we never heard the like. He enthused his audience, and carried them with him to the "Throne of the Eternal" and showed to them the glories of the heavenly world, holding them entranced and spell-bound to the close."

POLICE NOTES.—Aug. 17, John McCarthy of Holyoke, drunkenness, $1 and costs—$5.85.

18th, Thomas Duffy, for keeping liquor with intent to sell, fined $50 and costs. For illegally selling liquor, fined $50 and costs. He appealed both cases.

20th, Dennis Griffin, charged with setting fires, held in $3000 bonds for the October term of the Superior Court.

22d, James Freeman, drunkenness, fined $5.85.

THE STEAMER Empire State will make a trip along the North Shore on Friday and Saturday of this week. On Wednesday, starting at 9.30, she will go to Provincetown, and on Thursday to the Isle of Shoals. The end of the season is fast approaching, and those who enjoy the sea breezes should improve the opportunity which the fine weather this week affords.

Burglars effected an entrance to the back shop of the factory of John Shaw, 2d, & Bro., on Oxford street, Lynn, Friday night last, by prying open a window, and stole six cases of soles. No clew to the thieves has yet been obtained.

Weaver and De La Matyr will speak on the Greenback question next fall just the same as if there was such a thing.—New Haven Register, (Dem.)

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Poet's Corner.

Aunt Nancy's Mind.

And this is the new New Testament,
And 'tis come in the sweet o' the year,
When the fields are shining in cloth-of-gold
And the birds are singing so clear;
And over and into the grand old text,
Reverent and thoughtful men,
Through many a summer and winter past,
Have been peering with book and pen,

Till they've straightened the moods and tenses out,
And dropped each obsolete phrase,
And softened the strong, old-fashioned word
To our daintier modern ways;
Collated the ancient manuscripts,
Participle, verb and line.
And faithfully done their very best
To improve the book divine.

I haven't a doubt they have meant it well,
But it is not clear to me
That we needed the trouble it was to them
On either side of the sea.
I cannot help it, a thought that comes—
You know I am old and plain—
But it seems like touching the ark of God,
And the touch to my heart is pain.

For ten years past, and for five times ten
At the back of that, my dear,
I've made and mended and toiled and saved
With my Bible ever near.
Sometimes it was only a verse at morn
That lifted me up from care,
Like the springing wings of a sweet-voiced lark
Cleaving the golden air;

And sometimes on Sunday afternoons
'T was a chapter rich and long,
That came to my heart in its weary hour
With the lift of a triumph song.
I studied the precious words, my dear,
When a child at my mother's knee,
And I tell you the Bible I've always had
Is a good enough book for me.

I may be stubborn and out of date,
But my hair is white as snow,
And I love the things I learned to love
In the beautiful long ago.
I cannot be changeing at my time;
'T would be losing a part of myself.
You may lay the new New Testament
Away on the upper shelf.

I cling to the one my good man read
In our fireside prayers at night;
To the one my little children lisped
Ere they faded out of my sight.
I shall gather my dear ones close again
Where the many mansions be,
And till then the Bible I've always had
Is a good enough book for me.
—Harper's Bazar.

The Song of Night.

"O, night,
And storm, and darkness! ye are wondrous strong,
Yet lovely in your strength!"
—Byron.

I come to thee, O, Earth!
With all my gifts!—for every flower sweet dew
In bell, and urn, and chalice, to renew
The glory of its birth.

Not one which glimmering lies
Far amidst folding hills or forest leaves,
But, through its veins of beauty, so receives
A spirit of fresh dyes.

I come with every star;
Making thy streams, that on their noonday track,
Give but the moss, the reed, the lily, back,
Mirrors of worlds afar.

I come with peace,—I shed
Sleep through thy wood-walks, o'er the honey-bee,
The lark's triumphant voice, the fawn's young glee,
The hyacinths meek head.

On my own heart I lay
The weary babe; and sealing with a breath
Its eyes of love, send fairy dreams, beneath
The shadowing lids to play.

I come with mightier things!
Who calls me silent? I have many tones—
The dark skies thrill with low mysterious moans,
Borne on my sweeping wings.

I waft them not alone
From the deep organ of the forest shades,
Or buried streams, unheard amidst their glades
Till the bright day is done,

But in the human breast
A thousand still small voices I awake,
Strong, in their sweetness, from the soul to shake
The mantle of its rest.

I bring them from the past:
From true hearts broken, gentle spirits torn,
From crush'd affections, which, though long o'erborne,
Make their tone heard at last.

I bring them from the tomb:
O'er the sad couch of late repentant love,
They pass—though low as murmurs of a dove—
Like trumpets through the gloom.

I come with all my train:
Who calls me lonely? Hosts around me tread,
The intensely bright, the beautiful, the dead—
Phantoms of heart and brain!

Look from departed eyes,
These are my lightnings!—fill'd with anguish vain,
Or tenderness too piercing to sustain,
They smile with agonies.

I, that with soft control,
Shut the dim violet, hush the woodland song,
I am the avenging one!—the arm'd, the strong—
The searcher of the soul.

I, that shower dewy light
Through slumbering leaves, bring storms the tempest birth
Of memory, thought, remorse! Be holy, Earth!
I am the solemn Night!
—Mrs. Hemans.

Selected Story.

KATE'S WEDDING.

"I really don't see, Kate, how you can reconcile it to your conscience to put up with all his actions and whims," said old Miss Thorne, with a troubled cloud on her usually rosy and serene face.

"But, Aunt Penelope, he loves me."

"He has a queer way of showing his love, then, that's all I have to say!"

"And we are to be married next week," added Kate Thorne, her cheeks flushing as she spoke.

"Then I hope marriage will work the miracle of a change in him," said Aunt Penelope, tartly. "For to speak the honest truth, unless he does alter his way, I don't see much happiness for you, my child."

"And Aunt Penelope added to the general uncomfortableness of matters by shaking her wise old head, and "only wishing Kate had had good sense enough to choose Lionel instead of that other fellow."

"He isn't so handsome and fanciful, perhaps," added Aunt Penelope, "but as all know, that beauty is only skin deep, and I do believe that if any man made a good husband, Lionel Wilson will! Heigho! I hope fate has got a nice wife in store for him somewhere!"

"You had better marry him yourself, Aunt Pen!" said Kate, mischievously.

"Marry my grandson!" quoth Aunt Penelope. "I've lived fifty odd years without a husband, and I guess I can make out a few more of 'em. But I can't help feeling sorry for Lionel all the same."

"Well, Aunt Penelope, you know that I like him—ever so much."

"Ah," said Aunt Penelope, "but that is exactly what he don't want."

And Kate, to avoid the coming discussion, stole up to her own room, where the wedding wreath and veil were already eliciting the admiring comments of the two dimpled young bridesmaids, Kate's youngest sisters.

Harold Grenfell was not in the happiest of humors that night, when he came as usual to spend the evening with his bride-elect. He criticised Kate's dress—her hair—the very twinkling ornaments she wore in her ears.

"And, of course, you are the best judge of your own affairs, Catharine," he added. Kate especially disliked the stately "full name" to which she was by baptism entitled. "But I don't think it exactly the correct thing for you to be walking out with Lionel Wilson the very week before your wedding."

"Dear me, Harold!" cried Kate, making double arches of her prettily penciled brows. "I had to go out to get two more yards of white quilled ribbon for my sleeves, and as Lionel chanced to be walking in the same direction, I couldn't very well go on the other side of the street."

"A bride-elect has no business with the attentions of any man except him who is to be her husband."

"Dear Harold, would you transform the future husband into a tyranical jailor? Would you wish to show that you have neither confidence nor trust in the woman you have chosen for your wife?"

"I am much obliged to you," said Harold, bitterly, while a disagreeable curve came to his lips. "Perhaps plain speaking is best under all circumstances, but it is not agreeable to hear that I am considered a tyranical jailor."

"Now, Harold," coaxed Kate, coming close to him, and putting her little plump hand on his shoulder, "be good-humored once again, and put away these disagreeable suspicions, for—"

"Thanks, once more. Perhaps I had better take my leave, since in addition to tyranny, I have become disagreeable."

He rose, and Kate, for once, fairly driven beyond the bounds of patience, did not oppose his departure.

She had let Harold depart without a word to restrain him.

Mr. Grenfell's meditations, as he walked homeward, were not of the most exhilarating description. He liked to torment Kate; it seemed to show the power he held over her, in his opinion, but yet he wanted to see the arrow rankle. Anything like calm indifferenee on her part defeated all his intentions. And yet, impossible as it may seem to those of pleasanter and more serene temperament, Harold Grenfell loved Kate Thorne dearly and truly.

"But I'll find means to bring down her pride and teach her a lesson yet," he thought, vindictively. "She shall not defy me in that cool, offhand sort of a manner without repenting it."

And when, three days afterward, he called to take Kate out for a drive, he was greatly incensed by seeing Lionel Wilson in the drawing room, helping Dora, his youngest sister-in-law that was to be, wind worsted, while Kate sat by, evidently enjoying their conversation.

He froze into haughty rigidity at once, but Kate, provokingly good-humored, took no notice of his coolness.

Well, the day of the wedding came, and Kate Thorne, like all other brides, looked bewitchingly pretty in her white dress and veil, with just enough color to make her cheeks like blush roses. It was to be a home wedding, and the guests already thronged the parlors of Aunt Penelope's spacious old-fashioned house.

"Kate! Kate! it's five minutes to twelve!" whispered Aunt Pen, putting her head into the boudoir where the bride and the bridesmaids, like rose and rosebuds on a stem, awaited the stroke of the eventful hour, which in this special case happened to be twelve o'clock—"Hasn't he come yet?"

By way of answer to the old lady's rather nervously put question, a servant entered at that instant with a note.

"For Miss Kate," she said.

And Kate tore it open with flushed cheeks as she recognized the handwriting of Harold Grenfell on the superscription.

"My dear Kate," it read briefly, "since you have studied my wishes so little during the past week, you can scarcely expect me to make a special point of your convenience. I have business that renders it desirable for me to leave town this morning, to be absent two or three days. I am sorry to defeat your arrangements, but, perhaps, the salutary lesson may not be thrown away, and I have long thought that you needed time for a little reflection before entering on the solemn ties of marriage. Yours, very truly, H. GRENFELL."

Lionel Wilson, leaning against the carved marble standards of the chimney place, watched the varied color on Kate's cheeks as she perused the billet.

"What is it, Kate?" he asked, earnestly.

She handed him the note with a smile.

'Your services will scarcely be required as groomsman to-day,' she said. 'Read that.'

He read it, the scarlet dye of anger mounting to his cheek.

'Kate, you will not marry this man now?' he said.

'Never,' she muttered, in a convulsive tone.

'Dear Kate, the guests have all arrived, the minister is here. I have the ring in my pocket. Be married to-day, Kate, and let me be the bridegroom. I have loved you longer and more tenderly by half a score of years than this supercilious fop. Show him, Kate, that his envenomed arrow falls short of the mark.'

She looked with eyes half glad, half sorrowful into his face.

'I can trust you, Lionel,' she murmured.

'Then you will become my wife?'

'Yes.'

'At once?'

So Kate Thorne and Lionel Wilson were married, and the assembled witnesses laughingly congratulated Kate upon the profound secret she had contrived to keep of her real intentions.

Two days afterward Mr. Grenfell called at the Thorne mansion.

'I've just returned to town,' he said, in a bustling and arrogant sort of way; and of course I came here at once. Where is Kate?

The bride and groom have not returned to town yet, said Aunt Penelope, calmly adjusting her spectacles.

What bride? ejaculated Harold.

What groom? he echoed.

Why, Lionel and Kate, of course. They were married the day before yesterday.

Married? echoed Harold, in blank horror and dismay.

Exactly so, said Aunt Penelope, secretly exulting in his discomfiture. There were no cards, the affair being rather sudden, but you will get a piece of wedding cake, tied with a white ribbon, in due season, I do not doubt.

And she complacently shut the door in his face, leaving him to the reluctant conviction that he had lost his treasure, and all through his own blind self-conceit and arrogance.

A Fastidious Boarder.

One of the proprietors of a mountain house in the town of Woodstock, in the Catskills, received a letter the other day from a lady inquiring very particularly about his house and what accommodations he had for genteel boarders. She said she had written to twenty mountain houses, and had received an answer from the most of them, but their places, so far, did not suit her, as the society was not sufficiently polished. She desired a room on the northerly side of the house, with ceiling not less than eight feet in height, the windows commanding a broad and expansive view of farm lands and mountains.

She inquired, "Have you a piano in your house? I do so dearly love music that I could not possibly do without it. Are your boarders as a rule cultured people? Have they a classic air? I could not exist without classic society. Are there many mosquitos around your house? Is there a pond near that contains noisy, singing frogs? I desire to know this particularly, as the croaking of frogs did terribly annoy me last season." She closed the letter by saying "that she could not pay more than $5 per week, and if his answer to her questions was satisfactory she would engage a room for a few weeks the latter part of July."

The proprietor having no room in his house less than $8 per week, though somewhat amused at the letter, did not care to answer it, but finally one of the boarders thought a reply was necessary, and so he wrote to the lady. He told her as an index of the culture and classic style of the guests, who had visited the house the last season, he could name Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras; Gen. U. S. Grant, Susan B. Anthony, Roscoe Conkling, Dr. Mary Walker, Jefferson Davis, with the author of "Beautiful Snow," Henry Ward Beecher, William D. Hill and William L. Vanderbilt, accompanied by Maud S., and for further recommendations he would refer her to them or either of them. They had no piano but plenty of thunder.

Mosquitos were in abundance, and in fact was one of the most noted characteristics of the hotel, and one of the reasons why it was such a favorite resort, as invalids did not require either doctor or leeches. These birds took the place of physicians in regard to blood-letting, and when killed and served with toast, were considered by epicures as a dish unequaled in richness.

"There are bull frogs it is true," said the writer, "I wish to be frank with you, but we have them so thoroughly trained that by the use of electricity we can produce the finest concert music in the world. Their voices are rich, deep and mellow, they have become famous and this is another attraction of the house that has given it a reputation even in far-off lands."

An answer has not been received, but it seems the "menu" should be sufficient to satisfy the most fastidious.

Dumb waiters are a great invention, but a greater renown will be the man's who will invent dumb barbers.

One quart of cheap whiskey, the cheaper the better, judiciously applied, will do more business for Satan than the smartest deacon he has got.

Miscellaneous.

YANKEES AGAINST THE WORLD.—It was during the Crimean war that three officers, one an Englishman, one a Frenchman, and the other a Yankee who had joined the allies, got into a dispute as to which was the best swordsman. The dispute finally grew so hot as to end in a challenge to mortal combat, the survivor to wear the laurels.—As dueling was contrary to army regulations, and the affair coming to the ear of the commanding officer, he at once took measures to put a stop to it, but as all the officers were anxious to witness a trial between these noted experts, he hit upon a plan that would test their skill and at the same time not transgress any of the rules.

There were three prisoners under sentence of death, and the commander decided to let the belligerents act as executioners, and the one that would perform the duty with the greatest skill should be declared the victor. So on the day appointed a large number of officers were present to witness the trial of skill. The Englishman was the first one called upon, and singling out his man, drew his sword with a flash, and with a single stroke severed the head from the body. Great applause followed.

Then the Frenchman's turn came next. He, drawing a narrow ribbon from his pocket, tied it around the neck of his victim; then, turning his back upon the prisoner, his sword flew from its scabbard, and he, turning on his heel at the same time, with one stroke cut the head from his victim, splitting the ribbon through the center. Tremendous applause followed and the universal opinion was that he would be the victor.

Now came the "Yankee's" turn. He calmly walked up to his man, drew his sword with the rapidity of lightning, and gave it a flourish around his head, sheathed it as quickly, and turning saluted the commander. Hisses and groans went up from the crowd, and the commander sternly asked him what he meant by such contempt. The Yankee, turning to the man he was to have slain, said, "Will you please to spit, sir?" The man attempted to comply with the request, when his head rolled off, it having been severed so quickly that he did not know it until he went to move his head. The Yankee wore the belt.

WHERE IS BEECHER'S MONEY?—The newspaper gossips of New York are wondering what Henry Ward Beecher has done with his money. At one time he was in receipt of $20,000 from his church, $10,000 from his newspaper, $2,000 for his lecturing, add some $10,000 from marriage fees, literary works and his books, making a total of $60,000 a year. Yet Beecher never had any money to spare. His household was modest, not expensive; his wife was apparently not extravagant, he gave nothing that was known to charity, and yet he was always impecunious. When he wanted to help Tilton he gave a mortgage upon his house, furniture and buildings, and now he has sold his house and furniture and gone to live with a married son. He said he did this because the young birds had all grown up and flown out of the nest, yet it was a marvel that in his old age he should leave his comfortable home upon the heights of Brooklyn and go into narrow quarters as a boarder. He spoke with a sigh and very evident regret at the breaking up of his old home, and the general opinion is that it is lack of money which compels it. The whole thing has a queer look, and the question which agitates newspaper men is, where has all the money he had in the last quarter of a century, amounting in millions, gone to? That there is a mystery, perhaps a mystery of charity, connected with the man's life and his daily expense no one can doubt.—New York Letter.

VALUE OF COMMAS.—The clerk of a congregation in Scotland had a paper handed to him, as the custom is, to read just before the minister stood up to pray with and for the congregation, containing the following, unpointed: "A man going to sea his wife desires the prayers of the congregation." The clerk read it as if a comma had been put at the end of the word wife, and unfortunately excited, in no small degree, the risible faculties of the people assembled—thus, "A man going to sea (see) his wife, desires the prayers of the congregation."

"Now you better let me put up a set of these weather strips on your doors," pleaded the agent in an insinuating voice; "they keep the house very warm." But the man said no, his wife's mother was stopping with them this winter, and he guessed it would be warm enough without the strips, and the agent, being a sensible man, saw it that way, too, and went out to hunt up another customer.

Why was Eve made? For Adam's Express Co.

GREAT SALE OF COTTON UNDERWEAR.

ONLY ONE WEEK MORE!

Conrad

Will hold his Great Sale of Ladies' Cotton Underwear but one week more. No doubt but at the end of that time it will all be sold.

We ask particular attention to the Chemises, Night Dresses, Drawers and Skirts. The quality of cloth, and work, and prices, cannot be beaten.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY. MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors,
Sitting Rooms,
Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices. An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Carrying Pistols.

BY THE REV. WILLIAM B. CARY.

In the days of knights-errant and olden chivalry, when every "gentleman" wore a sword, violent encounters and blood-letting were of frequent occurrence. And in the West, all along the frontier, and on the "cow-path," as they call the cattle-trail from Texas to Central Kansas, there are frequent bloody encounters and numberless deaths, resulting largely from the carrying of pistols by every man engaged in the cattle trade.

It seems to be a necessity for men to carry fire-arms in that new country, to protect themselves and their cattle from the Indians and thieves who hang about the trail; but the effect of this custom of wearing arms is none the less marked. Every encounter of words is apt to end in a mutual target-practice, the bodies of the disputants presenting fair marks for the trial of their skill.

I had a friend at one time, the son of a good New England mother, who moved from Massachusetts to Kansas, with her whole family, and settled on the frontier. When of age, he went out as a "cow-boy" with a drover, and soon began to invest in two-year-olds for himself, keeping them with the herd till they reached market, and laid up some money. He was of rather a quiet disposition; but carried his pistols just the same, and burned quantities of powder in practice, becoming an excellent shot. I saw him at intervals when home on visits. Finally his herd came in, but he was not with it. The drover and owner of the herd knew nothing of him, except that he was with them when they left Texas. "He must have dropped out at one of the towns along the route." It leaked out, however, that he and another man had some words and— Neither of them came in with the herd. Both fired at the same instant and both shots were fatal. If the spirits of men murdered in this way could be seen standing where they died, they would form a line of sentries extending from Kansas City to Santa Fe; and, if they could speak, they would every one of them say: "Killed in hot haste."

Human life is at its minimum value where every man wears his pistols and is so practiced in drawing and firing them that, before an ordinary man could get his pistol out of his pocket, they would draw, fire and kill him.

It has been said, "They are mighty civil to each other," as a sort of recommendation for the practice of carrying arms. Yes, the uncivil ones die; but this number is so large that, if it were known, we would be appalled at the exhibit. The tales of our border are tales of blood. A desperado stands talking with some of "the boys." A stranger comes up the street. He wears a blue coat with brass buttons.

"Boys," says the desperado, "I'll bet an X. I can drive that brass button into that fellow's heart."

"I take the bet! Plank down the coin!" replies one of "the boys."

At the word the money is put into the hands of an umpire; the desperado draws, and, as the innocent stranger arrives within range, levels his pistol and fires. They all go up to his prostrate body, out of which the life is swiftly ebbing, and find that the marksman has driven the brass button into his body; but are not satisfied that he has won the bet, for they cannot tell if it is in his heart.

"Well, never mind, boys," says the murderer. "May be I didn't quite win it. I move we give the twenty dollars to the church." Which is unanimously carried, as no one in the crowd wants any sort of button driven into his heart.

One living on the frontier for any length of time hears scores of such tales, and, from the character of the "cow-boys" and desperadoes, he knows no reason to suspect their truth.

These men all carry arms, and they practice so constantly with them that they are as certain of hitting their mark as the great rifle-shot is of hitting the glass balls thrown into the air.

The question that suggests itself to my mind is this: Are we in danger of becoming as reckless of human life as the "cow-boys" of the plains? If the mass of peace-loving citizens, who never think of fire-arms, could know the number of pistols carried by boys and young men, could see their practice with them, and hear their slang talk and swagger, they would fear it.

Every young man must have his pistol-pocket in his pants. All the custom work is made up in this way, and all the young men as they buy this necessary article of apparel, thrust their hands into the pistol-pocket to assure themselves that they are "reg'lar made."

If an expose of these pockets could be made, the most knowing of us would be astonished at the number of revolvers of all patterns, loaded with ball cartridges, carried by young men everywhere in the country.

The East is no exception whatever to the assertion, nor is New England excepted in the East.

At a little post-office town in Connecticut, so quiet and demure you would think you had come to the rural of all rurals, so sedate and old fashioned as suggest the times of long ago, when as yet there was no revolver or locomotive or telegraph—the nineteenth century trinity—I stopped at a small store, where calico and spices, woolen goods and tobacco, candies and cartridges were in confusion on the shelves, and, after talking with the store keeper awhile, I pointed to the cartridges, and asked: "Do you not find those things rather unprofitable stock!"

He smiled, and answered, "That's about as profitable a line as there is in the trade. I suppose I sell more dollars worth of flour and pork; but that's a pretty good trade."

"Why, those are pistol cartridges, are they not?"

"Oh! yes. Look at them. They're reg'lar."

"But the people about here don't carry pistols, do they?"

He eyed me a moment quizzically, and then said, "I guess, if you should see the boy's pockets emptied out at night, you'd find a revolver in—well, say two thirds of them."

"How do you know? Do you sell them to the boys?"

"I know because they show them when they come to buy cartridges. I don't sell them. They buy them from firms that advertise to send them by mail."

"What do they pay for them?"

"Oh! anywhere from one dollar and fifty cents to about four dollars, according to size and finish."

"When the boys get them, what do they do with them? They don't shoot anything with them, do they?"

"Well, they practice at marks a good deal, and shoot at birds; and if you think they can't shoot, you are mistaken. I've seen them hit pieces of paper three inches square twenty feet off. It is no secret about here that the boys carry 'em. May be their mammies don't know about it; but they all do."

Now, what is to be the result of this almost universal practice of carrying arms concealed? Will it cheapen human life and expose it to greater dangers?

A friend said to me the other day, "I was in a pistol factory in Norwich last week, and they said they could hardly supply the demand. And what do you suppose a five-shot nickel-plated revolver costs them?"

I guessed one dollar.

"No. Sixty-eight cents. I don't wonder that every boy has one. I only wonder that there are not more accidents and crimes than there are."

The mania to possess a revolver is spreading, and the number carried is constantly multiplying.

What will the influence be upon our civilization, when every boy has one in his pocket and is anxious to try its shooting qualities after the style of the Western desperado?—N. Y. Independent.

He was a printer, and he went into a millinery store to buy a breakfast cap for his sister. He stated his want and then fell to musing. "What kind of a cap do you wish?" queried the lovely young female who waited upon him. He roused himself from his reverie and answered: "Nonpareil full-face italic cap." She had served a year in a printing office, and she tumbled, so to speak. "Minion!" she exclaimed, "I know better; you want something primer." Then he smiled and said he would let the cap go, and take an M brace; whereupon she blushed, and said she would have to prove him once, after which she would have no objection to his locking up the form in his M brace. That finished the business. No cards.

A STRONG CONQUEROR. — According to an Illinois exchange, our days of Rheumatism are well nigh numbered. St. Jacobs Oil enters a rheumatic territory, and conquers every subject.—That's right. We believe in it.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free
aug 3—6 w

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

— AT —

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.
Jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,
also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:
Second Door West of Hay Scales.
apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.
feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.
my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.
je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR. — Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS A. ROPES.
nov 24 218 and 222 Derby Street.

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.

WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

— AT —

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES.

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY.

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps, Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.
aug 17

CUT FLOWERS,

— FOR —

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

— AT —

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

— AT THE —

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

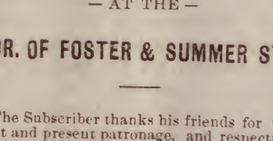
Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

in the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.



He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,
Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

— AND —

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS.
Advertising means "business."
It pays advertising men to remain among us.
JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, examine, etc.

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

GENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials: pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address
THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.

"IT'S ONLY A COLD" has sent thousands to premature graves. A cold stops up the avenues of the system, and disease must result. Neglected, most violent remedies must be used to remove the obstruction. Taken timely, a few doses of

Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient

will carry off naturally the cause of the suffering, and save days, months, or even years of suffering.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT.

COMER'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

is the oldest institution of its class in America. It still continues to give superior instruction in all the Commercial Branches. Over Two Hundred of its graduates were assisted to suitable Employment last year, which vouches for its high standing with business men. Send for the latest catalogue. 666 Washington street, corner of Beach St., Boston, Mass.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of
J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

BLACK CASHMERES.

A Special Bargain

— IN —

BLACK CASHMERES,

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

4 1-2 Cents.

Good Prints 4 1-2 Cents per yard.

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

THE COMFORT CORSET.

The Best Corset made. Suits every time.

BARGAINS

In every Department to reduce stock.

Prices Lower than the Lowest.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 24, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

The West Haven Mystery.

The history of the sad death of Jennie Cramer, at West Haven, is the same old story, and presents the same old moral, familiar enough, but so little regarded in this country. Too little restriction is placed upon the actions and associates of their daughters; there is too little regard for the home life, and the addition thereto of all the attractions which make it alluring; too few obstacles are placed in the way of any gentleman, however immoral his character, having freedom of entry to the parlors of those of the highest respectability, provided he possesses a fine appearance, and plenty of cash in his pocket. From the best source of information, we can obtain no evidence that warrants the belief that the girl who was murdered had wandered from the path of virtue before her acquaintance with James Malley. Beautiful she undoubtedly was, full of life and gayety—the consequence of her mode of life — having many admirers and residing where excitement and frivolity are as natural as for the light to follow darkness. But that she was anything farther than this before her visits to the Malley mansion we do not believe.

If no evidence further than has been brought to light is obtained, and the young men are not found to have directly caused her death, the sentiment of the community should hold them at least morally responsible. If she was driven to suicide, either from shame or any other cause, it can be traced to her associations with this quartette who had been her companions through these scenes of dissipation and destruction.

The plot was shrewdly and cunningly laid. Walter Malley is the only son of Edward Malley, the owner of the large dry goods establishment in New Haven, Conn., which bears his name. In his father's absence he is nominally manager of his business. Possessing only a moderate ability, he is crafty, deep and self reliant. During the visit of his father to Saratoga, this young man brings to New Haven a girl from a well-known house of ill fame in New York, engages board for her through a friend at a first-class hotel, introduces her to the people of New Haven, and among others to Jennie Cramer, as his affianced, leaving her and others in the dark respecting her true character.—James Malley, his cousin, is a clerk in his uncle's store, at a small salary. His father is also an employee in the store of Edward Malley. Some years ago, he managed a branch store for his brother in Meriden, of which he made a failure, and since that time he has been employed in the store at New Haven. On the arrival of the Douglass woman in the city, James Malley, who was well acquainted with her character, sought out Jennie Cramer, with whom he had a casual acquaintance, and this party of four were seen frequently together. Drives, parties, suppers at Redcliffe's, and wines succeeded. The result followed naturally, and the night spent at the Malley house was only the step towards which all their plans and cunningly devised schemes had been direeted. If we go no farther, here is a plot of infamy and disgrace laid for an unsuspecting girl — and by men who make a claim to some sort of respectability in that city.

In our judgment, the fact that no certain clue has been found to the whereabouts of the Cramer girl from Thursday night until Friday night looks suspicious for the Malley boys. This girl was well known in New Haven. By the testimony of her parents, she was not at home after Thursday morning. No one has yet been found, with the exception of the manager of Redcliffe's restaurant, who testifies with any distinctness to seeing her. If she was not in their company it would seem impossible that this should be the case. They, of course, deny being with her. But the fact that no one else can be found who had seen her, is presumptive evidence that no one else save this party know where she was. The Douglass woman has told three different stories of the doings at the house of Edward Malley on Wednesday night. Because they ascertained that the story she told before the coroner's jury was a "put up job," and because she has told another story now, they have been led to believe that she has now told the truth. We think they are presuming too much. We do not believe she has told what she knows about this occurrence yet.

We trust that the authorities will be enabled to solve the mystery. It may be suicide,—it may be murder; but in any event, we are strongly of the opinion that the responsibility rests solely with the party who were her companions for the days and weeks prior to her death. Whether the law will be able to fix the responsibility anywhere, remains yet to be seen.

JUDGING FROM accounts sent from the Camp Meeting at Hamilton, the meeting this year was not a success. At the business meeting, held on Wednesday, a lively discussion was engaged in relative to the expediency of holding the next meeting for ten days, and over Sunday, as has been the former custom. While no formal decision was arrived at, it is probable that the result will be that next year the camp meeting will last ten days. Looking at this matter from the standpoint of those who hold very strict puritanical views as to the method of Sunday observance, their action this year would seem consistent; but there are many good reasons for holding these meetings over the Sabbath, and the attraction of the Camp Ground on that day is surely no greater than many other places of resort which are frequented on that day. Inasmuch as the Eastern R. R. run no trains to the camp-ground on Sundays—the only train being the regular train which goes through on that day to the beaches—most of the people who come must do so in their private conveyances. We see no more harm in this than in taking a ride into the country on any pleasant Sabbath; and the few who hold that these things should be forbidden is growing smaller every year. Yet at the same time, these Sunday excursions and amusements are fast running in the opposite direction, and developing a tendency which should be restricted. We shall have something further to say on this subject, later on.

WE HAVE noticed several times recently that some of the organs of the Greenback party express surprise that papers in the country which are not in sympathy with their financial ideas, have maintained and supported views which they are disposed to applaud. Notably is this the case with regard to the monopolies of the railroads of the country. The point sought to be gained is very thin. The business prosperity of the country has been constantly on the increase, the public debt has been largely diminished, since the resumption of specie payment—despite the growlings of the leaders of the party. So patent is this to nearly every one, that the attention of the supporters of Greenbackism is sought to be turned to some principle which is supported as well by the Republican party as their own. We do not see why it is necessary to belong to the Greenback party to be in opposition to railroad monopolies, watered stock and excessive rates of transportation. It has nothing to do with the point supposed to be at issue between them and the advocates of sound money, whether in the Republican or Democratic party. It is simply a bait, and we are sorry to see it caught at so readily.

HER MAJESTY Queen Victoria has surprised the advocates of Woman Suffrage in this country by her action in relation to the admission of women as members of the International Convention of physicians in London. It was equally an unexpected development to many in that country. The members of the convention, it would appear, were disposed to look favorably upon their admission, but the announcement that the royal patronage would be withdrawn somewhat cooled their ardor, and the female delegates were rejected by a considerable majority. From the progressive stand which the Queen has taken on many measures of public moment, it is a matter of regret that she should have taken this stand. It only shows that the bitterest foes and opponents of the advancement of women to many positions to which she is entitled and fitted, come from those of her own sex. In this country female physicians have equal rights and privileges with men, and in many cases their success has been very marked.

THE FIRST political note of the campaign has been sounded by the Greenbackers, whose convention for the nomination of candidates whose political death will be recorded this fall, is holden to-day in Worcester. Several gentlemen, whose names have more or less prominently been connected with the party, are mentioned as the nominee for Governor. We presume it will make very little difference which one of them is selected.

IT IS REPORTED

That the large number of new lights in the different portions of the town present quite a metropolitan appearance.

That the lighter is to have the luxury of a horse and carriage to attend to his duties.

That this is a big week for the Willows.

That the grand trades exhibition of fireworks announced for last week did not come off.

That it is postponed till this week Friday.

That "Doc." Kelly, of the Lafayette House, Salem, gave a special clam bake to a party from this town Friday evening.

That the bakes at this house are something to be remembered.

That this is only one of the numerous parties attracted there by the admirable cuisine.

That the enforcement of the liquor law in town don't amount to much.

That there is more liquor drank than ever.

That certain improvements in the vicinity of the Square are what has long been needed in town.

That more of the same sort would be welcomed.

That at the recent election in Kentucky the Republicans gained fourteen members of the legislature.

That it is early yet to see the importance of the increase.

That straws show which way the wind blows.

That the lecture season will soon open.

That Edison and Vennor will undoubtedly draw full houses.

That nearly all the theatres in Boston opened their season this week.

That this is a reminder that the vacation season is drawing to an end.

That the monument committee have invited Post 50, G. A. R., to unite with them in the dedicatory exercises.

That Post 50 have accepted, and will give a general invitation to the Posts in this vicinity to participate.

That the PRESS never gave the slightest intimation that Post 50 would not take a hand in the dedicatory exercises.

That it is as easy for some journalistic fledglings to lie as it is to steal.

That a young man in So. Peabody has discovered the new comet.

That he should beware of having his name known in public.

That the population of Canada, according to a census taken on the 4th of last April, is $4,350,933, or about that of our single state of Pennsylvania.

That the increase during the past ten years has been 865,172, or a little less than a quarter.

That "Phœnix" is really entitled to the credit of the noon mail.

That his communication in the PRESS in regard to post office matters caused the subject to be agitated.

That we hope we shall hear from him upon other town matters, and often.

WIRE ADVICES from thirty-seven leading trade centers throughout the country to Bradstreet's this week foreshadow the early opening of a brisk fall trade. At some points in Indiana, at St. Louis, Louisville and elsewhere, the opinion is held that owing to the short crop in these immediate localities a curtailment of the autumn business at these points must result. At most of the other cities, the outlook is decidedly the reverse. There has been considerable excitement in the principal grain markets during the past week, and a sharp advance in the leading staples. The canal shipments east from Buffalo continue light, the boats being laid up in consequence. There are no new features to chronicle from the industrial centres, manufacturers still reporting orders in access of capacity. The failures throughout the United States and Canada reported to Bradstreet's during the past week were eighty-six, the usual weekly average a decrease of thirty from the record of the preceding week, which was rather the exception at that season of the year. The greatest increase is noted in California, New England and the Southern States. The total failures in the Middle States were 23; New England, 18; Southern States, 7; Western States, 23; California and the Pacific Coast States, 3; Canada and the Provinces, 12.—There were no mercantile failures in which the liabilities were large.—Boston Globe.

President J. H. Seelye says in the Congregationalist in regard to the new system of self-government at Amherst that it is the unanimous conviction of the faculty that they have never known a year where so much honest work has been done in the college, and with such healthy results, as in the year now closed. The attendance upon college exercises has surprised them all. The requirements of the college are not in the least abated. Exact rules are still applied; but when these are broken, the offender, instead of being sent away, has simply taken himself away. He was only received upon his agreement to maintain a certain course, and failing in this he has separated himself from the college and may pursue his own way. The college follows him with no punishment, save such as his own conscience my impose, and he may go to any other college, which may choose to receive him, without hindrance from Amherst.

Young widows wear fine, soft, gray silk stockings, with black and white hair stripes. For the more advanced stages of widowhood the stripes broaden evenly until they are about half an inch wide.

The amount of business done by tourist agents in this country is enormous. There are four firms on Broadway, New York, that sell $3,000,000 of tickets a year.

Summer Saunterers.

Mrs. Serena Ayer is stopping with her sister, Mrs. Eliza Sutton, at Center Harbor.

Miss Mary Forness and Miss Lucy M. Symonds are at Townsend Harbor.

B. C. Perkins is rusticating in Maine and New Hampshire.

Miss Nellie Lord, Miss Carrie Harrington, and Mrs. Chas. Sanders and children are at Old Orchard Beach House, Saco, Me.

Theodore M. Osborne, and Mrs. Geo. A. Osborne and daughter, are in North Chatham, N. H.

George M. Foster is rusticating at Charlestown, Vt.

Richard Smith and wife are in North Conway, N. H.

Mrs. Edw. W. Jacobs and daughter have recently returnad from a sojourn in Meredith, N. H.

Joseph Osborn's family have recently returned from a sojourn in Franconia, N. H.

B. F. Southwick and wife, and J. L. Bowen and wife, are in Jackson, N. H.

Albert H. Merrill and family are occupying the Kimball cottage, Nashua Camp, Manataug.

Miss Mamie Harris is at Manataug, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leonard Pierce.

Mrs. G. W. Potter is in New Hampshire.

Mr. Samuel P. Messer is registered at the Intervale House, Intervale, New Hampshire.

Miss Helen L. Osborn, Miss Mary Eliza Osborn, Miss Fannie E. Mihan and sister, left for Kansas City, Mo., yesterday.

Rev. G. M. Harmon and family are residing at Clifton, Marblehead.

Mr. Brown of the Amesbury News, is spending his vacation in town, and we were pleased to receive a call from him last week at our office.

Mrs. Geo. H. Davis has been visiting friends at Natick, Mass.

Misses Hanna and Grace Thomas will spend their vacation in Lynn and Revere.

Rufus H. Brown, wife and daughter, Benj. S. Wheeler, wife and daughter, Misses Hattie Stanley and Hattie Hardy, left town Monday for the Crawford House, White Mountains.

Stephen Blaney, Nath'l Symonds, C. B. Haven, W. O. Batchelder and wife, H. M. Osborn, wife and daughter, J. M. Ward and wife, and Geo. Holman, went on the Boston and Maine excursion to Saco yesterday. Some of the party visited Mr. John A. Lord, who is registered at the Ocean House.

Mrs. Albert Beckett is spending a few days at Asbury Grove.

Willard Spaulding and wife are at Alpena, Mich.

Edgar W. Upton was registered last week at the Ocean House, Newport, R. I.

A. A. Messer, wife and daughter, are at North Conway, N. H.

S. E. Cassino and wife, Miss Emily H. Bancroft, and A. W. Littlefield, were registered last week at Conant Hall, Mount Vernon, N. H.

Albert Vittum is whiling away his time at Meredith Village, N. H.

The Greenbackers in the 2d Essex Senatorial District are counting upon doing something this fall, and some of them think they may squeeze in a Senator from this district if the party vote shall stand as favorably as it did in '79. Cor. Salem Gazette.

New Advertisements.

ESSEX AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A meeting of the members of the Essex Agricultural Society residing in Peabody, will be held at

TOWN HALL,

On Tuesday Evening, Aug. 30th, '81,

at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the choice of a Trustee for the ensuing year. The Secretary of the meeting will please notify the undersigned of the result.

[Signed,] CAARLES P. PRESTON, Secretary.

Danvers, Aug. 10th. 1881.
Official.
FRANCIS H. APPLETON, Trustee for Peabody.
Aug. 17th, 1881.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK.

WANTED, immediately, two respectable, steady, energetic men as Agents and Solicitors for the above-named company, for the districts of Salem, Peabody and Beverly.—Permanent situations offered to suitable men, with lucrative remuneration. Apply at the District Branch Office, Room 3, 71 Hubon Block, Washington street, Salem. Office hours, 8 to 9 A. M., 6 to 7 P. M.
aug 24—1m

MRS. S. E. MASON,

Having secured the services of a competent cutter and fitter, would inform the ladies of Peabody and vicinity that she has opened rooms for Dressmaking in all its branches, at 14 Park street, Peabody. "Button Holes and Machine Stitching as usual."
aug 24—1m

TO LET.

A tenement of six rooms, No. 24 Holten St Apply at No. 19 Lowell St.
aug 24 tf

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS.—20 tons heavy White Wheat Shorts and Middlings. For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

PATENT FLOUR,—One car load Ames' Fancy Minnesota patent process Family Flour,—For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots.

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers.

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MINING, MILLING AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125,000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock,	250,000 shares
Common Stock,	125,000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs.	Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines, and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury. 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.
jy 20—3m

WHITE MOUNTAIN EXCURSIONS,

VIA THE

Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,

WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.

GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my currying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.
aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

HORSE FOR SALE.

A LARGE, BAY, FAMILY HORSE,

With black points, very stylish, good age, all seasoned, and will work well in any place.
Can be seen and driven at DANIEL PROCTOR FARM, Near Proctor's Crossing, Peabody.
aug 10—3w

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,
FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Now wield the girls the mallet sticks
With strange infatuation;
And meanwhile plays fantastic tricks
With loudest cachinnation;
Their mallets swing the game to win,
Regardless of the friction,
Till suddenly one strikes a shin,
And though she struggles hard to grin,
She shrieks her mallet-diction.

—Springfield Republican.

New doctor in town.

Native peaches have come.

August has been decidedly doggish.

Another lot of water pipes have arrived.

Pay your tax bills and save the discount.

The days have shortened an hour and a quarter.

It pays to advertise in the PRESS—so they all say.

Fresh news next week from the hills and mountains.

Mr. M. W. Cummings has put on a new job wagon.

There won't be any frost to-night unless the wind goes down.

An addition is being built to the Poor tan yard on Hardy street.

We notice that the Soldier's Monument has arrived in town on the cars,

Mr. Isaac Drown has been appointed janitor of the school in the Wallis district.

The new lights on Lynn street in South Peabody are a great improvement.

Blaney's men are painting Nathaniel Symonds' store — a needed improvement.

Rev. Albert H. Currier of Lynn will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday.

Bring your job work to the PRESS office. New types, new presses and good workmen.

The public schools will open August 29th, instead of the first Monday in September as usual.

Coal is stiff and active, and it will be wise economy to have your winter supply without delay.

A. W. Berry is laying a brick sidewalk in front of Dr. Worcester's residence on Foster St.

Dr. Steele will preach in the Methodist E. Church next Sunday, Aug. 28, at 2.15 P. M. All are invited.

The weather last week had a wonderful effect in shortening the trains for the mountains and seashore.

Fred. S. Johnson, a veteran carpenter, had the misfortune to cut his hand quite seriously one day last week.

Southwick's fish market delivery wagon has put on a holiday appearance, with a new coat of paint and fine finish.

We learn that Mr. S. E. Cassino was thrown from his bicycle last week, indicting painful, though not serious, injury.

Until further notice, the train leaving Peabody at 2.01 P. M. on the Eastern road via Salem, will run via Point of Pines.

The next regular meeting of the S. C. Bancroft Engine Co. will occur on Monday evening, Sept. 5, at 7.30 o'clock.

Capt. John Peabody of Boxford, father of John P. Peabody of Salem, will celebrate his golden wedding this month.

We regret to learn that Mr. Washington Symonds, of this town, was removed last week to the Danvers Insane Hospital.

The water pipes are being laid with great rapidity along Tremont street. A tunnel about 100 feet long has also been dug in Buxton's hill.

It has been suggested that a man need not have his head shingled after the manner of some of our tony young gents, unless it leaks.

A new tight board fence has been built in front of the vacant lot of Geo. Brimmer on Elm street, and the grade of the sidewalk raised.

Improvements are being made in front of the school house in Center district. The stone steps are being reset and made firmer in position.

Endicott street has been dug up near the Lowell railroad crossing and new stone laid across the brook which passes under it, in order to strengthen the road.

Mr. John Daley, for many years night watchman at Andrew N. Jacobs, on Foster street, has given up his position, and will in future take charge of the street lamps.

Improvements are still going on at Geo. Upton's glue factory. Besides the large drying loft being built by Mr. Peirce, he is building a large cistern to receive the glue. Four thousand nets used for drying the glue are being remodeled, and being made of wire instead of twine as formerly.

The heavy wind last Thursday morning broke a large limb from a tree in front of Atherton & Co.'s leather factory, obstructing the sidewalk and breaking glass in the factory.

It is not generally known that persons desiring water at high service must make application for it before the trenches are covered up, or they will be obliged to wait until Spring.

Rev. W. G. Sperry of this town preached at Rev. Mr. Pentecost's church, Brooklyn, N. Y., last Sunday, where he will occupy the pulpit the remaining Sunday of this month.

We are informed that improvements are to be made in the front of the store of Mr. Nath'l Symonds on the square. A new show window is to be put in, and other changes are to be made.

A horse created a sensation at the the Washington House one day last week by walking up the stairs and trying to open the door with his teeth, upon failing to get in the front way.

Mr. Isaiah Chute escaped an accident last Thursday, one of the shaft bolts of his wagon having broken and started up the horse. The animal was soon stopped however, and all serious results averted.

An accident happened to the carriage of Rev. M. J. Masterson, in front of Father Gray's house in Salem. A team driven by P. R. Hartegan ran in to it, nearly demolishing it. Hartegan was thrown out.

A meeting of the members of the Essex Agricultural society, residing in Peabody, will be held at Town Hall on Tuesday evening, Aug. 30th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the choice of a trustee for the ensuing year.

The regular weekly meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is held at their room, No. 18 Main St., on Friday afternoons, at 3 o'clock. A full attendance of members and all others interested, is desired.

Considerable interest was manifested among the patrons of the Salem penny dailies by the retirement of Mr. George C. Farrington from his position as reporter for the Argus in this town, and the spicy letters in the several sheets above referred to.

One of the teams of Geo. W. Pepper, the candy manufacturer, met with quite a mishap in Lynn, Monday. The horse became frightened, broke away from his hitching strap, turning the wagon and damaging it considerably. It was driven by Geo. H. Wilson.

A man named Foye, who makes a specialty of sashes and blinds, besides glsss, furnishings, all varieties and sizes to order, was in town Friday looking for a place to locate. He is connected with a large firm in Boston, and would like to open a branch here.

The Woburn Advertiser says: "If you have a bit of news, or see the need of any public improvement, or notice something that would please or benefit individuals or the community, don't keep it to yourself and then find fault because it doesn't appear in this paper, but rather look up the editor and give him the item or suggestion."

Measures are being taken to have a firemen's hand-engine muster at the Forest Garden in September. Mr. Jas. F. Gould, publisher of the Firemen's Standard, has been in communication with the foremen of different suburban fire-engine companies, and from twenty to thirty have approved of the project and promise their co-operation.

It turns out that the orator, whose name was "withheld for the present," invited to deliver the address at the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument, is Rev. J. F. Lovering. We shall have an able and stirring address. We feared the secresy portended the announcement of some other ambitious orators, whose names we should regret to chronicle.

The annual reunion of the Massachusetts Union Survivors of Rebel Prisons will take place at the New Marlboro' Hotel, Boston, Wednesday, Sept. 7.—Business meeting at 2, dinner at 3 o'clock, P. M. Survivors of Rebel Prisons who have not joined the association are requested to send name and address to the secretary, J. G. Bovey, P. O. Box 103, Boston, Mass.

It has been decided that the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument will occur about Sept. 20th, Rev. J. F. Lovering having been invited to deliver the address. Dr. Geo. S. Osborne has been chosen Chief Marshall, and Capt. W. M. Ward commander of the Grand Army Posts. It is reported that the American Band of Providence, R. I., will furnish music for our Post.

At the reunion of the 2d company sharp-shooters, Massachusetts Volunteers, at Stoneham, on Thursday last, Mr. John H. Tibbetts of this town won the silver cup for the best shot made by the invited guests. He scored 13 out of a possible 15, at a 150 yards range. On the cup is inscribed "2d Company Sharp-Shooters, Aug. 18, 1881."

On Thursday last a young lad named Ryan, living on Mt. Vernon street—the same one we chronicled last week as receiving injuries from the explosion of powder—while playing at the morocco factory of Peter Sim, rear of Beaver street, Salem, caught his hand on a tenter hook, inflicting an ugly wound.—He was taken to a physician, who found it necessary to put six stitches in his hand.

It took three freight cars to bring the Soldiers' Monument to town. It is in pieces, which are boxed up, thus irritating the curiosity of Young America.

The third annual meeting of the Sunday School workers in Knox, Lincoln and Sagadahoc counties, in Maine, was held at Nobleboro' Camp Ground last week, at which Rev. C. V. Hanson, of Damariscotta, formerly of this town, presided.

We regret to hear that an accident has happened to a promiuent grocer in this vicinity. While he was teetering on a board at a private picnic yesterday, the ladies on the other end became dizzy and suddenly sprang off, and the attraction of gravity brought the gentleman very suddenly to the ground, on his back, shaking him up considerably and utterly demoralizing him.

Mr. Geo. C. Farrington has issued a neat advertising sheet called The Monument, for gratuitous distribution. He will issue a second copy of the paper, largely increased in size, about the time of the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument. Nearly all of the advertising space in this sheet has already been secured, and it will contain a full programme of the exercises and other particulars of the dedication.

That part of Regulation 2d of the Water Board, relating to the providing and maintaining by the town service pipes from the mains to three feet beyond the street line has been changed so as to read to the street line. This was found necessary, as, in cases where the house was set on the line, the town was obliged to not only carry the pipe into the cellar, but to keep it in order and be responsible for freezing, etc.

A couple of notorious roughs, "Nigger" Dalton and "Chokie" Barrett, entered the house of Mrs. Carney on Holly St., Sunday afternoon, and demanded liquor. This being refused them, they attempted to take improper liberties with Mrs. Carney and her daughter, who repelled them and called for help, whereupon the ruffians fled. Barrett has been arrested, but Dalton is still out of the pale of the law.

As Mr. W. F. Houston was returning home from work last evening, he was attacked on Central Street by B. M. Hills large Newfoundland dog, which sprang savagely at him, seizing him by the calf of the leg and biting out a mouthful of cloth from his pants, narrowly missing the flesh. As this is the second similar attack reported, it would seem that the animal was unsafe to be at large, and should be taken care of.

We are in receipt of copies of the London Times and Post of August 8th and 9th, in which we find notices of a reception given by Earl and Countess Granville in honor of the members of the International Medical Congress; also a garden party given by Baroness Burdett-Coutts at Holly Lodge, her suburban residence at Highgate, to the distinguished members of the same body. We notice the name of Dr. Albion M. Dudley of Salem, formerly of this town, as among the guests present at both of these gatherings.

A caucus of the Greenback party was held last Friday evening in Town Hall, and organized by the choice of Richard Kimball as President, and James F. Sullivan as Secretary. The following were elected delegates to the State Convention to be held in Worcester to-day: J. H. Thomas, Edward Trask, E. E. Boxwell, Richard Kimball, Geo. F. Barnes, James F. Sullivan, Isaac Munroe, W. F. Sumner, Luther Fernald, Patrick Kirwin, E. E. Fellows, Geo. Manning, James Dowling, H. J. G. Kimball, E. G. O'Leary, Martin Quinlan, Lawrence Purtell, Michael Horrigan, Lewis E. Peabody, Ira Foster, D. N. Townsend. After some discussion, the delegates were instructed to vote for Wendell Phillips on the informal ballot.

The large number of fires which have occurred recently in South Peabody led many to believe that a gang of fire-bugs were at work there. Chief-of-Police Peaslee and Officer Parker have been very actively at work for some time looking up this matter, and the result of their investigation led to the arrest last week of Dennis Griffin, a young man nineteen years old, living on High street, South Peabody. He was a member of the S. C. Bancroft Engine Co., and created suspicion by always being the first at the engine house on the night of a fire. He is supposed to have set all the recent fires in that neighborhood, but only one case can be proved against him, that at Brown's house. It appears that he was alone in his exploits, although he confided in a Shea boy, who makes a full confession. Griffin came up before Justice Merrill for a hearing last Saturday, and was bound over in $3000 for appearance at the October term of the Superior Court.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Essex, ss.

Taken on execution and will be sold at Public Auction, on Saturday, September 17, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the office of the undersigned, in Post Office Building, in Salem, in said county, all the right in equity that ALFRED F. WHEELER, of Peabody, in said county, has this day to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate, to wit: A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Peabody and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on Main street, by land of Amos Osborn, and running southerly by said land and land of Eliza D. Clement, 178 feet, more or less, to land of Joseph Hamilton; thence westerly by said land of Hamilton 40 feet, more or less, to a lane 12 feet wide leading from Main street to Summer street, by the premises; and thence by said lane 178 feet, more or less, to said Main street; and thence easterly by said Main street 40 feet, more or less, to point begun at. Also all of said Wheeler's right, title and interest in said lane on the westerly side of said premises.

SAMUEL A. JOHNSON,
aug 17—3w Deputy Sheriff.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of RICHARD LORING, late of Peabody, in said county, carpenter, deceased:

Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court for Probate, by George E. Luscombe, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed, may be issued to him, the executor therein named having declined to accept said trust.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of September, next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have against the same.

And said George E. Luscombe is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of July, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.

a3—3t J. T. MAHONEY, Register.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS,

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of

Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK, aug 3 30 Holten street.

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low. CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

FERNALD & SAWYER

Announce to the public that that they have

MARKED DOWN THEIR HOSIERY STOCK

To very low prices, in order to make room for fall goods. Our entire stock of 38 ct. and 42 ct. Children's Hose is marked down to 25 cts. per pair. Our 50 ct. and 62 ct. Children's Hose marked down to 38 cts. per pair. Our 15 ct. and 20 ct. Children's Hose we are selling for 12 1-2 cts. per pair. Be sure and procure some of the hose before they are all sold.

We have a decided bargain in

BEST QUALITY GERMANTOWN YARN,

slightly soiled, which we will close out at 15 cts. per skein. The regular price for this yarn is 25 cts. We guarantee it in quality the best in the market.

WE HAVE IN STOCK A LARGE LINE OF CORSETS,

For 50 cts., 75 cts., $1.00 and $1.25, which we guarantee as good goods as can be bought in Boston or elsewhere. We also have a regular 50 ct. Corset in all sizes, which we are selling for 38 cts. This is the best corset for the money that can be found anywhere.

We have about 25 doz. ALL LINEN SHIRT BOSOMS, slightly damaged, which we will sell for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents. These goods, if perfect, are worth 25, 38 and 42 cents. They are a decided bargain, and an early call is necessary to secure any of them, as they will not last long at the price we are selling them at.

IN DRY GOODS,

We are offering our extra stock of 15c Ginghams for 12 1-2 cts. per yard. Our 15 and 20c Dress Goods for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents per yard. Our remnants of Calicoes for 4 cts., yard wide 12 1-2c Cambrics, we are selling for 8 and 10 cts., according to style. We also have the largest and best stock of Domestic Dry Goods to be found in town—such as cottons, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Crashes, Flannels, Silesias, &c., &c., and they are all marked at very low prices. We endeavor to make our prices so low that our people can save money by buying their goods at home.

FERNALD & SAWYER,

48 MAIN STREET, - - - - PEABODY, MASS.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

WE ANNOUNCE

To the business men of Peabody and Salem, a large and complete stock of

Tanners', Curriers', Morocco and Sheep Skin Manufacturers'

SUPPLIES:

COBB LIME,

(By cask or car load.)

SICILY & AMERICAN SUMAC,

Logwood of all qualities.

COCHINEAL,

Pure Cider Vinegar,

Turks Island, Cadiz & Liverpool SALT,

ALUM, COPPERAS, WHITING,

EMERY,

Pearlash, Gum Arabic,

BI-CHROMATE, BLUE VITRIOL,

Neat's-Foot, Lard, Lubricating, Sperm, Paraffine & Currier's

OILS.

The above quoted articles (and many more) we are buying direct from the Manufacturers; therefore we guarantee to all everything at the

LOWEST QUOTED MARKET VALUE.

Thanking our citizens for their present liberal patronage, we hope by untiring energy, strict business principles, and prompt delivery of orders, to merit a still larger share of patronage.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

WANTED

A few Boarders. MRS. M. A. DOW No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

A. B. & W.

1, 2 & 3 WEST BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET.

CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

Our new Fall Importations, Suitings, Trowserings and Overcoatings,

OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

GREAT SEMI-ANNUAL

Mark Down Sale.

— OF —

MEN'S, YOUTHS',

BOYS' & CHILDREN'S

Fine and Medium

Clothing,

BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

We shall offer for the next Thirty Days

BARGAINS IN MEN'S CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN BOYS' CLOTHING!

BARGAINS IN YOUTHS' CLOTHING!

ALSO IN CHILDREN'S CLOTHING!

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING CO.,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Opposite the Essex House.

Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

Anecdotes.

THE RETURN FROM MECCA.

While at Damascus I was fortunate enough to witness the return of the pilgrims from Mecca. The whole city was in the streets, a bright sun lighting up the brilliant variety of dresses and costumes which jostled one against the other. Now and then a dervish would force his way through the crowd begging alms, or a confectioner would pass along with his tray balanced marvelously and immovably on the top of his head. The procession of the pilgrims was heralded by the sound of a trumpet; then marched the troops, travel-stained and "shabby," who had formed their escort on the way; after these came about a hundred of the garrison, mounted on horses, with swords drawn, and a few cannon, and the Pasha's palankin in their midst. Next followed the sacred copy of the Koran beneath its canopy of green and gold, under the folds of which, as it swayed uneasily to and fro on the camel's back, a boy's head and shoulders appeared. Behind was a second camel, bearing the green and gold banner of the Prophet, and accompanied by the three Sheiks in white turbans banded with gold. The first was enveloped in a robe of purple and gold; the last in one of green and gold, marking his descent from the family of Mohammed. After the sheiks came the pilgrims and their families on camels, all equally ragged and dirty. These were followed by the band of the garrison, and a company of foot soldiers brought up the rear. The procession was not, perhaps, a very striking one in itself, but the crowd which had flocked to witness it, filling the streets and shops, peering out of the windows, and lining the flat roofs of the houses, was a sight well worth traveling a long distance to see.—The Athenæum.

A TAME BAT.

Mauritius had originally no mammalian inhabitants excepting bats. The great fruit bat (Pteropus vulgaris) is abundant in the woods. These fruit bats are easily tamed. One of them was a great pet of Mr. G. Clark, now dead, who was the author of "A Brief Notice of the Fauna of the Mauritius," published in the Mauritius Almanac for 1859, and containing some very good observations. This tame bat was taken when young from its mother's breast and brought up by hand. It could not fly, because its wing membranes had been cut through to prevent its doing so. It usually passed its time hanging on to the back of a chair. Directly Mr. Clark came into the room it cried out loudly to be nursed. If it were not taken up at once it climbed up to him, rubbing its head against him, and licked his hands. If Mr. Clark sat down, the bat hung on at once to the back of the chair, and followed all the movements of its master with its bright eyes. If its master caught hold of a fruit it climbed forthwith down his arm to his hand to get its share, and it always got two teaspoonfuls out of every cup of tea or coffee. If Mr. Clark took any kind of object in his hand the bat climbed to it, examined it with his eyes and nose, and only returned to its chair back after completely satisfying its curiosity. It followed its master even into the open air if the door was not shut to prevent its getting out.—Nature.

LOVE-LORN WOMEN.

Love-lorn damsels are credited with strange freaks. In a London paper, it was lately averred that the original of Dickens's Miss Haversham still existed in the flesh not far from Ventnor, in the person of an old maiden lady, who, when she was young, had formed an attachment which did not meet with maternal approval, and in consequence came to nothing. The young lady gave up her lover, but accompanied the act of filial duty by a declaration that she would go to bed and never get up again; and kept her word. "The years have come and gone, and the house has never been swept or garnished; the garden is an overgrown tangle; and the eccentric lady has spent twenty years between the sheets." The teller of the story rashly put a name to it; and the friends of the "eccentric lady" soon published an indignant repudiation of the romance; which in all likelihood was simply an adaptation of the case of a Lady Betty C——, who, it is averred, took an unhappy love affair so much to heart that she went to her bed, and actually lay therein for the remaining twenty-six years of her life.—Chambers's Journal.

SHE TOOK HER SISTER'S PLACE.

Daisy Shoemaker, the pretty daughter of a farmer living near Richmond, Va., had agreed to elope with Westland Pierce, but when the critical moment arrived she feared to trangress her parent's wishes, and would not go to the rendezvous. Her sister, Jane, two years her senior, begged her to kept her tryst with her lover, but all in vain. "Well, if you don't keep your word with West. Pierce, I'll do it for you," she said, and indignantly leaving her sister, she got into the buggy and dashed off, despite the screams of her sister, Miss Jane reached the waiting place; explanations were made; she said she was willing to take her sister's place. The lover, touched by her pluck, and captivated by her determination not to let the plan fall through, did actually marry her.

Lord Bacon believed that doctrines should flow from the Scriptures "gently pressed, and not wrested into controversies and commonplaces."

Nothing so confuses a lover while making a declaration of the tender passion as to be obliged to stop and sneeze during the recital.

Sunbeams.

The fishery question—Got a bite?—Puck.

The coat on the tongue should be cut swallow tale.

A grass widow is anything but green.—Somerville Journal.

Which of the digits is forever lost?—2, because it is never won.

Solomon was the first man who wanted to part the heir in the middle.

Bad drinking-water brings a man to his bier quicker than anything else.

Cold steal—The shears of a county contemporary.—Hackensack Republican.

It requires a deal of push to operate a railroad.—Elevated Railway Journal.

A young man, who knows, says that from court to caught is but a short step.

As a general thing young lawyers don't have many trying times.—Boston Times.

The smaller the woman, the larger the poke bonnet that she wears.—Burlington Hawkeye.

A reporter kissed his best girl good night and remarked it was the last sensation he was called upon to notice that day.

A correspondent asks us what is the relation of a university to an ordinary college. I: is a step farther.—Boston Transcript.

It is easy for the poor man to tell how every dollar of the rich man's money should be expended.—Stillwater Lumberman.

A Western temperance orator objects even to seeing a tumbler full. From which we infer that he empties it.—Philadelphia Sun.

"Prosperity makes few friends," saith a French writer. If we can't have both we'll try and pull through with the prosperity.—Keokuk Gate City.

A man advertises: "Hands wanted on boys' pants." Hands won't do any good out this way; it takes a leather strap.—Louisville Argus.

"When will there be only twenty-five letters in the alphabet?" asked a bachelor teacher. "When U and I R made 1," answered a young lady pupil.

If you should hint to a man that small game existed on the top of his head he would probably be angry, but every man has a part ridge there for all that.

The chap who robbed the dyeing establishment last week is worse than a grave robber. One only robs the dead, the other steals from the dyeing.—Baltimore Every Saturday.

Many a train has been brought to a dead stop by a red-headed conductor simply removing his cap and bobbing his head through the caboose window.—Elevated Railway Journal.

Adam carried the vote of the first ward, City of Eden, in his vest pocket.—Keokuk Constitution. Where did he carry his vest pocket?—Steubenville Herald. We were on the Eve of asking that question ourselves.

A sick lawyer was asked by a brother limb what he was doing to amuse himself during his struggle for existence. "Just to keep my hand in," he replied, "I am trying to recover my health."—Philadelphia Sun.

What did Oliver Twist? What did Charles Reade? What was it Bulwer Lytton? What did Ivanhoe? What was Wadorworth? What did Mrs. Mulock? Where did Victor Hugo? Where did Charles Lever? What had Mrs. Braddon?

Mrs. Evans, the Omaha lady who has just astonished the world and her husband by giving birth to two boys and two girls, should remember that four of a kind beats two pair, and show her humility accordingly. 'Evans! what a woman!—Boston Transcript.

"Gimme a nickel to get a loaf of bread; I'm so thirsty I don't know what to do," said a Galveston tramp to a leading citizen. "Can't you get into some business of some kind that will pay?" "If I had a little money to inspire confidence I reckon I could make a successful failure."—Galveston News.

A Wisconsin girls innate modesty caused her to ask a clerk in a store for a pair of limbings when she wanted leggings. The struggle for the cake now lies between her and the Missouri girl, who tells strangers that during the war the enemy threw up bust works on her father's farm.—Modern Argo.

Jacob Marshall, Street Commissioner of San Antonio, Texas, has "solved the problem of getting two revolutions from a single stroke of the piston." We infer that he has been standing behind some mule. If that is the case, he could have got in six revolutions from a single stroke, as well as two, we should think; but probably two was all he had any use for.—Peck's Sun.

They had a pleasant little entertainment at an up-town house the other evening, in the course of which Mr. K. gave an exhibition of sleight-of-hand. One of the guests leaned over to Mrs. Pottifier and whispered: "Mr. K. is quite a gifted prestidigitateur." "No," answered the old lady gravely, "I think you are mistaken. I have it from good authority that he and all his folks are Old School Presbyterians."—Cleveland Sun.

"Yes," said the principal of the young ladies' boarding-school to the applicant for the position of French teacher, "your knowledge of French is good. But you won't do. Your name should be Algernon St. Lawrence. It is Dan Jones. You should be handsome. You are not. What we want is a real reliable young masher, who can keep up a flirtation with each of the girls, without the others knowing it, and talk of elopement, without any intention of one. That keeps the girls contented, and they don't go to flirting with any outsiders, who might lead them into some serious love affair. Catch the idea?"

The other Sunday Doctor Carver and Fitznoodle went out duck-hunting as usual. Fitz crept up on a lonesome-looking duck and poured both barrels into it, with fatal effect, at a distance of about twenty steps. The duck died. "By thunder," said Doctor Carver, "we are in luck to-day. "No, sir," exclaimed Fitznoodle, patting himself on his manly bosom. "I vas in luck, not ve at all." "Look heah, boss," said an aged darkey, who owned the tame duck that had been slaughtered—"look heah, boss, dat ar duck is gwine to cost you a dollar." "Py shiminy," said Fitznoodle, "ve vas in pad luck this morning. "No, sir," exclaimed Doctor Carver, patting himself, "you are in bad luck—it is not ve at all."

A nod fellow—Morpheus.

It you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated. have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificia Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates.

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

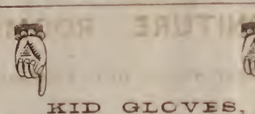
WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,



LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Miss M. E. HUTCHINSON Miss N. F. HEALEY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garment of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address.

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,

ap13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M.

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M, 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 50 AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 8 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 30 5 40, 6 23, 9 58 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 26 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN, Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11:00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6 25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston 6,9 A.M., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 P.M. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 12 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at			9 47 A. M.
Freight "	"	at	5 00 P. M.
Express "	Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight "	"	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line. Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, C. K. MAYO.

357 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. C. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere Houte, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS.

75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rheumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a rem

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

"The Widow's Mite" say yes if some fellow were to pop the question.

☞ Women with pale, colorless faces who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

There are 100,000 commercial drummers in the U. S.—the largest brass band on record.

☞ ONE MOMENT, PLEASE.—When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against bilious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.

aug17—3w

It is no wonder that sweltering humanity seeks the shelter of the Pines. See the Point?

☞ Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, etc., guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25 cents.

A Salem man, the father of a large family, calls his flour barrel Maud S., because it goes so fast.

☞ WOMEN WHO SUFFER.—The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it. aug17—3w

Among the recent issues of patents is one to Jacob Johnson, a conductor on the Eastern Railroad, for a railway passenger car.

Only one county in North Carolina gave a majority for Prohibition. In the State the adverse majority already figures up nearly a hundred thousand, with twenty counties to hear from.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS, ETC.—One of the great manufacturing interests of Boston, is the Emerson Piano company, whose pianos are used with high appreciation and satisfaction throughout the world. In a recent conversation with Mr. Jos. Gramer, one of the proprietors, that gentleman remarked: I have used that splendid remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, in my family, and found it to be so beneficial that I will never be without it. It has cured me of a severe case of rheumatism, after other remedies had failed.—St. Louis Western Watchman.

The New York Herald tells the following story in proof of the business ability of women. An Ohio woman who was either spinster or widow, owed her hired man $200 which she had not the means to pay. Instead of going into insolvency or trying to borrow the money, she liquidated the debt by marrying the man. This was a clever dodge; but fearing she might have to support her husband, at an outlay of $60 she procured a divorce, and "is now heart and fancy free, with $260 ahead." What a splendid secretary of the treasury that Ohio woman would make.

☞ In active pursuit of pleasure or gain, the inestimable blessing of health is too often forgotten until disease is firmly seated, and the fact only realized by great bodily and mental suffering. The Liver is the most vulnerable point in most persons, and the disarrangement of the organ involves almost the whole system; hence, the reason why under the Liver disease there is enumerated such a number of afflictions, and we claim the Simmons' Liver Regulator to be a remedy for them all. aug24

She sat at night by the sad sea waves with her friend, as two college professors passed by. Respect for the learning of the wise men kept the fair ones silent, until one professor, looking up at the solitary star that twinkled in the sky, said, "Look at Venus; how bright she is this evening." "Gracious!" she cried, "at that distance he can tell whether it's a male or female!"

The young lady who thought it was always lucky to pick up a horse-shoe, changed her mind when she picked up one in a blacksmith shop, and couldn't hold it.

ITCHING PILES — SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

Scientific.

THE VELOCIPEDE HAND CAR.—A railway track offers peculiar facilities for velocipede travel, since it is perfectly smooth and has an easy grade, and no attention whatever need be paid to guiding the vehicle, nor to balancing to maintain a vertical position. A vehicle of this sort has a wide range of application, and will be found of great utility to railroad men, for roadmasters, engineers, superintendents of bridges, telegraph line repairers, track supervisors, wood and tie inspectors, track walkers and others whose duties take them over the track for various purposes. In fact, the velocipede is already in use by a large number of the principal roads of the country, and they are highly recommended by officials who have adopted them.

The machine may be easily propelled at the rate of eight to ten miles per hour, and it is not difficult to run it at a speed of twelve to eighteen miles. The inventor informs us that he has many times made a run of thirty miles in less than two hours with one of them.

It is very light, weighing only about one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and is therefore easily removed from the track when occasion requires. The frame, wheels and arm are of wood, all the parts being properly braced. The arm is adjustable, and readily removable for storage or shipment. The power is applied to the rear wheel by a hand lever in front of the operator and by stirrups for the feet, which are connected with the propelling machinery by levers. The handle between the levers controls the brake. If required, the machine may be constructed to carry two persons. The tread of the wheels is cast iron, and in the construction of the machine iron and wood are judiciously combined to form a strong yet light and compact vehicle. The confidence of the manufacturers of this velocipede is so great that they offer to send out the machines on trial, to railroad officials, to be sold on approval.—Scientific American.

LIGHTNING AND TELEPHONE CONNECTION.—The Cantonal Government of Zurich, having been applied to by a telephone company for permission to fix the supports of insulators on the tops of certain public buildings, applied to Prof. Kleiner for an opinion. The following is a summary of the chief points in his report:

1. The danger of lightning in houses over which telephone wires are stretched is not increased, but lessened, if the total conductivity of a wire is approximately equal to that of a lightning conductor. This condition is not always fulfilled under existing arrangements. It may be insured by very simple arrangements, such as the introduction of a special wire for the conduction of lightning wherever the number of wires of two millimeters in thickness running in the same direction is less than sixty. This should be insisted upon in all cases. Single connections running along the houses should be stronger than at present—at least as strong as telegraph poles.

2. As the properties of a telephonic plexus for attracting and conducting lightning extend over far wider tracts than those of a lightning rod, a strict regulation of their make and condition is necessary.

The use of telephones should be suspended during thunderstorms.—Neue Zurich Zeitung.

AN instrument of simple construction has been devised for measuring the distances and heights of mountains—the apparatus consisting of a common telescope, with a level attached, a scale of equal parts in the eye-piece, and with a mirror of plate glass fastened to the object, so that it can be seen at any angle. Two images are visible, one through the glass and the other by reflection from its surface, and any two objects may be made apparently to coincide by turning the mirror through the proper angle. Selecting the mountain whose distance is to be measured, and, as the other object, any convenient, well-defined point, the telescope is moved through a known distance, and the apparent change of position of the two images is measured by the scales. From this the distance may be measured with the accuracy needed for an ordinary map. The altitude is then determined by leveling the telescope and reading the apparent elevation from the graduated scale, which is now turned round. Unlike the theodolite, it does not involve a finely graduated circle or delicate mounting.

FOR underground iron structures—wide levels, air-ways, and principally transport galleries—arches or ellipses made of double T wrought iron have been introduced in European mines. Another description of these underground iron structures are the water-tight trap doors in water-tight dams of masonry, which in the principal levels are walled across at certain places, in order to secure the vital parts of a mine against the sudden inroads of water from the water-bearing strata above the old workings, which are liable to settle down in such a manner as to open a way for the water. These dams are provided with one or two strong iron trap doors which allow the ordinary passage, but, in case of need, can be secured by water-tight packings and strong fastenings. Such iron trap doors weigh nearly two tons each, and are made, with great thoroughness, of thick boiler plates.

A NEW mineral has been described in the foreign technical journals, the substance being finely fibrous, with the fibres in general parallel, and consequently of a silky lustre, in fresh pieces. The color of one modification is dark green, while that of the second appears almost black.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

A PARLIAMENTARY BOY.

Mr. Rogers, of Third street, has a son Thomas who was sent off to Lansing on a visit some weeks since, and it seems that the boy put in much of his time around the State House and took a deep interest in the proceedings of the legislative body. He came home chuck-full of parliamentary tactics. At the dinner-table he moved to reconsider the vote by which boiled ham was placed on the bill of fare, and demanded the ayes and noes on the question of a new pair of rubber boots and a spring velocipede. He hadn't been home two days before he observed to his mother:

"I move the previous question on that hunk of maple sugar in the pantry."

"You can't have it."

"But I must. My motion cuts off all debate, and I shall announce the question as carried in the affirmative."

His father suggested the idea of an hour's exercise with the ax, but the boy called for a general expression of opinion, and succeeded in passing a vote to recommit the question to the Committee on Rules for amendment. Things went on in this way for a week, and the old man finally had enough of it and felt called upon to administer a caution.

"Don't you know that an amendment takes precedence of the question itself?" replied the boy. "I amend as follows:

"Resolved, That this family recognizes Cushing's Manual as standard authority on questions of debate. Are you ready for the question?"

"No, sir," replied the old man.

"Do you wish for a call of the House?"

"I wish you to understand that your talk displeases me."

"Well, while I must respect the rights of the minority I still feel that it would be a safer plan to table your motion. It can come up again under the head of "Unfinished Business."

In about ten minutes the old man was ready for him in the wood-shed, and he remarked:

"There is a quorum present, and we will proceed to business."

"I move we take a recess," replied the boy as his back began to ache.

"Can't do it," said the father as he hung up his hat. "I am now going into committee of the whole on the whaling business, and if I can't tan your jacket in ten minutes I shall ask leave to sit again. Stand out here."

"Please call mother to the chair," pleaded the youth, but it was no go. The old man had a two-thirds vote on him, and the question was so well settled that the boy was able to buy two bars of soap at a grocery that afternoon without a single allusion to Cushing.—Detroit Free Press.

NATURAL ENEMIES OF THE TELEGRAPH.

There is apparently no apparatus so liable to be interfered with by what we may call natural causes as the electric telegraph. Fish gnaw and mollusks overweight the submarine conductors of the subterranean wires; while there is at least one instance of a frolicsome whale entangling himself in a deep sea cable, to its utter disorganization. It is stated that within the three years ending 1878, there have been sixty serious interruptions to telegraphic communications in Sumatra, by elephants. In one instance, these sagacious animals, most likely fearing snares, destroyed a considerable portion of the line, hiding away the wires and insulators in a cane-brake. Monkeys of all tribes and sizes, too, in that favored island, use the poles and wires as gymnasia, occasionally breaking them and carrying off the insulators; while the numerous tigers, bears, and buffaloes on the track render the watching and repair of the line a duty of great danger. In Australia, where there are no wild animals to injure the wires, which are carried great distances overland, they are said to be frequently cut down by scarcely less wild aborigines, who manufacture from them rings, armlets, and other varieties of barbaric ornaments.—Design and Work.

BUFFON'S CURE FOR INDOLENCE.

Buffon constantly rose with the sun, and thus relates the manner in which he acquired such a habit of early rising. "In my youth," says he, "I was excessively fond of sleep, and that indolence robbed me of much time. My poor Joseph"—a domestic who served him for sixty-five years—"was of the greatest benefit to me in overcoming it. I promised him a crown for every time he could make me get up at six o'clock. He failed not the next day to rouse and torment me, but I only abused him. He tried the day following, and I threatened him. 'Friend Joseph,' said I to him, at noon, 'I have lost my time, and you have gained nothing. You do not know how to manage the matter. Think only of my promise, and do not regard my threatenings.' The day following he accomplished his point. At first I begged, then entreated, and abused, and would have discharged him, but he disregarded me, and raised me by absolute force. He had his reward every day for ill-humor at the moment of waking, by thanks, and a crown an hour after. I owe to poor Joseph at least ten or twelve volumes of my works."

Whenever you find a poor man who is truly grateful for the pittance you give him, you may be sure that he would himself be generous if he had money to give.—Good Words.

It was Johnson who said: "The diminutive chains of habit are seldom heavy enough to be felt until they are too strong to be broken."

Large Japanese Fan for 1 cent, at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill at a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown

VICE PRESIDENTS.
George Osborne, Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney, Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen, George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.
John A. Lord, George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill, Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler, Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little, Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren, Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill, Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn, John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames,
Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicits, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs, because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.

STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO.,
Proprietors.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.
PEABODY, MASS.

It costs $1200 to send $1,000,000 in bullion from the New York essay office to the Philadelphia mint. This is why a room in the essay office is at present walled around with gold bricks. The weight of $5,000,000 is eight tons and a quarter, or, more accurately, 16,585 pounds. Congress was asked for $50,000 to cover the expense of transporting bullion to the mint, but it only appropriated $20,000. Between the 2d of August last and May 1st, and for lack of money to send it to the mint, $60,000,000 yet remains on the hands of Thomas C. Acton. This $60,000,000 weighs about 91 tons.

A man who should own it would be able to wall himself up in it as in a well, and the well would not be so wide or so high but that he could stand in the middle and touch every brick. The number of gentlemen in this country who could perform this interesting experiment with their own gold is very small. The bricks in the essay office average about $4000 apiece in value. The most of them are not much to look at. They are as black and dull in color as a cheap quality of stovepipe. If you scratch one with a knife, you make a bright yellow mark, and this mark will not get black again. These black bricks are composed of melted foreign coins, containing about the right amount of alloy for American coinage, so the alloy is allowed to remain in them.

When the melted gold is poured into the moulds, the oxygen attacks the copper of the alloy, and turns it black. If it were worth while to protect the bricks from the air until they get cold, they would never get any darker in color than a gold coin would. Two-thirds of all these bricks are made of French twenty-franc pieces. Those bricks made of gold directly from the mines are very nearly pure metal, and are as bright as coins. The drainage from all this gold, if it were put at interest at 5 per cent., would make a golden stream $342 an hour running day and night.

"I know just as well how much gold there is in this room," Superintendent Acton said, as he gazed about at the piled up wealth, "as I know my own age, but notwithstanding that, it must all be weighed again in anticipation of the account to be rendered by July 1. If we had money enough to send it to the Philadelphia mint, we would not have the great trouble of weighing it. About $100,000 of it only is put on the scales at a time."

Six men were at work. Down the faces of all but two of them the sweat rolled, and their hands were grimy with black oxide of copper. They tugged at the gold bars like 'longshoremen unloading pig iron. A heavy platform truck, on four small wheels, was rolled into the room, and on this about twenty-five bars, or bricks, taken from the built up golden walls on three sides of the room, were laid. The truck was then drawn along the floor by four men, two pulling and two pushing, into an adjoining room, where the scales were. The scales are about five feet high, and the index needle is more than four feet long. The beam and the pans are suspended on steel edges as sharp as knife blades, to avoid friction. When the small weights have been added to the large ones to balance the gold, the point of the long index needle would tremble over the middle of the ivory graduated scale.

This pair of scales is of a kind so delicate that when brought to a balance with two pieces of paper of equal size in the pans, the mere writing of a name with a lead pencil on one of the pieces of paper will add enough weight to the paper to turn the scales in its favor. This has actually been done on one of the scales in the essay room, but that pair is protected from air currents by a glass case.

The men who handle the gold, though not differing much in outward appearance to the casual observer from coal heavers, are, in fact, men of intelligence and approved reputation, and who receive good pay.

"We would not have all this trouble," said the chief weigher, as he put a 500-ounce weight gently on the scales with his right hand and wiped off his brow with his left, "if we had arrived at the 'parliament of man, the federation of the world.' What we sigh for here is an international system of coinage. The most of all this weight came to this country as good foreign 'coin, but its lack of uniformity with our mintage compels the United States to recoin it, and me to fight these weights all day."
—New York Sun.

SHE NEVER LOVED AGAIN.—Charlotte Cushman, the actress, we are told, was in love but once in her life. She met in Cincinnati, where she was playing, an actor named Clark, with whom she fell in love. Through her efforts Clark was advanced to leading man in the company, and the course of true love ran smoothly. One night, when she was playing Meg Merriles, the actress met a strange woman behind the scene, between the acts. The woman was worn and faded-looking, was almost in rags, and carried a baby in her arms. Miss Cushman wondered how she got behind the scenes, but she wondered more when the woman came up to her and addressed her thus:

"You are Charlotte Cushman, the great actress. Haven't you got enough men to admire you without coming between man and wife, and robbin' me of my only man?"

"Your only man," echoed Miss Cushman, hardly thinking she heard aright.

"Yes, my husband," said the faded-looking, ragged woman.

"Your husband!" cried Miss Cushman, getting excited. "What on earth are you talking about? Do I know your husband?"

"Yes; and you have taken, or you are tryin' to take him from me," continued the ragged woman, looking Miss Cushman full in the face, who saw that the strange woman was in earnest.

"Who in God's name, woman, is your husband?" asked Miss Cushman, returning the strange woman's look with interest.

"Conrad Clark," replied the woman, "the father of this child," pointing to the half-starved thin little child in her arms.

Miss Cushman started as if she was shot. She could have shrieked louder than ever she had to do in Meg Merriles, but she controlled herself, questioned the strange woman and found out all that she had said was true.

Conrad had married the woman in New York years ago and had deserted her a year afterwards.

It was enough. Miss Cushman promised the woman that she should have her husband. "At least, I will have nothing more to do with him," she said, and though it broke her heart she kept her word.

She went through Meg Merriles that night as usual—acted it splendidly—brought down the house; then, after the performance, she waited, as usual, for Clark to knock at the door of her dressing-room to see if she was ready to go with him to her hotel. As usual Clark knocked, and then opened the door for her as usual. She brought forward to him his wife and baby, who had been waiting in the dressing room to receive him. Such a reception! Charlotte Cushman never looked or acted so grandly on the stage in all her life as she did that night in the dressing-room. She waved Clarke away with a greater majesty than as Queen Katherine she had waved away Cardinal Woolsey; and then, going to her hotel, probably had a good crying spell. But she never loved again.

BUGGY ELECTRICITY. — Since the electric light has proved a success for lighting large buildings, it has occurred to a scientific that electricity could be used on wheeled vehicles. He knew that there was always more or less electricity wasted—for instance, when a young couple were out riding—so he experimented. Those who were out on the Whitefish-bay road recently may have been astonished at the unusual light that shone the whole length of the road as a certain carriage passed along; and they probably observed the fright of the carriage. The scientist learned that a certain young man had engaged a buggy at a livery stable for the evening, so he bribed the livery man to allow him to experiment on the buggy. The young scientist put a small electric lamp on the lower part of the dashboard out of sight of the driver, and ran small copper wires to the back of the seat. It is well known to the student of nature that when a brunette young man and a blonde girl, who act as the positive and negative, that is, he is positive he will put his arm around her, and she negatives the arrangement along at first—until after dark—there is a certain electric current established, small in itself, but of great power if properly husbanded. You have all felt it. It is like your arm getting asleep or hitting your funny bone on the arm of a rocking-chair. Well, this wire was placed so that the arms of the young people would touch it. Just as they were passing Fitzgerald's, there by the toll-gate, they began to snug up, and before they got to Leudeman's the little lamp began to throw out light. It went under the horse's feet and lit up the road for several rods, and the young people were almost as astonished as the horse was. They thought someone was following them with a lantern, and they straightened themselves up and the light went out. Every little while they would get near together and kiss each other slyly, and immediately the light would blaze up. The girl was real frightened, and insisted on the young man keeping on his side of the buggy, and he was a little frightened the first few times that the light flared up, but as he came out to hug, he was going to hug if it turned night into day; so he went to lying to her about the horse being a phosphorus horse. He said there were some horses so full of phosphorus that when they got warmed up a little from driving they shed light all around. Then they got nearer and the electricity again appeared, and for an hour they rode along in the evening by the bright light. The young scientist passed them a number of times in another buggy, and he is so well satisfied with the experiment that he will apply for a patent. The young lady was very much annoyed at the queer light, and while she cannot say that she did not enjoy the ride she has requested her escort to be careful next time when they go riding and not get a phosphorus horse. The young man, when he got back to the stable, told the livery man that was the lightest rig he ever drove, and he wanted a calcium light the next time he took his girl out. They will know what caused the light when they read this. It is getting so there is electricity in everything.—Railroad Advertiser.

Letters and Postals advertised Aug. 24, 1881.

James Anthony, Ann Allstine, Wm. F. Brown, (3), Wm. S. Brown, Mary E. Berry, (2), Louisa Bolser, H. F. Burnham, T. S. Brown, Peter Brown, Mrs. Cook, Chas. E. Conant, James Cass, Nellie Denihy, Patrick Desmond, Hon. Wm. Endicott, James Ellwood, Mrs. John Edwards, Hannah Foley, (2), Dennis Flagan, Mrs. F. B. Gage, Haskell, John King, Chas. S. Kimball, Aug. W. Kimball, Rosanna Kelly, Alex Maguire, Arthur W. Mansfield, James McCue, E. Mansfield, Collin C. Munroe, Timothy McCarty, Joseph H. Oldson, Stephen O'Donnell, Elizabeth P. Poor, Mrs. Devine Perry, Daniel Proctor, John Quigley, John Russell, Sawyer J. Smith, James Smith, Owen Sayles, Sarah Pamela Poor Wilson, Mrs. Harriet Woodman, Annie Walsh, Mrs. Samuel Ward, Mrs. Alice Young.
W. M. Ward, P. M.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem. Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Aug. 16, by Rev. Dr. Steele, Mr. Alexander McGregor to Miss Jessie McMullen.

In Salem, Aug. 13, by Rev. Mr. Keese, Mr. Sherman A. Tufts to Miss Alice M. Gullivan; 17th, by Rev. Mr. Elder, Mr. William N. Andrews to Mrs. Emma V. Cole; by Rev. Mr. Wells, Dr. J. Conland to Miss Tillie McGuirk both of Cromwell, Conn.

In Boston, 25th, by Rev. Mr. Nickerson, Mr. Charles Stone of Salem to Miss Mary E. Bagley of B.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 16, William, son of John and Margaret O'Connell, 1 yr. 7 mos.

16th, Gilbert Haven, son of Edwin C. and Betsey T. Farwell, 9 mos 27 ds.

19th, Chester A., son of Henry B. and Love Morgan, 1 yr 2 days.

19th, Mr. Edward F. Lamson, 66 yrs. 7 ms. 15 days.

20th, Francis, son of James and Maria Murphy, 3 mos 8 ds.

In Salem, 18th, Mr. William E. Welch, 48 yrs. 2 mos. 12 days.

In Danvers, 11th, Mrs. Annie, wife of Timothy D. Crowley, 28 yrs.; 17th, Mr. Amos Proctor Perley 74 yrs. 7 mos.

In Rhinebeck, N.Y., Aug. 18, Mrs. Eliza, widow of Thomas Farless, Esq., formerly of Salem. 81 yrs.

FINE STATIONERY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,
IN GREAT VARIETY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,
— AT —
SWAIN'S,
220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celbrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE,
— AT THE —
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thursday,
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder: Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

HOTEL.
LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,
SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.

Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston: thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 20TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

THURSDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ISLES OF SHOALS.
Returns at 7. Fare $1.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALONG THE NORTH SHORE.

SUNDAY, 10 A. M.
PROVINCETOWN.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.

On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.

The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.

Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.

Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1 00.

Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.

Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.

For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
je 8

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.
aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.

CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.

HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.

FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!

Having secured some of the Choicest Brands,
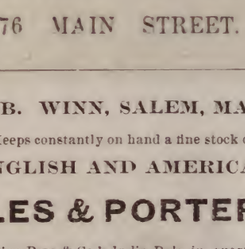
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.

We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
— AND —
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.

BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.



S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.

Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.

I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.

S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail. CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

FRESH ARRIVAL.

Shortly before the rise in BLACK WALNUT, WE ORDERED 200 BLACK WALNUT CHAMBER SETS, which have now arrived, and have been placed in our storehouse. Being too late for our Spring Trade, we propose to offer them at the low price of $45,
Either for cash or by our system of
INSTALMENTS.

These sets COMPRISE TEN PIECES. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c., are handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the marble is the BEST ITALIAN, and the Walnut is warranted Kiln Dried. The regular Prices for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55. That small incomes may be no bar to obtaining one of these beautiful and useful articles of Furniture, we propose to give purchasers
EIGHT MONTHS
in which to pay for them on instalments. In face of the fact that WALNUT is RAPIDLY ADVANCING, we advise everybody in want of a Walnut Set, whether for present or future use, to purchase one of these sets, as the opportunity for so great a bargain may never occur again. Catalogue of household goods and terms furnished to parties living anywhere in New England. Orders by mail promptly attended to.

Attention is called to our stock of the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE Improved Wire-Gauze, Non-Explosive
OIL STOVE,
Which we offer for $4. They are the only Stoves sold that are PRONOUNCED ABSOLUTELY SAFE by the Insurance Commissioners. Be sure and see them in full operation at our establishment. Price List and terms on Instalments furnished on application.

The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on Instalments. Send for Illustrated Price List and Terms.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.
apr 6—6 m

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.

We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a
First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.

Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.

Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.

Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.

NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

DINING SALOON.

The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.

Meals Served at All Hours.

A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

$25. REWARD.

We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

EXTRA OATS.

One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car. by user CHARLES A. ROPES.
27 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!

FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.

FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.

FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to je 1 CHAS. E. HOAG, Allen's Block, Peabody.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, AUG. 31, 1881. NO. 36.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere. as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
Jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
No. 8 Allen's Block.
PEABODY. MASS.
Jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. Allen's Block, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
uel tf

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. 2d

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper,
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY.
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Scond Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

The Peabody Press.

From the White Mountains.

LITTLETON, N. H., Aug. 29, 1881.

EDITORS PRESS,—This enterprising town, situated about 200 miles from Boston in the line of the Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R., is one of the convenient places to reach the different places of interest in the White Mountains and Franconia range, being about equally distant from Fabyan's on the one side and the Profile House, Echo Lake and the Flume on the other. Until a few years since, before the line had extended its branch to Bethlehem junction, the patrons of the various summer hotels in Bethlehem connected at this point with stages for their several destinations, also for the Profile House. It is now possible to get thither by rail, but at such an exorbitant rate that most tourists prefer to take the stages or a private conveyance. Good and substantial teams at a reasonable price are to be had in this place, and much of the beauty of the charming mountain scenery is lost by attempting a journey otherwise.

Leaving Peabody in the train of the Salem and Lowell R. R., we arrive at Lowell in season to connect with the 8.30 train from Boston, and are there assigned a comfortable seat in the parlor car City of Boston, in charge of Conductor G. A. Pushee, which runs through to this place without change. The journey from Lowell, through Nashua, Manchester, the road running in plain sight of the principal mills situated at this large manufacturing place, past Concord, is familiar to most of our readers. Passing Tilton, the seat of the New Hampshire Seminary and Female College, Laconia and Lake Village, all thriving villages, we come in full sight of the famous Lake Winnipisaukee. As the train winds around the borders of the lake we catch a first glimpse of the mountains far to the northward, and soon reach Weirs.—Then the little steamer Lady of the Lake is taken for Center Harbor and Wolfboro', and many travelers reach the mountains via these resorts. A great change has come over Weirs within the past few years. A large hotel has been erected in an elevated position to the left of the line of railroad, a new and elegant station has been built by the B., C. & M. R. R., and here the Unitarians for several seasons have held their meetings in the spacious grove adjoining the station. We noticed that many cottages had been erected here for summer patrons, and the place presents a lively and decidedly "Camp-meeting" appearance, where a short time since nothing but a low shanty of a station served to attract the eye. From this place the scenery becomes more romantic until we reach Plymouth, the "gateway of the mountains." This place is known to all travelers from its connection with the far-famed Pemigewasset House, where all trains on the road have stopped for dinner for years. An opportunity is also given for a good view of the ravines and mountains in the vicinity, and as the trains north and south arrive at the same time, friendly greetings and renewal of acquaintances formed by tourists on their different routes are generally indulged in. Here the lines of travel diverge, one train going on the Passumpsic R. R. and through Wells River and Newport to Montreal, and the other taking the White Mountain travel. There also are the offices and headquarters of the Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R.—Many persons prefer to take the stage at this point for the north through the Pemigewasset valley, and continue to the Profile House. It is a long journey, but fraught with sufficient excitement to allure the adventurous and those who are able to endure the fatigue of the ride.

Our party had chosen the continuance of the journey in the White Mountain branch of the road, and after plenty of time for dinner we start in the most romantic part of our ride. The first point of interest is at Warren, noted for its trout fishery and proximity to Mount Moosilauke, about 5000 feet high, the summit of which can be reached by carriage, to the Tip Top House. It was one of the clearest days that had been known for weeks, still the mist had not entirely cleared from the height of the mountain where the hotel is situated. Through the Haverhills, we reach Woodsville, where is another junction of the road. From this place we enter at once the valley of the Ammonoosac, a small stream running through a wild portion of the country, through gorges and deep ravines, which command the constant and admiring gaze of the traveler. The train winds around the valley, the curves being so sharp as to almost throw one from the seat, and after an hour of the finest scenery on the continent, the train approaches Littleton, which is our destination.

Littleton is a wide-awake, busy place, and is the center for trade for miles around. Its business street is lined with carriages through its entire length by noon, and there are merchants here who carry as large a stock as in many of our metropolitan cities. All trades are well represented, and find a market at this season as well in Bethlehem, five miles distant, as here. The hotels at Bethlehem are kept open only through the pleasure season, two of them having accommodations for nearly one thousand guests. Besides this, there are numerous smaller hotels and boarding houses. If one wishes society excitement, this is one of the best places in the vicinity. But for comfort and ease of access to all the surrounding attractions, Littleton is far superior. Its walks and drives are more delightful, its mountain views are, if anything, more attractive, and it has the addition of good society, and a very social and congenial people, outside of the transient population who are the patrons of the different houses at this season.

There are several good hotels here. We are comfortably quartered at the Union House, a well kept hotel in charge of W. A. Richardson. One characteristic of all these country hotels is the facility for making ourselves perfectly at home, and the abundance of well cooked food, served by girls who have been brought up in this vicinity, and who take pleasure in studying the interests and wishes of those who patronize the house. This hotel is no exception in this respect. It is not the largest here, but it is open the year round, is an old stand, and has a large and increasing transient patronage. It has been more than full every night since we arrived. Free carriages are run to and from all the trains, and everything is done to make our stay here agreeable and pleasant. Below us is Thayer's Hotel, the resort of many of the commercial travelers. Some seasons this is quite a fashionable resort, but is more quiet at this time from the death there this week of a traveler for the Boston Notion house of S. T. Tucker & Co., Mr. Geo. W. White, who had been ill there for several weeks. He was well and intimately known here, as well as in Boston and vicinity. This place is equally beneficial in its effects upon sufferers from hay fever. One of our party, who is afflicted with this trouble, has already become free in a measure from it during our short stay, and we found several on the train who were coming here and to Bethlehem on the same account. The Oak Hill House, here, is a famed resort for such patients. It is open only during the summer season, is situated on a very high elevation, from which a view at once, of the long White Mountain range, the Franconia range and Mount Moosilauke, can be obtained on a clear day. Mr. Farr, the proprietor, has had such success that he purposes making an addition the coming season, and it is reported that a new hotel capable of accommodating 500 persons, will be erected in the vicinity of the Oak Hill House next season.

We visited the office of the White Mountain Republic, a spicy weekly sheet published here, and were very cordially received by its proprietors. The all absorbing topic here, as elsewhere, is the latest tidings from the President. We hear no politics mentioned. Men of all parties can be seen collected in little knots around the village, discussing very earnestly the latest dispatch, which is bulletined here by the telephone company. The office here, in the drug store of Messrs. Robinson Bros., is of great benefit to the people in the surrounding vicinity, having about 30 subscribers here, in Bethlehem and the hotels in the mountain resorts of the Franconia Notch. A large brick block is being erected by Mr. Tilton, one of the old residents here; although the foundation is scarcely completed, the stores are all let. The Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R. have a fine station here, and it is the only line by which the entire journey can be made without change of cars. The officers of the road are obliging and courteous, and everything is done to make the travel over their road attractive and pleasant. More anon. J. P. F.

MEREDITH VILLAGE, N. H., August 26, 1881.

This writing finds us pleasantly located in this delightful country village. I need not tell your readers of my trip in reaching here over the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, which follows the Merrimac river, passing the cities of Lowell, Nashua, Manchester, Concord, etc., along the shores of the "Smile of the Great Spirit," the Indian name for Lake Winnipesaukee. Nor of our short stay at Weirs Landing, which instead of being, as it was only a few years ago, a small station reached by the occasional excursionist, is now a summer resort of several thousand inhabitants, with three large hotels and numerous boarding houses; but we will stop long enough to notice a few improvements, among others the completion of the fine Hotel Weirs, an observatory erected on the soldiers' grounds, from which a fine view can be obtained for miles around. These grounds are distinct from the old camp meeting grounds of the Methodists, are on the other side of the railroad track, and belong to the N. H. Veterans, who hold their annual reunion here, which takes place next week, when it is expected there will be 20,000 people present. Already there is fitted up a spacious dancing pavilion, eating saloon, officers' headquarters, and a set of barracks is now being constructed for the Veterans by the state.

The next station above the Weirs is Meredith Village, a prosperous and enterprising town. The place was never so full of boarders as at present; every hotel and farmhouse where board can be obtained is filled with people, drawn here by the delightful climate and splendid lake and mountain scenery on every side, while it is just enough retired to make everything quiet and a good place to rest. Its close proximity to the Weirs on one side and to Plymouth on the other, and Center Harbor and Laconia, besides its own attractions, tends more and more to make this place popular. There is about half a mile from the depot a large tract of land containing about 100 acres, belonging to William and Simeon Wadleigh, which they contemplate cutting into house lots and selling to people who wish to erect summer residences. This land is on a hill and from it the scenery is not surpassed in any place in the county.

Mr. Jas. Pike, formerly of the firm of Sawyer, Thomas & Co., Peabody, has a fine farm about two miles from the village. It contains about 225 acres, and consists of wood, pasture and tillage land. This farm is very free from stones, and is a nice piece of property. This year some 70 tons of hay have been cut. About 20 acres of land is under cultivation. Mr. Pike winters about twenty-five head of cattle, four horses, besides a large number of sheep and hogs. The buildings are all new and in an excellent state of repair. In the barn is one of Fairbanks Standard Scales, making it very convenient to weigh cattle or the crops when harvested. This is the home of "Patchen Morgan," a famous trotting stallion and direct descendant of the once noted "Danvers Boy." The farm is under the superintendence of Mr. Daniel Burleigh, a son-in-law of Mr. Pike, and it shows the good care it receives.

About four miles from the village, on the Laconia road, is another fine farm belonging to a gentleman from Peabody, being the property of Mr. Seth Flanders, and contains about 150 acres. This farm is devoted more to market gardening than to stock raising, being only about four miles from Laconia, where a ready market can usually be found. Mr. John Dearborn, a well-to-do farmer, is building the first "silo." One of them will have a capacity of 80 tons and the other will be a little smaller. He has about two acres of fodder corn. His experiment is watched with great interest by his neighbors, and if it is a success, many others will follow his example.

There are many pleasant drives from here, and as I shall soon visit Ossipee Park, I will try and give your readers at some future time a slight idea of the improvements made there. V.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes, which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co. —Adv.

Jennie Cramer.

Her Feet Go Down to Death.

Forty-eight hours from the time Jennie Cramer walked under the Temple Street elms in New Haven, the "prettiest girl in the city," her dotted white muslin freshed and starched, and her whole figure trim, trig and breezy from her white straw and its brown feather to the little clinking brass plates on the heels of her boots, her body was lying face downward in a slimy pool on the edge of New Haven harbor, the tide rocking the motionless body back and forth and at every motion winding her draggled skirts tighter about her round, full figure. How she came there inquest, indictment and trial have yet to decide; but her death has written her history at large and the path by which the young woman went to her fate is familiar enough to any one who watches the young girls who swarm on the streets of a Saturday night pretty, bright and loud voiced, skating on thin ice over depths of which they have the barest knowledge and that little delusive.

Jennie Cramer was not a bad girl as girls go who have stepped over the line which keeps a girl at her mother's side and limits her acquaintance by her family's, and the number of girls who do this is not large among those pretty enough to be admired and old enough to enjoy the freedom of an American girl, not hedged about by a card case, a visiting list and formal introductions. The man with whom Jennie was last seen, James Mallay, a young, boyish-looking fellow with a narrow, black moustache, she met one night about a year ago on the college green. It was doubtless one of the chance introductions to be seen any evening on Main Street; but it was very far from being concealed from her parents, and when Malley wrote three weeks ago asking Jennie to put off an out-of-town trip to drive with him, Mrs. Cramer, with a "very sorry" that he was "so disappointed," wrote him that Jennie had already gone but would be back Thursday morning; just a week before the Thursday morning the mother drove the daughter from the house for passing the night away from home in Malley's company.

One week more brought Jennie to New Haven harbor. Three weeks ago the well-spelled, well-written notes that passed between her and young Malley point to formal relations, formal for a sidewalk flirtation, but Jennie had already known for a week Blanche Douglass, a pale delicate-looking girl, dressed well but not over-dressed, whom Walter Malley had brought from New York. She was a professional prostitute. This acquaintance begun in the night on the college green, ripened by sidewalks and suppers, brought Jennie for the last fortnight of her life to be one of four, of whom two were men rotten to the core, a third a woman fresh from a house of ill fame, and she, the girl now dead, the fourth. For two weeks there were trips and excursions, restaurant suppers and rides, all bringing the end closer and through it all Jennie seems to have been ignorant that her companion was not like herself, a wild girl, running heedless risks. A night came at last, Wednesday, Aug. 3, which Jennie spent away from home with her companions. She may have wandered before, but if she had not, the net in which the reckless young girl was caught with the other woman of this party of four schooled to vice, might well have swept a stronger nature away. Thursday morning she was driven from her home. Thursday evening she was again at a supper and drank her share of four bottles of wine, and then she disappears, to be found when the tide came in, Saturday morning. For a while, there was more or less lying by the survivors; but the arrest of the young Malleys and the testimony of Blanche gives clews which connect Jennie to the last with her evil companions.

Down to the last appalling catastrophe, this story might easily enough be matched in any city and many a village. Night idleness and petty dissipation work their sure result. Ignorance does much, but evil more, and no man or woman can play with the devil's own fire and come off unscorched. In this case, there appears to be no doubt that the parents permitted a risk for which they are blamable; but it is tolerably clear that this young girl wandered along a path in which she jostled the bad and vile in blank ignorance of her company. It takes experience, a cool head and a clear eye to see below the plausible surface in which vice of this sort cloaks itself, and she had none of these. No girl has of the hundreds who walk nightly through dangers for which they have neither been prepared nor warned. It is too late to put up the bars in American life. For good or for evil, custom has established a free social intercourse, and the paths by which a girl passes beyond home influences are easy, and all alike dangerous; but the risk is vastly increased by ignorance of the facts and conditions which breed danger and bring disaster. A healthy home life is the soundest of all safeguards; but, as long as village life has disappeared for good and all in our provincial cities, and all of them share the overflow of vice from New York, girls like this one would fall less often if they were wisely taught more knowledge of the evil of the world.

It is not that they are ignorant of the real relations of the sexes, for they are not ignorant of them, but mothers and daughters alike too often act as though they are ignorant of the very thin veneer which may disguise the rake in the garb of the gentleman, and the passion which may transform the ordinarily well-intentioned man into the devil when oppurtunity presents the temptation. Man is a dangerous animal, not to be trifled with or yielded to, and giddy girls who rebel against the all too loose restraints of our American homes take perilous risks. The presumption is also pretty strong in the New Haven case that the basest scoundrelism was at work at the bottom.—Springfield Republican.

Job printing at this office.

Mr. C. H. Cochrane has severed his connection with Salem News. He goes to Colorado for his health.

Conrad opens to-day a large assortment of blankets, prints, and damask towels, at the lowest prices.

The High School teachers, Dr. Worcester and lady, and some others, enjoyed a very pleasant sail in the Excelsior this afternoon.

A lady living in Herman Krouse's house on Tremont street, died quite suddenly last Monday night of cramp. She was sick about two hours.

Owing to unavoidable delays the Charitable Mechanic Association will not open until Tuesday, Sept. 13th.—The first exhibit on the premises is said to be Winter's Measuring Machine.

The Naumkeag Clothing Company have commenced the semi-annual half-season sale of Men's, Youths' and Boys' clothing to close out for fall trade. This house has gained an enviable reputation for fair dealing and cheap prices.

The North End Boat Club, of Salem, hold their first annual picnic at Centennial Grove, Essex, to-morrow. This is a new organization, but has already developed some good oarsmen, and won several prizes. They give $100 in prizes for various sports, and will undoubtedly have a large and enjoyable picnic.

The fine trotter J. B. Thomas, raised by the late G. W. Rogers of Salem, and foaled at Oak Hill Farm, Peabody, May 15, 1874, recently trotted the third heat of a race at Chicago in 2.18 3-4 winning a special purse of $5,000, awarded to the horse that should trot the fastest heat better than 2.21. He also took second money in the race in a purse of $1,500. J. B. Thomas is a son of Lady Hooker and Sterling, a bright bay stalion and a handsome specimen of the horse.

Poet's Corner.

(From the Fireside Favorite.)

The Cow-Boy and the Echoes.

BY G. CONANT.

The healthy, wealthy and the wise
In Summer mornings early rise;
Their grateful freshness gives us health,
The richest boon of nature's wealth,
And they that well improve these hours
May rest at noon in pleasant bowers.
The golden light of dewy morn
With beauty doth all things adorn;
Then all is life, and joy, and glee;
The earth is filled with melody,
The singing birds and humming bees
Make music on the flowers and trees,
The sportive lambs in joyful play
Leap up, and swiftly glide away;
All creatures animate with life,
Brutes riot in the joyful strife.
The boy that drives the cow away
To pasture early every day
Whistles, or sings his favorite song,
As joyfully he drives along;
Some new attraction ever nigh
Gives pleasure to his watchful eye:
He loves to see the gentle cows
Crop off the leaves and tender boughs,
And when they drink at brook or spring,
He tries his skill with stone and sling;
And now he is elate with glee—
The stone went o'er the old elm tree,
Where waves the golden oriole's nest,
In which her brood securely rest.
See what attractions cluster round!
The dandelions deck the ground—
How thick and beautiful they be Around the brook that flows so free!
Among the blossoms of the trees
There's music of ten thousand bees,
Improving well their morning hours
In gathering honey from the flowers.
The song-thrush in the nearest grove
Is singing his sweet notes of love;
The brown-thrush, that melodious bird,
That for a half-mile may be heard,
Is perched upon the tallest tree,
And there he pours his melody.
See the robins hopping round,
Gathering insects on the ground—
Sweet birds, how tame they seem to be,
Looking so confidingly!
The goldfinch bathing in the brook—
How she enjoys it! Oh, look!
See how she makes the water fly
While looking upward to the sky!
The lovely vireo in the tree
Is singing his sweet melody.
Another bird! just listen! hark!
It is the sprightly meadow-lark!
She's worthy to be praised as high
As her fair cousin of the sky.
The boy with pleasure lingers here
Where melody and beauty cheer;
Other attractions catch his eye,
All in fresh beauty standing nigh:
The apple-trees that cluster round
Are with angelic beauty crowned—
Each blossom is a seraph fair,
That sheds its fragrance on the air.
The grateful breath of morn, awhile,
Makes all the face of nature smile;
See how the sparkling dew-drops shine,
Like brightest diamonds of the mine!
This is a chosen spot where she Dispenses charms profusely free.
But still this lad, with radiant face,
Must leave this most enchanting place,
For other duties of the day
Demand that he no longer stay.
The cows that drank so eager first
Have fully slaked their raging thirst,
And now we see them on their way;
The lad is whistling his sweet lay,
While gently urging on the cows
That here and there crop of the boughs.
When huddling at the pasture gap
He halloes out, "Ter rap, ter rap!"
He speaks with an emphatic sound,
And from the hill his words rebound;
Surprised he listens: "Can it be
A fairy there that mimics me?
Perhaps a wood-nymph of the grove
That fain would seek to win my love?"
Once more he halloes, loud and shrill;
The echo comes back louder still.
He listens, and it comes again
With weakened force, but still 'tis plain.
A pause— Once more the sound returns;
His heart with admiration burns.
This is the last; it dies away,
But gives him pleasure all the day.
This was a summer morning rare,
When soft, elastic, dewy air,
With nothing to impede the sound,
Returns it back with a rebound.
The echoes please not boys alone,
But kings that sit upon the throne.
The lad returns with cheerful heart,
And through the day acts well his part;
The soft and dewy air of morn
His face with beauty did adorn,
When nature in her morning dress
Appeared in all her loveliness;
When she with rich profusion kind
Feasted his senses and his mind.
Her walks were pleasant, fragrant, fair,
And he was kindly welcomed there;
Her look was legible and plain,
And knowledge there he did obtain;
He feasted on her bounteous fare,
His heart and soul were nourished there;
His pleasure surely was not small,
And he enjoyed it for us all.

Selected Story.

A TRUE OHIO ROMANCE.

"Never condemn a person on circumstantial evidence; it is unreliable, even when the circumstances seem to fit into each other like a couple of cog-wheels," said John T. Morris, who is an experienced detective of Springfield, Ohio.

"Give us the story, Uncle John."

"Not long ago there resided in Franklin County a wealthy old maid, Miss Sabina Smith. By inheritance she was the possessor of a large farm, on which was an old-fashioned, though comfortable, dwelling house. She was reputed to have a good square bank account."

"How old is she?"

"Well, on the shady side of seventy, but she had a weakness, like all old maids, not for kittens, poodles or canaries, but for children. She had raised several orphan girls, who are now well settled in life. In 1865, she adopted a six-year-old, black-eyed girl, bright as a button, named Mollie McCan, whose father had fallen in battle fighting for his flag and country, while her mother, crazed with grief, pined and faded away. Mollie soon learned to love her new mother, and from a prattling maid in short clothes and pinafores she bloomed forth into a gushing school-girl, and at eighteen was the belle of every rustic gathering—the pretty Miss Mollie McCann, over whom the boys raved and the girls envied. To all her admirers she turned a deaf ear, and with a pretty toss of her head, and merry twinkle of her roguish eye, bade them 'be off and not bothering her.'

"Miss Smith was sensible; knew that Mollie would probably marry, and have a home of her own some day, so she neither discouraged her fondness for society nor harped upon the miseries of all wedded life continually in the maiden's ear, but when she came back from the State Fair at Columbus in 1878, and told her adopted mother about the young gentleman that she had met, his attentions and good qualities, Miss Smith was not pleased, nor did she hesitate to frown her displeasure, and advise her ward to turn a willing ear to the many suitors of the neighborhood, instead of seeking in far-off fields that which was nearer home.

"But Mollie was like many another, struck on a travelling man, and she carried on a secret correspondence with him through a lady friend for a long time, until at last they were engaged.

"Miss Smith and Mollie were the sole occupants of the house. The bedrooms were four in number, two of which were spare rooms, one occupied by Miss Smith and containing two beds, Mollie occupying one, Miss Smith the other. The fourth bedroom was called Mollie's, but was only used by her when a lady friend was visiting her.—In one of these spare bedrooms was an old-fashioned book-case and bureau combined, the top drawer of which could be converted into a desk. The back part of this drawer was fitted up with small drawers. One of these small drawers had from time immemorial been used as a money-drawer. In the summer of 1879 the sum of $355 was missed from the drawer; in the summer of 1870, $290 mysteriously disappeared, together with a quantity of gold coin which had been in the family for over a century. On the 29th day of last May, Miss Smith loaned to a neighbor $500, giving him her check, and he signing a note in her favor. Sickness prevented his presenting the check at the bank at Columbus, and, learning that Miss Smith was going to that city on the 30th, he requested her to get it cashed. She did so, and returned with Mollie about dark on that day, having the money all in one-hundred dollar bills.

"The house was all securely locked down stairs, and Miss Smith deposited the $500 in the secretary-drawer, closed the drawer, locking it and placing the key in the bureau drawer beneath.—She then locked the room containing the bureau, and placed the key under some quilts that lay in a wardrobe in her bedroom. Before retiring she locked her bedroom door, and she and Mollie retired for the night in separate beds in the same room. The next morning, June 1st, the neighbor who had borrowed the money, having a long journey to perform, during which he expected to make a payment on some land purchased, called as early as five o'clock, before Miss Smith and Mollie had arisen.

"Awakening Miss Smith, she took her key from the wardrobe, unlocked the bedroom, then taking the bureau drawer key from the under drawer of the secretary, opened this to find the money gone. She went down stairs; everything was locked and bolted as she had left it the night before."

"Who took that money?"

"That was the question that confronted me. There were no signs of a burglary; no lock forced, windows and doors all right. No one else in the house but Miss Smith and Mollie. Of course, I at once examined the girl.—She talked freely, said she always had a presentiment that the money would be stolen—in fact, had a presentiment that night, but feared to tell the old lady for fear of alarming her. I soon learned that Mollie had arisen in the night, either unlocked the door with her own key or taken the one in the wardrobe, and, securing the money, hid it either in or out of the house without awakening the old lady. I finally told Mollie that I should have to search her, and make a thorough examination of the house.

"'Well,' she naively remarked, 'if you do find any money about the house, it won't prove that I stole it, will it?'"

"'It will be prima facie evidence,' I said.

"I locked her up in her bedroom and began a thorough search; band-boxes pried into, bureau-drawers pulled out, cupboards ransacked, and finally went through her own room. Under the carpet under her bed I found in a compact wad twelve one-hundred-dollar bills. Now the total amount known to be missing was only $1,045. Where had the $155 come from? Where had the gold coin gone to? Was the bureau drawer paying interest on its deposit?

"Now I've got you, Mollie,' as I confronted her.

"Mollie fainted.

"A bottle of camphor and a little cold water brought her speedily to, yet she sturdily proclaimed her innocence.

"'I didn't take Mrs. Smith's money; no, I did not,' she convulsively exclaimed, between her sobs.

"Miss Smith would not allow me to take her to jail, where I reasoned confinement would soon compell her to confess.

"My work, however, was but partially done, for the gold coins had not turned up.

"I determined that those coins must be in the house and resolved upon a thorough search from cellar to garret. The cellar disclosed nothing, and at last I stumbled upon a small stairway leading to the garret, the door to which was a common trap door, securely fastened by a padlock, to which was attached three links of a chain.

"'Give me the key,' I said to Miss Smith, 'to that trap-door up in the attic.'"

"'Oh, no use or looking there; the keys have been lost for over five years, and no one has been up there since.'

There were cobwebs on the door, but I noticed that over the crack of the door's edge they appeared to have been broken away, caused by the door having been recently opened. With an axe I speedily got the door open and saw large foot-prints in the dust. By the aid of a lamp I followed the course of the tracks over the boards which lay across the skaky rafters to the furthest part of the garret, where, over an old cross-beam, hung a pair of old-fashioned saddle-bags. The dust on the bags had been recently disturbed. In one of the pockets I found the five one hundred dollar bills which disappeared on the night of the 30th of May, the $355 that was missed in the summer of 1879, the $290 that was lost in 1880, and, better than all, the rare old gold coins upon which Miss Smith set such store as an heirloom. I found the money, but I found $1,200 to much.

"The mystery deepened. I resolved upon one thing, and that was that Mollie must know something about the the money that was hid under the carpet beneath her bed. I talked kindly to her, told her that Miss Smith's money had been found, and urged her to tell me how the $1,200 came under the carpet of her bed.

"'You will not believe me if I tell you, but if Miss Smith will go out I will explain. I put the money there; it was my lover's. He had saved it out of his wages and given it to me to keep. I destroyed his letters, for fear my aunt would find it out. There's the story.'"

"'But how did the old lady's money get into the garret?'"

"'She carried it there herself. She was a somnambulist and walked in her sleep.'"

"How did you prove it, Mr. Norris? Did the old lady let you occupy the bedroom and catch her."

"Oh, no. I got the old lady to take off her shoe and stocking and place her No. 6 foot down on a sheet of white paper. With a lead pencil I marked out her foot on that sheet of paper. With a pair of scissors I carefully cut out the exact shape of the old lady's foot, which fitted exactly in the tracks in the dust on the garret boards. Besides that, Mollie's foot was much smaller, she only wearing a No. 2 1-2 shoe, and would not fit the track. I also on carefull examination found traces of cobwebs in the frill of the old lady's night-cap while Mollie wore no night-cap. So you see I proved it by both ends—the old lady's head and by her feet. I explained all to the satisfaction of the old lady, she paid me my money, and I predict a wedding soon at the Smith mansion, with Mollie McCann as the bride."

THE ART AMATEUR for August is full of attractive features, one, a beautiful "Cithara Player," and the other by a Swedish artist, representing an astonished maiden discovering Cupid slyly ambushed in the bucket she has just drawn from the depths of a well. An article on Corot is illustrated by a striking portrait and an excellent drawing of one of his charming landscapes. "China Painting for Beginners," "Color in Decoration," and the like are treated in the most practical and useful way. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

Miscellaneous.

Never before in the history of this country was there such an intense and absorbing personal interest centered on one man as is felt at the present time for President Garfield. It was specially manifested by the shock with which the nation received the news of his late relapse, and though before this reaches the reader, the worst fears may be realized, there is hope at the present writing, in which the whole civilized world partakes, of his ultimate recovery.—Whatever the final result may be, the dastardly act that struck down a brave and good and wise ruler will not be an unmixed evil. A great common sorrow levels all petty distinction, and all sections and parties and wings of parties will be drawn closer together and brought nearer into harmony as one great people by this blow at the nation's head. Moreover, the sympathy which has been excited abroad, and the expressions of heartfelt condolence from European rulers and ministers will not be without its healthful influence on our future relations with their respective governments.

Whatever may be thought of the present necessity for woman suffrage, no man who ever had a mother can fail to approve of the efforts that have been made of late years for the amelioration of woman's status before the law in the matter of property, and also for the widening of her field of occupation. She can now in most of the states of the Union control her own property, independent of her husband, and fill without loss of caste, almost any position, the duties of which she is capable of performing. Women have been found particularly efficient on school boards, and in California they have been given the position of General Superintendent of public schools in some of the large cities, an office which they fill with complete acceptance. In Los Angeles, as we see by the Commercial of that city, after this office had been filled for ten years by men, it was given to Mrs. C. B. Jones, who did more to elevate the standard of the schools and get them organized, systemized and in perfect running order than had been effected by all her predecessors. We think all towns would do well to have at least one lady on the school board, who should have special oversight of the primary department.

Every year increases the travel to the various summer resorts, and people are coming more to consider their vacation a part of their legitimate business. It is just as necessary for the hard driven business man to rest a month from his work every year as it is to take a night's rest every twenty-four hours. It makes but little difference to what resort one betakes himself, whether he follows the scriptural injunction to "flee to the mountains," or walks with Homer's aged priest "along the shore of the many sounding sea." The main thing is to have a change — and absolute change — of surroundings, with nothing to remind one of the business, with its trials and vexations which he is leaving behind. But there is no need of preaching up the subject very strongly, for everybody seems to understand it pretty well, and the trains to all the popular resorts never carried such loads, and the hotels were never so crammed as the present season, notwithstanding the dog days have given us a touch of November.

THE SUNDAY MAGAZINE. — The number for September affords pleasant, instructive and entertaining reading—not for Sunday only, but for every day. The periodical is religious in tone and sentiment, and all classes will peruse its pages with pleasure and profit. The leading article is entitled "American Benefactors," by James Lawrence Bowdoin LL.B. Mrs. Robert O'Reilly concludes her highly interesting serial, "Out in the World," and there are numerous short sketches and stories by popular writers. A single copy is sold for 25 cents; annual subscription, $3, postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

The North American Review for September opens with a profoundly philosophical article on "The Church, the State and the School," by Prof. Wm. T. Harris. M. J. Savage treats of "Natural Ethics" in a most thorough and convincing manner. The Hon. John A. Kasson gives a history of the "Munroe Declaration." Edward Everett Hale writes of "Taxation of Church Property." Numerous other good articles make this number most interesting. 50 cts. a copy; $5 a year.

THE INTERNATIONAL REVIEW for September has several articles of interest and value, among which are "Naturalization," by Alexander Bliss; "Spain of To-day," by Wm. J. Armstrong; "Mormonism," by John Codman; "The Difficulties of Prison Reform," by A. S. Meyrick; "Payment of Public Debts," by Henry C. Adams; "The Endowment of Colleges," by Rev. Chas. F. Thwing; "Baron Bettino Ricasoli," by Wm. Chauncy Langdon. Published by A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, at $5.00 per year.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY.—The September number is especially noteworthy. The opening article, by George Alfred Townsend, entitled "Days of Gloom in the White House," is timely and very interesting, embodying a history of the Presidential mansion, and the most prominent incidents in connection with the attempted assassination of the President. There are some excellent stories by popular authors; one by Chandos Fulton, "There's Burglars in the House," is humorous. There are sketches, essays, poems, and an abundant miscellany. The number is embellished with a handsome colored frontispiece, "He Won't Hurt You," from Heywood Hardy's painting. The price of a single copy is only 25 cents, and the yearly subscription $3, postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

Jones rushed into the office of the Weekly Squashvine the other day. There was a wild look in his eye and a copy of the Squashvine in his hand. "Did you put that piece in here?" he demanded of the editor, pointing with trembling finger to a paragraph stating that salt scattered about the yard would kill fowl. "That?" said the editor, inquiringly, stopping in the midst of his editorial, and laying down his paste brush; "yes, that's mine—what of it? true, ain't it?" "Yes, and that's just what's the matter," said Jones, "and you may stop my paper right off—do you hear?" "Oh yes, certainly," said the editor. "John!" he called out, "stop Jones' paper! Anything else, Mr. Jones?" "Yes, there is something else!" shrieked Jones, maddened at the editor's coolness. "I'd like to know what you put such things in your paper for. There's Smith, who lives next to me. He got your rascally sheet Saturday night, and Monday morning, sir, his yard was full of dead hens—my hens, sir! He'd salted his vegetable garden, the villain—and all along of that confounded piece of yourn." The editor delegated the big pressman to show Jones out, remarking that he was glad to have such unprejudiced corroboration of the truth of his last week's statement.

MARRYING FOR LOVE.—The man who has married for love is a happy fellow. He is generally cheerful, and always thinking of the dear ones at home. He prefers to live out of town for the sake of the children. He is rarely late at business, rises early, gardens a little, eats a hearty breakfast, and goes to the necessary labor with a light heart and clear conscience. He often brings home pleasant surprises for his wife and children. You may recognize him in trains, loaded with parcels, which he good naturedly carries with perfect unconcern of what others may think,—a new bonnet, music, books, a new cloak for his wife, while in another parcel the wheels of a cart, a jack-in-the-box, a doll or a skipping rope, protrude through the paper and suggest the nursery. He is brave and kind, though he makes no noise in the world. The humanizing influence of that darling red cheeked little fellow who calls him father brings a glow and rapture of the purest pleasure earth holds; for the man who has never felt a tiny hand clasp his will always lack something,—he will be less human, less blessed than the others. This is the noble, the honest, the only form of life that imparts real contentment and joy, that will make a death-bed glorious, and love see peace through its tears. It is so purely unselfish, so true, it satisfies the highest instincts; It stimulates men to the best deeds they are capable of.

It would seem that the readers of the Review might become intolerably familiar with "Gen. Weaver's speech on Banking," as it appears in that paper this week for the fourth time within a few months. It was first copied by the editors on the inside of their paper, and the next week it appeared on their "patent outside"—the explanation being given within that they "reprinted it" because it was of so much importance. A week or two later Gen. Weaver came here and repeated it himself at Gothic Hall and then it had to be published again in their report of the speech. This week it comes again on the patent outside.—Danvers Mirror.

DANGERS TO IRON WORKERS.—Messrs. R. Eeterbrook & Sons, City Iron Foundry, Boston, Mass., speak on this point as follows: Two or three of our men were badly burnt in working. They were, however, immediately cured by using that valuable remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. All our men are highly pleased with it, and we shall always recommend it to those afflicted with pains or rheumatism.—Pittsburgh Evening Chronicle.

Peabody's store is open every evening until nine o'clock.

GREAT SALE OF BLANKETS.

ANOTHER GREAT ATTRACTION!

Conrad

Will begin to-day a great sale of BLANKETS at prices which will outdo any offered in this city heretofore.

2 cases Standard Prints, in fast colors, at 4 cents per yard.

50 dozen elegant Damask Towels, 40 inches long, in entirely new designs, at 25c.

We are the only party who have them, and we consider it the best bargain ever offered to customers.

D. Conrad.

181 Essex Street. - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY. MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CHARLES W. BRINE.

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors,
Sitting Rooms,
Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

PENCILINGS HERE AND THERE.

The world will never forget Samuel G. Goodrich, the "Peter Parley" of the earlier days, though his grave lies almost unmarked on the Connecticut hillside. Once, while he was traveling in the West, a wealthy lady, at a festival in St. Louis given in his honor, complimented him as a benefactor of his race, and promised to erect a monument to his memory. That memorial has never been built. The good man's monument is in the loving hearts that, forty years ago, were his delighted readers and pupils.

It is well to remind the young of the present day where his ashes rest. At a very short distance from the "Goodrich Place," at Southberry, Conn., is a rural graveyard. Here and there, scattered in amongst the long grass, are mounds, where lie buried the forgotten dead. Now and then some modern shaft tells of those lately mourned, and once in awhile some fine monument attracts the visitor's eye.

Within this inclosure is a small plot, fenced in with stern simplicity. Two costly but plain slabs of marble stand within. On one is a name and two dates, and the emblem is an open book with two or three dog-eared leaves. There lies "Peter Parley." World-known and world-loved, how few can tell where are shrined his mortal remains! Yet this was his choice, With the modesty of great minds, he shrank from praise or publicity; and unsung, though not unhonored, he lies in a country graveyard.

On Thames street, only a few steps from Broadway, New York, is a dark, little, dingy building, known as Cobweb Hall. It is one of the few old landmarks that remain to the city, and it is expected every day that the Vandals will sweep it out of existence. No name could be more accurately descriptive, for the ceilings, the walls, the shelves, and the counters are hung with cobwebs, in which whole generations of spiders have lived and died for years. The dust lies heavy everywhere. The atmosphere has a damp and moldy smell, almost like the vaults of Trinity churchyard opposite. Stuffed alligators, monkeys, snakes and birds, covered with the grime of years are hung about the walls, mingled with the pictures of the brawny heroes who adorned the English and American prize ring half a century ago.

Nothing is new. Everything around you reminds you of the past. The pictures of race-horses are those which stirred the blood of our great-grandfathers—Sir Henry, Eclipse, Boston, Fashion, Peytona and Abdallah. The floor may possibly be swept once in a decade, but no brush or broom is allowed upon the shelves or walls, or has there been for fifty years. The cobwebs hang in festoons everywhere.

It is over forty years ago since Dickens paid it a visit, when he wrote his American Notes, and Thackeray declared to a friend that the place was full of inspiration. The Prince of Wales took it in among the sights of the city, and his initials, written with a diamond, were on the panes of glass. The Czarevitch, on his visit here a few years ago, left a little memento behind him there, and it is among its traditions that the late Emperor Napoleon, when he was a wandering vagabond in New York, frequently tucked his legs under the tables there.

In all probability, it will be razed to the ground before many years have passed, and with it will disappear one of the most interesting landmarks in New Yerk.

The district school-house that William Cullen Bryant attended in Cummington, Mass., stood at a corner of a forest where three roads met, and about a mile distant from his home. While attending this school, his first poem was written. He was thirteen years of age at the time. While at Williams College, at the age of sixteen, he wrote the immortal "Thanatopsis." The secluded spot where this poem was composed has since been known as "Bryant's Glen."

In the later years of his life, his heart turned again to the scenes of childhood. He repurchased the old homestead, that had passed into other hands, and remodeled it into a beautiful country residence.

Just back of the house is a grand old forest, and through its depths glides the little stream suggesting his poem, "The Rivulet,"

"Thou changest not,
But changed am I."

—Phila. Sat. Night.

A NEW ENGINE OF WAR.

A new gun, said to surpass all others in death dealing powers, was tested recently on the Hasenhaide, at Berlin, by an imperial military commission, the inventor, Conrad Garbe, being present. The result was a favorable one, as the arm was proved capable of amazing rapidity in use. Its principal advantage lies in its simple construction, which makes necessary only four movements of the hands for loading and discharging. The cartridge cap can be expelled by a lateral jerk. The kick of the weapon, which weighs only nine pounds, is hardly, if at all, perceptible. The commission recommended its adoption by the German army, and that partly in view of the fact that the Manser gun now in use can be easily remodeled on the Garbe system.

To think we are able is almost to be so—to determine upon attainment is frequently attainment itself. Thus earnest resolution has often seemed to have about it almost a savor of omnipotence.

In ourselves, rather than in material nature, lie the true source and life of the beautiful.

Buy the Corded Side Corset, new and nice, at Peabody's.

Strange—It is considered a wrong thing for a husband to strike his wife, but perfectly right for a wife to collar and cuff her husband.

It rains alike on the just and the unjust—on the just mainly because the unjust have borrowed their umbrellas.—Buffalo Express.

Ought not a picture dealer to be a man of picturesque appearance, have a fine frame, and be able to canvass successfully.—Philadelphia Sun.

A little boy reciting a Bible verse about smiting the enemy hip and thigh, said they would smite him with a "hip, hip and hurra."—Cin. Sat. Night.

A young man has generally got the winning cards in his hands when, on popping the question, he sees a "flush" in his sweetheart's face.—Somerville Journal.

"Yes," said the girl who had risen from the lowest position in her class; "I shall have a horse shoe for my symbol, as it denotes having come from the foot."

The man who took a seat in the orchestra when his ticket was for the second balcony, felt badly at having to change. In fact he was moved two tiers.—Boston Post.

"Acquires the confection," is the Boston girls' translation of "Takes the cake." Similarly, "The proper caper" becomes "The correct contortion."—Boston Times.

Flora T. Wagstaff has just been admitted to the Kansas bar. Now that she has become a lawyer she will probably change her name to Wagjaw.—N. Y. News. Waggin' tongue, perhaps.—Cin. Sat. Night.

The son of a Western dealer in hogs was pressing his affiianced for an answer to the question when she would name the happy day. She hesitated a moment before answering: "Not until the price of pork advances."

We certainly beat all of them for honesty. A lady dropped two $5 gold pieces on the office floor, which we found and promptly returned. We defy any Iowa editor to produce an equal record.—Washington (Iowa) Democrat.

"Does your wife ever get mad? Does she ever threaten to tear your eyes out? Does she ever hump her back?" "No," he answered, pensively. "I can't say that she ever humps her back, but she's raised a hump or two on mine."

"The land, my friends," said an Irish orator, at a meeting "has belonged to the people from the days of Adam." "Adam, indeed," replied a voice in the crowd, "do not speak of him; he was evicted from the Garden of Eden without compensation."

Writers of "leading articles" are erroneously called "quill-drivers," because quills require to be driven, while, in fact, they are generally written by "leading" editors with a pencil, and pencils cannot be driven, but must always be lead.—Bloomington Eye.

A "rubber-headed tack" has been invented by a misguided man. The Albany Evening Journal remarks that "everybody who has sat down in peace and risen in wrath knows that the head of a tack is not the end which needs improvement with a rubber point."—Bloomington Eye.

"Henry is so practical," said Mrs. Youngwife. "When mother went into the country last year, he sent all her things after her the very next day; he said she might want some of them, you know. And it's kind o' funny," she went on, "mother did want them, for she has never come back to live with us since. Wasn't it queer?"

Her life was slowly ebbing away and her inconsolable husband was weeping silently though copiously by the deathbed. "Henry," she faltered, as he bent his ear to catch the precious words, "in this solemn moment I feel superior to all the weaknesses of my sex—to all selfish considerations. For the sake of our poor motherless babes, Henry, for—for your your sake, dear, promise me that when I am gone you—you—you will marry our dear, good friend, Miss K——." "I promise, darling!" said Henry, thoughtfully, between his sobs. "In fact I—had already thought of it."—San Francisco Wasp.

ITCHING PILES—SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.
Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.
It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.
As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.
Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free.
aug 3—6 w

GREAT REDUCTION IN PRICE OF COAL,
— AT —
PICKERINGS,
17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.
WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.
Specialty made in Steam Coals.
Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.
SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS
PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.
WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.
WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.
Jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.
Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.
Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.
Hard & Soft Wood,
Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.
Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.
C. S. CLARK,
COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,
also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,
DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.
Danversport and Peabody.
Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards
OFFICE IN PEABODY:
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,
TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,
Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.
Prices as Low as the Lowest,
for the same quality of goods.
HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.
OFFICE:
Second Door West of Hay Scales.
apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,
HUBON BLOCK,
MANUFACTURER OF
Coffins and Caskets,
OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.
☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.
NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,
(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS
☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.
feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,
Manufacturing & Furnishing
UNDERTAKERS.
Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.
WALNUT ST., PEABODY.
J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.
may 18—tf

DANIEL T. SMITH,
(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)
WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS
Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,
FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,
234 Essex Street,
Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.
CLOCKS.  WATCHES.
JEWELRY,
SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.
— AT —
220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,
ENGRAVER,
STENCIL PLATES,
DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,
Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.
234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY.
REMOVAL.
F. A. WRUCK,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
HAS REMOVED TO
165 ESSEX STREET.
OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.
Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.
Fine Watch and Clock Repairing
a specialty.
Also a good line of
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,
CONSTANTLY ON HAND.
F. A. WRUCK,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.
G. W. POTTER & CO.,
DEALERS IN
FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,
OF ALL KINDS,
7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,
PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,
GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.
58 Main Street,
PEABODY, MASS.
Jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. and Wicks, at | Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps. Burners, Chimneys S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. | Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.
A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.
(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)
The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.
"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.
aug 17

VISIT
SOUTHWICK'S
FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,
Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.
OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,
S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.
PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,
— FOR —
Weddings & Funerals
ROSE BUDS,
RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,
PINKS, &c.,
— AT —
WARD'S GREENHOUSES,
Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.
☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE
— AT THE —
COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,
The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of
CHOICE GROCERIES,
Country Produce,
And the best grades of
FLOUR,
n the market, at the lowest prices.
Passage to and from Ireland.
He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.
Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.
Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.
JOHN LINEHAN.
Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.
A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.
All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. | Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING
To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the
ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,
If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.
It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.
It will take you by a line which has
STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT
to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.
☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.
The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.
STEERAGE,
OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.
INTERMEDIATE,
$12 HIGHER.
Give the
ALLAN LINE
one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.
For Tickets and Full Information, apply to
CHAS. D. HOWARD,
Agent for Peabody.
Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,
GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,
— AND —
PLUMBING.
Sole agent for Miner's
PATENT STREET LANTERNS.
Also dealer in
Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,
Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.
D. B. LORD, JR.,
NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.
7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.
Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody.

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, exam- etc. ine,

NOTICE.
We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partiespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.
Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,
35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,
Where will be kept a good assortment of
DRUGS, MEDICINES,
Toilet Articles, Perfumery,
FANCY GOODS,
And all articles usually found in a well appointed Drug Store.
OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.
FAMILY FLOUR!
At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.
HAMS,
LARD IN SMALL TUBS,
MAPLE SUGAR,
Hay & Grain of all kinds
GENERAL PRODUCE.
For Sale by
CHAS. A. ROPES,
41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF
HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF
MANHOOD
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.
Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address
THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.
"IT'S ONLY A COLD" has sent thousands to premature graves. A cold stops up the avenues of the system, and disease must result. Neglected, most violent remedies must be used to remove the obstruction. Taken timely, a few doses of
Tarrant's Seltzer Aperient
will carry off naturally the cause of the suffering, and save days, months, or even years of suffering.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EDUCATION AND EMPLOYMENT.
COMER'S COMMERCIAL COLLEGE
is the oldest institution of its class in America. It still continues to give superior instruction in all the Commercial Branches. Over Two Hundred of its graduates were assisted to suitable Employment last year, which vouches for its high standing with business men. Send for the latest catalogue. 666 Washington street, corner of Beach St., Boston, Mass.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE
A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of
J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

BLACK CASHMERES.

A Special Bargain

— IN —

BLACK CASHMERES,

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

4 1-2 Cents.

Good Prints 4 1-2 Cents per yard.

— AT —

PEABODY'S.

THE COMFORT CORSET.

The Best Corset made. Suits every time.

BARGAINS

In every Department to reduce stock.

Prices Lower than the Lowest.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 31, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

SINCE THE last issue of our paper, the President has apparently passed a crisis which happens to but few persons in this life. There are many in this vicinity who long ago gave up all hopes that his life would be spared; we presume nine-tenths of the physicians have given it as their opinion that he must die; and indeed, last Friday and Saturday those who had clung to hope as the drowning man clings to the last straw, became despairing, and the whole nation waited, with solemn and bated breath, the sad tidings which would announce his decease. It seemed only the question of a few hours; yet the announcement did not come. When, suddenly, after the most hopeful physician, Dr. Bliss, had intimated to the Cabinet that further hope was useless, a change is perceptible. The evening bulletin of Saturday night told a tale that was a surprise to every one who read it, and shows that the hand of man is certainly powerless in this crisis.—Everything that the best surgeons in the land could do for the President had been done, and he is given over to death. Yet he does not die. And at this writing, it would seem that his chances for recovery were equal to any that he has had for many weeks. It has been said that there is more real information in the few lines of cabled dispatches sent by Secretary Blaine to our minister in England than in columns of interviews with the physicians. When he announces that the President has a reasonable ground for recovery, let us take renewed courage and heart again. The danger is, of course, not passed, and he is still very weak. This crisis shows again the great power of this remarkable man. Let us hope on, and it may yet be our privilege to chronicle the fact that God, in his mercy, has spared the life of his servant, and raised him up again to be ruler over the people.

IT IS becoming evident that the conduct of Vice-President Arthur since the assassination of Gen. Garfield has served to increase the respect with which he is regarded by the country. Had President Garfield died within a few days, and had Arthur been called suddenly to the office of Chief Magistrate, the intense feeling which many people had at his political action during the division at Albany, could not have failed to find vent. This has in a measure subsided, and his manly action since, showing, as it does, that he feels the responsibility of the office to which he is liable at any moment to be called, is preparing the way for the cordial support and confidence which he will have should he become President. As has been well stated by the N. Y. Herald, we feel that those parties who prefer to think that Conkling will be chief ruler in that event, are destined to a great disappointment. Is Conkling willing to hold a subordinate position under a man whom he has lorded over during his political life? On the other hand, Arthur would feel, if Conkling were in this position, that all his acts would be judged, and all his motives would be imputed to the Secretary, the power behind the throne. Arthur is too keen a man to allow this to happen. We do not believe that the Secretaryship of State would be given to Conkling or accepted by him, in the event of a change. Arthur's private life, his ability and honesty, are beyond question. It will be a surprise to us if he does not show, if he has the opportunity thrust upon him, that he has the interests of the whole nation at heart.

IT IS REPORTED that

There was a fair damsel in Worcester:
To a young man her pa introdorcester;
But when "No" she said,
He shot himself dead,
He was such a sensitive rorcester.

That S. C. Bancroft has represented the Peabody Reporter in the Massachusetts Press Association for the past four years.

That he still represents it as editor and proprietor.

That the chief glory of man does not consist in never failing, but in arising every time he fails.

That there is a magazine of wrath and "revinge" covered up under that long black duster.

That some wicked fellow entered a Vermont Church vestry just after the deacons and clergymen had held a meeting there.

That he left four empty beer bottles, a whiskey flask, and two packs of cards on the table.

That the Danvers Review swears by General Weaver's speech on Banking, having published it four times within a few months.

That this is one of the disadvantages in using a patent outside.

That watermelons are sold for half a cent a pound in Georgia, but there are after considerations which are more expensive.

That the lecturer who was pelted with ancient eggs had no difficulty in ascertaining the sense of the meeting.

That the people drove Clemons out of Terry, Ala., because he took a second wife three days after the death of the first.

That Gen. Butler's name was hissed in a Massachusetts Greenback Convention!

That "whom the Gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

That the lilies of the field "toil not, neither do they spin," but they have their blow out just the same.

That the Republicans and Greenbackers of Mississippi have joined hands—but not hearts.

That such an unnatural alliance ought not to be successful.

That the New England Fair is having an immense patronage.

That 45,392 pieces of baggage have been checked on the Eastern R. R. the last six months.

That the French Catholics in Salem will soon build a church.

That there were no delegates from Salem to the Greenback Convention.

That Israel W. Andrews of Danvers heads the Greenback ticket for Governor of the old Commonwealth.

That, if elected, Friend Cheever of the Review, will be one of his staff.

That Major Merrill completed his 20 years' service as postmaster of Lawrence on Tuesday of last week.

That he evidently was born under a lucky star.

That the blacksmiths are busy hooping wheels, owing to the drought.

That the city of Salem has a small pox case in a large form.

That the victim is a negro from the British provinces.

That a Worcester journal alludes to "Gov." Andrews as the "good-natured old thunder cask from Danvers."

That Mrs. Griggs of Long Branch took eighteen bottles of anti-fat.

That she died in great agony.

That she probably did not expect to reduce her superfluous flesh in that way.

That the Philadelphia News says the ice crop threatens to be cut short.

That the trouble is caused by an ice wasp which is six inches in length and is transparent.

That they gnaw the ice, causing it to crumble to pieces.

That this yarn reads very pretty, but is a great deal more transparent than the worm.

That the steamer Rose Standish met with an accident yesterday which disabled her.

That one of her passengers was found with no less than seven life preservers on.

That he would have put on more if there had been room for them.

That he had probably read Ingersoll's lecture, "What shall we do to be saved?"

Last Sunday the Eastern Railroad delivered 130 tons of coal to the depots and flag stations hereabouts, necessitating, of course, much shifting to the various tracks, the ringing of the engine bell, escaping steam, etc., to the annoyance of many of our citizens. It is no new departure on the part of the road to run the annual supply train on Sunday; to run it on a week day would greatly interfere with the many passenger and regular freight trains running between Boston, Salem, Lawrence and Lowell, and serious accidents might arise therefrom. Our attention having been called to the matter we make this explanation. The managers of the Eastern Railroad corporation are gentlemen, and no doubt will take all possible precautions in the future to alleviate the annoyance.

THE FINE weather of the past week has served to increase in a large degree the amount of travel to the mountains. Although it is late in the season, the tide of travel seems in many places to be at its hight. And if our people could so arrange it, September and October are the best months to visit these resorts. The foliage then begins to turn, and the air is more invigorating.

Mr. E. F. Forman, editor and proprietor of the Lynn Bee, fell from the fourth story window of the Sagamore Hotel, in that city, last Saturday morning, striking on his head on the pavement, inflicting injuries which finally proved fatal. Mr. F. was a man of much promise.

HOW NOT TO DO IT.—At some of the best dining saloons in Boston the would-be customer is bothered about as follows:—He enters and takes his seat at a table. He is, perhaps in a hurry, and resolves to order some dish that is all ready, but his first trouble is to give his order, for the waiter who has charge of this particular table, and one or two others, is flying about with a great air of business and importance, although he may have only two or three customers to wait upon. He shoots from one table to another with wonderful rapidity, doing nothing in a remarkably bustling way, but never taking the slightest notice of the last comer. Finally, he does condescend to see him, and receives his order; but as soon as he has got it he finds that he has got a great quantity of dirty dishes to gather up from his various tables, and he sets about that industriously. After he has gathered the dishes together, and swept the crumbs off the table-cloths, and done various things of similar importance, and loads himself with the crockery and glass-ware and disappears. It is then that he is supposed to transmit the order which he has received five or ten minutes before. Meanwhile the hungry man waits impatiently, inwardly cursing the stupidity of the individual who does the wrong thing first and the right thing last. He gets his cold victuals—for he has ordered cold, because of his hurry—at least ten minutes later than he should have been served, and is disgusted accordingly. He wonders, as he leaves the place, why it is that waiters never see a customer until he has been sitting on exhibition a long time, and why, when he is seen, he is not waited upon at once, instead of being himself obliged to wait until sundry tables are cleared. These are conundrums, and he is unable to answer them.—Cambridge Press.

POLITICAL.—The Marblehead correspondent of the Salem Gazette says:

The appointment of Joseph Knights as a revenue detective causes some of the political critics to say that Dr. Loring is looking out for his friends, and to poke fun at those who thought they were going to control the offices when Col. Stone was elected.

The Essex Statesman dares the Boston Post, Journal, Herald, Globe, Advertiser, Traveller or Transcript to name a man who will discuss the financial question with Gen. Weaver. The Post takes pleasure in accepting the challenge, and respectfully names Gen. Daniel Pratt of Prattville, Chelsea, subject of course to ratification by the general.—Boston Post.

Thank you, brother Hoyt. We are glad the Post has selected the ablest man on its editorial staff.—Essex Statesman.

The last train from Boston on the Eastern railroad last Thursday night, was delayed at the Point of Pines, and arrived in Salem about fifteen minutes late, in consequence of which a large party of Peabody people missed the 10.10 horse cars. After stating their case to the conductor of the car which leaves the Willows at 10 o'clock, he kindly consented to carry them up, although his trip was supposed to end ot the office.

The 18th annual fair of the New England Agricultural Society will be held in Worcester, Mass., on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6, 7, 8 and 9, and it looks fair to surpass any one of the seventeen which have been held. Hon. Geo. B. Loring is the President, and Hon. C. B. Pratt will act as Chief Marshall. The railroads will transport, at greatly reduced rates stock and other articles intended for exhibition. Farmers meeting will be held each evening. Bicyclists will contest for a prize of $150 on the first day, and trotting horses will compete on the three days. The attendance is expected to be unusually large.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

The annual reunion of the Massachusetts Union Survivors of Rebel Prisons will take place at the New Marlboro' Hotel, Boston, Wednesday, Sept. 7.—Business meeting at 2, dinner at 3 o'clock, P. M. Survivors of Rebel Prisons who have not joined the association are requested to send name and address to the secretary, J. G. Bovey, P. O. Box 103, Boston, Mass.

The eleventh annual reunion of the Twenty-third Regiment Association, will be held in Newburyport, on Wednesday Sept. 28, the twentieth anniversary of date of muster of the 23d Reg't Mass. Infantry Volunteers. Business meeting at 10 1-2 a. m., in G. A. R. hall. Take steamer from Commercial wharf at 11 1-4 a. m., for a couple of hours' sail on the Merrimac and trip to Salisbury beach, where dinner will be served at 1 1-2 o'clock, p. m., at Morrill's pavilion. Music by the Salem brass band.

Summer Saunterers.

F. C. Merrill and family, and Walter C. Merrill and family, are occupying the Adams cottage at Camp Nashua, Manataug.

John P. Fernald and wife are registered at the Union House, Littleton, N. H.

Alonzo Raddin and family are rusticating at Salisbury Beach.

Miss Lizzie Fredburg, who has been spending her school vacation at Biddeford, Me., returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. N. M. Quint and wife, and Mr. David Loud and wife, left town Tuesday morning, for a visit among the hills of New Hampshire. They left in their private teams and will go over the road, making their headquarters at West Charleston, N. H.

The Abel Proctor H. & L. Company will leave town next Saturday for a visit to New York and Coney Island.

E. Torrey Upton is at Bethel, Me. He says it is one of the prettiest places he ever visited.

J. F. Culliton and wife are boarding at Swampscott.

Mr. W. Fred Shumway and wife have just returned from Dover, Mass.

Mrs. Mary E. Brown will spend her vacation at Plaistow, N. H.

Eagle Hose Co. No. 1, are spending a week on Ipswich Neck.

Miss Alice Gilman started on a trip to the White Mountains, Monday.

A Lynn party are encamped on the shores of Bartholemew's pond.

Mr. A. C. Osborn and family have just returned from Atkinson, N. H.

The Republican State Convention will be held at Worcester, Sept. 21st. Peabody will be entitled to six delegates (a gain of two) under the new apportionment—one delegate for the town, and one additional delegate for every two hundred votes, and for every fraction as large as one hundred cast for Republican Presidential electors in 1880.

It is said that Houghton & Dutton of Boston are negotiating for an automatic tube cash system, which far surpasses the elevated railway. By this arrangement the cashiers are obliged to be in the uppermost part of the building, and it takes only eighteen seconds for the change to return. It is in successful operation in the largest dry goods emporium in Philadelphia, and takes the place of five hundred cash boys and girls.

The Greenbackers at their State Convention at Worcester on Wednesday nominated candidates for State officers as follows; For Governor, Israel W. Andrews of Danvers; for Lieutenant Governor, Dr. Geo. Dutton of Springfield; for Treasurer, Geo. Foster of Lynn; Sec. of State, A. B. Brown of Worcester; Auditor, Wilbur F. Whitney of Asburnham; Attorney General, D. O. Allen of Lynn.

New Advertisements.

TOWN OF PEABODY.

TOWN COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The owners and occupants of the following described real estate, situated in the town of Peabody, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified, that the taxes thereon severally assessed for the years hereinafter specified, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said town, by the Assessors of Taxes, remain unpaid, and that said real estate will be offered at public auction for sale, at the office of the Collector, at the Town House, in said town of Peabody, on Wednesday, the twenty-first day of September, 1881, at 9 o'clock A. M.:

A lot of land bounded northwardly by Main street, eastwardly by Pierpont street, southwardly by land of Heirs of W. M. Jacobs, westwardly by land of Jacobs and Osborne, containing about 12,000 square feet, with the buildings thereon.—Taxed to Rebecca K. Jacobs, for 1877, $95.20; for 1878, $102.20; for 1879, $91.00; for 1880, $91.00.

LEVI PRESTON,
aug31—3t Collector of Taxes.

WANTED,

A smart, active, and reliable young man to learn a first-class business. Inquire at this office. aug 31—1t

WANTED,

A house with two tenements, within five or ten minutes' walk of the Square. Address, P. O. Box 558, Peabody, Mass.
aug 31—tf

FOUND,

In my pasture, a young cow. White, marked with red on neck and head.
A. F. DANFORTH,
aug 31—3t West Peabody.

PEABODY INSTITUTE.

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 2 and 3.

HOWORTH'S DOUBLE SHOW.

GRAND HIBERNICA.

Dublin Dan Comedy Company and McGill's Mirror of Ireland.

60 BEAUTIFUL TABLEAUX OF ERIN. 60

10 Acknowledged Artists. 10

5 GREAT COMEDIANS. 5

3 DISTINCT COMBINATIONS IN ONE. 3

New Faces, New Farces, New Features, and the Finest Scenery in the World.

Popular Prices, 25 and 35 cents.

Seats at B. F. Stevens'.
aug 31

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

MAMMOTH HALF-SEASON SALE

— OF —

Men's, Youths', Boys' and Childsen's

FINE AND MEDIUM

Clothing.

ON SATURDAY, AUG. 27TH.

We shall commence our Semi-annual Half-Season Sale which has given such satisfaction in the past. It has been our custom for the past two years to offer a sale of Half-Season CLOTHING. It being too late for the Summer, and too early for the Fall trade, we always take this opportunity of Clearing our Counters previous to receiving our Fall Stock. This sale should be one of interest to every person in want of Clothing, as the most of these goods are heavy enough for Fall and Winter wear.

PLEASE READ SOME OF THE BARGAINS.

75 Men's All-Wool, Light and Dark Colored, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed. The same goods have been sold all the season for $10 and $12; we shall close the lot at retail for SIX DOLLARS A SUIT. This lot comprises some six or eight different patterns.

175 Men's Strictly All-Wool, good weight, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Cheviot Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed, handsome and stylish; have been sold all the season for $14, $15 and $16 per suit. We shall close the lot at retail for EIGHT DOLLARS PER SUIT, about half their value. This lot comprises some eight or ten different patterns.

325 Pairs Men's All Wool Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Pantaloons, Heavy and Medium Weight, handsomely made and trimmed, have been retailed all the season for $3 and $4. We shall close the lot at retail for TWO AND TWO AND A HALF DOLLARS PER PAIR.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT.

1000 BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS. We are now prepared to give the Boys the Best, the Largest and most Varied stock of SCHOOL SUITS ever seen in any retail store in New England, with prices the lowest.

1500 Children's Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, Light and Medium Weight, all handsomely made and trimmed, prices from $1.50 to $5.00 per suit.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY,

Manufacturers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM. Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

Manufactory and Wholesale Rooms, 403 Washington St., Boston.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

HOUSEKEEPERS

Of Peabody!

COMPLETE REVOLUTION!

IN PRICES OF

CROCKERY,

GLASS & WOODEN WARES.

READ OUR PRICES!

EXAMINE OUR WARES!

And get the best equivalent for your money.

WE QUOTE

A Gilt China Tea Set, 44 pieces,	$5.50
A Toilet (banded) Set, 10 "	3.25
" " " 3 "	1.00
Breakfast Plate,	75c per doz.
Dinner "	90c per doz.
Tea "	95c " "
Sugar Bowls,	30 and 40c each.
Ewer and Basin,	72 and 80c each.
Covered Dishes,	55, 60 and 75c each.
Platters,	9, 12, 15, 20 to 50c each.
Chambers,	25, 30 and 40c each.
Quart Bowls,	7c each.
3 Pint Bowls,	10c each.
Cups and Saucers,	40c per set.
Odd Saucers,	2c each.
Syrup Cans,	20c each.
Salt Cellars,	5 and 12c each.
Sauce Boats,	10c each.
Pickle Dishes,	10c each.
Fruit Dishes,	15 and 20c each.
Goblets,	50 and 58c per doz.
Tumblers,	40c per doz.
Pie Plates,	3, 5 and 8c each.
Dover Egg Beater,	25c each.
Lemon Squeezers,	15c each.
Decorated Tiles,	25c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 8 qt.,	10c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 15 qt.,	15c each.

Want of space limits us in our quotations, but we have a store full of goods, and ask our friends and the public to give us a call ensuring them to always find us on the Square.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Goods,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK.

WANTED, immediately, two respectable, steady, energetic men as Agents and Solicitors for the above-named company, for the districts of Salem, Peabody and Beverly.—Permanent situations offered to suitable men, with lucrative remuneration. Apply at the District Branch Office, Room 3, 71 Hubon Block, Washington street, Salem. Office hours, 8 to 9 A. M., 6 to 7 P. M.
aug 24—1m

MRS. S. E. MASON,

Having secured the services of a competent cutter and fitter, would inform the ladies of Peabody and vicinity that she has opened rooms for Dressmaking in all its branches, at 14 Park street, Peabody. "Button Holes and Machine Stitching as usual."
aug 24—1m

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,
FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK,
aug 3 30 Holten street.

TO LET.

A tenement of six rooms, No. 24 Holten St Apply at No. 19 Lowell St.
aug 24 tf

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS.—20 tons heavy White Wheat Shorts and Middlings. For sale by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

PATENT FLOUR,—One car load Ames' Fancy Minnesota patent process Family Flour.—For sale by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Hot Weather!

Dry and Dusty!

Plenty of Mosquitos!

Oysters are good to-morrow

Summer legally expires to-day.

Water is scarce in many localities.

The secret societies resume regular meetings next week.

A one legged soldier is asking aid to buy a cork leg. He is worthy. Give the old man a lift.

Needed improvements are being made at the residence of Mr. Joseph M. Larrabee at South Peabody.

It is reported that after the first of September there will be a night operator at the telephone office.

Preaching services at the Baptist Church will be resumed at the usual hour next Sunday morning.

The officers of the Grand Lodge of Mass., I. O. O. F., have appointed Mr. Wm. F. Sawyer a District Deputy.

Mr. Warren Trask will continue the meat business at the old stand recently occupied by Mr. J. E. Trask.

Miss Lizzie Towne has accepted the position of teacher in the primary department of the South Peabody school.

Geo. H. Robinson, formerly milk-boy with Eben Trask, lost a finger while at work at Buxton's bakery, in Salem, recently.

Some two hundred people from this town attended the Union Land League picnic at Centennial Grove, Essex last Monday.

At the Mugford Engine Fair in Marblehead, held last week, Postmaster Ward of this town drew a German accordeon.

Mr. Sylvester Williams was thrown from his seat while returning from market last Thursday, and received slight injuries.

The Volunteers have asked permission of the Engineers to attend the firemen's muster at Milford, some time in September.

The neighbors have placed a lantern half-way up the lane leading from Central to Elm street, near the residence of Mr. Isaac Hardy.

Miss Nellie Miles of Lynn, entertained a large number of people with music at the residence of Mr. Joseph Dakin, last Friday evening.

The annual reunion of the Shillaber family took place last Monday at the residence of Hardy Shillaber, on Lynn street, and was well attended.

Dr. Geo. Burdett, of Lynn, will hold a test seance at Ashland Hall, on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Several other good mediums will be present.

Another large rattlesnake was killed on the farm of William Hayes last week by Geo. Woodman. It measured 4 feet 6 inches, and had eight rattles.

William Nagle had his arm broken last Thursday at Mr. Leonard Pierce's morocco factory, while attempting to slip a belt from one pulley to another.

On Monday evening, a part of a cuff button was lost, supposed between the Square and Mt. Vernon St. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at the PRESS office.

An itinerant pedlar, with a voice like a cracked bell, was on the Square last evening trying to sing and sell the large number of boys around him a box of blacking.

The æsthetic craze is surely coming, as witness the following harbinger:—"Do you æsthet?" "No, not yet; but you bet, I have a sister Net who will get so she can æsthet."

The compacency with which the farmer who has his "second crop" all in contemplates the threatening weather argues a freedom from anxiety that passeth understanding.

Mr. C. O. Stone's 6 o'clock coach from Lynn collided with the Wakefield and Lynn barge last Monday. The breaking of a few spokes out of one wheel was the only result.

Clarence W. Moore, while at work at Mr. Geo. Upton's glue factory last Thursday, struck a hatchet into his wrist, cutting a severe gash which has disabled him from work.

Mr. Andrew Torr's team ran into the meeting house yard last Saturday morning, overturning and somewhat demolishing the buggy and throwing out the occupant, without doing serious injury.

An alarm was given about 6 o'clock Sunday evening, caused by a slight fire at Proctor's bark mill, on Webster street. The fire originated from the bark dust which had heated. The damage was slight.

Bushby & Co. and Samuel Donnell & Son display in their windows some fine pictures. In the former a fine cut of a horse's head is shown, and in the latter a rich Oriental scene is produced. Both advertise tobacco.

One of Danversport's prize fighters got into a little difficulty in Dublin recently, and it was his intention to clean out the whole of that part of the town, but he was paralyzed in about three minutes by one of the boys who wanted exercise.

Last Friday a party of some 20 ladies and gentlemen had a pleasant sail down Boston Harbor in the bark "Glide," Capt. Beadle (of this town), on his way to Africa. The party sailed some ten miles beyond Minot's Ledge Light, and returned to Boston in a steam tug.

Mr. Winslow has a fine picture of the President and his Cabinet at his store, which serves a double purpose. Besides being valuable for the picture itself, it serves to show off the latest styles of customs garment which Diston can cut and fit with just as good taste.

The reunion of the 17th Mass. Vol. Infantry took place at the Willows at Salem, on Tuesday of last week. A number of the residents of this place who were formerly members of the regiment, joined with them and had a good time. About 125 members were present.

What was that great crash last night? was the question on everybody's lips this morning, and it would not have been known if twenty smiling ladies hadn't walked up Main street, saying: "Why, it was a great crash in prices of crockery at Messrs. Schollar & Donnell's."

In the list of summer saunterers should be placed the name of Bob Fields, Esq., who is spending a short vacation in town, recruiting for his arduous work at the Poor Farm the coming winter.—Reporter.

Sorry, neighbor; but if there are any more of your friends we have slighted please mention it.

The resetting of the stone steps at the Center school by Mr. N. M. Quint, shows that the closest attention should be paid to work that is done by contract. It was found that the steps were held in position by blocks of wood, which have since rotted away, instead of solid mason work as the contract required.

At a meeting of the members of the Essex Agricultural Society residing in Peabody, held in the Town Hall last evening, Aug. 30th, for the purpose of electing a trustee of the Society. Jas. P. King, Esq., was chosen Moderator and A. C. Osborne, Sec'y. A ballot was taken for trustee, which resulted in the re-election of Francis H. Appleton by a unanimous vote.

Comrades of Union Post 50, G. A. R., left town on the 7.30 train this morning to attend the reunion and picnic of the G. A. R. Posts of Essex County at Balch's Grove, Groveland.—They take the steamer "City of Haverhill" to and from the grove. Music furnished by the Haverhill Cornet Band and Perkins Orchestra.

At the factories of Richardson, Doyle & Co. and Atherton & Co. business is quite lively, while most of the other leather factories are not overburdened with work. Some of them contemplate shutting down for a few weeks. A large part of the leather at Richardson, Doyle & Co.'s is shipped direct to Europe.

On Tuesday evening of last week Frederick Wiggin and Miss Hannah Tudbury were united in marriage by Rev. John W. Colwell, at his residence on County street, South Peabody. The newly-married couple afterwards repaired to the residence of the bridegroom, where they received a large number of costly presents.

Parties at work cementing the pipes for the water works had to put in a little extra work last Wednesday night, because of a delay occasioned by the kettle of tar catching fire and burning the wooden building covering it. On the hill the men are blasting the ledge and making fair progress, as are the pipe-layers in the different streets.

The following changes have been made in the schools: Miss Julia Wilkins takes the place of Miss Helen M. Merrill, who has gone to Auburn to teach; Miss Mary Taylor takes Miss Julia Wilkins' place, Miss Lizzie Towne takes Miss Mary Taylor's place, in So. Peabody, and Miss Nellie Allen is substituting for Miss Jennie Kimball at Feltonville.

We would gladly say nothing of another misfortune, for in no other light can we view the departure from home and family of Mr. John Titcomb, who left town last Wednesday, leaving a large number of unpaid bills. It is to be hoped that he will find a business in his new field, wherever that may be, more successful than here, and return and regain the confidence of his neighbors and friends.

During the latter part of September, Mr. Isaac Munroe and some twenty-five others, will make up an excursion to the White Mountains. They will first visit Mt. Washington, and then return to Jackson Falls, where they will rusticate a week. The fare and board will be at reduced rates. During the latter part of September and the first of October, the beauty of the foliage in that region cannot be surpassed.

Howorth's Hibernica, Panorama and Variety Entertainment at Wagner's, last night, received a full house in attendance. The performers are all fine and the show good.—Bradford (Pa) Era.

The old fence around the tan yard of Atherton & Co., on Wallis street, that has been used for a bill board for a number of years, is being treated to a coat of whitewash, and thus one of the best bill boards in town goes out of service.

We call the especial attention of our readers to the sermon in this issue by Messrs. Schollar & Donnell, who take for their business text: "Best goods at lowest possible prices; quick sales and small profits." They announce a large invoice of crockery, glass and wooden ware at prices that all can afford to replenish their supplies. They guarantee all complete satisfaction who trade with their enterprising and courteous house.

The editor who is enjoying the delights of the beautiful mountain scenery in N. H. sends us poor mortals, who are obliged to continue in the daily treadmill of office work, newspapers filled with a long list of names of summer visitors, pictures of large hotels, delightful streams, fine groves and great waterfalls. But let him not forget, while roaming over those high hills, that there is work—solid work—awaiting his return to Peabody.

People who are in the habit of mutilating coins will be interested in learning that by an order from headquarters silver coins having holes in them, or otherwise mutilated, have been given the following values at the postoffices throughout the country: One dollar is worth 75 cents; 50 cent pieces 35 cents; 25 cent pieces 15 cents; 10 cent pieces 5 cents. Three and five cent pieces will not be taken at any price.

While Mr. William Frye, the keeper of the town scales, was absent from his shop for a few minutes yesterday afternoon, somebody stole his watch, which was left hanging on a nail. The thief must have entered through a window in the rear, which was left open. The watch was an old silver watch with a gold band, and not of much value to anybody except the owner. There was also stolen with the watch a gold plated chain with large links. The matter has been put into the hands of the police.

Those who contemplate making an excursion to any of the places on the line of the Boston, Concord & Montreal R. R., as advertised in this paper, can purchase excursion tickets from Boston, and they will be received over the Lowell road. For instance, if you buy a ticket from Boston to the Weirs and return, you can use it from Peabody to Lowell and change cars there, instead of from Boston to Lowell. This saves the fare from here to Boston each way.

The fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of Alvin Shaw was celebrated at his residence, on Lynn street, on Friday evening. He was out taking a ride when, upon returning home in the early part of the evening, he was surprised to find the house crowded to completion by friends to the number of sixty-five. He was quickly reminded of the date of his marriage. The happy couple were presented with a large number of presents, some of which were fine and costly. Music, singing and other sports were indulged in, and refreshments served, after which the company dispersed with good wishes for the happy couple.

We don't believe our readers wish for a detailed account of the recent elopement or the pedigree of the offenders. The story is bad enough without the embellishment of Dame Rumor and may be briefly related as follows: Hugh McKay, the father of four children, a blacksmith by trade, and employed by Mr. Chas. W. Brine, eloped last Monday with the widow of the late Patrick Breslow, who had just received some $500 pension money. Later reports say the couple have returned. Be that as it may, the sooner the town is rid of all such characters, the better for it. Had they never returned they would not have been missed.

Last evening an enthusiastic audience assembled at Town Hall to listen to Mr. P. Melody, the Irish orator, who was brought here under the auspices of the Land League. Martin Quinlan presided over the meeting, and made a few remarks introducing the speaker of the evening. Mr. Melody, in an easy, fluent manner, passed over the history of Ireland since the Conquest, dwelling at length upon the more important eras in the records of that unhappy country. He alluded in a most touching manner to the great Irish leader and promoter of Catholic Emancipation, Daniel O'Connell, vividly portraying his great work and its results. The present agitation should go on, and should enlist the sympathies of every true-hearted Irishman and every lover of liberty. After Mr. Melody concluded, Mr. Jas. Haltigan, editor of the Celtic Monthly, addressed the meeting, and ended by reading the poem of Michael Davitt, written while in prison. Mr. Michael O'Flaherty then addressed the meeting.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

WHITE MOUNTAIN

EXCURSIONS,

VIA THE

Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,

WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7 50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.

GEO. W. STORER, Agent.

W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A. J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

aug 10

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Essex, ss. August 12, 1881.

Taken on execution and will be sold at Public Auction, on Saturday, September 17, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock, A.M., at the office of the undersigned, in the Post office Building, in Salem, in said county, all the right in equity that ALFRED F. WHEELER, of Peabody, in said county, has this day to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate, to wit: A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Peabody and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on Main street, by land of Amos Osborn, and running southerly by said land and land of Eliza D. Clement, 178 feet, more or less, to land of Joseph Hamilton; thence westerly by said land of Hamilton 40 feet, more or less, to a lane 12 feet wide leading from Main street to Summer street, by the premises; and thence by said lane 178 feet, more or less, to said Main street; and thence easterly by said Main street 40 feet, more or less, to point begun at. Also all of said Wheeler's right, title and interest in said lane on the westerly side of said premises.

SAMUEL A. JOHNSON,
aug 17—3w Deputy Sheriff.

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MININC, MILLINC

AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125 000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock,	250.000 shares
Common Stock,	125.000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs.	Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other Stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.

jy 20—3m

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my currying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.

aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

FERNALD & SAWYER

Announce to the public that that they have

MARKED DOWN THEIR HOSIERY STOCK

To very low prices, in order to make room for fall goods. Our entire stock of 38 ct. and 42 ct. Children's Hose is marked down to 25 cts. per pair. Our 50 ct. and 62 ct. Children's Hose marked down to 38 cts. per pair. Our 15 ct. and 20 ct. Children's Hose we are selling for 12 1-2 cts. per pair. Be sure and procure some of the hose before they are all sold.

We have a decided bargain in

BEST QUALITY GERMANTOWN YARN,

slightly soiled, which we will close out at 15 cts. per skein. The regular price for this yarn is 25 cts. We guarantee it in quality the best in the market.

WE HAVE IN STOCK A LARGE LINE OF CORSETS,

For 50 cts., 75 cts., $1.00 and $1.25, which we guarantee as good goods as can be bought in Boston or elsewhere. We also have a regular 50 ct. Corset in all sizes, which we are selling for 38 cts. This is the best corset for the money that can be found anywhere.

We have about 25 doz. ALL LINEN SHIRT BOSOMS, slightly damaged, which we will sell for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents. These goods, if perfect, are worth 25, 38 and 42 cents. They are a decided bargain, and an early call is necessary to secure any of them, as they will not last long at the price we are selling them at.

IN DRY GOODS,

We are offering our extra stock of 15c Ginghams for 12 1-2 cts. per yard. Our 15 and 20c Dress Goods for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents per yard. Our remnants of Calicoes for 4 cts., yard wide 12 1-2c Cambrics, we are selling for 8 and 10 cts., according to style. We also have the largest and best stock of Domestic Dry Goods to be found in town—such as cottons, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Crashes, Flannels, Silesias, &c., &c., and they are all marked at very low prices. We endeavor to make our prices so low that our people can save money by buying their goods at home.

FERNALD & SAWYER,

48 MAIN STREET, - - - - PEABODY, MASS.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,

SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

WANTED

A few Boarders. MRS. M. A. DOW
No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low.

CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

A. B. & W.

1, 2 & 3 WEST BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET.

CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

Our new Fall Importations, Suitings, Trowserings and Overcoatings,

OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots,

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers,

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

Anecdotes.

STEALING A HOG.

A lawyer from this city attended the Superior Court of Stewart county, which has been in session during the week. In the progress of the court he was employed to defend a man who was charged with stealing a hog. The evidence was circumstantial, and the lawyer was particularly happy in detailing how often men had been convicted upon circumstantial evidence, and it afterward appeared that they were innocent. He recited a case in which a man was charged with murder. A man was killed, the accused was seen near the spot with a bloody knife in his hand and blood upon his clothing. It was also proven that the accused was a bitter enemy of the dead man, and all the circumstances pointed to his guilt beyond the shadow of a doubt. The presiding officer, Judge Hale, charged the jury and expected them to return in a few minutes with a verdict of guilty. They all agreed but one man, and reported the fact to the Judge. He sent them out again, and the same thing was repeated for a number of times, and finally he discharged the jury with a severe reprimand.

The Judge was curious to know why the juror would not agree to the verdict and sent for him, when he asked:

"Why was it that you would not find a verdict?"

"I'll tell you, Judge, upon one condition, and that is you must swear you'll never tell it."

The Judge agreed to it, and he then said: "I killed that man myself."

When Solicitor Grimes' time came he turned it very nice; he began his speech by saying that he fully agreed that circumstantial evidence should be carefully weighed. He did not believe that the above case was applicable to the one being tried. He did not believe that there was a man on the jury who would be guilty of stealing a hog, but if there was, and he had stolen the hog in question, he certainly would not censure him for finding the prisoner guilty.

At this point the lawyer got very much interested, and rose to explain to the court and jury that he did not intend that any such construction should be put upon his remarks, and hoped they would not think so. It certainly was not applicable, for they found the accused guilty of stealing the hog.—Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun.

DUCKING A PRINCE.

That expert and powerful swimmer, Frederick William, the German Crown Prince, goes, it is said, early every morning during the summer months to the great swimming school of the Imperial Garrison at Potsdam, and there takes his header and has a good stretch round and round again. It sometimes happens that the big guardsmen are in the water practicing swimming drill; and on more than one occasion the Crown Prince, who had no objection to a practical joke, has silently swam up to some big, clumsy fellow, who seemed not to be quite at home in the water, and, seizing him by the back of the neck, has given him a ducking.

One morning he caught, in this way, several of the colossal Grenadiers of the First Regiment—the regiment in which he had served his military apprenticeship—and as he paddled round, he cried out:

"Now you may try it on me, if you can."

No sooner had he said the words than a great hand closed on his neck like a vice, down he went. Again and again he was ducked, till he was obliged to use what little breath he had left to cry out that he had "more than enough." No sooner had he cleared his eyes of water than he turned to look at his assailant, a colossal Grenadier, and asked him his name.

"Schott, Imperial Highness," was the answer. "Whence do you come?" "From Nimmersett" (a village on the distant frontier of East Prussia).

"How long have you served?"

"Two years, Imperial Highness."

"Have you had any furlough yet?"

"No, Imperial Highness; my home is too far off, and the journey costs too much money."

The prince said no more at the time, but two days later, Grenadier Schott was summoned to the regimental adjutant's office, where he was told that he had a fortnight's leave to visit his family, and that he was ordered to apply to the Court Marshal of his Imperial Highness the Crown Prince for his traveling expenses and ration-money.

INDIAN WIVES OF WHITE MEN.

According to prairie law, it is disreputable in a white man to abandon his dusky wife until she has grown too old to work for him. Then he may send her back to her tribe if he so elect. The obligation upon the wife is different. She may not desert her husband for another white man, but she may leave him for an Indian who wants to marry her, provided she have no children. If a squaw desires to abandon her husband, the Indian of her choice must pay back the price originally paid to her mother. He may abate no jot or tittle, and it is in such payment that the divorce is perfected. She then becomes a single woman, free to marry, but she cannot live in the vicinity inhabited by her former husband.

It isn't loud praying that counts with the Lord so much as giving four quarts for every gallon, sixteen ounces for a pound, and thirty-six inches to the yard; in fact, doing to others as we would be done by.

Woman among savages is a beast of burden; in Asia she is a piece of furniture; in Europe she is a spoiled child; in America she is a compound of the last two.

TINKERING A "RELIC."

Three or four months ago, when a Detroiter returned from a long European tour, he brought with him, among other relics, a clock purchased at a pawnshop in Paris and believed to be about four hundred years old. The article was not purchased for its "time," as it had not ticked a tick for fifty years, but the case was of curious workmanship, and the whole was a relic of considerable value. It has been on exhibition in the owner's office on Larned street for the last two months, and has excited much wonderment and curiosity. The other day, while the owner was temporarily absent from his room, a traveling clock tinker made the tour of the building. Seeing the room open and the old clock off duty, he walked in with the remark:

"Man would say no if he was here, but I'll have the old machine ticking before he gets back, and if he doesn't want to come down with fifty cents, I'll take a quarter. I've passed the age when I can afford to be mean with anybody."

The clock was yanked down from its bracket, thrown on its back on the desk, and in thirty seconds a screw-driver had separated it into half a dozen pieces.

"Lots o' rust, and dust, and dirt, but I can have her ticking away like a streak of lightning in less than——"

At this moment the owner stood in the door. It took him about twenty seconds to comprehend what was occurring, and during this interval the tinker coolly observed:

"Didn't find you in, but it's all the same, I presume. I am always willing to fix a clock for a gentleman and leave the question of pay to him."

"Hold, you villain," shouted the gentleman, as soon as he could get his breath. "Great Heavens! but what have you done?"

"Took your old dust-box to pieces, oiled up several of the wheels, straightened out about a dozen kinks, and in about ten minutes more I'll have it ticking away as cheerfully as a ball's-eye watch at a husking-bee."

"Stop! stop! I command you to stop! That clock is over four hundred years old."

"Shouldn't a bit wonder, and I don't believe it has ticked twice since the battle of Waterloo."

"It was a relic—I bought it in Paris—I paid seventy-six dollars for it as a sacred relic."

"Paid too much—altogether too much; but that's a side issue. Shall I go ahead and fix her up to run?"

"No! no!"

"Won't charge you but fifty cents."

"No! no!"

"Might perhaps do it for a quarter."

"I tell you no! How dare you come in here and lay hands on my clock during my absence. I'll have you arrested."

"Don't! I'll fix her for nothing, if you won't"

The best thing the owner of the clock could do was to ask the tinker to put the parts together as they were at first. This was accomplished in five minutes' time, and as the tinker packed up his tools he humbly remarked:

"I hain't made a cent out of this job, and have lost a half an hour's time, but yet there's nothing mean about me. Gimme seventy-five cents, and I'll make that clock look to be two thousands years old in two jerks of a lamb's tail!"—Detroit Free Press.

THE INK OF THE ANCIENTS.

Under this head, the London Stationer has the following: The making of ink has, since ancient times, gone through many phases and changes. The ink of the ancients, to which we owe the conservation of many important and priceless documents, is said to have been a mixture of three parts of soot and one part of solution of gum, a composition which, in its essence, is similar to the Chinese ink, and which (taking into account the porosity of the paper written on) is able to account for its indelibility and good preservation of all writing committed to its keeping. The MSS. of the first century of our era still remain clearer than those which were written long subsequently. The writings of later days are not nearly so clear, and are even in some cases already illegible, because when they were written makers had already begun to fabricate paper from linen rags, and to press the sheet of pulp into greater consistency. The paper being less porous, the ink did not penetrate, but rested on the surface; and, subsequently, a new evil was added; the ink was changed in its composition by the employment of other agents than simple soot. So that by the less compactness of the paper used by our forefathers, and the greater purity of their ink, the writing entered the paper, becoming a part thereof, each lending to the other's endurance; while now the thinner fluid we employ lies on the surface of the paper, is acted on by the air, and both ink and paper perish together in a lamentably short period. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

The French papers announce the discovery of a remedy, instantaneous in its efficacy, for burns occasioned by oil of vitriol. A soft paste of calcined magnesia and water, with which the parts burned are covered to the thickness of an inch. The pain is almost immediately alleviated, and after a few hours, when the paste is removed, no scar remains.

A memory is the granary of the mind and of experience.

Want of good sense is the worst kind of poverty.

Boys' Pocket Knives, 15 and 25 cts., at Peabody's.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent

CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificial Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds: Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,

LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MRS M. E. HUTCHINSON. MISS N. P. LEACH

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Monroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address.

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,

apl13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M. 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 P M Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM

North Conway—7 50, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 26 P M

Great Falls—7 57, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05, 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 30, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 30AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40, 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 36 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45 7 28 P M

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN,
Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11 00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.60 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6,9 AM., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6.15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL,
Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 45 A. M.
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M.
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflammation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K MAYO.

237 TREMONT ST BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will sure cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is raising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS.

75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It is not only efficacious for rheumatism, but for strains, sprains, etc. It can not be recommended too highly as a family liniment. C. H. LEWIS.

It always relieves Neuralgia and if the application is continued a cure can be dependedupon.

[From Hon. A. Maynard, the extensive manufacturer and founder of the town of Maynard.]

ASSABET MILLS,
MAYNARD, Mass., Aug 24, 1880.

I gladly add my testimony to the value of the Shaker Liniment in case of Neuralgia and Rheumatism. By its use I obtained almost immediate relief, and unhesitatingly recommend it to my friends.

A. MAYNARD.

PRICE 50 CENTS.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES

GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO.,

Boston Wholesale Agents

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

☞ Women with pale, colorless faces who feel weak and discouraged, will receive both mental and bodily vigor by using Carter's Iron Pills, which are made for the blood, nerves and complexion.

A Salem man, the father of a large family, calls his flour barrel Maud S., because it goes so fast.

☞ ONE MOMENT, PLEASE.—When winter is passing into summer, and summer into winter again, your health should be especially looked to. The humors which have accumulated in your blood should be cleansed away, and your system toned up to guard against bilious fever, or other sickness peculiar to the change of season. Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will do this for you to perfection. Get a bottle now and begin using it at once. A long fit of sickness and a long doctor's bill may be the penalty of neglect. If your druggist hasn't it, write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y. Price $1.00.
aug17—3w

John A. Putnam sold at auction on Tuesday the John Daly estate on Newbury street, to Chas. S. Osgood of Salem, for $1475. Mr. Osgood is the Register of Deeds at Salem, and is to move here and occupy the premises, which will give our town another good citizen. —Danvers Mirror.

☞ Prompt relief in sick headache, dizziness, nausea, constipation, pain in the side, etc., guaranteed to those using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One pill a dose. 25 cents.

One quart of cheap whiskey, the cheaper the better, judiciously applied, will do more business for Satan than the smartest deacon he has got.

☞ WOMEN WHO SUFFER.—The greatest sufferers in the world are women; their delicate organization being peculiarly susceptible to derangement and disease. Among those who have been cured by Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" we will name Mrs. S. A. McIlwain of Fergusonville, N. Y., Mrs. John F. Brinkerhoff, Highland, N. Y., Mrs. Edward Meyers of Rondout, N. Y., and many others. "Favorite Remedy" purifies the blood, invigorates the system, and fortifies it against the disease. All druggists have it. aug17—3w

THE USE OF BEER DISCONTINUED. At the annual meeting of the North Wales Counties Lunatic Asylum, held in Bangor, 1881, the medical superintendent reported that the use of beer had been entirely discontinued, with no bad result to the patients, either mentally or bodily.—Medical Times and Gazette.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS, ETC.—One of the great manufacturing interests of Boston, is the Emerson Piano company, whose pianos are used with high appreciation and satisfaction throughout the world. In a recent conversation with Mr. Jos. Gramer, one of the proprietors, that gentleman remarked: I have used that splendid remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, in my family, and found it to be so beneficial that I will never be without it. It has cured me of a severe case of rheumatism, after other remedies had failed.—St. Louis Western Watchman.

From official returns from the Department of the Interior we learn that there are in the United States 2,830 breweries, 5,652 distilleries, and 175,266 places where intoxicating drinks are sold. We suppose that this 175,000 places does not include all drug-stores and groceries that are licensed to sell liquors, and sell them in large quantities. It is estimated that the manufacture and use of all this liquor involve a direct outlay and waste of not less than $7,000,000, and that it costs the country at least $700,000,000 more to take care of the criminals and paupers that are the direct result of intoxication.

☞ In active pursuit of pleasure or gain, the inestimable blessing of health is too often forgotten until disease is firmly seated, and the fact only realized by great bodily and mental suffering. The Liver is the most vulnerable point in most persons, and the disarrangement of the organ involves almost the whole system; hence, the reason why under the Liver disease there is enumerated such a number of afflictions, and we claim the Simmons' Liver Regulator to be a remedy for them all. aug24

A FRIEND in California thus writes: My son and a brother M. D. (a great man in two senses of the word) were standing near their offices. I stepped up and said, "Doctor, I want you to subscribe to a Temperance paper, conducted by one of the first ladies in the United States." "What! me subscribe to a Temperance paper! Why if people patronized Temperance, what would become of us?" and turning to his companion, he added, "Why, Doctor we might take in our signs."—Our Union.

HON. S. H. YODER'S POSITION.—A representative man's opinion on other than political matters, is often of great use to his constituency. The Hon. S. H. Yoder, of Globe Mills, Pa., has thus recorded his opinion on a subject of public interest. I have been selling St. Jacobs Oil for the last year. I have never heard a person speak of it, except as a splendid medicine, and as the great specific for rheumatic affectations, whether inflamatory, acute or chronic, swellings, sores, sprains, burns, wounds, etc. I sell more St. Jacobs Oil than of any other kind of liniment, and it gives universal satisfaction. I will always keep it on hand. The farmers say, that for man or beast, they find nothing to equal it.—Des Moines Iowa State Register.

AN UNPLEASANT SITUATION.

In illustration of the disagreeable state of affairs prevailing in St. Petersburg, the Cologne Gazette's resident correspondent in that city reports the following extraordinary incident. A few days ago a young artillery officer, in full uniform, and wearing spectacles, was walking up the Nevsky-Perspective when a police-sergeant stopped him, and standing face to face with him, held him with his glittering eye for several seconds, as though engaged in taking an inventory of his features and raiment.

"What do you want with me?" asked the officer.

"You seem to me a very suspicious person," was the reply, "and not at all like a military man. You wear spectacles."

"That," rejoined the officer, "happens to be because, without spectacles, I cannot see."

"That is not the question. In such times as these, you would have done better to have left your spectacles at home."

"But, pray, observe, I am in uniform."

"There is nothing in that. Anybody can dress himself up in uniform."

"Well, then, perhaps you will be so good as to accompany me to my quarters, where you can satisfy myself as to my identity."

This the zealous police official consented to do. Meanwhile a large crowd of threatening aspect had gathered round the interlocutors; and, had the young officer lost his presence of mind or, still worse, his temper, he would in all probability have have been torn to pieces, on the merest suspicion that he might be a Nihilist in disguise. Under these circumstances, St. Petersburg would seem to be a singularly unpleasant city to reside in just now.

EGYPTIAN OPPRESSION.

It is knowledge which makes the difference between the citizen of the United States and the inhabitant of any of the old countries of the East, where superstition quenches useful thought, and tyranny crushes out the spirit of freedom.

Not many years ago, a Pacha of Egypt ordered that the male population of a certain district should be set to clear out one of the ancient canals which had become filled up with mud. The people had no tools to do the work with, and the Pacha gave them none; he chose, rather, to supply this deficiency by an increased number of laborers, He ordered out fifty thousand men; they had to plunge up to their knees in the filthiest slime, and to bale it out with their hands alone. The only remuneration they received for this work was their food and drink; and this was of a quality proportioned to the profitableness of the labor they performed; it consisted of horse-beans and water.

During the first year more than thirty thousand of these unhappy people perished. A small company of skilled workmen, with engines and machines for scooping out the mud and pumping out the filthy water, could have effected more in a single hour than these fifty thousand men could in a whole week; but the tyrant did not possess any of these powerful artificial aids; men, to him, were cheaper even than scoops and shovels. Still, the feeding of so many on horse-beans alone was more expensive than the employment of steam-engines.

POMPEII.

One of the most interesting features of the excavations in this buried city is the discovery of many homely domestic articles of which we have counterparts. It is astonishing how many things in common use now were in use then. You will see almost every kitchen utensil, portable cooking-stoves, jelly-cake, and butter-moulds in the imitation of birds and flowers, pots, kettles, crocks, dishes, cups and saucers, spoons, knives and forks, dippers, skimmers, sauce-pans, frying-pans, lamps, lamp stands, flesh hooks, braziers for charcoal. Pretty much every kitchen, dining-room, or chamber article found in modern use entered into Roman daily life. All the articles of a lady's toilet, including jewelry of all kinds, gold and silver ornaments, corals, and precious stones, were found in the houses of Pompeii. Taken from the retail shops were steelyards, balances, weights and measures. From a doctor's office was recovered a full set of surgical instruments, including "pulikins" for extracting teeth, and trepans for drilling holes in the skull. There is any number of shoemaker, tailor, carpenter, and blacksmith tools, and, indeed, implements of almost every present mechanical operation.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

The Newburyport (Mass.) Herald relates the following: "An Oldtown farmer recently sent his man to the meadows for a load of hay. In due time the farmer was surprised to see his help come into the yard, gravely driving a team of oxen, pulling behind them the tongue of a cart. "Where in nature's name is your load of hay?" called out the astonished farmer. The man looked behind, recovered from a deep fit of abstraction, and appeared dumbfounded. It was utterly inexplicable to him. Finally, looking down the road about half a mile, there was the hay where it had halted when the tongue pulled out. We should call this a remarkable case of absent-mindedness, and the man wasn't deaf, neither.

A negro maniac startled out at St. James, La., brandishing a long knife, and declaring that he had been deputed by heaven to kill everybody. He stabbed four persons in going as many miles.

The error of a moment becomes the sorrow of a whole life.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

DOGS IN LITERATURE.

Macaulay's definition of a dog as "an animal that only spoiled conversation" is quite characteristic of that eminent and, withal, monopolizing talker, who would most unreservedly have indorsed the parody, "One man's pet is another man's nuisance." But Goethe's feelings had passed the bounds of boredom; dogs were an abhorrence to him; their barking drove him to distraction. Mr. Lewes tells us of the poet's troubles as theatrical manager at Weimar, when the cabal against him had craftily persuaded the Duke Carl August, whose fondness for dogs was as remarkable as Goethe's aversion to them, to invite to his capital the comedian Karsten and his poodle, which had been performing, amid the enthusiastic acclamations of Paris and Germany, the leading part in the melo-drama of "The Dog of Montargis." Goethe, being apprised of this project, haughtily replied: "One of our theatre regulations stands, 'No dogs admitted on the stage;'" and thus dismissed the subject. But the invitation had already gone, and the dog arrived. After the first rehearsal Goethe gave his Highness the choice between the dog and his Highness's then stage manager; and the Duke, angry at his opposition, severed a long friendship by a most offensive letter of dismissal. He quickly, however, came to his senses, and, repenting of his petulance, wrote to the poet in a most conciliatory tone; but, though the cloud passed away, no entreaty could ever induce Goethe to resume his post. Alfred de Musset's dislike of dogs was intensified by unfortunate experience, for twice in his life a dog had gone near to wreck his prospects, once, when, at a royal hunting party, he blunderingly shot Louis Phillippe's pointer; and again when, as a candidate for the Academy, he was paying the customary visit of ceremony to an influential immortal. Just as he rang at the chateau gate, an ugly, muddy whelp rushed joyously and noisily to greet him, fawning upon the poet's new and dainty costume. Reluctant to draw any distinction of courtesy, at such a time, between the Academician and his dog, he had no alternative but to accept the slimy caresses, and the escort of the animal into the salon. The embarrassment of his host he accounted for by the barely defensible behavior of his pet, but when the dog, having followed them into the dining-room, placed two muddy paws upon the cloth and seized the wing of a cold chicken, De Musset's suppressed wrath found relief in the reserved suggestion, "You are fond of dogs, I see." "Fond of dogs!" echoed the Academician, "I hate dogs." "But this animal here?" ventured De Musset. "I have borne with the beast," was the reply, "only because it is yours." "Mine?" cried the poet, "I thought it was yours, which was all that prevented me from killing him." The two men shouted with laughter; De Musset gained a friend; but the dog and his kind an enemy more bitter than before. —Temple Bar.

UNFREQUENTED PARIS.

Like all of the out-of-the-way parts of Paris, Quartier des Epinettes is lighted by oil lamps, slung on wires across the street, or hanging at the desolate corners from a sort of wooden gallows. The back streets of this quarter (chiefly composed of low stone huts with flat red tile roof) have a great resemblance to the old streets and lanes of the southern French towns—a resemblance which is not a little strengthened by the unsavory odors which prevail in this unfortunate district, which has acquired the worst reputation for villainy of any in Paris. Nor is this to be wondered at. The endless labyrinths of small passages, the rambling houses with half a dozen entrances, and the numerous courts or "cites" which abound on all sides, make it a splendid place to hide in, or to escape from if pursued. These "cites" are many of them of recent construction, and certainly reflect no credit on the persons who suffered them to be built. The space between what must by courtesy be called the houses, although they are far more like cattle-stalls, rarely exceeds four feet. No provision of any sort whatever exists for drainage, and here on either side of the footway some of the most abandoned ruffians of Paris may be seen in the day time taking their ease in their chosen abode—which they mostly do in sunshiny weather by lying on their backs on the floors of their dens with their feet projecting through the doors—forming an avenue of boots which might be monotonous to the eye of a spectator but for the interposition of a bare foot or two. As a rule, they seem to be left completely to their own devices—the Police contenting themselves with making a raid in force from time to time, on which occasion the Sergents de ville pay dearly for such victories as they may win. In a recent attack on the Cite Villa des Fleurs, the members of that body which M. Victor Hugo abhors barely escaped with their lives.—The Saturday Review.

When the new roof was being placed on the old home of President Lincoln at Springfield, a young lad purchased the old shingles at five cents a wheel-barrow load. The boy then bought a scroll saw, and has since that time been employing his time in making ornaments from those old shingles. He is now selling them at from fifty cents to $1 a piece. If that boy lives he'll own a railroad.

A headstrong man and a fool may wear the same cap.

He who foresees calamities suffers them twice over.

Large Japanese Fan for 1 cent, at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache. Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.
No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
TRADE MARK.
We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.
☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill at a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION
We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.
INDUCEMENTS:
Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST
SALEM, MASS

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

George Osborne,	Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney,	Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen,	George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.

John A. Lord,	George S. Osborne.
Amos Merrill,	Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little,	Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren,	Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill,	Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn,	John Pinder.

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.
Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.
New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.
Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS, CHROMOS, OIL PAINTINGS, WIRE PICTURE CORD, NAILS AND KNOBS.
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, ESQ.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicits, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.
A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs, because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.
STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS.

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
PEABODY, MASS.

Vacation Rambles.

JACKSON, N. H., Aug. 27.
THORN MOUNTAIN HOUSE.

Jackson is a very pretty little village of about 800 inhabitants in the winter, but about twice that number now. We think nearly all the cottages in town are used by the hotels to lodge their guests when they do not have room in the hotels. The Thorn Mountain House is said to be the best kept house in town, and we think that saying is true, for we like here very much. The hotel is in a beautifully situated place; broad piazzas extend all around it. Dirrectly in front of the house is a fine lawn, oblong in shape, and about 150 feet long by 50 feet wide, a fine place for lawn tennis and croquet. Just beyond the road the Ellis River goes tumbling over the rocks, and we hear the noise of the falling water over the Jackson Falls, a few rods above, all the time, night and day; it is a soothing, restful sound and we enjoy it very much. Directly in front of the house, but about a mile away, is the Thorn Mountain and Thorn Hill, and from the different sides of the house we can see Kearsarge, the Moat, Camel's Hump, Giant Stairs, Eagle, Black Mountain, and many others. M. C. Wentworth, our genial landlord, is the right man in the right place. His pleasant face and cordial greeting make his guests feel at home at once, and sorry to leave when the time arrives that calls them away. The guests of the house seem to be very nice, quiet people, many of them from New York and Philadelphia. We have lots of fun here; one evening there was a bonfire and fireworks at the Artists' Retreat, a beautiful place just above Jackson Falls. The river rushes along here over the great rocks, the fireworks lighted up the place and made beautiful lights and shadows amid the trees, making, with the moving figures of ladies and gentlemen on the shore, a picture not soon to be forgotten. One day we had a very amusing game on the lawn front of the house. A stake was driven into the ground, and the game was to blindfold one person at a time, they to take hold of the handles of a wheelbarrow and wheel it around a small tree about 50 feet away, and then back to the stake, not letting go of the handles until they think they are back; then the one who gets the nearest when they drop the barrow wins the prize. There were thirty-three who tried it—men, women and children, from 80 down to 10 years old. Only twelve went round the tree, some went off a long distance in the wrong direction, and were very much surprised when the handkerchief was taken from their eyes. One man went almost over to the river. A man acts as judge and measures the distance of those who come near the stake on the return, and another goes round with them, so that no harm can come to them. Those looking on enjoyed it very much and were already to applaud those who did well. A bright boy of about 12 years of age, named Frank Andrews, won the box of candy, and then two young ladies wheeled him around the lawn in the wheelbarrow, amid the cheers and clapping of the crowd. Try it, and you will find it rare sport. One of our party was the fifth best in this, and two of the others failed to go around the tree. One evening about twenty of the ladies and gentlemen rigged up in sheets and pillow cases and danced and sang in the parlor, and then went over to the Jackson Falls House, where they were kindly received. Last evening a Mr. Williams read selections in the parlor, some of which were very good.

"Does it pay?" The question comes from one of the ladies of our little party. The story is this: The two gents of the party are pretty steady fellows as the world goes, but are very fond of trout fishing; so yesterday they laid their plans for an excursion to some distant brook where there once lived some of the spotted fish men are so anxious to catch. So after a somewhat troubled sleep, we were disturbed by a rap on the door at 5 30, and jumping into the worst suit of clothes we could find, and taking a hasty breakfast, we step gaily into the easy riding buck board and are away over the hills, five miles or more, where we are to find a guide ready for us and then take to the woods. Alas! for the success of our much talked of fishing, we reach the guide's house, but the man has gone with some other party, so his wife says. Somebody else hints that he sometimes takes a glass too much and may not be in condition to go. After a little delay we persuade his son, a boy about 12 years of age, to go with us, first digging the worms, for we are not much on fly fishing. This part being well done, we start on a tramp through the woods about two miles and a half. The path (so called) took us over some mud holes except that one of us went under a short distance by mistake. I know which one, as the mud was wet and cold. We saw the track of a deer on the way, and also one small snake. After a warm walk we arrived at the brook, which was a little one, and we had some doubt if it was very full of trout but were hopeful, baited our hooks and commenced operations, but no fish, except some very small ones (whom we gently put back to grow larger), seemed to be ready to bite our hooks, but as we were old fishermen we only pushed on down the brook. The mosquitoes and black flies were very plenty, and they seemed to like us, especially my friend, who was more tender, he being the younger, and they stuck to him closer than a brother. We went on jumping from rock to rock, some of the rocks were slippery, and after holding out both hands encumbered somewhat with fishpole, basket, etc., we would decide not to remain on that rock and drop as gently as possible into the water, and very soon we found our feet were wet, in fact, very wet. Occasionally we would get a fair sized trout to encourage us on our way; then the rocks would be so far apart that we were driven to try the shore where the bushes were so thick that our lines would get caught, and the insects improved the time while we disentangled our line singing a little song and presenting their bills. But to cut my story short, after fishing about four or five hours we left, bidding good-bye to the brook and the mosquitoes, for they are only in the woods, and we have not seen one at the hotel. We take an account of stock, and find we have about forty small trout, and are wet, hungry, tired and dirty. Compensations: we had a splendid ride in the cool of the morning, fine views of the beautiful mountains around us, Mt. Washington and many others in the distance. The air was fragrant and sweet from the spruce and pine, the brook was beautiful as it came tumbling down the side of the mountain, dashing around the smooth rocks, the eddies in the little pools, the sparkling cold water with the gentle, gurgling sound, was a source of pleasure to us. "Did it pay?" Well, as the boys say, we give it up; ask us something easier. B. F. S.

MR. EDITOR,—The wise man says "that a fool uttereth all his mind, but a wise man keepeth it in till afterwards." But this depends upon circumstances, or the subject on which his thoughts rests. If the subject be one far beyond his comprehension, or one upon which he has spent but little time or study, of course he ought not to attempt to say a great deal—had better keep silence. He might tell all he knows in a short space of time, then halt, and listen to what one may utter that knows more. Or, under some circumstances, he might keep in reserve what he does know; at a fitter time it would be more pertinent. True oratory, Pliny says, requires an occasional pause.

But suppose an individual is placed in a condition like the following: He is in the House of God on the Sabbath, with many others, to listen to the instructions of one who has been set apart for that purpose, laying down the rule of action that every one should adopt the moral principle upon which his whole life should be based, advocating a proper observance of the Lord's Day, where prayer for the peace of society is offered, and backed up by the promise that "they who love it shall prosper;" suppose under such circumstances the bell of a steam engine near by is kept ringing, the steam pipes belching, accompanied by the constant noise of iron shovels in the removal of coal; under such circumstances we ask, would not the wise man regard him a fool if he refrained from saying anything against it? Such a disturbance on the Lord's day is very aggravating, and those that make it are like the "partridge that setteth on eggs and hatcheth them not; they get riches but not by right; they leave them in the midst of their days, and their end is that of fools."

Cudworth truly says: "Some of the sons of Adam are as busy now as even himself was about the tree of good and evil, shaking the boughs of it and scrambling for the fruit;" altogether too unmindful of the "tree of life."

J. P.

WHERE JOSHUA WHITCOMB WAS FOUND.—"But where did you get your idea of 'Uncle Josh?'" interrogated the scribe.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Thompson; "I must tell you about that. The character is taken from two men I have known for years, and who lived at Swanzey, N. H. The serious side of the role is modeled from Joshua Holbrook, a sturdy, sedate farmer, who had rather singular ideas about regulating the world to make it conform to his ideas. The humorous portion of the character was taken from Capt. Otis Whitcomb, a quaint humorous old Swanzey farmer, who is still living, and who went to Boston and saw himself mimicked on the stage as others see him. Nearly all the other characters are also taken from Swanzey people, and when played there they all came and saw the play, and were delighted except Cy Prime, who solemnly declared he never told a lie in his life.

"I have purchased the eleven-acre plot of ground at Swanzey, where my mother was born, and have erected a home upon it that cost $20,000. This is, of course, the dearest place on earth to me, and here my wife, two daughters and a son live. I spend my three summer months there, and there I am going when the people get tired of 'Uncle Josh,'" and pass the remainder of my days. Father and mother still live there and the former is seventy-five years of age. He is also an ideal Yankee. He came to Chicago last winter to see me, and enjoyed the trip hugely. He is just as much out of place in the city as a rail fence is, but he has a good head for business yet. Said he to me at parting:—'Denman, you take my advice; you let Mr. Hill do the figgerin' and you do the cuttin' up on the stage.' That's him all over."

HOWORTH'S GRAND HIBERNICA.—This entertainment which has exhibited in our city the past two evenings, has drawn the largest houses of the season, and better satisfied audiences than were present on the occasions have seldom left the Academy of Music. We have no hesitation in saying this is the best show of the kind, both in talent of the company and quality of scenery, that has ever visited Scranton.—Scranton Republican.

The Selectmen of Franconia, N. H., in token of the public respect and sympathy with President Garfield, have changed the name of the mountain known as "Haystack," next adjoining Mount Lafayette in the White Mountain range, to Mount Garfield. The change is favorably received in the vicinity.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Peabody, Mch. 17, by Rev. J. W. Colwell, Mr. Rufus L. Richardson of Sackville, N. B., to Miss Hattie R. Marsh.

Aug. 23, Mr. William F. Wiggin to Miss Hannah A. Tudbury,

In Danvers, Aug. 8, by Rev. Mr. Hambleton, Mr. Austin P. Waite to Miss Ida M. Chick.

In Salem, 25th, by Rev. Mr. Towne, Mr. Francis W. White to Mrs. Emma S. Lint; by Rev. Mr. Wilson, Mr. William H. Farrington to Miss Anvilla E. Marshfield.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 13, James F., son of Cornelias and Elizabeth Kennedy, 5 mos. 10 dys.

14th, Annie, daughter of James and Mary Lane, 5 mos.

23d. Edward, son of Timothy and Catharine Cunningham, 6 mos. 2 days.

In Salem, 25th, Mrs. Susan, widow of Capt. Michael Wheeler, 79 yrs. 10 mos.; 28th, Miss Olla Ann Dodge, 51 yrs. 5 mos; 23d, Mr. Joseph S. Rowe, 56 yrs. 1 mo. 23 days; 24th, Hannah M. Osgood, widow of John B. Osgood, 87 yrs. 4 mos. 5 mos.

FINE STATIONERY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,
IN GREAT VARIETY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,
—AT—
SWAIN'S,
220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION.
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA.
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.
Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celbrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.
From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.
From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.
From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE,
—AT THE—
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thur day,
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

HOTEL.
LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,
SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.
Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2.00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m. Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

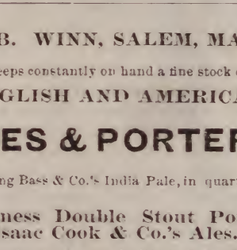
THURSDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ISLES OF SHOALS.
Returns at 7. Fare $1.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, AT 10 A. M.
ALONG THE NORTH SHORE.

SUNDAY, 10 A. M.
PROVINCETOWN.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.



On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A. M. and 5 P. M. daily.
The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.
Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.
Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1.00.
Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.
Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.
For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.
je 8

NOTICE.
The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.
aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
—AND—
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL.
MIACOMET.
WORLD'S HAXALL.
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail. CHARLES A. ROHES, 41 to 47 Central street.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.
Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges. (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.
Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.
We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.
D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

FRESH ARRIVAL.
Shortly before the rise in BLACK WALNUT, WE ORDERED 200 BLACK WALNUT CHAMBER SETS, which have now arrived, and have been placed in our storehouse. Being too late for our Spring Trade, we propose to offer them at the low price of $45.
Either for cash or by our system of
INSTALMENTS.
These sets COMPRISE TEN PIECES. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c.; are handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the marble is the BEST ITALIAN, and the Walnut is warranted Kiln Dried. The regular Prices for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55. That small incomes may be no bar to obtaining one of these beautiful and useful articles of Furniture, we propose to give purchasers
EIGHT MONTHS
in which to pay for them on instalments. In face of the fact that WALNUT is RAPIDLY ADVANCING, we advise everybody in want of a Walnut Set, whether for present or future use, to purchase one of these sets, as the opportunity for so great a bargain may never occur again. Catalogue of household goods and terms furnished to parties living anywhere in New England. Orders by mail promptly attended to.
Attention is called to our stock of the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE Improved Wire-Gauze, Non-Explosive
OIL STOVE,
Which we offer for $4. They are the only Stoves sold that are PRONOUNCED ABSOLUTELY SAFE by the Insurance Commissioners. Be sure and see them in full operation at our establishment. Price List and terms on Instalments furnished on application.
The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on Instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.
W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.
apr 6—6 m

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.
We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a
First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.
Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.
Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.
Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.
NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

DINING SALOON.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.
Meals Served at All Hours.
A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central St. Salem.
ust 27

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 7, 1881. NO. 37.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
Jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 Allen's Block.
PEABODY, MASS.
Jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. Allen's Block, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
uel t jt

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. jt1

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY.
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

The Peabody Press.

The Greenbacker's Dream.

At about that season of the year
When the days are short and leaves aresere
And politicians begin to plan
To love and enchre their fellow man,
And never forget to stop and talk
With all whom they meet upon their walk,
Speaking in tones which appear to be
The result of heartfelt sympathy;
Although whenever the die is cast,
These self same dupes they will hurry past.
At about this time, as I will tell,
In a town two miles from Salem's smell,
Jimmy reclined in his office chair,
His office which overlooked the square,
Or would have looked if there hadn't been
An insurance office in between.
He sat and he mused awhile and then
Taking from off his desk a pen,
And a sheet of paper large and white,
Again and again his name did write,
In letters not over bold and free,
Ending each time with a large J. P.
Then rising and speaking very loud,
As though addressing a public crowd,
He said, "I think that at last my name
Is bound to shine with title and fame,
For whether to me comes weal or woe,
My title, J. P., will hold, I know."
Then gazing around with a lordly air,
Sank with dignity into his chair;
And looking over a list of names,
Michael and Thomas, Patrick and James,
'Twas thus he mused—"Things are working well.
It looks as though we'd give them a heal-Thy old pull when election day comes,
If the boys don't have too many bums,
And there isn't too big a sum to pay
For taxes of those who make delay.
And I, who have taken so much pain,
And have done so much for love, not gain,
By right ought to be remembered sure
With something that pays a little more
Than I'm getting just now, but I will wait
In patience until the turn of fate.
We can't run the town until spring again.
So we must improve the fall campaign.
If merit received its proper due,
And I'd the votes which are needed, too,
I'd go to the House an R. E. P.,
Which much, I'm sure, would satisfy me.
But then there's Ed who is rushing round,
Buzzing the faithful all over town,
Pulling the wires with vigor firm;
He is bound to receive a second term.
There's some of the boys do say, I know,
Some other man should be picked to go.
But Ed's a tearer, and they will find
That when he has once made up his mind
And the lines are drawn, they must fall in and do as he says if they would win.
And then there is Sid, he'd like to go
To Boston this winter, as all know.
It beats the Dutch what persuasive ways
That man has got in all he says.
The boys will bounce him then come round
And bow before him to the ground.
There's Johnny, he had ambitious schemes
Which all are vanished like morning dreams
And after this time I think that he Will devote his thought to machinery.
I kind of thought our good friend Frank
Would give a turn on our little crank,
For he surely led us very well
On that night of which we love to tell,
When in the caucus with beaming eye,
We smote the Republicans hip and thigh.
But some of the boys are getting to think
He's rather euchered them on their drink.
We never can run this town, 'tis clear,
Without a proper supply of beer.
I know we're whipped beyond a doubt
If all the old gentlemen will come out,
But we'll keep working and hope that day
'Twill rain so hard they will stay away.
'Twould be nice if such a thing could be,
To have a little more harmony.
But the only point we all approve
Is, take the places of those we remove.
I wish our convention might have met
Without a row at the very offset,
The platform, made rather more concise,
And, on some points, rather more precise.
But defeat in State we'll bear quite well
If only our numbers we can swell
So as to get control of the town,
And parcel all the offices round.
We can't please all—it's no use to try,
There's such a craving to satisfy,
But then we fellows who take the lead
Of course will get about what we need.
But I suppose it isn't well
To count on poultry still in the shell.
We'll work and wait and gather 'em in,
And every place that we stick a pin
We'll try to hold—and then wait and see
What luck on election day may be."
He put up his paper, threw down his pen,
Drew quite a long sigh of doubt and then Went out of the office—shut the door,
Turned round a corner—was seen no more.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'. —Adv.

Vacation Rambles.

OAK HILL HOUSE, Littleton, N.H. Sept. 1st, 1881.

MESSRS. EDITORS, — We are now stopping at this pleasant summer hotel, on one of the highest elevations in the village, commanding the finest view of the country for miles around. The hotel is kept by Mr. George Farr, was built some eight years ago, and is the resort of many travelers who are afflicted with hay fever, and who have made this house their home every season since it was opened. We found many people from Boston, among them Mr. Angell and family, the President of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Mr. C. A. Aldrich and family, besides many others from New York, Pennsylvania and elsewhere. Mr. Farr keeps a first-class hotel at very moderate rates. Good board and rooms can be had for from $8 to $12 a week, and the number of applications for summer residence there is more than the capacity of his house. Next season it is his intention to enlarge his hotel, building out about sixty feet, making a new parlor, reception and dining room, and enabling him to accommodate 125 guests. There are no mosquitoes on the hill at any time; every evening, no matter how hot and sultry the day, it is cool and refreshing here, and the cordial and genial landlord makes his guests at once at home to all the privileges of his house.

On the last day of our visit here we were invited to visit the large manufactory of the LITTLETON SARANAC BUCK GLOVE COMPANY, owned by Messrs. IRA PARKER & CO. We had seen the gloves, of the finest and best quality, on sale at our prominent furnishing stores, but we had no idea of the variety, extent and wonderful system of manufacture which we witnessed in the inspection of the various departments through which we were conducted by Mr. Parker in person. Mr. Parker came to this town about eleven years ago, and commenced the manufacture of these gloves in a small way. By the old method of tanning the skins from which gloves are made, the grain was removed, and thus much of the strength and real value destroyed. Attempts have been made to obviate this, but without success, until Mr. Parker conceived the idea of employing what is known as the Page patent in the tanning of his skins for making the gloves, and he was the first one to employ the patent for such a purpose. It renders the skins superior in every way—the grain is left on—and this is one of the secrets of the success of these goods over all others in the market. Mr. Parker at first did all the work of tanning in a small vat two by five feet, and manufacturing the gloves in a small room. He introduced the goods personally to the consumer and dealer, and the actual merit of the goods has brought them into such favor, and so great is the demand for them throughout the country, that a large manufactory, employing about 250 men and women in the shop and giving employment outside to about two thousand women, is scarcely adequate to meet the wants of the trade.

For the past two years the company has occupied a large four story building situated on the Ammonoosac river, which was formerly an old woolen mill. It has been refitted entirely to the wants of the business, the best water power in the village being their at command, and the steam power for the drying rooms and other purposes being furnished by an eighty horse power Swampscott boiler, made in So. Newmarket, N. H. The entire work of the manufactory is done under the direct supervision of Mr. Parker. The skins are first limed, tanned by the Page patent and finished, any detailed description of which would be superfluous to your readers, who are so familiar, in the town of leather manufactories, with all its branches. The two large drying rooms in the upper lofts of the building are heated by steam, are 120x45, and have each 2000 feet of pipes running through them. After the skins are finished, they are given out to be cut into gloves. This is a separate department, and in charge of competent workmen who have served their apprenticeship in the old country, and who thoroughly understand glove making in all its details. So perfect is the system pursued by Mr. Parker that all the skins are measured before being given out to the several cutters, and it was with pleasure that we noticed in use here one of the measuring machines of DAVID T. WINTER, of Peabody, and to hear the high terms of praise with which Mr. Parker spoke of it. Some of the lighter skins are cut by hand, but most of the cutting is now done by dies, both the skins and the knit wool, and lamb's wool linings, which are a part of the heavier grade of gloves. The gloves are now done up in dozens, carefully sized and properly assorted, and are given out to be made by the several thousand women in the vicinity. Here again everything is charged and under the supervision of a man who has entire control of this part of the work. The fingers of all the gloves are sewed by hand, and after being made, are returned to the factory, where they are finished up, fancy stitching put on the backs of some of them, when they are ready for packing in the boxes for shipment. Every pair of these gloves has affixed to it a patent glove buttoner, the invention of one of their employees, and which they control, their stamp Saranac being upon the buttoner, and also upon every pair of gloves made by them. A separate room is used for the packing and shipping, the pasteboard boxes in which each dozen is placed, having their advertisement and trade mark, and the large wooden boxes in which the different lots are sent throughout the country, being made in the establishment. In the use of the water power, they run two wheels, one twelve horse power, which carries the sewing machines, the other one hundred and twenty horse power, which carries the rest of the machinery—both being turbine wheels.

Littleton has a fine water service, the Apthorp Reservoir Co., the reservoir being situated on a high hill back of the Oak Hill House, and we noted the facilities which Mr. Parker had provided throughout the establishment as a precaution in case of fire. Hose attached to this water service is ready for use on on every floor, hatchets and fire buckets are ranged in their proper places, a telegraph fire alarm connecting with Mr. Parker's room can be touched by the watchman at any hour of the night, and it would seem that every precaution in case of accident by fire had been thought of. The whole establishment is one of which Littleton should be proud, and does credit to the business ability and forethought of the able manager. Mr. Parker informs us that they will probably cut 180,000 skins this year. Truly a large business. Mr. Parker owns the ground for a large distance around the building where the manufacture of gloves is carried on, and has erected several neat and commodious cottages for the use of his employees. All the goods of this company are sold by Geo. M. Glazier in Boston, and are shipped directly from the factory. J. P. F.

MEREDITH VILLAGE, Aug. 28th, 1881.

On the morning of Friday, Aug. 26, our small party, consisting of four, left this village to visit Ossipee Park, some seventeen miles away, situated in Moultonboro' and owned by Mr. B. F. Shaw, a former resident of Peabody, and manufacturer of the "Shaw-knit" seamless stocking.

Leaving Meredith about 8 o'clock in a covered mountain wagon, with a good horse, our lunch baskets stored away under the seat, in anticipation of making a "day of it," we are soon on our journey, passing through Center Harbor with its fine residences and its two large hotels filled with summer boarders, out through Moultonboro', with its few country stores, neat farm houses and sleek cattle grazing in the fields, while the ripening harvest and well filled barns tell of the general prosperity of the people, till we reach the foot of Ossipee mountains, covered almost to the summit with the rich, dark foliage of the trees which cover them. Now we have arrived at the entrance of the private road leading to Ossipee Park. It is almost perpendicular, leading to the top of the mountain, and we are obliged to walk up this ascent while the horse struggles on with wagon and baggage. As we ascend, we catch a glimpse of a mineral spring on the right, known as Moultonboro' spring, whose curative powers have been told for years, and which is visited every year by a large number of people. After reaching the top we find ourselves on a sightly elevation. Here a stable and attendants are found, who take charge of our team, while we turn our attention to the Park. Great changes and many improvements have been wrought here since it became the property of Mr. Shaw. An admission of 25 cents is charged, and you pass through a wicket into the yard of the owner, who, with his family, is occupying a neat summer residence, which certainly looks comfortable with its broad piazza, covered with easy chairs and hammocks. The American flag floats in grandeur over this fine estate. A short distance from this house another more spacious and elaborate one is being constructed, and a large barn is also being built in the rear. We have only time to note the neat appearance of the surroundings, when we are informed by the gentleman having charge that we can "make ourselves at home." He also directed us to the observatory and the route by which to reach the falls. We were soon at the observatory, which is easily reached by a winding flight of flagstone steps, shaded by trees. It consists of wooden seats with a covered top; is 885 feet above the lake level, and about 1359 feet above the level of the sea. Here, if the day be clear, the marvelous beauty and grandeur of the scenery is unsurpassed. Lake Winnipesaukee, with its many islands, is spread out before you; peak after peak appears bursting full upon your view, while the beautiful farms with which the wild landscape is dotted is a rare sight, making a constantly changing panorama in whichever direction you turn, and deluding the tourist into the belief that they are at his feet instead of miles away. But our time is passing and we have seen but the least of the attractions of this interesting place. We retrace our steps till we come to a guide board with the words "Shawmut Avenue," "To the falls." This we follow for a third of a mile or more, sometimes leading us along under shady trees, and then out in open pasture, then along deep ravines, where the water can be heard as it rushes by. Finally we reach the first or "Veil Falls," where the water spreads itself over some twenty feet of granite, and falls a distance of twenty-six feet. We would gladly stop here and enjoy this handsome sight and rest on the cool and inviting seats built here for the weary tourist, but we know the greater attraction in the falls below and continue our journey a short distance further and find ourselves at the base of Ossipee Falls, gazing first up at the mighty rush of waters with its granite abutments on either side towering some fifty feet above our heads and then watch it pass over its stony bed till it plunges in foaming torrents in the deep pool at our feet. And as we gaze upon its unapproachable beauty and grandeur the thought forces itself upon us, "how have these waters performed their work in the world's rude history? What important parts have they borne in our early history?" And as one gazes and reflects he can but have his taste for the beautiful quickened and refined. Near the base of the falls is a large flat rock, known as table rock, on which many a meal has been eaten, and we draw forth our lunch baskets, to which our appetite responds and we do full justice to its contents.

After our lunch we retrace our steps to the avenue named "Brook Ramble Home." This is by far the pleasantest place we have yet visited; the path follows along the side of the stream above the falls and leads under overhanging rocks and great trees whose roots are visible, and it would seem that there was hardly earth enough to hold them in place, while the banks on either side are lined with beautiful fern, and you are constantly crossing and recrossing these waters on rustic bridges built over pretty cascades and miniature fountains whose waters, like sparkling gems, dash on to the calm pool beyond. As we proceed we pass the Emerald Falls, Twin Cascades, Roaring Falls, Singing Falls, Peewees Nest, etc., all of which are worthy of an extended notice had we the time. At times it seems to look ahead as if the great ledges were closed up in front of you only to open at your approach to reveal new and more startling scenes. At one point the path leads us from the waters into the woods only to bring us back to those same waters again further up the stream, where the waters from little springs nestled in the crevices of the huge ledges, send there little streams trickling down the mountain side to help swell those waters as they rush along—now in foaming torrents and again in peaceful passage to the falls below.

Once was the time this stream yielded the speckled denizens in large numbers, but now fishing is prohibited. I could take more of your space in describing more minutely this beautiful park, with its artificial fountains which blend so prettily with the natural scenery. Along this path seats have been placed by the proprietor at convenient intervals, where the visitor can rest and at the same time enjoy the grand scenery and lovely simplicity of his surroundings. But I have taken too much of your space already, and will say nothing of our pleasant drive home, feeling satisfied that the day had been delightfully spent, and advising your readers who have the opportunity not to fail to visit Ossipee Park. V.

PEABODY.

The "Greenbacker's Dream," on our first page, will be found quite interesting reading.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at their room. All are invited.

Last Monday night, while returning from Salem, Fifield & Smiley's grocery team ran into a horse-car on the corner of Essex and Elm streets, Salem, overturning both horse and team, and demolishing a wheel of the latter.

Mr. John G. Walcott has recently been assisting a gentleman named Gray of Lynn, in filling a "silo," which he has just had built. Quick time was made; 125 tons were cut and stored in 27 hours. Those interested in this work can see how it is done at Mr. Walcott's, as he has begun to cut fodder and fill his silo.

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column, a select school for young masters and misses is to be opened in No. 5 Allen's Block, on Wednesday of next week, by Miss Fernald, who has been connected with teaching in the Plummer School, Salem, for some years. Her terms are very reasonable; she teaches the English branches, languages, music and drawing, and an excellent opportunity is afforded parents who desire to place their children in a select school. Full particulars can be obtained of Gould & Stockwell, on the Square.

The following officers, to serve for the ensuing six months, were elected Monday evening at the semi-annual meeting of the Father Matthew C. T. A. Society: Spiritual Director, Rev. M. J. Masterson; Pres., John B. Mahoney; Vice-Pres., Chas. Carlon; Rec. Secy., John Cuddire; Cor. Secy., Thos. Hutchinson; Treasurer, John Motley; Collector, John Hanrahan; Librarian, John Kennedy; Directors, Richard Lyons, Timothy M. Griffin, John Carbrey, David O'Keefe, Thos. Kennedy; Board of Investigation, Jas. Fallon, Edw. Murphy. The society is in good working order, and contains some 77 members.

John E. Clement & Co. have recently built for Mr. Wm. H. Brown, the glue manufacturer, at an expense of about $1500, a 50 horse power engine, with a 30 inch stroke and a cylinder 13x30 inches. The fly wheel is 8 feet in diameter, with an 18 inch face. The engine is supplied with Water's improved governors and Dunbar's steam packing. This engine is a sample job and has been built entirely by master mechanics. So well has the work been done that it is almost impossible to see the joint under the gib. The base on which the engine rests was from Scott Bros.' ledge and weighs seven tons. Mr. Clement has also been doing considerable piping for the new 50 horse power boiler recently put in by Mr. Brown, two boilers of this size being required to furnish steam for these glue works. Everything about the engine and engine room are first-class in every respect, and, as Mr. Clothey, the foreman, said of the engine, "it is a credit to anybody."

Mary Anderson spends her afternoons at Long Branch, when not fishing or sailing, in the grounds about her cottage, which is embowered in wistaria and honeysuckle. In the mornings she canters about on her favorite mare, but never indulges in sea bathing.

In the good Old Testament days it was considered a miracle for an ass to speak, and now nothing short of a miracle will keep one quiet.

Jelly Tumblers. 50 cts. a doz., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Poet's Corner.

"Wear Out."

"Wear out!" but never let the rust
Of idleness corrode the trust
Your maker gave! your part to play
In the great drama of "To-day"
Is to deal justly; aid the weak,
Ever for right and freedom speak;
Keep burning clear Truth's beacon light,
That its soft radiance through the night
Be to the lost on life's black moor
Like Bethlehem's star that shone of yore,
To where the child Redeemer lay.

"Wear out!" 'tis nobler far to bear
On breast and brow the marks of care,
Scars of life's conflict, bravely fought,
Patents of peerage, fairly bought;
Titles to claim in the fair clime
Of those who worship Truth sublime;
E'en if your feet have trod
The narrow path that leads to God,
Avoid, as death, the scorner's seat,
Nor let his sandals press your feet.
With contrite heart, and tearful eye,
Stand still while the elect pass by!

"Wear out!" though stern your features grow,
Though raven locks be turned to snow,
On to the front! nor laggard be,
With sturdy blows come victory!
Shame on the weak, the nerveless hand
That cannot grasp Truth's shining brand,
That shrinks when from fair freedom's tower
The tocsin sounds the trial hour;
That fails when justice calls, to go
With battle axe and "bended bow,"
And prove, upon his native sod
His fealty to man and God.

Selected Story.

BERENICE.

Mrs. Chudleigh opened the door of her cottage and came out into the midst of the gloomy, freezing cold, a wistful, anxious look on her white, wan face.—Putting her thin, childish hand to her mouth, she called, "Bennie! Bennie!"

Presently there came an answer.

"Yes, mother; I am coming."

And simultaneous with the answer a sturdy little figure appeared upon the summit of an icy knoll.

"Ah, Bennie! I have been so anxious; and you are so cold."

"Not a bit; but I took a longer walk than usual. But only see the fagots; they're as clear and rich as butter!" and the sturdy little figure advanced, drawing after him a small sled, heaped with pine-knots.

The woman's wan, moonlight face lit up to absolute radiance, and a tenderness that was touching beamed from her great, blue-gray eyes as they rested on the boy—a stalwart, sturdy little fellow, robed and wrapped like an Esquimau, with white hair and an honest, manly face. Ben Chudleigh's own boy!

When they had crossed the threshold she kissed him, parting the flaxen locks on his brow. The lad blushed like a girl at her caress, and then fell to unloading his sled and heaping the fire with faggots.

"There, now, mother," he said, as the ruddy blaze shot up the broad chimney, "isn't that nice? Now you shall sit down and get real warm, and I'll make the tea; I'm such a strong fellow I never get tired."

Bennie threw on fresh fagots and got out his illuminated primer to amuse himself, while his mother did her sewing; but somehow the bright pictures failed in their usual interest. His ears were full of the sea's wild sobbing, and his blue eyes—bold, kind eyes, so like his father's—wandered furtively to his mother's face. A lovely face, fair and refined; a face that in its early bloom, when all its rare colors were unfaded, and all that superabundant gold-brown hair was in its glory, must have been very beautiful. But now, ah! so indescribably sad, so full of an undying remorse.

The lad's eyes filled with childhood's quick tears as he watched her, and his face grew solemn with a vague, doubtful wonder.

"Mother," he said at last, just the least quiver in his voice, "mother, was it all right between you and father when he went away? I've wanted to know so long."

The mother looked up startled and amazed; a swift, burning red shot up to her white cheeks, and then she let her head drop forward on the sewing-stand and burst into passionate sobbing. The child grew pale with fright and pain.

"Oh, mother! poor, dear mother!" he whispered, going to her side and dropping kisses and caressing touches on her bowed head, "I'm so sorry! I didn't think it would hurt you so!"

She drew him to her bosom in silence and still sobbing. His childish question had cut her heart like a knife.—"Was it all right with her and father when he went away?" Ah, no! it was all wrong; and now, God pity her! it was too late ever to make it right—the cruel wrong must live through all time and eternity, perhaps.

How vividly, sitting there in the ghastly glimmer of the firelight, did she remember that last parting, three weary years ago! Bennie was but a wee lad then, and his father, who had followed the sea all his life, was starting on a long voyage. He wanted a paper of some importance, a promissory note or something of the kind, and came to his wife for it.

Berenice, his pretty girl-wife, had taken care of all his papers and all his money since the first day of their happy marriage, he being a great, careless, loving, fiery-hearted fellow, as sailors usually are. But Berenice was quite busy that morning, getting his outfit in readiness; and the March winds blustered down the cottage chimney, and puffed the smoke and ashes about, and put her out of humor; and, perhaps, for all her sweet child-ways and rare beauty, this petted wife of Ben Chudleigh's was a bit quick-tempered and impatient by nature, or because of too much petting and indulgence, as is oftener the case. At any rate, after a hasty search for the note, she declared that it could not be found, and that it had not been entrusted to her keeping.

Ben opened his handsome blue eyes in amazement.

"Why, Berenice," he said, not a bit cross, only decided, "you know I gave it to you. I always give you things I wish taken care of."

"A foolish habit, too," retorted Berenice, spitefully. "Why not take care of them yourself? And you may hereafter. I won't have my desk crowded with any such rubbish," and making good her words she tossed the papers she had been overlooking on the floor.

Ben looked down at the promiscuous heap. There were receipts and business papers, and amid them old love letters and tufts of faded blossoms that had passed between him and Berenice in the days of their courtship.

"Why, Berry," he began, and then finding his voice unsteady he stopped short and turned away.

His wife saw in an instant what she had done, but with the perversity of a child, instead of trying to make reparation, as her woman's heart yearned to do, she made matters worse.

"I shan't look another bit," she said, petulantly, pushing the papers aside with her pretty foot. "I've wasted half the morning already. You bother me so, I wish you were gone."

"I'm going now, then, Berenice.—Good-bye."

He did not even turn to look at her, but strode from the room and out into the yard. Bennie was playing before the doorway, and Berenice standing breathless heard him kiss the child and say:

"Good-bye, little one! Be a good boy to mother, don't forget."

That was the last. When, after a moment of stunned bewilderment, she hurried to the door, he was gone.

But he would come back. All day long, sitting with Bennie on her knee, she said it over and over, he would come back, and they would make it up.

But night came, and in the dusk of the March sunset a sailor came up for her husband's sea-chest. Berenice was too proud and sensitive to ask a question or send a message; but the long, lonely night subdued her pride. As soon as the sun rose she made her way down to the pier, where his vessel lay; but it was too late—the craft had sailed at daybreak, and her husband was gone.

Month followed month, year drifted after year, and Berenice lived, and Bennie grew up a sturdy lad, never forgetting his father's parting command. He was a good boy to his mother; but all his simple, unaffected devotion, so like his father's, could not drive the unspeakable sorrow from her eyes, or the stinging remorse from her heart.—And now she sat there by the blazing fire, with her thin hands clasped, and such a wistful, hungry look in her great shining eyes, that poor little Ben felt awed and frightened, and crept away to his bed in the corner, not daring even to kiss her again.

But the child could not sleep. He lay listening to the voice of the winds, as they roared and whistled through the pine hills, and to the ceaseless moan and thunder of the sea, raising his head ever and anon to look at his mother's white, sad face, and wondering in his child's heart, if God and his angels were so good and merciful, why they did not do something to comfort her. A strange, terrible feeling came over him, an indescribable prescience of something to come.

"Mother!" he called, gently, sitting up in his bed. "Oh, mother! what is it? I can't tell, but I feel something. Indeed I do, mother!"

But she did not heed him. The old sea dog lifted his pointed ears and listened intently; then he arose and pattered across to the child's bed, with a look half-human in his eyes. Bennie laid his cheek against his shaggy head.

"What is it, Triton?" he whispered.

The dog listened again, then he bounded to the door and began to scratch and sniff beneath it.

"Oh, mother! mother!" called Bennie, in amazed fright.

She arose with trembling hands and a death-white face.

"Why, my boy, my darling," she whispered; then she went to the door and opened it.

Triton stood an instant with his ears erect and his nose to the ground, then he shot off, making great, flying leaps, and uttering short, exultant cries. Impelled by something stronger than herself, or her own will, Berenice followed him, and poor, affrighted little Ben was left alone.

Out through the wild, dark night she went, down to the bleak, icy cliffs, and there, standing upon the desolate sands, his black, burly figure sharply defined against the pale, winter sky, she saw the form of a man, with Triton leaping and barking around him; and never pausing, never stopping to question or wonder, but impelled by a wild instinct, she flew on and on until she fell breathless and senseless at his feet.

When she awoke to life again she was in the cottage, lying upon Bennie's little bed, with the glimmer of the fire-light before her, and Bennie himself was hanging over her, patting her cheeks with his chubby hands and kissing her vigorously, his blue eyes shining with a look they had never known before. Then a wild, vague hope thrilled through her, and she started to her feet with a cry that rung above the din of the storm.

Yes, there he stood, bronzed and worn and changed, but with the same kindly eyes, Ben Chudleigh, her own husband. He held out his arms, but she went down prostrate at his feet.

"Oh, Ben! Oh, my husband! forgive me! I know God has, for he has given you back to me."

And Ben, sobbing like a woman, gathered her up in his strong arms, kissing her lips wildly, as she clung to him like a little child.

Miscellaneous.

THE "RESPECTABILITY" OF LABOR.—Last week a "nice looking" youth of 18 was prosecuted "at the Tombs" in New York for stealing a check from his employer. The evidence showed that he was a clerk, receiving $5 a week, out of which he was compelled to pay $3 for board, and clothe himself presentably upon the remainder. He ran behind with his board, and took the check to square up.

This gives a hint of the misery which tens of thousands of young men in New York and elsewhere daily endure because of their silly superstition as to "respectability." They would rather starve their stomachs and pinch their minds and bodies all their lives on the miserable salary of a clerk, because clerking is "respectable," than enjoy comfort and manly independence as a mechanic or a laborer.

Of course, every man has a right to select such an honorable calling as he chooses, and no one has any business to call him to account for such selection, except in the way of friendly advice.—If a white shirt, clean hands and blacked boots are so desirable to him that he is willing to spend 14 hours a day in an unhealthy store, at $6 to $8 a week, to procure them, all right. He must be the judge. It may be that he loves the white shirt, clean hands, etc., more than he dislikes the repulsive food and nauseating quarters of a cheap boarding house; it may be that he loves them better than he does the comforts of a home and family of his own; it may be that he esteems them more highly than he does his own manhood and for the sake of them he is willing to be tyrannized over by the despotic little brutes, which the letters to the papers represent the bosses of these clerks to be. If so, there can be no help, nor even sympathy for him, as there is never help or sympathy for a man who, when two ways are open to him, persists in choosing the less desirable one.

If he would become a carpenter, mason, molder or machinist, or some other species of a mechanic, he need not suffer the tyrannies of some petty little despot, because he could stand erect before his employer, as one who was giving quite as many favors as he received. Instead of dragging along on hardly sufficient to maintain life, he could have enough to maintain a home with wife and family, and make of himself a citizen in the true sense of the word. It is possible that he may not be able to wear a starched shirt and business suit every day, but the one he will don on Sundays and holidays will be princely raiment compared to what the clerkly remuneration will afford.—But if he chooses to deny himself all these things rather than soil his hands, he has a perfect right to do so. Only he will ask in vain for sympathy with the hardships that he has imposed upon himself.

There is no greater folly for a young man than to imagine that he receives any more consideration as a clerk than a mechanic. The reverse is the case. A mechanic capable of commanding from $2 to $5 a day is always an object of respectful consideration. He is recognized as having many qualities which richly entitle him to this. He is retained the longest, at the approach of dull times, and re-employed the first at the return of activity, whereas the clerk is the first to go and the last to come again. The mechanic is recognized as one of the component members of society, where the clerk is often regarded as a superfluity. The mechanic virtually makes his own terms with his employer, while the clerk is at the mercy of whoever chooses to grind him down. It is the commonest thing to hear of a pressing need of all kinds of mechanics, but no one ever saw a time when there was not more than enough clerks.—And, finally, the mechanic has ten chances for rising to independence where the clerk has one. These are things which determine which is the most "respectable."

Finding fault with the doctors will not give us back our President; but it is very evident that the management of his case has done more than anything that has ever happened in the country to shake the confidence of the public in the so-called science that appears to be little more than a "guessing school." Common sense people who know anything about sickness, and are perfectly willing to concede that the corps of surgeons in attendance upon the President embraces as much skill and knowledge as claimed for it, believe that the President has been overtreated, if not wrongly treated. It would naturally keep a patient's mind on a tension to have half a dozen physicians in daily consultation over him. The responsibility is too much divided. In addition to these considerations, that mysterious code known as "professional etiquette" is felt to have stood in the way of the best treatment. It has certainly prevented the public from knowing the truth about the President's condition. The people have seen their President, with his splendid physique, his unexampled will-power and cheerful courage, go steadily down into the valley of the shadow of death, with only the poor satisfaction of knowing that, "professionally," he was doing "splendidly." And, without presuming to know more than the doctors, they wish to heaven Gen. Garfield had been taken into the country the week after he was wounded, and left in the care of one clear-headed and competent surgeon, his devoted wife and an experienced nurse. It might not have saved him, but could it have done less—or worse than has been done?—Sunday Herald.

TAYLOR'S MUSKET.—At the last reunion of the Old Sixth Regiment, a musket carried by one of the men killed in the Baltimore riots, was presented by Caleb Saunders to Gov. Long, who in accepting the relic promised that it should be placed in the governor's room in the state house. A Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican says of it:

"There has been placed on the walls of the governor's general room at the state house, a rusty old musket, encased in a rich black walnut frame. In the memorable march of the old sixth regiment through Baltimore four men were killed. One of these was named Taylor or called himself Taylor. He was a stranger to his comrades. He enlisted just before the regiment left the state, and no one claimed his body after his death. His musket, with his name upon it, was kept in Baltimore and was recently sent here. Ladd and Whitney have their monuments, and this old musket on the walls of the governor's room is the monument of the unknown soldier who lost his life with them."

FEMALE BARBERS—There is a female barber in Bradford, and we are not surprised that she has the heft of trade; that men shave who never shaved before, and those who always shaved now shave the more. Why, they just tumble over each other to get her chair, and the lucky man straightens himself out and puts himself under the influence of her hands as if she was a female doctor.

When she runs her fingers around his face and tickles him under the chin with the lather brush it makes his blood grow hot and his toes tingle, while his scalp prickles like an electric brush. Then when she slips one arm under his head and grabs hold of his off ear, and draws the razor to starboard, he feels like paradise regained. It's bad on the nerves but it's nice. Then she hauls his face over toward her, and leans forward, bringing his nose up against her, and proceeds to clean the off side of his head.

That is when the man calls up all his patriotism, and his courage, recites the Declaration of Independence, dreams of houris and the harem of the Old Man of the Mountain, and gets so weak that he takes hair oil, bay rum, and a shampoo, and has his hair cut twice.

A man passes for what he is worth. Very idle is all curiosity concerning other people's estimate of us, and all fear of remaining unknown is not less so. If a man knows that he can do anything, that he can do it better than any one else, he has a pledge of the acknowledgement of the fact by all persons. The world is full of judgment-days, and into every assembly that a man enters, in every action he attempts, he is gauged and stamped.—Emerson.

MYSTERIOUS PATIENT.—A stranger drove into Amesbury one evening recently to find a surgeon for a man who, he said, had been hurt a few miles away. A young doctor jumped into his wagon and when they had driven a mile or so the stranger told the doctor that the affair must be kept secret, and he must blindfold him. The doctor assented, and a thick handkerchief was bound about his eyes. After riding several miles further they came to a hut in the woods, and the doctor was taken in and the bandage removed. He saw lying on a cot a middle-aged man with a broken leg. There was a silk mask over his face. No word was spoken, and the man, who was handsomely dressed, scarcely groaned while his leg was set. A well-filled purse was given to the doctor, and he was driven back blindfolded to the village by the mysterious stranger, who said the injured man was travelling incognito. The doctor does not know in what direction he was taken, and is very reticent about the affair.

A BEAUTIFUL REFLECTION.—Bulwer eloquently says: "I can not believe that earth is man's abiding place. It cannot be that our life is cast up by the ocean of eternity to float upon its waves and then sink into nothingness; else why is it that the glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temple of our hearts, are forever wandering about unsatisfied? Why is it that the rainbows come over us with a beauty that is not of this earth, and then pass off and leave us to muse upon their favored loveliness? Why is it that the stars which hold their festivals around the midnight throne, are set above the grasp of our limited faculties, forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory? And, finally, why is it that bright forms of human beauty are presented to our view, and then taken from us, leaving the thousands of streams of our affections to flow in Alpine torrents upon our hearts?

We are born for a higher destiny than that of earth; there is a realm where the rainbow never fades, and where the stars will spread before us like islands that slumber in the ocean; where the beings that pass before us like shadows will stay in our presence forever."

Mrs. Hannah Cox, 105 years old on June 25th last, said to be the oldest person in New England, died on Monday at Holderness, N. H. She was born June 25, 1776, at Preston, Conn. She was the fifth child of Isaac Wheeler and Ruth Noyes Stanton. She removed to Holderness when a child, and has always lived there since. At 22 years of age she was married to Capt. Robert Cox by the Rev. Robert Towle, first rector of Holderness. She was the mother of seven children. Some of them are still living. There are numerous grandchildren also. She had ten brothers and sisters: two died from accidental causes; one was lost at sea, the remaining seven lived to ages averaging 84 years, the youngest dying at 75, the oldest 87. Her parents died at the ages of 75 and 87.

A CHICAGO BROKER'S HAPPY INVESTMENT.—Lewis H. O'Conor, Esq., whose office is located at 93 Washington street, this city, lately related the following in the hearing of one of our reporters as an evidence of special good fortune. I have been suffering, said Mr. O'Conor, for a number of weeks with a very severe pain in my back, believed to be from the effects of a cold contracted while on the lakes. I had been prescribed for by several of our physicians and used various remedies. Three days ago, I abandoned them all, and bought a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, applied it at night before retiring, and to-day feel like a new man. I experienced almost instant relief and now feel no pain whatever.—Chicago Journal.

The Michigan City Dispatch says—"When a newspaper says a kind word of a man, he never knows it, but if it handles him a little roughly, he finds it out in less than a minute." Such is life.

An empty platform car weighs 18,000 pounds; an empty box car, 20,000 pounds; a passenger car, 36,000 pounds, and sometimes more; and an average locomotive, 80,000 pounds. A single pair of car wheels weighs 500 pounds.

A man has not time to subdue his passions, establish his soul in virtue and come up to the perfection of his nature, before he is hurried off the stage. —Addison.

A Peabody girl and her beaux,
But whom, we will not now disclose,
Asked a little chap—not so stupid,
What he knew about Cupid;
And they could have died,
As thus he replied—
"He's a baby wis out any close!"

Smart Weed and Belladonna combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters, make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plaster the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

GREAT SALE OF BLANKETS.

ANOTHER GREAT ATTRACTION!

Conrad

Will begin to-day a great sale of BLANKETS at prices which will outdo any offed in this city heretofore.

2 cases Standard Prints, in fast colors, at 4 cents per yard.

50 dozen elegant Damask Towels, 40 inches long, in entirely new designs, at 25c.

We are the only party who have them, and we consider it the best bargain ever offered to customers.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices. An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

Floreston Cologne.

A NEW AND FASHIONABLE PERFUME. FRAGRANT, REFRESHING, LASTING. SOLD BY DEALERS IN PERFUMERY AT 50 AND 75 CENTS. HISCOX & CO., N. Y. GREAT SAVING IN BUYING THE 75c. SIZE.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia and many of the best medicines known are combined in PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, into a medicine of such varied and effective powers, as to make it the Greatest Blood Purifier and Kidney Corrector and the Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used.

It cures Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness, and all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Urinary Organs, and all Female Complaints.

If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the TONIC to-day. It will surely help you.

Remember! This TONIC is the Best Family Medicine ever made, and is far superior to Bitters, Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it never Intoxicates, and cures Drunkenness. Any dealer in drugs can supply you—50c. and $1 sizes. None genuine without signature of HISCOX & Co., Chemists, N. Y.

LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

Parker's Hair Balsam.

An elegant, agreeable Hair Dressing that

Never Fails to Restore Gray or Faded Hair to its Youthful Color. 50c. and $1 sizes.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Items of Interest.

Great Britain is said to have $350,000 invested in American railroads.

The State of Massachusetts forbids pigeon-shooting withins it borders.

A prisoner in Omaha, Neb., while being taken to jail, stole the policeman's watch from his pocket.

At a recent reception a young lady of Boston wore a white satin dress which originally belonged to the mother of Napoleon Bonaparte.

The girls of the high school at Springfield, Mass., have been told that they will be suspended if they "exchange significant glances" with the boys.

Among the curiosities at an exhibition in Washington, two are furnished by an American soldier, who captured them from the Sioux. One is a white lady's scalp, and the other is a necklace of human fingers.

The managers of the Decatur, Ill., opera houses have decided not to sell reserved seats hereafter to colored people, lest they get seats alongside of white members of the audience. The decision is making some stir in the town.

A machine has been invented which can make 100,000 cigarettes a day. The consumption of cigarettes in 1880 amounted to 408,000,000, and it is estimated that 1,000,000,000 will be required to supply the demand for 1881.

A girl put on man's clothes at Richmond, Mo., and went out for an evening's walk, in the course of which she rudely jostled a negro, who shot her twice. She declares that hereafter she will stick to the safety of skirts.

Timothy Maher, considered the strongest man in New Haven, Conn., died recently. He was known to have lifted 1,500 pounds dead weight, and to have suspended 600 pounds from the middle finger of his right hand.

A surgeon at Cleveland, Ohio, has, for a sum of money, induced two men to allow him to amputate a little finger of each and transfer it to the hand of the other. He says there is thus far a good prospect that the transposed fingers will live.

In West Virginia they sell off the paupers every year at auction to the lowest bidders: and the man who treats them worst keeps them cheaper of course. Hence the condition of the paupers there is about as bad as can be, and often leads to suicide.

The force exerted by the discharge of heavy guns is something tremendous. In some recent experiments at Woolwich it was estimated that the pressure upon the base of the gun at the moment of the explosion was more than sixty tons per square inch.

The English people cling with such tenacity to the use of the letter u in such words as harbor and favor that the Bank of England recently refused payment of a draft because, in stating that it was in favor of so and so, the drawee had spelled the word favor without a u.

A corporation has been recently organized in Boston, with a capital of $1,000, to finish the bottoms of boots and shoes by a new invention. It is claimed that by the aid of the machine 600 to 800 boots can be finished by one operator in one day, where 150 to 200 are now done by hand.

Letters from the United States for places in Cuba should be prepaid by postage stamps and not by stamped envelopes, as the general Post Office there does not recognize the stamped envelope and double rates are charged on letters under such enclosures, the same as if they had not been prepaid.

The works for the proposed tunnel from Dover to Calais have made such satisfactory progress that its promoters are now able to employ three shifts of men constantly throughout the twenty-four hours, and are sanguine of being able to bore about thirty feet per day when all the machinery is completed.

The pyramid of Pueblo, in Mexico, is larger than the great pyramid of Cheops, in Egypt. The latter covers only fourteen acres, while the Mexican one covers over forty acres of ground, and was originally 600 feet hight. It is made of sun-dried brick, and is supposed to have been built 7,000 years ago.

It is asserted that if a person exposes himself to the electric light for some time in a close inspection of the same, his hands and cheeks will show—if he be of fair complexion—all the symptoms of sunburn, even in mid-winter, and he will develop freckles on his countenance as quickly as when he goes about unprotected by a sun umbrella in mid-summer.

A man built a house worth $10,000 at Andover, Mass., without spending a dollar. He bought all the material on six months' credit, and at the end of that time refused to pay. All the stuff was fast in the house, which he had sold to his wife. The labor was obtained on the same plan, and even the widow who boarded the workman was swindled. The man lives placidly in his fine residence, but is not greatly loved by his neighbors.

A 100-year-old negress died suddenly, to all appearances, in Pointe Conpee Parish, Louisiana, a short while ago, but in the midst of preparations for her burial she revived again, and seemed as well as ever. This circumstance has created a frenzy of excitement among all the negroes of the district, who firmly believe that the old woman was really dead and has come to life again, and that she can, in consequence, cure the lame, sick and blind, and perform all kinds of miracles.

Buy the Corded Side Corset, new and nice, at Peabody's.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 1000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!

SEABURY & JOHNSON,

Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

SANFORD'S

· GINGER ·

Impure water, unhealthy climate, unripe fruit, unwholsome food, cramps, chills, malaria, excessive heat and the thousand and one ills that beset the traveler or family are nothing to those fortified and sustained by the use of SANFORD'S GINGER, "the delicious." As a beverage it quenches thirst, opens the pores, relieves the head, regulates the stomach and bowels, eradicates a craving for intoxicants and imparts new life to the languid, careworn, overworked, nervous and sleepless. Beware of imitations said to be as good. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER and take no other.

Sold everywhere. WEEKS & POTTER, Boston.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are young and discretion or single, old or poor health or languish ness, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, whenever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

If you are a man of letters toiling or midnight work to restore brain nerve and waste, use Hop B.

suffering from any inaction; if you are married or young, suffering from ing on a bed of sickness, Hop Bitters.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters is an absolute and irresistable cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

D. I. C.

Sold by druggists. Send for Circular.

HOP BITTERS M'F'G CO., Rochester, N. Y. & Toronto, Ont.

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free. aug 3—6 w

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

—AT—

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,

17 Peabody Street.

jan 1

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,

(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,

for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,

also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.

Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:

Second Door West of Hay Scales.

apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required. feb 18—tf

---

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.

All calls promptly attended to, day or night.

No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.

A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.

my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. | Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.

je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES. 218 and 222 Derby Street.

nov 24

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH.)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington. SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.  WATCHES.

JEWELRY.

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

—AT—

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES.

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

165 Essex Street, Salem.

Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

Jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. | Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps, Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. | Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.

aug 17

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

—FOR—

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

—AT THE—

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.

He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.

Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'.

apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. | Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland: Glasgow, Scotland: and Liverpool, England.

If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,

Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

—AND—

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a call, and new type, paper, examine, etc.

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

CENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF.

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO., 41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.; P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NORTHERN TEXAS offers greater attractions in way of good, cheap lands, healthy country, mild climate, abundance of timber and water, diversity of products, than any other region now open to settlement. In this rapidly developing section, the TEXAS & PACIFIC RAILWAY has in operation over 800 miles of road, along which are to be had, at low prices and on easy terms, millions of acres of good and cheap Railroad and Government lands, but recently opened for settlement. For circulars and maps giving truthful information, address W. H. ABRAMS, Land Commissioner, T. & P. Railway Marshall, Texas.

IT'S WORTH A HUNDRED DOLLARS

for any smoker to know that we are putting up a very fine Havana filler, with Connecticut wrapper—equal in flavor to cigars generally sold at from 10 to 15 cents—which we are selling to consumers and the trade at $4 a hundred. We will send a box containing 25 to any part of the United States, postage paid, on receipt of $1, or 50 Cigars for $2. Address VILLAGE STORE COMPANY, Wholesale Dealers in Cigars and Groceries, Bridgeport, Conn.

HUNTER'S SIFTERS. 12 Articles in one. Millions in use—everybody's choice. 44-page catalogue of other specialties free. J. M. HUNTER M'F'G Co. Cin., O.

Agents wanted, Male and Female.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

Newspaper Advertis'g Bureau, 10 Spruce St., N. J.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.

jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

New Silver Plated Wares,
New Solid Silver Wares,
New Gold Chains, Rings,
&c., &c., &c., &c.,

Faber's and Dixon's Lead Pencils.

Two Bottles Moore's Writing Ink, 5c
Two Bottles Carr's Writing Ink, 5c

PEABODY'S.

The best stock of Corsets in Salem.
Peabody gives a SET of nice cards with every pair of corsets he sells.

RAIN UMBRELLAS.

A Job Lot—decided bargain — 88 cts., $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. Examine them.

CALDER'S DENTINE, 15 cents.

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,
227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,
SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Sept. 7, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

The removal of President Garfield was successfully accomplished yesterday from the White House to Long Branch. The result will be awaited with anxiety. It was evident that his further abode at Washington meant certain death; and the step was taken as the only hope remaining to them. The President is very weak and the physicians have evidently done all they can for him; the case has passed out of their hands into that of the Great Physician, and we can only wait and hope for the best.

Rewards in our Schools.

We have several times called attention in these columns to the evils of the rank and marking system as it is at present used in our schools and colleges. It is an evil which has been growing some time, but the numberless instances of its abuse have called out vigorous protests by the press and the public. About a year since Amherst College took an important step, and one which has proved a success beyond even the sanguine expectations of its friends. President Seelye states that no consideration would induce the government of the college to return to the old system of rank and marking. What is true of these higher grades of schools is also true of our high and grammar schools. Many are the instances which can be recalled of blighted health, in our own vicinity, caused by efforts to obtain a high rank of scholarship, and to attain the first prize in the class. We believe in scholarship, and a devotion of the pupils to study, but not at the expense of their health. If at the end of the school-year, or at the graduation of the scholar from the school, they have been proficient in their studies, if they have shown by their attention and their labor that they have made the best progress they were able to do—even if they do not secure as high a grade of scholarship—it is well that they should be rewarded by some fitting testimonial. But to hold up a certain reward for an eager competition, to place great value upon a certain rank in graduation or at the close of the year, is wrong in the beginning, and can only produce results which are not in accordance with the best scholarship. The men and women who have made their mark in the world are not always those who have had the highest rank in their school or college.

We have looked with great interest upon the success of Amherst in her attempts to free herself from this system of rewards. We were pleased to see the Committee of our own town admit those of the grammar school scholars who had not reached a certain percentage of rank in the examination for admission to the High School. We shall be still more rejoiced to see every graduate of our grammar schools, who has pursued the regular course of study therein, admitted to our High School without examination, upon the recommendation of the teacher with whom they have been associated for the preceding year. We believe just as good scholars will graduate from the High School, and we further believe that this latter school would increase in numbers and its advantages become more clearly apparent. There are many scholars who fail to pass the examination to whom the only course left is to fall back in the grammar school and go over the studies of the closing year. They lose their interest, and frequently leave school altogether. This is entirely a mistake. All the inducement possible should be held out to secure the longest number of years of study to the youth of this country. The statistics of our own High School, and others in the vicinity, show the very large percentage who do not graduate, and we repeat that this is hastened in many cases by the failure of applicants through their inability, in the examination, which is frequently a poor test of scholarship, to attain the requisite percentage of rank.

As we have mentioned, we decidedly oppose any attempts at holding up any reward, prize, or other stimulant, to be competed for year after year by the different grammar schools of this town.—We therefore look with disfavor upon the attempt, on the part of a neighboring paper, to show its apparent friendliness to our public school system, by offering a reward of merit,to be shuffled around from school to school, like the belts of our noted pugilists. The prize is not worth so much ado; and even if it were, the principle is entirely wrong, and one which we trust will not receive commendation. Our school committee and teachers should at once and decidedly discourage this and any other such methods of holding up rewards to be striven for by such competition as will be naturally engendered.

THE Boston & Lowell and Boston & Albany railroads are the last to adopt the plan now in use on the other roads in this state, of using punch tickets for their season passengers. It will be remembered that some six years ago the Boston and Lowell corporation attempted its adoption in connection with the showing of tickets at the gate in the railway station, but it met with such opposition that they were forced to abandon it. It is not to be presumed that this regulation will be opposed now. It has been in use for a number of years on all the roads hereabouts, and is generally considered the fairest arrangement that can be agreed upon. On the two roads above mentioned, it has been the custom of the season ticket holder to present his ticket to the inspection of the conductor at the beginning of the quarter—or every month, perhaps—and thereafter he could keep the ticket in his pocket, and ride as often and as many times per day as he desired. Of course, the only objection to the punch system, on the part of the ticket holder, is the inability on his part to go to his home to dinner, which has been done by many of the patrons of these roads residing but a short distance from Boston. Still it has been usually understood, in the purchase and sale of a season ticket, that it was only for one trip each way per day, and people who wish to travel oftener than that should be willing to pay a little more for the privilege. The railroad companies are only protecting themselves, and we have been surprised that these corporations have not sooner adopted the plan which has been successfully tried on the other railroads in the state.

OUR neighbor, in replying to our query as to the status of S. C. Bancroft with reference to his sheet, says that "he may have become a member of the Mass. Press Association during one of the many years he was editor of the PRESS, and for his great ability he may have been made a life member." This does not answer our question. And for his benefit and those of our readers who are interested, we will say that S. C. Bancroft was never editor of the PRESS; that during the time, less than a year, in which his name appeared as asssistant editor, about twelve years ago, the Massachusetts Press Association was not in existence; that there are no life members in the Association; that no name can lawfully appear on the records as member unless such member pays his assessment, and is editor or publisher of a newspaper. The fact that his name does appear shows that he has paid his assessment for this year, and that he claims to be editor or publisher of the Reporter. Again we ask, if he is not editor or proprietor of that paper, why not?

THIS WEEK and last witnessed the breaking up of the stream of travel from Boston and the vicinity to the mountains, and the current has begun to set the other way. The advent of the usual commencement of schools brings many home; even if they have not taken their children with them, the cares incident to a new term renders their presence imperative at home.—Business calls others. September is the recruiting month with most business men. There are new goods to be bought, the odds and ends of the old season to be cleaned out, and everything put in order for the anticipated fall season. All the signs point to a prosperous and brisk traffic during the approaching fall. The country was never more settled and prosperous, and a brisk activity is already perceptible in some classes of goods. Our dealers are already on the alert. No better evidence of the business of our town can be found than in the large number of buildings that have been erected the past year. We rejoice in all this prosperity, and trust it is only the beginning of what we shall see here before another year has passed.

IN ACCORDANCE with the suggestion of Gov. Hoyt of Pennsylvania, that a day of special prayer for the preservation of the life of our President be observed in the different states, Gov. Long, of this state, has issued a proclamation inviting the people of the Commonwealth to unite in prayer on Thursday, Sept. 8th, between the hours of 10 in the forenoon and 12 noon. In the words of Gov. Long, "Turning from usual pursuits, gathering at the meeting-house or home, let all our hearts go up in fervent appeal to Almighty God to spare the President to life and restore him to health." In this town, at the So. Congregationalist Church, Union Services for prayer are to be held, at which the pastors of all the churches in town will participate. The meeting will be held at 11 o'clock, and it is to be hoped that a general attendance will serve to attest our interest in this cause which is dear to all our hearts. It is to be presumed that our stores and places of business will observe a general holiday during these two hours, in accordance with the proclamation, that we all may unite in the general manifestations of sympathy with the movement, and loyalty to the ideas which are the origin of the meeting.

We hear much nowadays about etiquette, but we think there is an editorial courtesy which is very little observed in this vicinity. It has been the manner of the weekly papers of our neighboring city of Salem for some time to indulge in slurs and inuendos against this paper under cover of their Peabody correspondents. Most of them are young men whose attempts at journalistic prominence have been discountenanced by this office, and who are allowed to manifest their spite by these papers who have not the manliness to put what they have to say in their editorial columns. The latest instance of this comes from the Observer. We published last week a very able and judicious article from the Springfield Republican, one which, in our opinion, should be read by every parent in the land, on the case of Jennie Cramer. To give greater prominence we prefixed it with a cut, which had appeared in a paper which has very small circulation among our own subscribers. There the similarity ceased. We published an entirely different article from that of the paper referred to. Still it is referred to by the Observer as "stale news." We have no apology to make to the Observer or any other paper for the articles we publish. All we ask is, if they have any criticisms to make on ourselves, our business, or any other matter, that they will do it in a fair and honorable manner and not under cover of a rural correspondent.

IT IS REPORTED THAT the Anti-Monopoly League of the United States is grooming Roscoe Conkling for the Presidency in 1884.

That they should unite with the few remaining Greenbackers and both die together.

That our churches were all re-opened last Sabbath.

That instructive sermons were preached by the different pastors.

That their people were glad to welcome them back.

That the Indian scare in Wisconsin continues, and another batch of depredations is reported.

That the noble red man is as noble as ever, no matter which section of the country he is located in.

That quite a number of our people have participated in the excursions of the Boston & Maine R. R. to Wolfboro'.

That some such excursion on the line of the Eastern R. R. would be favorably received here.

That if milk be taken after food it will burden the stomach and cause discomfort.

That the better the milk the more discomfort.

That the matter is clearly understood by some milkmen.

That they reduce the milk solely on account of the "severe discomfort" described.

That our neighbor has had but two summer saunterers mentioned in his paper.

That they are Daniel Pratt, Esq., and Bob Fields, Esq.

That he himself is now a summer saunterer.

That a man is known by the company he keeps.

That Colorado is exultant over the growth of her railroad system.

That soon she will be swearing that she will not submit to the insatiate hunger of corporations.

That for all that Colorado would be a long way off were it not for railroads.

That long evenings will soon be upon us.

That it is a good time to commence reading.

That a little knowledge to be derived from study would be of benefit to some of our young men who now spend their evenings holding up the base of the monument.

That Guiteau and Hartmann are both preparing lectures.

That fortunately at least one of them will not be heard for several seasons.

That the jury on the Jennie Cramer case have rendered a verdict.

That in some respects it is very satisfactory.

That it is refreshing to find the moral responsibility of the deed placed where it belongs.

That the Greenback organs keep up a continual muttering about everything but greenbacks.

That the old issue is too stale to deceive anyone possed of ordinary reason.

That now is the time to pay tax bills.

That next month there will be less discount.

That our neighbor refers to Mr. S. C. Bancroft as a "poor thing."

That it is no disgrace to be poor.

That it is rough to call so intimate a friend a "thing."

That in New York City a list of the physicians who are willing to answer night calls is published.

That this would be a good thing for some of our cities hereabouts.

That complaint was made in Lynn that at the time of the discovery of the body of the late editor of the Bee, it was difficult to obtain the attendance of a surgeon.

That the Monument Committee has been largely increased within the last few days.

That we have not heard if they are working on full time.

That if the doings of all this Committee are chronicled they will need a new Secretary.

That they might send for Daniel Pratt.

BOSTON AND THE GRAND EXHIBITION.—The attention of our readers is invited to the attractions offered by the New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute, at their new building on Huntington Avenue. This grand exhibition is contributed to by over one thousand exhibitors, from all parts of New England, comprising nearly every branch of manufactures, many of them in active operation, showing methods of making boots and shoes by machinery, pottery, glass manufactory, looms for weaving, etc., all classes of sewing machines, artistic work of all kinds. It is estimated that there are in all ten acres of shops and factories. At night this exhibition is lighted by thirty electric lights and three thousand gas burners. Horse-cars, from all railroads, make connections direct with the exhibition. Excursions will be arranged for from all the principal cities and towns in New England, and the total attendance is estimated at not less than a half-million.

The gathering of the family bearing the surname of Poor and Poore takes place in Newburyport on Pleasant St., not far south of the station on the Eastern railroad, Wednesday of next week. This meeting consists of those invited from all parts of the country, and includes all who are blood kin, and among those who belong to the family who now reside in Peabody and vicinity, bearing other surnames, are the following: Abbott, Briggs, Cole, Daniels, Gilson, Goldthwait, Goodwin, Hardy, Hills, Hodgkins, Hutchinson, Jacobs, Johnson, Kimball, Lamson, Newman, Osborn, Payson, Peabody, Pike, Poole, Putnam, Reed, Robinson, Southwick, Stone, Tapley, Thomas, Thorndike, Wilson, Winchester and Woodbury. And most of the above are descendants of Joseph Poor, the grandfather of our present towns-men, Joseph and Nathan H. Poor.

A most singular phenomenon in the atmosphere occurred yesterday, and seemed to extend all over New England. The sky had a yellow, ashen look, the sun appearing like a red ball of fire when it could be seen at all, and necessitating the light of the gas in the middle of the day, which looked through the haze like electric lights. The hens and fowls went to roost early in the afternoon, and various theories are put forth in reference to it. Some attribute it to the dense forest fires in Canada, which have been raging of late, others to a sulphuric condition of the atmosphere, but all agree that it was something long to be remembered. The superstitious found in it room for the fulfillment of gloomy prophecies—associating it with the removal of President Garfield and foretelling his death. Excepting in the excessive heat there is no trace of the disturbance to-day.

On Thursday last the Hon. John Cummings of Woburn, was married to Mrs. Mary G. Hall, widow of the late Dr. A. B. Hall, M. D., of Boston. The ceremony will take place at the residence of the bride's father, the Rev. E. P. Cowles, of Ipswich Seminary fame.—Salem Observer.

How long after the marriage will the ceremony take place?

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

A great many persons misake fear of death for repentance.

Summer Saunterers.

Mr. Alfred Parker and lady are at Hancock, N. H., for a few weeks' vacation.

Mr. Geo. Griffin, with the firm of Schollar & Donnell, was registered in Portsmouth, N. H., last Sunday.

Mr. Frank Wilson, accompanied by his dog and gun, started Monday morning for Moosehead Lake, Me.

Mrs. Jonathan King, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Little, Miss Alice H. Nelson, Mrs. R. G. Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Woodbury left Monday morning on the Raymond Excursion to Lake Memphremagog and the White Mountains.

POLICE NOTES.—Aug. 31, Richard Butler, for taking too much of the ardent, was fined $1.00 and costs. Not having loose change enough in his pocket, he was sent to Salem Jail.

Sept. 3, for being drunk, Mr. Timothy O'Keefe was politely requested to pay $5.00 and costs, from which he appealled.

James Kelley left the costs of the Court with His Honor for being drunk.

Sept. 5, James Tobin, for being drunk, accepted a sentence to the House of Correction for two months, so that his name might appear among the Reporter's summer saunterers.

Owen Ferroll went to Salem Jail for being drunk and not having his credit good for $1.00 and costs.

Jas. Casey came all the way from Hingham for the pleasure of appearing before our Trial Justice on a charge of being drunk. Result: couldn't pay the $1.00 and costs, and was sent to Salem Jail.

Sept. 6, in the case of Thomas Norton, charged with being drunk, His Honor decided that the town's dignity was injured to the extent of $1.00 and costs.

On the same day, Thomas Mally, for being drunk, deposited $1.00 and costs to increase the amount in the treasury.

The High School commenced Monday with eighty-five scholars, the largest number that has begun a fall term in the last three years. The school rooms were cleaned and renovated during vacation, and look nicely—but that didn't prevent the mercury from rising to 90 deg. there on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Frank Wilkins and E. P. Rundlett killed a rattle-snake in King's cemetery, Peabody, Monday night, four feet long and have it on exhibition near C. F. Smith's store on Locust street

A boat has appeared in the waters at the Port, which is constructed wholly of tin, being two tin pipes, pointed at both ends, with connecting cross work. It was made by Mr. Caskin of the firm of Caskin, O'Connell & Co.

W. S. Lovejoy is the grateful possessor of an easy chair, presented by a number of friends on the fiftieth anniversary of his birthday, which occurred last Thursday. We are not informed whether Walter's response was in prose or poetry.—Danvers Mirror.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co. —Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Pure Cider Vinegar, 7 year old, at Schollar & Donnell's. —Adv.

New Advertisements.

MARSH'S INSTANTANEOUS
Disinfecting & Deodorizing
POWDER,

for the thorough purification of Water Closets, Urinals, Privies, Cesspools, Sinks, Gutters, Garbage, and offensive material of any kind. It is also prepared in liquor form for use in houses, school-rooms, restaurants, etc.

It promptly arrests and destroys all offensive effluvia arising in sick-rooms, or from vessels containing excretions, and neutralizes the unpleasant odors caused by the decomposition of animal matter, or the fermentation of vegetable substances. For sale by

S. F. Reed,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY.

sep 7—6m

THE FALL TERM OF

MISS FERNALD'S SELECT SCHOOL

Will open on Wednesday, Sept. 14, in

Franklin Hall, 5 Allen's Block.

For terms, references, and particulars, inquire at Gould & Stockwell's Millinery Store, No. 10 Allen's Block. sep 7—2w

WANTED,

A house with two tenements, within five or ten minutes' walk of the Square. Address, P. O. Box 558, Peabody, Mass.
aug 31—tf

FOUND,

In my pasture, a young cow. White, marked with red on neck and head.
A. F. DANFORTH,
aug 31—3t West Peabody.

PATENT FLOUR,—One car load Ames' Fancy Minnesota patent process Family Flour.—For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

MAMMOTH HALF-SEASON SALE

— OF —

Men's, Youths', Boys' and Childsen's

FINE AND MEDIUM

Clothing.

ON SATURDAY, AUG. 27TH.

We shall commence our Semi-annual Half-Season Sale which has given such satisfaction in the past. It has been our custom for the past two years to offer a sale of Half-Season CLOTHING. It being too late for the Summer, and too early for the Fall trade, we always take this opportunity of Clearing our Counters previous to receiving our Fall Stock. This sale should be one of interest to every person in want of Clothing, as the most of these goods are heavy enough for Fall and Winter wear.

PLEASE READ SOME OF THE BARGAINS.

75 Men's All-Wool, Light and Dark Colored, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed. The same goods have been sold all the season for $10 and $12; we shall close the lot at retail for SIX DOLLARS A SUIT. This lot comprises some six or eight different patterns.

175 Men's Strictly All-Wool, good weight, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Cheviot Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed, handsome and stylish; have been sold all the season for $14, $15 and $16 per suit. We shall close the lot at retail for EIGHT DOLLARS PER SUIT, about half their value. This lot comprises some eight or ten different patterns.

325 Pairs Men's All Wool Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Pantaloons, Heavy and Medium Weight, handsomely made and trimmed, have been retailed all the season for $3 and $4. We shall close the lot at retail for TWO AND TWO AND A HALF DOLLARS PER PAIR.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT.

1000 BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS. We are now prepared to give the Boys the Best, the Largest and most Varied stock of SCHOOL SUITS ever seen in any retail store in New England, with prices the lowest.

1500 Children's Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, Light and Medium Weight, all handsomely made and trimmed, prices from $1.50 to $3.00 per suit.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY,

Manufacturers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM. Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

Manufactory and Wholesale Rooms, 403 Washington St., Boston.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of WILLIAM BUSHBY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased: Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one J. T. MAHONEY, sep 7—3w Register.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by EDWARD ENNIS to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated Oct. 1st, A. D. 1872, and recorded at Essex, South District, Registry of deeds, in Book 865, leaf 89, will be sold at public auction at the premises on Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D. 1881, at 12 o'clock, noon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, viz.:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Tremont street, being the estate formerly occupied and owned by the late Alfred Friend, bounded southerly by Tremont street about fifty-five feet and six inches; easterly by land formerly of Eben S. Poor about one hundred and thirty-seven feet; northerly by land formerly of said Poor about fifty feet; and westerly by land of Ellen Regan about one hundred and eleven feet. Being all of the estate that Eben S. Poor and others conveyed to said Edward Ennis by their deed recorded at said Registry, in Book 715, leaf 175, except so much of the same as said Ennis sold to said Ellen Regan by her deed recorded in Book 818, leaf 87.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL,
Treasurer of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Sept. 7, 1881. 4t

TOWN OF PEABODY.

TOWN COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The owners and occupants of the following described real estate, situated in the town of Peabody, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified, that the taxes thereon assessed for the years hereinafter specified, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said town, by the Assessors of Taxes, remain unpaid, and that said real estate will be offered at public auction for sale, at the office of the Collector, at the Town House, in said town of Peabody, on Wednesday, the twenty-eighth day of September 1881, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the payment of said taxes, together with the costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged:

A lot of land bounded northwardly by Main street, eastwardly by Pierpont street, southwardly by land of Heirs of W. M. Jacobs, westwardly by land of Jacobs and Osborne, containing about 12,000 square feet, with the buildings thereon.—Taxed to Rebecca K. Jacobs, for 1877, $95.20; for 1878, $102.20; for 1879, $91.00; for 1880, $91.00.

LEVI PRESTON,
sept 7—3t Collector of Taxes.

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Essex, ss. August 12, 1881.

Taken on execution and will be sold at Public Auction, on Saturday, September 17, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock, A.M., at the office of the undersigned, in the Post-office Building, in Salem, in said county, all the right in equity that ALFRED F. WHEELER, of Peabody, in said county, has this day to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate, to wit: A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Peabody and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on Main street, by land of Amos Osborn, and running southerly by said land and land of Eliza D. Clement, 178 feet, more or less, to land of Joseph Hamilton; thence westerly by said land of Hamilton 40 feet, more or less, to a lane 12 feet wide leading from Main street to Summer street, by the premises; and thence by said lane 178 feet, more or less, to said Main street; and thence easterly by said Main street 40 feet, more or less, to point begun at. Also all of said Wheeler's right, title and interest in said lane on the westerly side of said premises.

SAMUEL A. JOHNSON,
aug 17—3w Deputy Sheriff.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK.

WANTED, immediately, two respectable, steady, energetic men as Agents and Solicitors for the above-named company, for the districts of Salem, Peabody and Beverly.—Permanent situations offered to suitable men, with lucrative remuneration. Apply at the District Branch Office, Room 3, 71 Hubon Block, Washington street, Salem. Office hours, 8 to 9 A. M., 6 to 7 P. M.
aug 24—1m

MRS. S. E. MASON,

Having secured the services of a competent cutter and fitter, would inform the ladies of Peabody and vicinity that she has opened rooms for Dressmaking in all its branches, at 14 Park street, Peabody. "Button Holes and Machine Stitching as usual."
aug 24—1m

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,
FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

FOR SALE,

A Black Walnut Parlor Suite, nearly new. Inquire of J. N. BURBECK, aug 3 30 Holten street.

TO LET.

A tenement of six rooms, No. 24 Holten St Apply at No. 19 Lowell St. aug 24 tf

WANTED,

A smart, active, and reliable young man to learn a first-class business. Inquire at this office. aug 31—1t

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.
aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS.—20 tons heavy White Wheat Shorts and Middlings. For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central street.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

96 in the shade.

Nice weather this (?)

Be assessed, or you can't vote.

Laid in your winter's coal yet?

The fall crickets are turning up.

Excursion parties from the shore are now in order.

Sun-flowers—not too large—are fashionable this year.

The rowen of some of our farmers got caught in the rain.

This weather will probably take the frost out of the ground.

The glass indicated 78 degrees at half past six yesterday morning.

Farmers are fattening their cattle for exhibition at the coming fair.

Rev. Mr. Harrington preached at the So. Peabody Chapel last Sunday.

The house of Gustavus Williams is being improved with new blinds.

Vennor said September would enter sultry, with showers and wind storms.

The Warren Five Cents Savings Bank pays a tax of $1171.46 in the city of Lynn.

Love feast at the M. E. Church this evening, Sept. 7. All Christians are invited.

The fence around Monumental Cemetery has been painted by John Moulton of Salem.

Mr. Robert Emerson recently had three litters of pigs eaten by their mothers as soon as born.

The air chamber of the S. C. Bancroft engine proved defective at the monthly trial last Monday.

We are glad to learn that the cooler nights have caused a favorable change in the illness here generally.

Somebody said of the hot weather last week: "Its coming was late, but its vigor was extraordinary."

Frank I. Proctor will continue his studies at Phillips Academy, Andover, to which place he has returned.

Owing to the extreme heat the men employed on the water works were obliged to quit work this afternoon.

A blast made at the quarry of Scott Brothers last Saturday lifted out a piece of rock estimated to weigh 2600 tons.

A large number of Peabody people went to the Boston & Maine excursion to Winnipesaukee and return, yesterday.

The water melon season is at hand, and the boys are scouring the cornfields at night in search of the delicious fruit.

Those men who see a big conflagration about the time the moon rises, are the chaps who discover so many new comets.

Mr. William Blaney has removed the large defective light in the Warren National Bank and replaced it with a perfect one.

The chimney being built by Mr. J. Arthur Trask, for the pumping station, will be 80 feet high and 8 ft. 4 in. square at the base.

A Mr. Berry of Danvers, and several others from the same place, conducted services at the Alms House Chapel last Sunday.

We were pleased to receive a call this week from Mr. A. J. Farnsworth, of the Springfield Republican, and formerly of this office.

People who attempt to cut boarding-house pie-crust with a fork should remember that time thrown away can never be recalled.

Mr. Ira A. Burnham will do the catering for the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Salem, at their entertainment given this evening.

Rev. John W. Colwell will spend his vacation in the country, and the pulpit at the So. Peabody church will be filled by Rev. Mr. Farrar.

In the Wallis School yesterday morning the pupils were obliged to be dismissed shortly after 11 o'clock, on account of the darkness.

The following names have been added to the Greenback State Committee from District No. 2, Peabody: Richard Kimball, Geo. F. Barnes.

We heard one gentleman remark on the brassy look everything had yesterday morning that we had probably run into the tail of the comet.

Dr. Steele will preach in the Methodist E. Church on Sunday, Sept. 11, at 2.15 P. M. Sunday School at 10.15 A. M. Prayer meeting at 7 P. M.

Preparations are being made to celebrate the fifth anniversary of the organization of the S. C. Bancroft Engine Co., which takes place Sept. 20.

John E. Clement & Co. are having all the old shafting and machinery from Treadwell's currying shop, recently destroyed by fire at Salem, removed to their shop, having taken a contract to make it over, besides furnishing a large amount of shafting, etc.

Somebody broke into the office at Cedar Grove Cemetery last Wednesday night, and took a shovel and some other small tools belonging to the ground.

The drouth that had lasted a week, and done considerable damage to the crops, was broken last Friday, when the rain fell in torrents in the afternoon and evening.

The alarm of fire shortly after 9 o'clock last Saturday evening was caused by the burning of a lot of hay belonging to Mr. William Blaney, near the town house.

Now is the time when the school-teachers inform their promoted scholars that unless they obtain their new books at once there will be little need of their attending school.

It is said there is a petition asking the County Commissioners to lay out a new street, commencing at Swampscott Avenue, near William Hayes', to the Swampscott road.

Mr. A. F. Wheeler has opened a currying shop over Mr. Elbridge Rust's grease manufactory, near Munroe & Arnold's stables. Mr. Rust has curried splits here for some time.

Mr. William Frye, who had his watch and chain stolen from his shop at the town scales during a temporary absence, has had them returned to him by the father of the boy that took them.

Mr. Joseph Dakin entertained a large number of friends and neighbors last Friday afternoon and evening. A baked bean supper was served, after which was singing, games and dancing till a late hour.

Chas. Hatch, formerly a resident of Peabody, and known to many here, was severely injured in the eye last Wednesday at the Lawrence machine shops, by a flying piece of steel upon which he was at work.

Mr. Chas. Dodge of this town, a graduate of our High School, has been elected principal of the Day street grammar school at Fitchburg, Mass, on a salary of $1000. We are informed that he will not accept.

During the peculiar state of the atmosphere yesterday, several bats were noticed flying around Mr. Geo. Upton's glue factory. This is very remarkable, indeed—a thing not very often witnessed in the middle of the day.

During last Thursday evening, which was extremely warm, the Naumkeag Street Railroad Company sent close cars to Peabody, and on Saturday night, which was cold and damp, open cars were run. Why is this thus?

A grand firemen's muster is to come off on the 15th of September at Milford for hand engines only. The first prize is $250. It is expected the Volunteers will sustain Peabody's reputation there, as they have received permission to attend.

We would recommend some persons to take lessons in careful driving. They seem to think it is smart to drive as near another team as they can without hitting, especially if ladies are driving, and they know that it will make them nervous.

Dr. H. A. Reynolds has founded a town in northern Dakota, which bears his name and promises to be a thriving place. It is on the railroad. The doctor is post master, has a good wheat farm, and is the same zealous temperance man.

Work on the water works is progressing well in each department. Mr. F. E. Ferguson, pattern and model maker, has just constructed the model for the chimney top. This will be cast at the Salem Iron Foundry and will weigh about a ton.

The veteran ushers of the South Church, Mr. Samuel Trask and Mr. Isaac Hardy, who have faithfully served the society for a quarter of a century, have resigned, and their places taken by Messrs. R. Henry Wilkinson and Arthur Poole.

The item in the News of last week about the boy that was sent to the Alms House for playing truant is about as reliable as most of them that appear in that paper. No such boy was sent there, and the whole item was written simply to "fill up."

The Essex Unitarian Conference will hold a Basket Field Meeting to-morrow (Thursday), at Lynnfield Centre. Several clergymen from abroad are expected to take part. Trains leave Salem for Lynnfield at 10 A. M., connecting with barges for Lynnfield Centre.

At the Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Fair in Boston, the measuring machine of Mr. David T. Winter attracts universal attention; not only the leather men, but the general public are delighted with it on account of its simplicity and accuracy with which it does its work.

Mr. George Donnell, the oldest person in Newburyport, if not in the state, died last Sunday night. He was 99 years old last June and had voted for every President since Jefferson's second election, and has always voted the Republican ticket since the organization of the party. He was an uncle to Samuel Donnell, of this town.

The alarm of fire shortly after 11 o'clock last Friday evening was caused by an incendiary fire near the residence of Mr. Frank Marsh. The building belonged to the Jacobs estate, and had formerly been used as a dwelling house, but had been unoccupied for some years.

John E. Clement & Co. will ship, Thursday, for exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, Boston, one leather whitening machine, one of Sawyers' leather measuring machines, and the McDonald unhairing machine, all of which they manufacture at their machine shops.

The attendance at Howorth's Hibernica at the Institute last Friday and Saturday evenings was large, considering the inclemency of the weather.—The panorama views of Ireland were very fine, while the character singing and dancing, etc., made a variety which could not help pleasing the audience.

Considerable complaint is made by the residents of Mt. Vernon street at the condition in which it was left by those laying the water pipes. The whole hill has been left unfilled for the last four weeks, stopping all travel with teams, and causing great annoyance to the residents. As a nuisance, it should be stopped.

Extensive preparations are being made to receive Rev. M. J. Masterson on his return from his extended tour through Europe and Ireland, with a proper reception. A meeting of the congregation was held last Sunday evening, and a working committee appointed. He is expected home in the course of a few weeks.

At half-past three o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Samuel G. Southwick, our popular fish dealer, was united in marriage to Miss Nellie J. Dakin at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Joseph Dakin, on Lynn street, Rev. John W. Colwell officiating. The happy couple immediately left town for a short trip to Hampton Beach.

Last Sunday, as the family carriage of Mrs. G. W. Rogers was driving along Andover street, one of the horses commenced to kick, caused by flies.—One foot went through the dasher, throwing the horse to the ground. The driver and occupants jumped out. The driver with the assistance of the neighbors, soon had the horse on his feet, and he proceeded on his way without further trouble.

Mr. Geo. H. Robinson mentioned in our last issue as being injured in a bakery and the Geo. H. Robinson that was injured are two different persons. The gentleman that was injured belongs in Salem, and lost two fingers and had his hand horribly jammed, while at work at a bakery in Lowell a week ago last Thursday. He is under the care of Dr. Carlton of Salem, who reports him as comfortable as could be expected.

Mr. S. F. Reed has our thanks for a package of Marsh's Disinfecting and Deoderizing powder, for which he is agent in this town. It is entirely odorless, and is far more rapid and effective than carbolic acid, chloride of lime and such preparations. Parties who need such a disinfectant, at a low price and worth five times what is asked for it, will do well to give Mr. Reed a call. See his advertisement in another column.

Advertisements are the most truly cumulative business investments known. Advertise widely and largely and you will make and keep the most substantial friendships, with a constantly widening and changing circle of customers, for every satisfied buyer may be reckoned your friend. Benjamin Franklin appreciated this when he said, "My son, deal with men who advertise; you will never lose by it."—Ex.

We hear of a firemen's muster that is being talked of, probably at the Willows, Salem, to take place next month. The party getting it up goes to the saloon keepers and asks them to pledge so much money—they of course to get a return from the crowd which will be attracted to the city. This with the catering, score cards, a commission on the number of horse-car fares, etc., is to pay the prizes and give the manager his profit. No entrance fee is to be charged.

As registration is necessary under the new law which requires an oath as to taxable possessions by all women who desire to vote for School Committee next spring, some attention should be given the fact by those interested. Accordingly all ladies who have voted during the last two years, and all others curious or interested, are invited to meet in the W. C. T. U. Headquarters, over Whidden's store, on Thursday (to-morrow) evening, at 7.45 o'clock, for conference.

Messrs. Scott Bros., at a late hour last evening, gave up their portion of the contract for the base of the Soldiers' Monument. They had made their contract with Hallowell Granite Co. and not with the Monument Committee, and two of the largest stones were rejected by them on account of defects, necessitating the planing down of both of them; they therefore decided to have nothing further to do in the matter, and it is expected that the original contractors will now take hold and push the job along.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

HOUSEKEEPERS

Of Peabody!

COMPLETE REVOLUTION!

IN PRICES OF

CROCKERY,

GLASS & WOODEN WARES.

READ OUR PRICES!

EXAMINE OUR WARES!

And get the best equivalent for your money.

WE QUOTE

A Gilt China Tea Set, 44 pieces,	$5.50
A Toilet (banded) Set, 10 "	3.25
" " " 3 "	1.00
Breakfast Plate,	75c per doz.
Dinner "	90c per doz.
Tea "	95c " "
Sugar Bowls,	30 and 40c each.
Ewer and Basin,	72 and 80c each.
Covered Dishes,	55, 60 and 75c each.
Platters,	9, 12, 15, 20 to 50c each.
Chambers,	25, 30 and 40c each.
Quart Bowls,	7c each.
3 Pint Bowls,	10c each.
Cups and Saucers,	40c per set.
Odd Saucers,	2c each.
Syrup Cans,	20c each.
Salt Cellars,	5 and 12c each.
Sauce Boats,	10c each.
Pickle Dishes,	10c each.
Fruit Dishes,	15 and 20c each.
Goblets,	50 and 58c per doz.
Tumblers,	40c per doz.
Pie Plates,	3, 5 and 8c each.
Dover Egg Beater,	25c each.
Lemon Squeezers,	15c each.
Decorated Tiles,	25c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 8 qt.,	10c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 15 qt.,	15c each.

Want of space limits us in our quotations, but we have a store full of goods, and ask our friends and the public to give us a call ensuring them to always find us on the Square.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,

Dustin Building.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Good,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.

jy 20—3m

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my currying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.

aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

FERNALD & SAWYER

Announce to the public that that they have

MARKED DOWN THEIR HOSIERY STOCK

To very low prices, in order to make room for fall goods. Our entire stock of 38 ct. and 42 ct. Children's Hose is marked down to 25 cts. per pair. Our 50 ct. and 62 ct. Children's Hose marked down to 38 cts. per pair. Our 15 ct. and 20 ct. Children's Hose we are selling for 12 1-2 cts. per pair. Be sure and procure some of the hose before they are all sold.

We have a decided bargain in

BEST QUALITY GERMANTOWN YARN,

slightly soiled, which we will close out at 15 cts. per skein. The regular price for this yarn is 25 cts. We guarantee it in quality the best in the market.

WE HAVE IN STOCK A LARGE LINE OF CORSETS,

For 50 cts., 75 cts., $1.00 and $1.25, which we guarantee as good goods as can be bought in Boston or elsewhere. We also have a regular 50 ct. Corset in all sizes, which we are selling for 38 cts. This is the best corset for the money that can be found anywhere.

We have about 25 doz. ALL LINEN SHIRT BOSOMS, slightly damaged, which we will sell for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents. These goods, if perfect, are worth 25, 38 and 42 cents. They are a decided bargain, and an early call is necessary to secure any of them, as they will not last long at the price we are selling them at.

IN DRY GOODS,

We are offering our extra stock of 15c Ginghams for 12 1-2 cts. per yard. Our 15 and 20c Dress Goods for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents per yard. Our remnants of Calicoes for 4 cts., yard wide 12 1-2c Cambrics, we are selling for 8 and 10 cts., according to style. We also have the largest and best stock of Domestic Dry Goods to be found in town—such as cottons, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Crashes, Flannels, Silesias, &c., &c., and they are all marked at very low prices. We endeavor to make our prices so low that our people can save money by buying their goods at home.

FERNALD & SAWYER,

48 MAIN STREET, - - - - PEABODY, MASS.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.

MUNROE & ARNOLD,

Sole Agents for Peabody,

Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of

FERTILIZERS,

manufactured by the

BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.

mch 30—6m

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL,
SALEM, MASS.

Candidates for admission will be examined on TUESDAY, Sept. 6. A new Advanced Class will then be formed. Pecuniary aid is given to needy pupils. For circulars and further information, apply to jy 27—4w D. B. HAGAR, Principal.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

WANTED

A few Boarders. MRS. M. A. DOW
No. 3 Parsons Street, Peabody. je 30—6w

FOUND.

On Main street, near the residence of Dr. Frost, yesterday, a small sum of money. The owner can have it by proving property and paying for this advertisement. Apply at this office aug 3

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low.
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

A. B. & W.

1, 2 & 3 WEST BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET.

CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

Our new Fall Importations, Suitings, Trowserings and Overcoatings,

OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

TO SHOE BUYERS OF PEABODY!

We Have Taken the Store,

No. 94 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Near the Monument, and shall keep a

FULL LINE OF BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

At the Lowest Cash City Prices. Our aim will be to give better goods at lower prices than can be found elsewhere.

We have in stock a full line of

Ladies' Hand Sewed Boots,

In French and American Kids, etc.

Pebbled Goat, Serge, we will make to the measure of the feet.

Believing in Good Goods and Low Prices, we solicit a share of your patronage.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem,

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers,

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

Anecdotes.

REMARKABLE SUPERSTITION.

It has been suspected that extensive treasure lay buried in or about the Hindoo temple at Molecarjuua (Goa), but none would dare touch it in consequence of a superstitious belief that instantaneous death or blindness would fall upon those who might sacreligiously attempt to misappropriate it. A band of Goa dacoits once entered the pagoda, with the intention of carrying away the hidden treasure, but they were so affected by the superstition that instead of trying to rob they made a donation of 5 ors. to the funds of the temple.

A dispute arose recently, however, between two castes called Mazanes and Nalcornis; the former drew up new rules, by which the latter were excluded from holding any right to the funds. The Nalcornis reported the fact to the authorities, adding that the rival parties had a sinister intention of bolting away with the treasure into British territory. The Administrator of the division sent a military detachment and the temple was surronded.

After a siege of two days an old Nalcornis, about eighty years of age, came to the temple and procured from behind the deity a paper in which the various treasures were minutely described, without, however, indicating the spot of their existence. The old man pointed out a place in front of the idol, and to the surprise of those present treasure amounting to forty thousand rupees consisting partly of old gold coins and partly of various other kinds of specie, was dug out of the ground half a foot beneath the surface. Two descriptions of gold coins mentioned in the lists, however, were missing, which on another investigation were found to have been taken away by two valipos (laborers) living some eight miles from the temple. Hither another detachment was dispatched, and the houses of the valipos were surrounded.

A son of one stated that his father had died without communicating the secret, but the descendant of one of the other pointed out the spot in an open compound, where gold ors to the amount of 3,500 ors were discovered beneath a loose stone. The news circulated that the government had resolved to carry away the treasure, and the people assembled about the temple, and with sobs and tears entreated the authorities to desist from the determination, offering security for the safety of the treasure, and even promising to pay interest or a tax every year to the government. The Administrator, who was personally present, addressed the people, assuring them that the government had no intention of appropriating the money. He drew their attention to the danger the funds were exposed to if they were left in the pagoda. The whole of the treasure was removed under a military guard from Canacona to Quepem. It will be eventually incorporated the public treasury.

AN ACCOMMODATING ROAD.

Several days ago a stranger made his appearance at the Union Depot and asked officer Button how long before the Grand River Valley train would go out.

"In about twenty minutes," was the reply.

"Then I'll have time to get a drink, won't I?"

"You will."

"That's good. I always prefer to travel on a stiff horn of whisky."

He returned in five minutes, wiping his mouth on the back of his hand, and asked:

"Has my train gone yet?"

"No, sir; you still have fourteen minutes to spare."

"That's good, and I guess I'll go back for a little brandy."

When he again returned he felt in good spirits, and ascertaining that he still had six minutes to spare he said:

"Now, that's what I call liberal, and I'll lay in one more drink."

The last one proved more than he could bear up under, and he was not seen again for three hours. Then he came around with a wobble in his gait and an uncertain look in his eyes and asked:

"Shay, what time does that Gran' River Valley train go out?"

"In about four hours."

"Fo' hours? Why, that'll give me time to get drunk agin. Mos' commodatin' railroad I ever saw, eh?"

"Yes."

"Shay, I doan' want to be mean. Go'n tell 'er superintendent he needn't wait fur me any longer, 'cause 'tmay delay others. He's a zhentleman, he is, an' I'm a zhentleman, I am, but when a zhentleman holds a train for me mos' half a day I can't impose on him any longer? Shay, do you ever cry when you get zhrunk? I do, and if you've no 'jeckshuns I'll cry now."

No objections being made, she cried.—Detroit Free Press.

BOB DITTO'S REVENGE.

Bob Ditto, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, was an idle fellow, but not a rascal, and he was offended when he received an anonymous letter asking him to commit a highway robbery. The proposed victim was Edward Sluthom, who, the writer said, would be out on a certain night with $300 in his pocket. Bob arranged a mock robbery with Sluthom, who reported a loss of the money. Then Bob received a second letter demanding a share of the booty, and planning several crimes that would be likely to prove profitable. A meeting was brought about; and the schemer turned out to be a woman of excellent reputation.

Our vices are like our nails. Even as we cut them they grow again.

A happy heart makes a happy visage.

The average western farmer toils hard, early and late, often depriving himself of needed rest and sleep—for what? To feed hogs? For what? To get money to buy more land. For what? To raise more corn. For what? To buy more land. And what does he want with more land? Why he wants to raise more corn—to feed more hogs—to buy more land—to raise more corn—to feed more hogs—and in this circle he moves, until God Almighty stops his hoggish proceedings.

☞ A Smooth Complexion can be had by every lady who will use Parker's Ginger Tonic. Regulating the internal organs and purifying the blood, it quickly removes pimples and gives a healthy bloom to the cheek. See notice.

sept7—1m

A fire company of much fame,
Took a noted burlesque lady's name,
Because on parade
Their fine hose carriage made
The fellows stare. Her's the same.

Hundreds of Men, Women and Children rescued in every community from beds of sickness and almost death and made strong by Parker's Ginger Tonic are the best evidences in the world of its sterling worth.—Post. sept7—1m

Now is the time when the roomy comforts and healthy fare of many a cosy home are exchanged for dismal "palatial" seaside and watering place garrets and indifferent food at high prices. In such an exchange "to stay at home is best."

Carter's Little Liver Pills are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only; very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging.

"It's just too sneaking mean for anything," is the universal female verdict, when the full glare of the electric light is turned on some party of two taking an evening ride in a row boat on the lake.

Coney Island Hotel proprietors lost $50,000 on a recent rainy Sunday. This is the way they figure it: Provisions bought for the occasion, $800; what they would have sold for had the guests arrived, $50,800; loss $50,000.

It isn't because a woman is exactly afraid of a cow that she runs away and screams. It is because gored dresses are not fashionable.—New Haven Register.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE.

WONDERFUL SURGICAL OPERATION—REMOVAL OF URINARY STONES FROM THE BLADDER—SUCCESSFUL.

Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., has been treated for several years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Urethra, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.

While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Billious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it and its cost is only one dollar a bottle.—The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. sep 7—1m

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MINING, MILLING AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125,000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock,	250,000 shares
Common Stock,	125,000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs.	Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines, and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of

J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have frequent headache, mouth tastes badly, poor appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "biliousness," and nothing will cure you so speedily and permanently as to take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR MEDICINE.

The Cheapest, Purest, and Best Family Medicine in the world!

A Effectual Specific for all diseases of the Liver, Stomach and Spleen

Regulate the Liver and prevent

CHILLS AND FEVER MALARIOUS FEVERS, BOWL COMPLAINTS, RESTLESSNESS, JAUNDICE AND NAUSEA.

BAD BREATH!

Nothing is so unpleasant, nothing so common as bad breath, and in nearly every case it comes from the stomach, and can be easily corrected if you will take Simmons' Liver Regulator. Do not neglect so sure a remedy for this repulsive disorder. It will also improve your Appetite, Complexion, and General Health.

PILES!

How many suffer torture day after day, making life a burden and robbing existence of all pleasure, owing to the secret suffering from Piles. Yet relief is ready to the hand of almost any one who will use systematically the remedy that has permanently cured thousands. SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR is no drastic, violent purge, but a gentle assistant to Nature.

CONSTIPATION!

SHOULD not be regarded as a trifling ailment—in fact, nature demands the utmost regularity of the bowels, and any deviation from this demand paves the way often to serious danger. It is quite as necessary to remove impure accumulations from the bowels as it is to eat or sleep, and no health can be expected where a costive habit of body prevails.

SICK HEADACHE!

This distressing affliction occurs most frequently. The disturbance of the stomach, arising from the imperfectly digested contents, causes a severe pain in the head, accompanied with disagreeable nausea, and this constitutes what is popularly known as sick headache.

GENUINE MANUFACTURED ONLY BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

mar 30 1 y

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificial Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

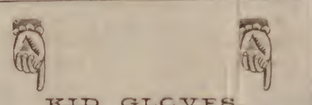
WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,



LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for RUSSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Miss M. E. HUTCHINSON. Miss N. P. PEARCY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address.

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
apl13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 4 05, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 56 P M.

Great Falls—7 57, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 50 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 5 05, 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 46, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 50 AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 50, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 08, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 50, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 56, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 36 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 52 A M, 5 45 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 20 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN, Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD. SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11·00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6 25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11 30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston 6,9 AM., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M, 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M.
Freight "	" at	5 00 P. M.
Express "	Boston at	3 30 P. M.
Freight "	" at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line. Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS," which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

537 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I cordially congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is raising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS.
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, MASS., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

Female printers pop the question to the male typos by simply handing them an interrogation point (?). If the latter intends to embrace the opportunity and accept they return a brace ~~, but if they wish to decline and dash the cup of happiness from the fair one's lips, they hand over a ——.

☞ DON'T TRUST THEM. — When you feel badly, and have pains here and there in your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have Kidney or Liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the Doctor at Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

The country churches, nowadays,
Are thrown in much disorder,
By the country folks all staring at
The hat of the summer boarder.

Fruit of the tropic's burning clime,
Thy wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way
Sanford's Ginger doth allay.—sep7-1m

"When the swallows homeward fly,
When the bloom is on the rye,
And the corn is gently waving Annie dear,
I will meet you at the gate."
Though it may be rather late,
And for the hundredth time pour taffy in your ear.

BRACE UP.—There is serious meaning in this. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and, perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

"I have always noticed," says an old financier, "that one shilling in my own pocket is always of more practical benefit to me than five shillings in any other man's pocket."

SEE, THE CONQUERING HERO, ETC. Among the most wonderful articles of the period is St. Jacobs Oil. The Hon. Leonard Swett of Chicago, pronounces it the most thorough conqueror of pain that he has ever known. — Cleveland Penny Press.

A sensitive miss from Mobile
Cried: "Horrors! how nervous I file:
I'm sure there's a mouse
Concealed in the house,
And eating the Indian mile."
—Puck

SILVER CREEK, N.Y., Feb. 6, 1880.
GENTS—I have been very low, and have tried everything, to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

"Why cannot I, dearest," said he,
As they walked together at night,
"Pluck for you from the heaven blue
Yon diamond star so bright!"
"Ah, you cannot," answered the maiden
As her bosom rose and fell,
"But if you will stop at yon jeweler's shop,
He has one will do as well."

☞ SKILL IN THE WORKSHOP.—To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and the whole constitution be built up to a higher working condition.

The latest is: "Are you going to the ocean?" "No, I'm not going to the ocean. I detest the notion, but my friend, Miss Goshen, for whom I have a great devotion, has a very strong notion of going to the ocean." Oh, give us a lotion to ease our commotion.

Life is a conundrum none of us can guess. We all have to give it up.

ITCHING PILES — SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.
Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

THE TOILETTE OF THE FLY.

The toilette of the fly is as carefully attended to as that of the most frivolnous of human insects. With a contempt for the looking-glass he brushes himself up and wabbles his little round head, chuck full of vanity, wherever he happens to be Sometimes after a long day of dissipation and flirting, with his six small legs and little round body all soiled with sirup and butter and cream, he passes out of the dining-room and wings his way to the clean, white cord along which the morning-glories climb, and in this retired spot, heedless of the crafty spider that is practicing gymnastics a few feet above him, he proceeds to purify and sweeten himself for the refreshing repose and soft dreams of the balmy summer night, so necessary to one who is expected to be early at breakfast. It is a wonderful toilet. Resting himself on his front and middle legs, he throws his hind legs rapidly over his body, binding down his frail wings for an instant with the pressure, then raking them over with a backward motion, which he repeats until they are bright and clean. Then he pushes the two legs along under the wings, giving that queer structure a thorough currying, every now and then throwing the legs out and rubbing them together to remove what he has collected from his corporal surface. Next he goes to work upon his van. Resting on his hind and middle legs, he raises his two forelegs and begins a vigorous scraping of his head and shoulders, using his proboscis every little while to push the accumulation from his limbs. At times he is so energetic that it seems as if he were trying to pull his head off, but no fly ever committed suicide. Some of his motions very much resemble those of pussy at her toilet. It is plain, even to the naked eye, that he does his work thoroughly, for when he is finished he looks like a new fly, so clean and neat has he made himself within a few minutes. The white cord is defiled, but floppy is himself again, and he bids the morning-glories a very good evening.

CHANGING THEIR BASE.

The legend runs that the fine Norman Church of Godshill, in the Isle of Wight, was to have been built in the valley, but the builders every morning found the previous day's work had been destroyed during the night and the stones carried to the top of the hill. Considering this as a Divine indication where the holy structure was to be built, they accordingly reared it on that prominent site, where for miles round it still forms a graceful and beautiful object. A similar legend is related with reference to the Church of Ste Marie du Castel, in Guernsey, where it is currently reported that fairies were the agents, while others assert it was the work of angels. Indeed, it would appear that in days gone by the invisible beings, of whatever nature they were, who, according to tradition, so often interfered in the building of some sacred edifice, generally selected for its site the most inconvenient spot, and not infrequently a steep hill. The Church of Breedon, in Leicestershire, for instance, stands on a high hill, with the village at its foot. Tradition, however, says that when the site of the church was first fixed upon, a central spot in the village was chosen. The foundations were not only dug, but the builders commenced the fabric. It was to no purpose; for all they built in the course of the day was carried away by doves during the night-time, and skillfully built exactly in the same manner on the hill where the church stands. Both founder and workmen, awed and terrified by this extraordinary procedure, were afraid to build the church on its original site, and agreed to finish the one begun by the doves.—Chambers's Journal.

PLEA FOR DIVORCES.

There is said to be an ancient inscription extant upon one of the gates of Agra, Hindostan, which tells how one monarch attempted to check the evil of divorces, and how he failed. In the first year of his reign a thousand dissolutions of marriage took place, which so angered him that he issued an edict declaring the marriage tie infrangible. During the ensuing year, however, three thousand weddings fewer than heretofore were celebrated, but breaches of marriage vow became more numerous by seven thousand. Three hundred women were publicly burned to death for having poisoned their husbands. Seventy-five men were impaled for the murder of their wives. Property to the value of many millions was broken, burned and otherwise destroyed in private dwellings. All this being made known to the sovereign, he lost no time in revoking his above edict, and in pronouncing divorce to be legal, as before his accession to the throne.

A PATRIOTIC RAT.

The Stanford (Ky.) Journal says: At a fire in Madison county there appeared in a window up stairs, which had been opened in removing furniture, a venerable-looking rat, which surveyed the ground and then retired. Presently he returned and suspended himself from a broken lath, head downward. Then one ran down him and swung off, keeping this up until eleven were suspended; then giving one or two swings, they all let loose except the first that suspended. Those that let loose escaped, but the patriotic old one perishsd in the flames.

Farewell is a sad word, but if we should only contrive to say it to some of our bad habits we should be much happier.—Exchange.

Children have more need of models than of critics.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

ENEMIES OF SPIDERS.

The well-known naturalist, the Rev. H. E. McCook, of Philadelphia, has been talking to the Academy of that city on spiders, which he designated as the most benevolent of insects. Among the principal enemies of the spider he enumerated many of those hymenopterous or four-winged flies, the bees, wasps, &c., which produce flesh-eating grubs. Large numbers of spiders are used by this species as food. The nest of one of these forms was exhibited, built of clay in such a manner as to resemble the pipes of Pan. When opened, the nests were found filled with spiders of different species. They were all paralyzed by the fly, but not killed, and in this state of suspended animation they remain until the hatching out of the grubs, which eagerly devour them one after the other. The unfortunate captives lie limp in the jaws of the grubs, showing of sensation and making no resistance. Other flies, and among these may be included the common black house fly, prey upon spiders by destroying the cocoons or by sucking the contents of their eggs when they happen to be uncovered or only slightly protected. The eggs are also devoured in large numbers by birds. Some species of birds assist in preventing the spread of spiders by making use of their webs, especially the thicker portion used in the construction of cocoons, to build their nests. A bird's nest was exhibited composed of this material in such quantity as to indicate the destruction of a great many webs. Those hymenopterous insects which deposit their eggs in the cocoons of the spiders are, however, their most destructive enemies. When the grubs are hatched, they attack the eggs and young of their hosts and consume them as food, until sufficiently developed to obtain their own nourishment.

Many a time, when we were a boy, have we watched the blue wasp (Sphex cerulea) building his mud nest and then storing it with spiders; and many a time, too, have we been bothered to know his object in thus imprisoning the spider, and then closing up the aperture of ingress with mud; never for a moment suspecting that he provided them as food for his young.

We have also followed him to the place where he procured his mud, sometimes carrying off a pellet of it heavy enough to weigh down the front part of his body. Housekeepers had no particular love for the wasp, but their aversion to spiders amounted to a dread; and had they known the habits of the wasp they would have loved him more.—Lancaster Farmer.

A FRESH-WATER SPRING IN THE ATLANTIC.

Says the Savannah (Ga.) News: One of the most remarkable displays of nature may be seen on the Atlantic coast, eighteen miles south of St. Augustine. Off Matanzas Inlet, and three miles from shore, a mammoth fresh-water spring gurgles up from the depths of the ocean with such force and volume as to attract the attention of all who come in its immediate vicinity. This fountain is large, bold and turbulent. It is noticeable to fishermen and others passing in small boats along near the shore. For many years this wonderful and mysterious freak of nature has been known to the people of St. Augustine and those living along the shore, and some of the superstitious ones have been taught to regard it with a kind of reverential awe or holy horror, as the abode of supernatural influences. When the waters of the ocean in its vicinity are otherwise calm and tranquil, the upheaving and troubled appearance of the water shows unmistakable evidences of internal commotions. An area of about half an acre shows this troubled appearance—something similar to the boiling of a washerwoman's kettle. Six or eight years ago Commodore Hitchcock, of the United States Coast Survey, was passing this place, and his attention was directed to the spring by the restless upheavings of the water, which threw his ship from her course as she entered the spring. His curiosity becoming excited by this circumstance, he set to work to examine its surroundings, and found six fathoms of water everywhere in the vicinity, while the spring itself was almost fathomless.

A SEA WAIF.

A very curious anecdote is told concerning Admiral Bythesea, V. C., C. B., who has just retired from the service, after having for many years filled the post of Consulting Naval Officer to the Government of India. It is stated that the Admiral was picked up, when an infant, far out at sea, lashed to a bale of goods. A lady—presumably his mother—was with him, but she was dead, and there was no evidence of any kind by which the name of the waif could be traced. The officers of the man-of-war which picked up the poor little infant did all they could by advertisement and inquiry to discover his relatives, and finding all their attempts futile, they determined to adopt the child, to whom they gave the name of "By the Sea." He was sent to a naval school, and, when old enough, joined the navy. By a happy coincidence, the first ship in which he served was the one which had saved his life as an infant. He took to his profession, and during the Crimean War distinguished himself at the Island of Wardo, where he earned the Victoria Cross and the decoration of the C. B. Later on his services in India gave him the Companionship of the Order of the Indian Empire, and he now retires from the service with the rank of Admiral—a consummation little dreamed of by the kind-hearted officers who rescued and educated him.

A memory is the granary of the mind and of experience.

Large Japanese Fan for 1 cent, at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT
GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.

Directions in Eleven Languages.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.

A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
TRADE MARK.

We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.

☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill at a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York City.

Trois Photo.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.
George Osborne, Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney, Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen, George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.
John A. Lord, George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill, Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler, Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little, Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren, Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill, Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn, John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.

New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.

Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames,
Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS,
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER"
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicts, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache: purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.

STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS.

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF
MERCANTILE PRINTING,
is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
PEABODY, MASS.

Scientific.

A BEAUTIFUL golden-yellow dye is now prepared from the young wood of various poplars. The young branches and shoots are cut off, crushed and brayed, then boiled in alum water, in the proportions of ten pounds of wood and one pound powdered alum to three gallons of water. The liquor is boiled from twenty minutes to half an hour, and then filtered. In cooling, it thickens and clears, throwing down a greenish yellow deposit of resinous matter. When sufficiently clear, the liquid is again filtered, and then left exposed to the air for three or four days more, according to the weather and atmosphere. It quickly oxidizes under the action of the light and air, and assumes a rich golden tint, and in this state can be used for dyeing fabrics of all descriptions. For yellow and orange-yellow shades, it is used alone; mixed with Prussian blue, it gives green; with oak bark, brown and tan; with cochineal, &c., orange and scarlet shades. The coloring thus produced is said to be of superior quality.

THE perfection of electrical machine construction would appear to have been attained recently, in the production of a Holtz instrument which, according to the description, has revolving plates of forty-five inches diameter, and other parts in proportion. By means of a continuous charging apparatus attached to the machine, the inductors may be readily charged without recourse to the catskin and rubber plate. The machine, together with the charging apparatus, is mounted on a massive mahogany apparatus used in experiments. By an ingenious arrangement of mechanism, the crank which rotates the large plates is made to turn the charging apparatus; the machine is capable of yielding a twenty-s x-inch spark, the accompanying report being quite startling. In contrast to this superb machine, mention is made of one having a five-inch revolving plate, and yielding a one-inch spark.

THE height of the earth's atmosphere, according to the result arrived at by M. Landeur from his various investigations, is 22,000 miles, instead of 250, as previously named. He corroborates this calculation by showing that the height at which meteoric matter becomes incandescent, on approaching the earth, is far beyond the distance heretofore assigned to it, and therefore there must be an atmosphere of that greater distance, to produce the incandescence. He also accounts for the spectrum of the aurora borealis showing a marked coincidence with that of the zodiacal light, by the theory that, since the earth travels in the zodiacal nebulosity from September to May, the rarefied atmosphere beyond the earth's heavy envelope of air must absorb some of the constituent element of the zodiacal nebulosity, and thus these elements make their presence apparent in the spectrum of the aurora, which phenomenon occurs in this rarefied outer envelope.

THE manufacture of ironclad steel, which has recently been undertaken, is claimed to overcome the difficulty arising from the difference between the two methods, in the processes of working them together; for, although steel and iron readily unite when they are brought to a proper degree of heat, yet it has always been found troublesome to properly heat long bars of iron and steel so that they would become firmly welded together under the pressure of rollers. In this new process, a box is made of pig iron or muck bars, with sides, ends, top and bottom, complete; into this box the steel is put, the box is closed, the whole mass is brought to a high degree of heat, and the working begins. The iron box, enclosing the steel, now in form of a solid mass, with the iron and steel united, is worked into the form of a bar and is ready for rolling. The steel with the iron outside of it can be rolled down into any size of rod or bar desired.

M. CHARPENTIER has presented to the French Association for the Advancement of Science a paper in which, it appears, he propounded the somewhat novel theory that the sense of light and that of colors are independent. Since white light is the sum total of the various colors, it has been commonly thought that the sensation of white light was simply the sum total of the sensations of its constituent colors. On the ground that the sensitiveness of the eye white light may be increased—as, for instance, by the previous absence of all light—without the sensitiveness for color being increased, M. Charpenteir urges that there is a color sense as distinct from that of light as is the sense of touch from the sense of heat. This interesting theory has received considerable attention from scientific men.

ANOTHER substitute for ivory, coral, leather, caoutchouc, &c., is now being introduced. It is prepared as follows: Cellulose—woody fibre—is treated with sulphuric acid, then washed with water to remove any excess of acid; dried and converted into a fine powder; this is mixed with resin soap, in a mortar, and the soda of the soap is removed by treatment with sulphate of alumina. The mass is now collected, dried again, and pressed into cakes by hydraulic pressure, these being then cut into thin plates, which are shaped by again subjecting them to pressure. By adding castor oil or glycerine to the mass, before pressure, the products may be made transparent.

THE mining adit at Schemnitz, Hungary, begun some eight years ago, and now recently finished, is the longest tunnel in the world.

Large Japanese Fan for 1 cent, at Peabody's.

The Posts of the G. A. R. in Essex County, in spite of the intense heat, had a good time at Balch's Grove, Groveland, last Wednesday. Union Post 50 of this town, to the number of fifty, with their lady friends, went by train to Newburyport and there embarked in the stern wheel steamer City of Haverhill for a trip up the river. The sail was delightful, and the scenery fine. There were probably 2000 people at the grove, including Henry Peirce, Secretary of the Commonwealth, National Commander Merrill, Department Commander Creasy, Adj.-Gen. Meach, Past Dep't Commander Adams and other comrades of note; the Haverhill Band gave some fine selections during the day. Dinner was served in tents by caterers, and many brought private baskets.

Mr. Ira A. Burnham did the catering for Union Post 50, and also for the Beverly and Danvers posts, in a very acceptable manner. After dinner sports were indulged in, such as a wheelbarrow race, walking match, foot ball match, etc. At 5 o'clock the picnic broke up, and the comrades took the steamer for Haverhill and Newburyport, and departed by train for home, perfectly satisfied that they had a good time, and that the reunion had been a success.

SCENE IN THE SANCTUM.—Editor trimming his nails. Enter Contributor. Editor effects to be busy with his exchanges Contributor. I have some verses here—a trifle that I knocked off this morning while waiting for my breakfast. May be they'll help to fill up.

Editor. Daresay. Where shall I send them in case we cannot use them?

Con. Oh, Ill just wait till you read them; 'twont take long.

Ed. But I am terribly pressed for time. Quite impossible to read manuscript or even look at it. for some days. Better give me your address.

Contributor, deeply impressed with the multitude and magnitude of an editor's cares, leaves his address and goes out. Returning in two minutes to ask a question, and finds editor lazily smoking and reading that manuscript. Contributor stammers; editor blushes.

Con. Ah, so glad you thought better of it. I'll wait for your decision.

Ed. My dear sir don't do it. I was not reading this manuscript; I was only counting the words in it, in order to ascertain whether I shall have the leisure to read it next Thursday, or shall have to postpone that happiness till the following Saturday. We have to methodize in this business or we should never be able to economize our time.—San Francisco Wasp.

It beats all what a little thing will ruin the reputation of six church deacons. In a Vermont village the deacons had a business meeting in the church, and after they had left a wicked man put six empty beer bottles in a pew, and left a pack of old cards scattered on the floor. In the evening there was a gathering of the sisters to talk up a sociable, and when they saw the lay out there was music by the entire band. Two deacons have gone to the mountains for their health, one is on a sick bed, another has gone to the seashore, and two who can't get away are there trying to explain it. But a man might just as well try to explain a black hair on his coat to his blonde wife.—Peck's Sun.

The Boston Traveller thinks the examinations of railroad men to detect color blindness have been more theoretical than practical. One shrewd railroad man successfully passed the ordeal and then arranged to catch the examiner. He took as an example the lights and shadows of a landscape view which any farmer could distinguish. The question puzzled the inspector, whose reply was, "I am not familiar with colors under such circumstances." "Nor do we know anything about your worsted business," was the prompt rejoinder.

The war among the doctors over the president's case continues. The Essex county homœopathic society met at Salem, Wednesday, and were unanimously of the opinion that the wound had been improperly treated from the beginning.

Five Gloucester girls went west some years ago to engage in teaching. In due time one of them got married—for school-marms do get married sometimes—and when her first baby was born she named her Mabel, or the initials of the five Gloucester girls who went west. Maria, Abbie, Belle, Eliza and Lizzie.

Dr. D. W. Bliss has just passed another comfortable night. He takes his nourishment frequently and with great relish.—New Orleans Picayune.

HORSE FOR SALE.

A LARGE, BAY, FAMILY HORSE,

With black points, very stylish, good age, all seasoned, and will work well in any place.
Can be seen and driven at
DANIEL PROCTOR FARM,
Near Proctor's Crossing,
Peabody.
aug 10—3w

A very little money will buy a nice Break fast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

Marriages.

In Peabody Sept. 5th, by Rev. L. L. Wood, Mr. George F. Smith to Miss Emma G. Faunce, both of Lawrence.

Sept. 7, by Rev. John Colwell, Mr. Samuel G. Southwick to Miss Nellie J. Dakin, both of Peabody.

In Marblehead, Aug. 31st, Mr. John H. Mahoney of Salem to Miss Margaret E. Sullivan of M.

In Beverly, Aug. 21, by Rev. Mr. Emery, Mr. Patrick J. Lyons of B. to Miss Fanny D. Lawson of Salem.

In Worcester, Sept. 5th, by Rev. L. L. Wood of Peabody, Mr. Isaac W. Grimes of Boston to Miss Mary E. Morse of Worcester.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Aug. 30, Mrs. Barbara Tierney 40 yrs.

Sept. 2, Mr. John Shannahan, 60 yrs.

In Salem, Aug. 31, Mr. Edward O'Brien, 55 yrs.; Sept. 1, Mr. Timothy Collins, 64 yrs. 8 mos.; 2d, Mr. William J. McGrane, 24 yrs. 1 mo.; 4th, Mr. John Warren, 86 yrs. 6 mos.; In Danvers, Aug. 30, Mrs. Nellie P. N., wife of Dr. J. P. Wentworth.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

WHITE MOUNTAIN
EXCURSIONS,
VIA THE
Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,
WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n. lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.
GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

FINE STATIONERY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

CIRCULATING LIBRARY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Blank Books of All Kinds,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Juvenile Books,
IN GREAT VARIETY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

WALLETS AND PURSES,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

5 and 10 Cent Counter,
—AT—
SWAIN'S,
220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.
Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence, Nov. 4. 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celebrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.
From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill.—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.
From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.
From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 [Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE.
—AT THE—
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thur day.
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder; Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

HOTEL.
LOWELL ISLAND HOUSE,
SALEM HARBOR.

This popular resort for Salem people is now open for Transient Guests and Boarders, for the Season of 1881.
Music Saturday Evenings and Sunday Mornings.

Steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9.20, 11.30 a. m., 2 30, 5 00, 7 30 p. m., for the Island. Returning at 7 30, 10 00 a. m., 2 00, 3 45, 6 30, p. m. Sundays, steamer leaves Phillips' Wharf at 9 15, a. m., 12 15, 7, p. m Returning at 8 15, 11 30 a. m., 6 p. m. Barges will run between Wharf and Depots.
S. C. WALKER, Manager.
jy 20

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.
THURSDAY and SUNDAY, AT 10 A. M
ALONG THE NORTH SHORE.
FRIDAY, at 10 A. M.
MOUTH OF THE MERRIMC.
SATURDAY, AT 9.30 A. M.
PROVINCETOWN.
Grand Fishing Tournament,
Commencing Monday, Sept. 12.
MOONLIGHT TRIPS
Will continue through the present week.
The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

BOSTON & GLOUCESTER
INDEPENDENT STEAMSHIP CO.

On and after June 15 the Steamship ADMIRAL will leave Atlantic Company's Wharf, Gloucester, for Boston, at 6.45 A. M. and 2 P. M., and on return trip from Battery Wharf, Boston, at 10 A M. and 5 P. M. daily.
The "Admiral" is an ocean steamer, and until recently carried the mails between Pensacola, Key West and Havana, and was selected and used by the Government to convey Gen. Grant and party to Cuba.
Staterooms can be secured for regular trips and by those wishing to remain on the steamer over night at Gloucester.
Single fare to Gloucester, 65 cents. Round-trip tickets, $1.00.
Single fare to Magnolia (stage fare included) 75 cents.
Round trip tickets to Magnolia (stage fare included), $1.40. Take Chelsea and East Boston Ferry cars to Battery Wharf.
For freight and passage apply to
J. H. HAYDEN & CO., Battery Wharf, Boston.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS' BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET.
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Best & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER.
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail. CHARLES A. ROHES, 41 to 47 Central street.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.
Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.
Also agent for the Barstow Dome Fur nace.
We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

FRESH ARRIVAL.
Shortly before the rise in BLACK WALNUT, WE ORDERED 200 BLACK WALNUT CHAMBER SETS, which have now arrived, and have been placed in our storehouse. Being too late for our Spring Trade, we propose to offer them at the low price of $45,
Either for cash or by our system of
INSTALMENTS.
These sets COMPRISE TEN PIECES. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c.; are handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the marble is the BEST ITALIAN, and the Walnut is warranted Kiln Dried. The regular Prices for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55. That small incomes may be no bar to obtaining one of these beautiful and useful articles of Furniture, we propose to give purchasers
EIGHT MONTHS
in which to pay for them on instalments. In face of the fact that WALNUT is RAPIDLY ADVANCING, we advise everybody in want of a Walnut Set, whether for present or future use, to purchase one of these sets as the opportunity for so great a bargain may never occur again. Catalogue of household goods and terms furnished to parties living anywhere in New England. Orders by mail promptly attended to.
Attention is called to our stock of the celebrated ADAMS & WESTLAKE Improved Wire-Gauze, Non-Explosive
OIL STOVE,
Which we offer for $4. They are the only Stoves sold that are PRONOUNCED ABSOLUTELY SAFE by the Insurance Commissioners. Be sure and see them in full operation at our establishment. Price List and terms on Instalments furnished on application.
The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.
W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.
apr 6—6 m

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.
We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a
First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.
Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.
Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.
Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.
NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

DINING SALOON.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.
Meals Served at All Hours.
A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
my 7 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 14, 1881. NO. 38.

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law.
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16, 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
uwl tf

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. jan

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

The Peabody Press.

Letters from our Correspondents.

PARK RIDGE, ILLINOIS, }
Sept. 10th, 1881. }

MESSRS EDITORS,—Perhaps a word from the West occasionally would not come amiss. The business of the south-west is full up to any preceding year. The dry goods business, boots and shoes, and the thousand and one agricultural implements which the country needs, has been very active.

The crops in Illinois are poor as a general thing. The early drouth, coupled with the extreme heat from the early spring to the present, has well nigh settled the question as to the crops. However, on considering the lateness of the season, if the hot weather had not been given us, the corn crop would have been a complete failure, as it has come on quite rapidly under the hot sun. Illinois (especially the central and northern portion) is a corn growing state. As wheat as a crop does not flourish very extensively, the principal attention of the summer is given to the stronger products. But a short crop may redound to the welfare of the West, if it learns to be more careful and saving, as the West is very wasteful of grain.

I have noticed from time to time, you have been discussing at some length the temperance question in regard to licensing the sale of spirituous liquors. Peabody seems to have receded from the position taken a few years since. I had hoped that the sale of intoxicating drink would never have assumed the shape which it appears to have taken. Do not give it control as you value the peace and happiness of that industrial place. The untold miseries which it entails, and the sorrows which it carries to the many thousand homes, forbids sanction of all who love law and order, and for the sake of all that is human, do not let it spread over that once peaceful place. Just cast your eyes for a moment to Chicago, and note the endless line of evils which it engenders there. The 3380 saloons and liquor places are working their devastations on families and society, carrying there blight, more withering than the simoon of the desert, into every spot where blooms the choicest flower that ever graced the coronet of nature, and filling the hearts of thousands with fear and dread. The business of liquor selling is a thing in which there is no redeeming trait. The course of its victim is down, always down, until the earth covers their remains, and the once kind and tender husband and father and the beloved boy is crowded off the stage of existence until they fall into a drunkard's grave. For the sake of humanity, for the sake of individuals or society, for the sake of all that tends to make up the peace and well being of the community in which you live, for the sake of the principles and precepts of the Saviour while on earth, rouse your best efforts and put forth your best words, which you have from time to time done for its annihilation, and heaven's best blessing shall be yours. Remove the wine cup from a father's or brother's lips. Enter the home where dwells a trusty wife, and the dear little ones, who know no evil save in the harsh and cruel treatment of a father, maddened by the imbibing of the deadening mixture. See that home made desolate, and the once loved heart, but now bleeding and sore with the continual wear and watching of months, nay, years, and the manly face of the father that is spotted all over with crime and all the woes that afflict mankind, and with the best wishes for the race. Give, oh, give your strongest influence of the press to stem the torrent of evil that is threatening to sweep out every vestige of honor and goodness from society.—By the strength of principle which is due to our falling brother, by the interest which we have for the right, by the sympathy which we feel for the degraded one, by the love which we cherish for humanity and the race, we will use every influence which we possess for its overthrow. J. G. PHELPS.

"In contemplation of created things
By steps we may ascend to God."
—Milton.

Is not the voice of Nature sweet to thee, fond reader? Its silver tones may be heard in the cloud-girdled water-fall that doth echo forth the notes given it at creation's dawn; also in the soft, murmuring rill that rolls with elfin music through meadows green; in the scream of the eagle, as, with outspread wings, he soars among the clouds, and also in the infant song and wild thrill of the humming bird's wings; in the hoarse thunder-peals of the sable clouds, and in the mild zephyrs that fan the waving trees; in the sharp notes of the wild bird's strain, and in the sonorific hymn of the morning star. But is Nature dumb to thee? Then list to the voice of Divine Providence which, like the wheel in Ezekiel's vision, is so high that its circumference is dreadful. It speaks in the majestic roar of ocean, and in the shout of nations that are at war with each other; in the volcanic eruptions of earth, and from the uncorked bottles of heaven; in the plague that hovers with out-spread wings over towns and cities, and in the floods that deluge mountains and plains; in business of prosperity and in business of adversity, in sunshine and in storm, in sickness and in health, in life and in death.

But are the accents of neither of these heard by thee? One of them is strong, like the howl of a rough wind that rends the mountains; the other like an earthquake that shakes the globe.—If deaf to these, bend thine ear to the voice of God's oracles, which, though "still and small," will, if properly regarded, cause thee to wrap thy face with a mantle, for it strikes the heart. It is the voice of Him who walketh upon the wings of the winds and sitteth king upon the floods. Clouds and darkness may be round about Him, but righteousness and judgment are the habitation of His throne. In the centre of a labyrinth, formed like an ear, sat Dionysus, and heard the whispers of his servants. Jehovah sits on the centre or circumference of the universe and every thought meets his ear. He doth also speak. His voice is truth divine.

Dost thou ask, What is truth? That question was once asked by one of old, but who retired, not wishing for an answer. "When he had said this, he went out"—tarried not to hear a reply, but merely said to those whom he met on his way: "I find no fault in Him." Why should he, or any one, find fault with truth, if it does not perfectly agree with his perceptions? Divine truth will cut its way through thick and thin, and stand erect at the end of all things. So throw thine arms around it, embrace it, live it out, and thy final end will be everlasting peace of conscience: yea, peace with God. We remember reading somewhere, years ago, that in Dresden, where for long centuries the Saxon princes gathered themselves gems and treasures, until they became worth millions, might be seen a silver egg, a present to one of the Saxon queens, which, by a slight touch of the finger, would fly open and reveal a golden yolk. Within that was hid a chicken whose wings, when pressed, would fly open also, and disclose a golden crown thickly gemmed with jewels. But that was not all. Another secret spring, if slightly touched, revealed hidden in its centre a magnificent diamond ring of more value than all the rest. Thus it is with the Book of Books; truths and promises, treasures within treasures vastly more precious than diamonds, are in it; and a mere touch of its spring—a slight study—reveals "thoughts that will wake to perish never," but will shine like jewels in the crown of everlasting life. Then, fond reader, die not like the Roman virgin, under the weight of what is mistaken for ornaments. Rather imitate Milton whose soul, it has been said, "was an University," and who died like a star re-absorbed into its Author—melted down into God—accepting death as gently and silently as the sky receives into its arms the waning moon or the dying rainbow. When I am dead, said Napoleon, my soul will return to France and dwell in the hearts of the people like thunder in the clouds of heaven, and throb with ceaseless strife in new revolutions. But supposing that to have been the case, who would prefer it to a union with Him who is "the light of the world," "governor among the nations," reigning as "God over all, blessed forevermore."

Naturalists tell us that a lodestone will not draw in the presence of a diamond; neither will the world, brighter than a diamond to some, win away a heart that has really turned to God.—The truly wise, we are told, shall hereafter shine like the stars, forever and ever. J. P.

Death of Gen. Burnside.

GEN. A. E. BURNSIDE, one of the prominent soldiers in our late war, died suddenly yesterday of heart disease, at his residence in Bristol, R. I. He was taken ill on Tuesday of last week, but neglected to call his physician until Saturday. Monday he was much improved, and contrary to the advice of his physician, he went to Providence Monday afternoon. On his return he was seized with spasms of the heart, and died yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. At his death he was senator of the United States from Rhode Island, and this body thus loses another Republican Senator. He was Colonel of the first regiment sent out to the war from his state, and was made brigadier-general in 1861, and was made major-general in February, 1862. When the Confederates invaded Maryland, Gen. Burnside's command was increased, and with Gen. McClellan, he pushed forward to meet them, defeating them in September at South Mountain. At the battle of Antietam he commanded the left wing, and highly distinguished himself. Assigned to the command of the 9th army corps, he occupied Centreville, Va., in the following October. At the same time he was placed in command in one of the grand armies into which the Army of the Potomac was divided, and very soon he succeeded Gen. McClellan in command of the combined forces. In December he was defeated by Lee at Fredericksburg in what was known as "Burnside's mud campaign." Soon after this he was relieved of the command of the army of the Potomac and transferred to the command of the department of the Ohio. He repulsed Longstreet's attack on Knoxville in November, 1863, and took command of the 9th corps in the following April, participating in the campaign around Petersburg and Richmond until Lee's surrender. Returning home after peace had been secured, the gallant general was twice honored by his fellow-citizens in being made Governor of the State—in 1866 and 1871—and subsequently United States senator.

George Donnell, the oldest person in Newburyport and probably in Essex county, died at his home on Marlborough street, at 12 o'clock Monday night of old age. Mr. Donnell was born at York, Maine, June 16, 1782, and had nearly completed a century of existence. He came to Newbury when he was a boy, and learned the ropemaker's trade, in which he was engaged for many years. Mr. Donnell was the father of ten children, all but two of whom are living, and but one of them died of disease, the other being drowned at sea. Mr. Donnell retained his faculties to a remarkable degree; his senses were less impaired than those of many men thirty years younger, and his mind was clearer than with many a score of years younger. Upon the completion of his ninty-ninth year Rev. Dr. Wallace and the session of the Old South Church called on him and administered the sacrament, he having been a communicant at that church for more than sixty-three years. He was much interested in politics and at the last Presidential election cast his twentieth ballot for President of the United States, having voted for every President since the second election of Jefferson in 1804. Mr. Donnell was one of our most respected citizens, and he leaves a large number of descendants, who take high rank for intelligence, respectability and usefulness. —Newburyport Herald.

THE STEAMER EMPIRE STATE enters this week on a grand Fishing Tournament. Trips will be made daily for ten days, the tickets being limited to 250. These tickets will take two persons, and will be sold for $2.00 each, and a line and bait guaranteed to one of them. A prize of $25 will be given for the largest fish caught and an additional prize of $200 will be given at the end of the tournament, for the largest fish caught during the ten days.

THE NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE of Mr. L. R. Power is attracting considerable attention. Mr. Power is a stirring wide-awake business man, not afraid to let the public know the prices at which he sells his goods, and is meeting with the success which he deserves. All his goods are new and fresh, and a call at his store will convince our readers of the truth of what we say.

PEABODY.

It will be seen by our advertising columns that Baird's Minstrels are to give an entertainment at Peabody Institute on Tuesday evening next. It is to be given under the auspices of, and for the benefit of the charity fund of, Post 50, G. A. R., and we trust they will have a crowded house. They are to appear in an entirely new programme from that of last year, including a Zouave Cadet Corps, and the New York Church Choir Boys. Reserved seats without extra charge, at B. F. Stevens'.

A most unexampled spectacle of youthful depravity may be seen very frequently on Fulton street. Through the charity of the Warren National Bank officials, a very aged couple named Dorsey have been allowed to make their abode in the cellar of one of their houses. It is the habit of all the young scamps in the vicinity to congregate together and most shamefully assault them with rocks and rubbish of all kinds, breaking their windows, and in other ways annoying them. They even carry it so far as to throw all sorts of refuse matter upon their food while eating. The young ruffians only follow out the course taught them by their parents who applaud their actions, and even at times participate themselves.

Peabody schools are in full blast again; the bells ring at regular intervals, students with their packages of books go to and fro, teachers with thoughtful countenances pace hurriedly along, children find less time for play on the streets, and parents more time for the quiet occupations of home. A generous emulation seems to be the motor power in the efforts of all, from the primary scholar who labors to reach the higher grades in advance of his fellows to the maturer minds that delve in science and the classics. Rapidly each person is finding his place in the great educational machinery, and soon the work of storing and cultivating minds will go smoothly and surely on for another three months.

We have received a correspondence asking why the northern part of our town, known as Feltonville, should not be called North Peabody, as well as the others South and West Peabody. The only reason that those places have been called South Peabody and West Danvers (not Peabody as our correspondent says) is because a post-office has been established there, and it was thus named by the officials at Washington. But as regards Feltonville, we think nothing is gained and much is lost and no one is honored by substituting new names for the familiar and time-honored appellations whose associations have made them dear to many hearts. And a sensible public ought not to endorse such names by adopting them.

Postmasters have received another order from Washington, directing them to report all cases where letters are received at their offices with stamps not properly canceled to the post-office department. These orders are sent to all offices, and are occasioned by the fact that often, from various causes, letters are sent without the stamp being properly canceled, thus giving a chance for the stamp to be used a second time.—The most trouble is said to come from the smaller offices, but the enforcement of this regulation will doubtless put an end to this carelessness, as the department will at once learn where it occurs. Offices at which such letters are recieved are now required to cancel the stamp, get the envelope from the party to whom it is addressed, and forward it to Washington.

The date of the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument has been fixed by the Committee for the 29th inst., and it is probable that it will occur on that day. Post 50, G. A. R., have issued neat invitations to the different posts in Essex County to participate in the parade, and the committee has voted to invite the Irish American societies, the Masonic and Odd Fellows Lodges, the firemen, the schools, and the citizens generally to join in the procession. As has been stated, Rev. J. F. Lovering, Chaplain-in-Chief of the G. A. R., will deliver the oration, and Gov. Long, Commander-in-Chief Merrill, Dept.-Commander Creasy, with their staffs, and other dignitaries are expected to be present.—Rev. J. W. Hudson has been invited by the Committee to participate in the exercises, and all the clergymen of the town will have seats on the platform.

James A. Gillis, Esq., and Dr. A. M. Dudley returned home from Europe in the steamer City of Brussels which arrived in New York on Friday. Mr. Gillis has traveled through Germany including Berlin and Vienna. Dr. Dudley, during his absence, has kept us constantly supplied with the latest and best European newspapers, from which we have several times found occasion to make extracts. We observe that he attended the ninth annual meeting of the American Dental Society of Europe at Weisbaden, Germany, and delivered an address before the body and was elected an honorary member. At the banquet given in honor of the American dentists, he responded in behalf of the Americans present. The day before he left London he was entertained by Earl Dudley and had the freedom of Hemley Hall and Dudley Castle, and seems to have been generally fortunate in receiving the attentions which English people bestow upon Americans. It was rather a noticeable coincidence in connection with the doctor's name, that Earl Dudley's home is in the town of Dudley, and that the adjoining town is Albion.—Gazette.

WE WOULD call attention of our readers to the very flattering testimonials, published in another column, to the skill and ability of Dr. A. P. Lighthill of Boston, who has become noted throughout New England for his treatment of Catarrh and all affections of the throat and lungs. The testimonials given by the doctor are from gentlemen and ladies who are well known in this vicinity, and are genuine. The reputation of the signers precludes any idea of the facts therein contained being otherwise than the truth. They are very flattering to him, and give evidence that the doctor is at home in his speciality. We cordially recommend those who are afflicted with any of these diseases which are so prevalent in this climate to give him a call at his office No. 115 Boylston St. Boston.

Henry G. Vennor arrived in Washington on the 6th inst., and in response to inquiries he wrote the following forecast of weather. Indications recently observed and gathered from telegraphic dispatches of the day appear to me to point to very wet weather generally over the North American continent and perhaps particularly in the northwest territories on and after the 15th, while in England and Scotland cold and stormy weather possibly, with a snowfall in northern sections, is likely to occur in the neighborhood of the 21st and 22d. The wet weather on this side is likely to continue through the latter half of the present month and into October. During this latter month the outcry is likely to be, "Too much rain;" and sleet and snow will fall early in the northern section, with sharp frosts in November. Then the frosts will disappear for a time and some very fine and balmy weather will be likely to form a feature in this month.

POLICE NOTES.—Simon Hayes, for stealing fruit, $3 and costs.

12th, David Lynch, assault and malicious mischief, 3 mos. in House of Correction.

Chas. Simonds, Salem, drunk, $6.10.

13th, Daniel Cronan, drunk, $5.85; sent to Salem jail.

Lawrence Nagle, assault, $3, without costs.

Mary J. Carney, Mary Lawrence and Maurice Shea, keeping liquor with intent to sell, $50 and costs; appealed.

THE NEW ENGLAND BOOT & SHOE Co. in Salem have a new advertisement in another column. This thriving and enterprising concern has large stores in New Haven, Hartford and elsewhere, besides in Salem. They are thus enabled to purchase their goods in large quantities, and at the very bottom prices. The store in Salem is managed by Mr. F. W. Lucas, whose experience in the business is first-class. Give them a call. All their goods are warranted as represented, and will be cordially shown.

Mr. A. B. Cross, the well-known photographer of Salem, was married to Miss M. L. Willis on Tuesday morning last, at Lowell, Mass., the home of the bridegroom. The ceremony was private, only near relatives being present, and was performed by Rev. Theodore Edson, D. D., who baptized the bridegroom twenty-two years ago. At home, No. 100 Washington square, after Sept. 15.

Poet's Corner.

Old Grimes.

BY ALBERT C. GREENE, 1827.

Old Grimes is dead—that good old man—
We ne'er shall see him more:
He used to wear a long black coat
All buttoned down before.

His heart was open as the day,
His feelings all were true;
His hair was some inclined to gray,
He wore it in a queue.

Whene'er he heard the voice of pain,
His breast with pity burned;
The large round head upon his cane
From ivory was turned.

Kind words he ever had for all,
He knew no base design;
His eyes were dark and rather small,
His nose was aquiline.

He lived at peace with all mankind,
In friendship he was true;
His coat had pocket holes behind,
His pantaloons were blue.

Unharmed—the sin which earth pollutes,
He passed securely o'er;
And never wore a pair of boots,
For thirty years or more.

But good old Grimes is now at rest,
Nor fears misfortune's frown;
He wore a double-breasted vest,
The stripes ran up and down.

His modest merit sought to find
And pay it it's desert;
He had no malice in his mind,
No ruffle on his shirt.

His neighbor he did not abuse;
Was sociable and gay;
He wore large buckles on his shoes,
And changed them every day.

His knowledge, hid from public gaze,
He did not bring to view;
Nor made a noise town meeting days
As many people do.

His worldly goods he never threw
In trust to fortune's chances;
But lived (as all his brothers do)
In easy circumstances.

Thus undisturbed by anxious cares,
His peaceful moments ran;
And everybody said he was
A fine old gentleman.

Now people all give cheerful heed
To Grimes' memory,
As doth his cousin, Esek Short,
Who wrote this poetry.

The Hardest Time of All.

There are days of deepest sorrow
In the season of our life,
There are wild, despairing moments,
There are hours of mental strife;
There are times of stormy anguish
When the tears refuse to fall,
But the waiting time, my brother,
Is the hardest time of all.

Youth and love are oft impatient,
Seeking things beyond our reach,
And the heart grows sick with hoping,
Ere it learns what life can teach;
For before the fruit be gathered,
We must see the blossoms fall,
And the waiting time, my brother,
Is the hardest time of all.

Loving once, and loving ever,
It is sad to watch for years,
For the light when fitful shining,
Makes a rainbow of our tears.
It is sad to count at morning
All the hours till evening fall;
O, the waiting time, my brother,
Is the hardest time of all.

For it wears the eager spirit,
As the salt waves wear the stone,
And hope's gorgeous garb grows threadbare
Till its brightest tints are gone;
Then amid youth's shining tresses,
Silent snows begin to fall;
Ah, the waiting time, my brothers,
Is the hardest time of all.

Yet at last we learn the lesson
That God knoweth what is best,
And a silent resignation
Makes the spirit calm and blest,
For perchance a day is coming
For the changing of our fate,
When our hearts will thank him meekly
That he taught us how to wait.

Selected Story.

ADOPTED.

"It's very strange," muttered Blanche Penroy, slowly weaving together the wreath of scarlet autumn leaves with which she was decorating her broad-brimmed straw hat.

She made a beautiful picture sitting there all alone in the mellow glow and color of the October woods, a crimson shawl drooping from her shoulders, and the sunshine lighting up her bright auburn curls with glittering threads of gold, while upon the fallen tree trunk that formed her impromptu seat, lay a tiny branch of ferns and autumnal flowers. She was transparently fair, with purple veins in each waxen temple and a faint pink bloom on her cheeks, while her eyes, large and brown, seemed to look at you with the grave, tender expression of an infant.

"Yes, it is very strange," went on Miss Penroy, musing within herself. "I know so little about him, I have only known him about ten days, yet when he spoke ab out leaving Elm Point last night it seemed as if all the sunshine was leaving the world for me. Oh, Blanche— naughty, naughty, naughty little Blanche!" she added leaning forward, and apostrophizing the fair face mirrored in the stream at her feet. "Is it possible that you've allowed yourself to fall in love with that tall, black-eyed young man? Ten days ago I had never seen him—and now!"

The roses mounted up in her cheek as she wondered within herself whether Mr. Evering cared for her.

"I wish I knew?" she muttered aloud.

"Knew what?" demanded a calm voice, and Mr. Gilbert Evering took up the bunch of flowers and coolly seated himself beside her—a tall, handsome man, with brilliant dark eyes, rather irregular features, and a deep color glowing through his olive skin.

Blanche demurely looked up at him—she was not to be taken by storm thus easily—and asked:

"Do you think it will rain to-morrow. For our picnic I want to wear my white India shawl?"

"Oh, the picnic! I had forgotten that when I spoke of leaving tomorrow. Of course, though, my presence or absence will make no great difference?"

Blanche was silent. Somehow that scarlet and brown spotted leaf required a good deal of adjustment in that ribbon of her hat.

"Blanche, shall I go or stay?"

"As you please, Mr. Evering, of course."

"No; as somebody else pleases. Yes or no! And I forewarn you that yes means a great deal."

"How much does it mean?" questioned Blanche, half archly, half itmorously.

"Everything?"

"Then you may stay."

"My Blanche—my little daisy!" he whispered, bending his stately head over the slender hand that lay on the autumn leaves. And Blanche felt that in the golden stillness of that October evening she had turned a new page in the book of her life!

She was very, very happy, and all that day she seemed to be walking through the bright mysteries of a dream. But with morning came other feelings, alas! that shadow should always follow sunshine in this world of ours.

"I'm not disposed to be unreasonable Blanche!" said Gilbert in a whisper, as he arranged her white lace shawl for her, amid the merry tumult of the picnic ground, "but I do think you have waltzed quite often enough with Mr. Birmingham."

"Jealous already, Gilbert?" taunted the girl, flushed and rosy with the triumphs of her beauty, and the irresistable instincts of coquetry.

"Of course you'll do as you please, Blanche; only I warn you, it's a choice between Walter Birmingham and me. You dance with him again at your own risk!"

At the same instant he came up.

"May I have the pleasure of the polka with you, Miss Penroy?"

And Blanche, defiant, willful and a little piqued, answered, "Yes."

She glided away with her hand on Walter Birmingham's shoulder. Gilbert had no business to be so unreasonable.

His grave, stern face rather startled her as she came once more to the rustic seat of twisted boughs, when the band was silent, and Mr. Birmingham had gone to bring her a glass of iced lemonade.

"Gilbert! why do you look so cross?"

"Because I have reason. I am sorry you pay so little attention to my wishes, Miss Penroy."

She drew herself up haughtily.

"You are beginnning to dictate early, sir."

"Have I not the right?"

"No, Mr. Evering."

"Be it so, Blanche," he said, in a voice that betrayed how deep the arrow rankled in his bosom. "I give up the right now and henceforward."

Blanche was startled. She would have said more, but Walter Birmingham was advancing toward her, and when next she had leisure to look round Gilbert was gone from her side.

"What have I done!" she thought, in dismay. "I'll see him this evening and coax him into good humor once more. He surely can't be vexed with me for an idle word like that.

Ah, little Blanche, it is not the well-considered sentence that does all the harm in this world—it is the idle word!

"Such a charming day we have had, Mrs. Traine," said Blanche, as she came in smiling and radiant, as if the worm, remorse, were not gnawing at her heart.

"Yes." said the blooming matron, who was reading in an easy chair under the shadow of the vines. "But what sent Mr. Evering away in such a hurry?"

"Sent him away?"

"Yes—by the evening train. He came home, packed his things and drove away as if there was not a moment to lose. I am very sorry; we shall miss him so much.

Blanche went slowly upstairs and sat down by her window, looking out at the purple glow of the evening landscape as if it were a featureless blank. So he was really gone away; and by her own folly she had lost the priceless treasure of Gilbert Evering's love.

"And I cannot even write to him, for I do not know his address," she thought with clasped hands and tearless eyes. "Well it is my own fault, and I must abide the consequences as best I may."

So Blanche Penroy went home from the gay, fashionable place a sadder and wiser woman, and the November mists drooping over the brick and mortar wilderness of her city home had never seemed half so dreary to her as they did now.

"I suppose I shall be an old maid," thought Blanche, walking up and down in the fire-lit darkness of her room, her dimpled hands clasped behind her waist. "I never cared for any one as I cared for—for Gilbert; and I dare say I shall keep a cat and grow fond of green tea. Ah, well-a-day! life cannot last forever."

A dreary comfort that for a girl of nineteen summers.

She rang the bell with an impatient jerk.

"Are there any letters, Sanderson?"

"One ma'am; it came by the evening post about five minutes ago."

"Light the gas, then, and give it to me."

Blanche sat down by the fire and opened the letter, suppressing a yawn.

"Black-edged and black-sealed! So poor Mrs. Marchmont is gone at last!"

It was from the executors of Miss Penroy's distant cousin, formally and briefly announcing her death, which had taken place in one of the West India islands some months since; but of which the "melancholy news" as the letter ran, had only just been received. It was not entirely unexpected, as Mrs. Marchmont had been for some years slowly fading out of the world, a victim to hereditary consumptum.

"Leaving one child, a son," slowly repeated Blanche, leaning her cheek on her hand and looking down into the fiery quiver of the whitening coals. "Poor little fellow! he must feel nearly as desolate as I do! Only I have one advantage—I have at least a sufficiency of this world's goods; and this orphan child must be thrown penniless and alone on his own resources, for, if I remember aright, Mrs. Marchmont forfeited all the wealth of her first marriage by her second alliance with the poverty-stricken lawyer whose death plunged her into such bitter mourning. That was a genuine love match; yet how 'leaving one child — a son!' Why should I not adopt the stray waif, and make it the business of my life to cherish and comfort him? I have no object in existance; here is one that Providence itself seems to point out to me."

Once more she rang the bell, with fresh color glowing in her cheeks and a new light in her eyes.

"Bring in my writing-desk immediately, Sanderson, and get ready to take a letter to the post for me as soon as possible."

The old servant obeyed, wondering at his mistress' unwonted energy, and yet well pleased to see some of her old animation returning.

"She do look more like herself tonight, do Miss Blanche, than she has for a long time," he said to the housekeeper as he came downstairs after obeying the summons. "I only wish Miss Blanche would take a fancy to some nice, properly-behaved young man; it don't seem right that she should live all by herself in this big house, so forlorn-like."

The housekeeper nodded sagaciously to old Mr. Sanderson's proposition. She fully agreed with him.

"Only Miss Blanche was too willful ever to listen to a word of advice."

It was a very simple letter that Blanche Penroy wrote to her "far away" cousin's executors, dictated by the fullness of her heart.

"I shall never marry now," she wrote, "and it seems to become my plainly indicated duty to undertake the care of this orphan child of Mrs. Marchmont. With your approval, therefore I propose to adopt him, and endeavor, so far as is in my power, to supply the place of his lost mother. You may at first deem me rather too young to undertake so grave and serious a responsibility; but I am nineteen last month and I am very, very much older in thought and feeling than in years. Of course at my death the child will inherit the property which was left to me by my deceased parents."

"I hope my cousin's executors are like the nice, white-headed old lawyers one reads about," said Blanche to herself, as she folded the little sheet of paper, "and not cross old fudges, talking of 'expediency' and 'appropriateness;' for I do so much want somebody to love and care for; and I've a sort of premonition that this little fellow will be nice, rosy and lovable. I think I'll teach him to call me 'Aunty.'"

Exactly a week subsequently a prim, legal note was received from Messrs. Ailas and Corpus, the deceased lady's executors stating that "they saw no valid objection to Miss Penroy's very laudable projects, and that in accordance thereto the child of the late Mr. Marchmont would arrive at Miss Penroy's residence on the following Saturday."

"Saturday, and this is Friday," ejaculated Blanche, with the new brightness dancing in her hazel eyes. "Oh, how glad I shall be! Sanderson, tell Mrs. Brown to have the blue room fitted up immediately for Master Marchmont, and you had better go yourself to the station with the carriage at five to-morrow afternoon to meet him."

"Yes, ma'am," said Sanderson stolidly.

The apparition of a great unruly boy tramping with muddy boots on the velvet carpets, and disturbing the house with balls, marbles and hallos, did not possess the charm in Sanderson's eyes that it seemed to have for his mistress. And even patient Mrs. Brown remarked with a species of exasperation that "she didn't see what put this freak into Miss Blanche's head."

Saturday was a day of hail and tempest and softly falling snow, and by five o'clock the drawing-rooms were lighted, and the crimson silk curtains closely drawn to exclude the stormy darkness without.

Six times within the last fifteen minutes had Blanche Penroy looked at her watch, as she stood by the fire waiting to hear the returning carriage wheels.

She was dressed in a rich China-blue silk dress with pearl pin and ear drops, and a little point lace at her throat and wrists, and the color of her cheeks, and the golden tinge in her bright hair made her, unconsciously, very fair to look upon.

"Oh, I hope—I hope he will like me," thought Blanche, with that distinctive yearning for love that enters every woman's heart, as the door opened.

"Here's the young gentleman, miss," said Sanderson, with a half-suppressed sound between a laugh and a snort.

But instead of a child of seven or eight years old, a tall apparition walked in, something over six feet high, with a black mustache, and merry hazel eyes brimming over with mirth. For an instant Blanche stared at him as if she could scarcely credit the evidence of her own senses.

"Gilbert!"

"Exactly. You wanted to adopt me, and here I am."

"No, but, Gilbert—"

"Yes, but, Blanche!"

"You are not Mrs. Marchmont's son!"

"I am—by her first marriage. And although I am by no means the penniless infant you seemed to suppose, as all my father's wealth comes to me, I am quite willing to be adopted—particularly as you are not married to Walter Birmingham."

Blanche struggled with tears and laughter, uncertain which would best express her feelings, but Gilbert Evering drew her tenderly toward him.

"If you adopt me, dearest, it must be for life. Nay, do not hesitate—our happiness has already been too much at the mercy of trifles. You will not retract your offer?"

"Well— after all," said Blanche demurely, "all I wanted was somebody to love and care for, and—"

"And I shall do very well in that capacity, eh?"

And Sanderson, who had been listening earnestly at the door, crept down stairs to inform Mrs. Brown that "they were going to have a new master!"

Miscellaneous.

"Pardon me for troubling you, sir, but did you drop a $20 gold piece?" asked a man with an earnest look on his face and a memorandum book in his hand of a well-dressed individual on the corner of Jefferson and Woodward Avenues.

The man addressed ran his hand nervously into various pockets and replied—

"Well, now, I declare! Can it be possible that I was so careless as to drop that coin. Yes, it's gone. I must have lost it right here near where we stand."

The man opened his memorandum book, took from his vest pocket the stub of a lead pencil and said:—

"Will you favor me with your name and address?"

They were given, and the questioner started on, when the well-dressed man cried:—

"Hi, there! Where's the money. Give me my gold piece."

"Oh, I didn't find any money. I took a notion this morning that in a city like this, where thousands and thousands of dollars are handled every hour, there must be great losses, and started out to investigate the matter. Between here and the river I found seven men that lost twenty dollar gold pieces, and I expect to run the list up to 200 before I reach the City Hall. Good day, sir."

Brownjohn very appropriately calls his yacht his floating debt. It isn't paid for.

We have examined the certificates of stock now being sold by the New England and Colorado Mining, Milling and Prospecting Company, whose advertisement appears in another column. The stock bears every evidence of reliability, and shows the fact that one dollar per share in dividends is guaranteed to its owners out of the Company's first surplus revenues, to the exclusion of the other stock, and that this guarantee is secured by a first mortgage upon all the Company's properties, executed to a trustee for the benefit of stockholders. Hiram Blaisdell, the company's financial agent and secretary, is strongly recommended by H. B. Claflin & Co., of New York, and other prominent men, while the other officers are well endorsed for their experience and ability. The company's office is at 82 Devonshire street, Boston.

The publishers of Rev. Dr. Robinson's "Spiritual Songs for the Sunday School" have just issued a little book containing only the hymns of that work and selling for one-half the money. It will be a most desirable supplement to the large book, greatly increasing its usefulness, and placing it within the reach of the largest mission schools.—The complete tune edition is bound in stiff board covers, with red edges, costs 40 cents to schools in quantities. It is said that the sales of the latter work have mounted up into the scores of thousands since its issue a year ago.—The new edition is prettily bound in flexible red cloth and costs but 20 cents. (The Century Co., New York.)

The September number of Ballou's Monthly Illustrated Magazine is issued, and is so full of interesting matter that we hardly know which article to mention. There is an illustrated view of Chinese life, an illustrated statement of fall fashions, some choice poetry, ten or twelve stories, and a large lot of miscellaneous matter, besides five pages of humorous matter, which alone is worth the price of the magazine. This is a magazine that should be read by the million people; for it is got up for the people, and not for a clique. Published by Thomas & Talbot, Hawley street, and for sale at the Peabody News Co.'s.

PUT DOWN MOURNING.—The wearing of mourning for departed friends is a terrible mistake. Our descendants will smile at our infatuation, when it will be understood that the going away should be as lovable as the coming.—When our death will be a healthful passing and ending, we shall look eye into eye, grasping hand to hand to the last, and go with joy and cheerfulness. If it is nature's law, it is nature's design; if it is nature's design, it has a purpose in it, and why should we be mournful at that?

Off with those poor, worldly, black clothes; put on white and blue or rose and see that best beloved to the grave. There is no need to mourn; why? Why go about quarreling with divine plan?

These black, heavy clothes on frail, delicate women on our burning streets are really terrible indications of short-sightedness and want of real love for the divine ordinances. They make one shudder to think of the poor over-burdened body under them, and the weary soul that must be there too.

When one has passed away, let the other be up and doing, but not go about mourning and fretting as if he or she had not gone, because go they must.

The thought of death is lovelier than that of birth. We never know what the future may bring to that newborn child; we are sure, quite sure, that the former will bring us "time's completion."—Health and Home.

The biggest snake story yet out is told by the Syracuse, N.Y., Journal, as follows: "Mrs. Von Auken, living near Lake George, was startled one day by the sight of a large rattlesnake making its appearance in her kitchen, where she was at work, and, seizing her by the skirt, tried to pull her towards the door. Woman's curiosity at last overcoming her fear, she followed the snake down to the lake where she was still more horrified to find her little daughter on the point of drowning. Seeing the little one fall into the water, it seems that the snake, with astonishing instinct, crawled to the house to give warning." When the papers tell such stories as this it is a wonder the whole of Syracuse wasn't burnt up the other day.

Thomas O. Thompson, Esq., the Mayor's Secretary, who, some few days ago, slipped on a banana peel and sprained his knee, writes that St. Jacobs Oil "acted like a charm."—Chicago Tribune.

A witty old judge who had spent an evening with a young lawyer in the country whose office was on the second story, on taking his departure stumbled on the stairs and fell to the bottom. The young lawyer, hearing the noise, rushed out, and seeing the judge lying at the bottom of the stairs, hastened down, and with anxiety asked, "Is your Honor hurt?" "No," said the judge, scrambling to his feet, "but my legs are."

GREAT SALE OF BLANKETS.

ANOTHER GREAT ATTRACTION!

Conrad

Will begin to-day a great sale of BLANKETS at prices which will outdo any offered in this city heretofore.

2 cases Standard Prints, in fast colors, at 4 cents per yard.

50 dozen elegant Damask Towels, 40 inches long, in entirely new designs, at 25c.

We are the only party who have them, and we consider it the best bargain ever offered to customers.

D. Conrad.

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

191-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors,
Sitting Rooms,
Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

Floreston Cologne.

A NEW AND FASHIONBLE PERFUME, FRAGRANT, REFRESHING, LASTING. SOLD BY DEALERS IN PERFUMERY AT 25 AND 75 CENTS. HISCOX & CO., N. Y. GREAT SAVING IN BUYING THE 75c. SIZE.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia and many of the best medicines known are combined in PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, into a medicine of such varied and effective powers, as to make it the Greatest Blood Purifier and Kidney Corrector and the Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used.

It cures Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness, and all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Urinary Organs, and all Female Complaints.

If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the TONIC to-day. It will surely help you.

Remember! This TONIC is the Best Family Medicine ever made, and is far superior to Bitters, Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it never Intoxicates, and cures Drunkenness. Any dealer in drugs can supply you—50c. and $1 sizes. None genuine without signature of HISCOX & Co., Chemists, N. Y.

LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

Parker's Hair Balsam.

An elegant, agreeable Hair Dressing that

Never Fails to Restore Gray or Faded Hair

to its Youthful Color. 50c. and $1 sizes.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Marked Down.

All our Spring and Summer Dress Goods Marked Down to close out. Also Domestic and Housekeeping Goods at very low prices.

Wm. R. Weeks,

185 and 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

WATCH DOGS.

The night watchmen at the Eastern Penitentiary of Pennsylvania, have very able assistants in brute companions, whose instinct and superior training is little less than remarkable. These are trained watch dogs, nine altogether, embracing one full ma-tiff, two full bloodhounds and the rest half-breed bloodhounds. They are kept in three distinct kennels in as many separate enclosures, into which the prison-yard is divided. The fences divide them and they never meet; certain indications have showed that if they did there would be several very tough dog fights.

When the night watchmen are on duty the dogs are unleashed and accompany them on their patrol, but the canine guards are more effective in their way, as they penetrate the angles and out-of-the-way places, while the human watchmen follow the beaten path. If the dogs hear any unusual noise, or find anything irregular, they notify the guard by a sharp bark. Their capacity to discover attempted escapes has never been fully tested, inasmuch as the convicts stand in too wholesome dread of them to dream of such a thing during the dog watch.

An instance illustrating the wonderful instinct of these brute sentinels developed not long ago. The guard one night was startled by a warning bark from one of the dogs, which he found thirty or forty yards from a point where a small ventilating pipe led from the interior of the prison. A cautious investigation showed that one of the convicts on that gallery, but occupying a cell on the opposite side of the corridor, being sick, was endeavoring to attract the attention of the inside watch. The dog had discovered the unusual noise in the sound conveyed through the drain-pipe which the keepers on the inside of the building had failed to notice. The suffering convict was afforded assistance which he otherwise would not have obtained.

"I KNOW THAT."

A London paper has heard of a case where a droll fellow named Scrubbs got into a first-class railway carriage, before smoking carriages were invented. In the carriage was seated a sour-looking old gentleman. After the train had started, Scrubbs took out his pipe.

"You musn't smoke here," at once said the old gentleman.

"I know that," replied Scrubbs. He then calmly filled his pipe.

"Did I not tell you," said the o. g. again, "that you can't smoke here?"

"I know that," gloomily replied Scrubbs, taking out his fusee box. He lit a fusee, but now the wrath of the o. g. was fearful.

"You shan't smoke here, sir!" he shrieked.

"I know that," added Scrubbs, allowing the fusee to exhaust itself, when he lit another, and another; the stench was awful, the smoke suffocating.

The o. g., coughing and spluttering, struggled for words. "You'd better smoke," said.

"I know that," reptied Scrubbs, applying the blazing fusee to the expectant pipe.

SHE WAS THE WRONG WOMAN,

The days of romance are not passed. A Cuban planter visiting New York saw a charming woman on a Brooklyn ferry-boat, and fell in love with her. He traced her home and learned that she was a widow, most respectably connected. He was called to Cuba, and wrote her a letter full of affection, and giving references. Her friends inquired and found that he was a desirable match. She replied to the letter. He responded. She wrote and he wrote until there was an offer of marriage and an acceptance, and the wedding day was fixed. She prepared her bridal robe, and he returned to New York. They met at the house of one of her friends, she wondering how he looked, he anticipating a second vision of beauty. She saw a handsome man; he looked and screamed, "You are the wrong woman!" And so it was. They had neglected to exchange photographs. She remains a widow, and he haunts the Brooklyn ferry-boats for another vision.—Boston Transcript.

CURIOUS INFIRMITY OF HEARING.

Mr. Edwin Cowles, of the Cleveland Leader, is the victim of singular infirmity of hearing. He says it partakes somewhat of the nature of color-blindness, as that affects the eye, he being unable to hear certain sounds at all. For example, he has never heard the sound of a bird's song in his life. A whole room full of canaries might be in full song and yet he could not hear a note, but the rustling of their wings would be distinctly heard by him. He can hear all the vowels, but there are many consonant sounds which he has never heard. He can hear a man whisper but could not hear him whistle. The upper notes of a piano, violin or other instrument he never hears, but the lower notes he hears without difficulty.

The London Times says: "It can scarcely be doubted that all London, along its main thoroughfares, will discard gas for the electric light within the present century. The really cautious and hesitating progress of the invention must remind not a few of the equally cautious and hesitating progress of gas."

Envy shooteth at others and wounded herself.

A great reputation is a great charge.

Buy the Corded Side Corset, new and nice, at Peabody's.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!

SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. A MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

SANFORD'S

GINGER

Impure water, unhealthy climate, unripe fruit, unwholesome food, cramps, chills, malaria, excessive heat and the thousand and one ills that beset the traveler or family are nothing to those fortified and sustained by the use of SANFORD'S GINGER, "the delicious." As a beverage it quenches thirst, opens the pores, relieves the head, regulates the stomach and bowels, eradicates a craving for intoxicants and imparts new life to the languid, careworn, overworked, nervous and sleepless. Beware of imitations said to be as good. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER and take no other.
Sold everywhere. WEEKS & POTTER, Boston,

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free.
aug 3—6 w

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

—AT—

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.
jan

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,

also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:

Second Door West of Hay Scales.
apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.
feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.
my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. | Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at
A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.
je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by
CHAS. A. ROPES.
218 and 222 Derby Street.
nov 24

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.  WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

—AT—

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES,

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
je 16—6m

ATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. | Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps. Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

COPPER PAINT. | Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.
aug 17

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

—FOR—

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

—AT THE—

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

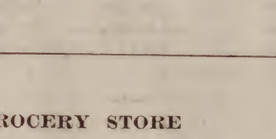
Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.



He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. | Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland; Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,
Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

—AND—

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS.
Advertising means "business."
It pays advertising men to remain among us.
JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a call, and examine, new type, paper, etc.

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massa chusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

GENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address
THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NORTHERN TEXAS offers greater attractions in way of good, cheap lands, healthy country, mild climate, abundance of timber and water, diversity of products, than any other region now open to settlement. In this rapidly developing section, the TEXAS & PACIFIC RAILWAY has in operation over 800 miles of road, along which are to be had, at low prices and on easy terms, millions of acres of good and cheap Railroad and Government lands, but recently opened for settlement. For circulars and maps giving truthful information, address W. H. ABRAMS, Land Commissioner, T. & P. Railway Marshall, Texas.

IT'S WORTH A HUNDRED DOLLARS

for any smoker to know that we are putting up a very fine Havana filler, with Connecticut wrapper—equal in flavor to cigars generally sold at from 10 to 15 cents—which we are selling to consumers and the trade at $4 a hundred. We will send a box containing 25 to any part of the United States, postage paid, on receipt of $1, or 50 Cigars for $2. Address VILLAGE STORE COMPANY, Wholesale Dealers in Cigars and Groceries, Bridgeport, Conn.

HUNTER'S SIFTERS. 12 Articles in one. Millions in use—everybody's choice. 44-page catalogue of other specialties free. J. M. HUNTER M'F'G Co. Cin., O.
Agents wanted, Male and Female.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

Newspaper Advertis'g Bureau, 10 Spruce St., N. J.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

EXTRAORDINARY.

MULL TIES with wide Embroidered ends, for Ten cents.
As big a bargain as we ever offered.

10 CENTS.

Another lot, still better, with finer and nicer embroidery,

15 CENTS.

A still better one, with very wide embroidery—for only

25 CENTS.

——These are genuine bargains——
——and as there are only about—— ——one hundred dozen in the—— ——lot, an early call will be—— ——necessary to secure a good—— ——choice.——

EVENINGS.

Our store will be open every evening for the convenience of those who cannot come out in the day time, and for the comfort of those who don't care to come out in the heat of the day.

J. P. PEABODY,

227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Sept. 14, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

School Rewards.

The "cheek"—no other word so aptly expresses it—of our neighbor, in assuming that an article in his sheet had the effect to interest us in the school question, is only equalled by his presumption in regard to the noon mail question. It would be ludicrous did we not reflect that such assumption goes hand in hand with lack of knowledge. Our interest in the schools of this town, in their prosperity, success, and good welfare, extends further back than the association of our neighbor with the press. Since we have become connected with this paper we have published several articles on this subject, not all of them original, because from the pen of well known exponents of the subject, and whose authority cannot be questioned. The sentiments expressed by us in last week's article did not differ materially from what has been already stated several times in our columns.

As we have before stated, we do not object to rewards of merit, given under proper circumstances, which do not call for undue stimulus to obtain them. But to hold up a stipulated prize to a class or a scholar, to place the highest value upon the attainment of a certain percentage of rank, leads among ambitious scholars to undue excitement, over exertion, and in many cases to ruin of health. It has been seen many times in this vicinity. The remarks of our neighbor about our article leading to the abolition of the Peabody medal and other "prizes" in the High School show how little he understands the subject. The Peabody medal is not a prize. It is simply and only a symbol of graduation. It is true that of late years the School Committee have added the diploma so common in other schools, where medals are sometimes given as prizes. We confess we can see no good reason for it; the Peabody medal, as is well known, was given by Mr. Peabody to be presented to every scholar who shall complete the course of study and graduate from the High School. No rank is necessary. The poorest as well as the best scholar in the class receives the same medal, and in this sense it is not a prize, and excites no unusual stimulus to obtain it. The other prizes in the school, the books to the graduates, are open to the same commendation.—We do not remember a class to have graduated, since our connection with the school, all of whose members did not receive these books which are annually given. This year, as we stood in the parlor of the Chairman of our board, and saw the sets of books, all arranged, ready for distribution, we should have had difficult work to select the best prize. It seemed to us that the series of volumes presented to the scholar whose rank in the class was lowest, was of equal value, and probably to that individual, of more value, than the present to the first in rank in the class.—Such it has always been in regard to these books.

Very different from this would be the offering of a prize, say of $100, or a very valuable book or picture to be competed for, in advance, and to be awarded at the close of the year or school, on the attainment of a certain percentage of rank. In this category stands the prize offered by our neighbor. And we can only repeat that it will surely lead to undue competition, and artificial examinations to attain a certain rank, at the expense of good scholarship, which does not always mean the highest percentage in examination.

THE QUESTION of the disability of the President is provoking considerable discussion, and the opinions of leading men and politicians are given with much freedom in our journals. The discussion of the situation can do no harm, but much good in so far as it becomes an educator of the people in the requirements of the Constitution. But we believe there is no necessity for it proceeding further. We think that the necessity has not arisen for Gen. Arthur to assume the office of President, and that its assumption by him at the present time would lead to more extended complications that is possible under the present condition of the temporary disability of President Garfield.

Two things are plainly evident: no one but Arthur himself can clearly decide as to the time and circumstances when he should undertake the functions of the executive office, and when he does so assume the office he becomes President of the United States, and would so remain until the expiration of the time for which Gen. Garfield was elected. Should Congress be required for an extra session to take an action on the question, no one but President Garfield could summon them, and this act in itself would disprove the disability which would be claimed to exist. So far, there has nothing occurred to require absolutely the personal action of the Chief Magistrate. And the careful attention which our President gave to the details of his removal to Long Branch shows in many ways that he is very far from being in the condition warranting Gen. Arthur to assume the presidential chair. He would be charged rightfully with being eager to attain the office, and would be regarded in a certain sense as a usurper. Then, again, should the President recover, there would be some doubt about the power of Arthur to abdicate in his favor, should he so incline. The people do not elect two presidents, nor is the office one that can be tampered with by being passed from one to another at their option or desire. Should Arthur become President he must remain so, and we do not believe this is what the country at this juncture desires.

It is no unusual thing for the President of the United States to be absent from the capitol and from the official business for a longer time than has yet elapsed since the assassination of Gen. Garfield. We commend to our readers the following words from the New York Sun, which we heartily endorse:

In our judgment, the United States, during the last seventy days, have presented the most sublime spectacle in the whole history of human governments. Fifty millions of people governing themselves, abstaining even from any act of violence toward the most abhorred of criminals, the assassin of the President; the great crowds collected along the line by the passage of the prostrate form of Gen. Garfield through three States, greeting him everywhere with regardful silence, restraining the cheers that rose spontaneously to their lips, lest the noise should disturb him; the necessary, routine business of the Executive Department moving smoothly on, like nicely adjusted, well-oiled, noiseless machinery! Would that Thomas Jefferson could have lived to behold this day, the fulfilment of his fondest hopes and brightest visions, showing how little government an intelligent, self-respecting people require. This is true liberty!

IT IS A singular coincidence that while the Methodist Episcopal Church are holding an Ecumenical Council across the water, at which all differences of opinion are to be held subservient to the general harmony, in our own city of Chicago the Rev. Dr. Thomas, one of the ablest men in that denomination, has been tried and found guilty of heresy. It is a surprise and a great mistake that such an occurrence should take place. The doctrines held by the preachers of this and other denominations fifty years ago, and even less than that, have been greatly modified, and while Dr. Thomas was bolder than some other in expressing his dissent from some of the old doctrines in their entirety, we do not doubt for an instant that his actual views are in harmony to a great extent with the more liberal divines of the Evangelical Church in this country. It has happened several times to the councils of the Congregational Church in New England to have before them young men for ordination who did not hesitate to declare their disbelief in some of the recognized doctrines of the old church, and to their credit be it said that they did not refuse to ordain them. The articles of religion held to be subscribed to by the Methodists have been far more liberal than those of some of the other Evangelical bodies; Wesley himself placing far more stress upon the life and character of its professors than upon any recognized form of belief. Far at variance with this is the persecution to which Dr. Thomas has been subjected to in Chicago, and his formal dismission from the denomination will do an infinite amount of harm to them, and places them in the unenviable position of taking a backward step in religious progress. Trials for heresy at this era savor of bigotry and envy rather than of Christianity. If all who hold the views of Dr. Thomas, and who are in fellowship with the churches, were tried for heresy, there would be a terrible "rattling of dry bones." It is well for the liberal and Christian spirit of the age, that such is not likely to be the case.

What is wanted at the White Mountains is a good hotel on the European plan.—South Boston Inquirer.

Correct, neighbor, and not one but many of them, although one would be enough to show that a large number of people prefer to buy what they need and pay for just what they buy, and for nothing more. As it is now, the mountains are practically a sealed book to the thousands who cannot afford the expense of sojourning there, and a source of unrealized longings to many others whose means will allow them to stop but a couple of days when they would like to stay a fortnight, if any economical way of doing so comfortably, could be invented.—Marblehead Messenger.

We do not think this would obviate the difficulty. It is very probable that the charges at a hotel on the European plan situated at Crawford's or Fabyan's would be so exorbitant at the restaurant connected therewith that very little difference would be noticed. What is needed is a good hotel at a moderate price, say $2.00 per day, in the vicinity of these places. It is only in the White Mountains proper that the high prices at the hotels are prevalent. And a man who wishes to go to the mountains with his family at a moderate cost can do it now by going to Littleton, N. H., as headquarters. Every spot in the White Mountains can be visited from this place by easy stages of a day at most, even to the ascent of Mount Washington and return, and good board at the hotels there can be had at from $7.00 to $10.00 per week. There is no necessity, in order to enjoy the mountain scenery, to remain long at either Crawford's or Fabyan's. From Littleton sufficient time can be gained to thoroughly explore the places, and for those who cannot afford the high prices, this is the proper route to take. We should choose it at the same price.

WE CORDIALLY endorse any movement by the Alumni of the Peabody High School towards the formation of an Association. The mistake was made in the beginning in not restricting the members to the Alumni. Remove these restrictions and there is no re-union about it—only a social gathering which can be enjoyed at any time, provided a sufficient number of supporters be obtained. A re-union of past graduates of this school, under the proper management, would receive the cordial support of the Alumni not only here but those whose duties and responsibilihave called them elsewhere. It would be interesting and profitable. The time for holding such a re-union is at the graduation of the Senior Class of the High School, not in the middle of winter, when the class next to graduate can neither participate or become a member of the association. But, at all events, let us have a re-organization of the Association.

IT IS REPORTED

That the Republicans of the 2d Maine district have carried everything before them.

That Gov. Dingley was elected by 4000 majority.

That this wholesale routing of the stronghold of the Greenbackers is as unexpected as it is encouraging.

That people are beginning to return from the seashore and mountains.

That they are also beginning to experience a twinge of conscience as they figure up the cost of the summer pleasures.

That they come high, but Americans must have them.

That the train robbery near Kansas City was one of the boldest outrages on record.

That the passengers did not dare to defend themselves.

That the muzzle of a loaded pistol is too effective to create much opposition.

That New York parties have bought up mourning goods in anticipation of the President's death.

That they expected to get up a "corner" and make a big profit.

That they are likely to get caught in their own trap.

That there is some hope for President Garfield.

That he has dismissed three of the doctors.

That six physicians feeling the pulse of a well man would make him sick.

That the New York Mercury says that the winners of musters within a radius of fifty miles of Boston for the past five years had Boston pipemen at the helm.

That Peabody never had to depend on outsiders for the prizes she has taken.

That Mr. Geo. Buxton is our veteran pipeman.

That it is fact "Nozzle" has helped take as many prizes as any other pipeman in the state.

That our neighbor says no postal cards are put on the wheel at the Post Office.

That we have seen plenty of them there all the week.

That he must have felt the effects of his vacation when he penned that item.

That a worm resembling the corn grub is ruining the grass fields in New York State.

That it burrows in the ground just beneath the surface and eats off the roots of the grass.

That the farmers are becoming alarmed.

That it seems as if there was an insect to eat everything that grows.

That a Cincinnati man in his will generously bequeathed the Christian religion to his friends.

That probably that will will never be contested.

That door step parties are having a large attendance.

That the lambent light of the moon is sufficient.

That no electric light is wanted.

That the Greenback party is evidently a great and growing one.

That its progress seems to be backward instead of forward.

That there is a town by-law against profanity on our streets.

That is might be enforced nowadays with good effect.

That profanity and vile language on our streets is growing worse instead of better.

That the Danvers Review regaled its 127 readers with the history of I. W. Andrews.

That it is very interesting reading to them.

That the PRESS office is the best and cheapest place for all kinds of Job Printing in the country.

That our friends are invited to call and see samples of our work and get estimates on their printing.

IT HAS been stated to us by persons who participated in the Boston & Maine R. R. Excursion to Wolfboro that the accommodations by the railroad were not of the best. Some of the oldest and dingiest cars on the road were put on, the train was obliged to wait in the hot sun an hour in Haverhill, and it was not until the passengers arrived at the Lake that they experienced any comfort. We are pleased to learn that about the 20th of this month the Eastern R. R. will run a special excursion from this town and vicinity to Fabyans and return for the low price of $3.50 for the round trip. The tickets will be good to return for several days, with privilege of stopping over at North Conway, if desired, and Mr. Tuttle, the General Ticket Agent of the road, has made arrangements with the several hotels on the route to take excursionists holding these tickets at reduced rates of board. We advise our readers to wait for this excursion which will be one of the finest of the season.

WE TRUST there will be a large attendance at the Republican Caucus to be held at the town-hall to-morrow evening to nominate delegates to the coming convention and to choose a new town Committee. We are in hopes that one of the effects of this last trial which the country has been called to undergo will be to quicken an interest among all our citizens in these primary meetings, to the end that they may become what they truly should be, a full and fair representation of the party.

Let our best men in the party be selected as delegates; and let us all show our interest by being present to use our influence in that direction.

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

120 Sheets Writing Paper, 20 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Our neighbor is offended because our friend, Mr. S. F. Reed, has not presented him with some of his deodorizing powder of which he is agent. By all means don't leave him out in the cold, friend Reed. They need it sadly over there.

Pure Cider Vinegar, 7 year old, at Schollar & Donnell's. —Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co., —Adv.

A large green snake came to grief yesterday by showing himself too freely on Walnut street. Death was the result of his indiscretion, a large crowd mourning his demise.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Jelly Tumblers, 50 cts. a doz., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

The Eastern Railroad are contemplating an excursion to Fabyan's some time the latter part of the month, at a very low fare.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

12 spools "Ladies' Favorite Cotton" for 8 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'. —Adv.

Stanley's band of gipsies, who have lately encamped near the Alms House, are now in Salem.

Messrs. Schollar & Donnell are offering great bargains in Crockery, Glass, Wooden and Tin Ware.—Adv.

China Tea Sets, 44 Pieces, $5.50, at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

The early morning from half past four to seven o'clock is very pleasant riding just now.

Glass Sets, 6 pieces, 50 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

We will leave an account of the fight between two pugilistic flagmen for the sensational penny dailies.

Pure Cider Vinegar and Whole Spices at wholesale prices, at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

As will be seen by our police notes, the police have been making a few raids on the liquor sellers.

A good Elastic Suspender for 25 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Do you want a watch? If so, you can select from a large stock, bought for cash and offered at a small advance, at DANIEL LOW'S, Salem. Great Bargains in Waltham and Elgin Watches. $9.75 for a solid silver American Watch. WARRANTED.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Messrs. W. H. Hervey & Co. in another column, and to the liberal offer they make to purchase furniture and parlor suits on instalments.

New Advertisements.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.

$5.00 DOWN

AND $5.00 PER MONTH

Until paid are the Liberal terms which we offer to purchasers anywhere in the New England states on our

$40.00 PARLOR SUITS,

These Parlor Suits consist of seven pieces, viz: Sofa, Four Parlor Chairs Gent's Easy Chair, and Lady's Patent Rocker, covered with the best of haircloth or raw silk, with plain seats and fluted backs. The frames are blocked and doweled in the best manner, and are warranted kiln-dried walnut. The style is Queen Annie.

We shall have 75 Black Walnut Chamber Sets at $45, which we give purchasers

EIGHT MONTHS

TO PAY FOR ON

INSTALMENTS

These sets comprise ten pieces. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c; are Handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the Marble is the best Italian, and the Walnut is warranted kiln-dried. The regular price for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55.

Being desirous of meeting the wants of the public, we have purchased a number of Dressing Cases, which we are prepared to substitute for the French Bureau, when desired, at the same price.

Orders by mail for any goods in our stock promptly attended to anywhere in New England. Catalogue of Household goods and terms furnished upon application.

The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.,

5--UNION STREET--5

Opposite Friend St. Boston.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.

apr 6—6 m

BENEFIT

UNION POST 50, G. A. R.

PEABODY INSTITUTE

TUESDAY EVENING, Sept. 20, '81.

The Ever Welcome Favorites

I. W. Baird's famous

Minstrels!

Positively the greatest and best of all. Including the NEW YORK CHURCH CHOIR BOYS. Baird's ZOUAVE CADETS, and POPULAR 40 PERFORMERS.

Admission 35 and 50 Cts.

Tickets for sale at B. F. Stevens'. No extra charge for reserved seats. Get the "Advance Programme" with Piano Sheet Music and full particulars. Free to all.

I. W. Baird. Proprietor and Manager.
Chas. E. Cook, Business Manager.

CAUCUS.

CAUCUS.

There will be a Caucus of the Republican Voters of Peabody, in the Town Hall, Thursday Evening, Sept. 15, 1881, for the transaction of the following business, viz:

To choose delegates to the State Convention, to be held in Worcester, Sept. 21st.

To choose a Town Committee for the ensuing year.

Per Order,
TOWN COMMITTEE.

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Annual Meeting for the election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, on Monday, October 3d, 1881, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

GEORGE A. OSBORNE, Sec'y.
Peabody, Sept. 14, 1881.

WANTED.

50 GIRLS.

Good wages, pay weekly, light, steady work, given out to be made at home. Work delivered free.

GLOBE KNITTING CO.,
167 South Street, Boston.

NEW ENGLAND BOOT AND SHOE COMPANY.

Read! Read! Read!

And then call on us that we may prove to you that we can save you money in buying your

FALL BOOTS AND SHOES.

☞ We have the LARGEST STOCK to select from in Essex County.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

OUR GOODS OF THE BEST QUALITY.

We offer Great Bargains in every department. Visit our store. Examine our goods and prices, for it will repay you for your time and trouble.

NEW ENGLAND BOOT & SHOE CO.

OPPOSITE CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

F. W. LUCAS, Manager.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.

I am now prepared to sell the

"Light Running"

DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE

With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.

No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.

No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.

No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.

These are our Cash Prices,

and, like the Machine, can't be beat.

The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.

Peabody Agency at

GOULDING'S

FURNITURE ROOMS,

Walnut Street, near Central.

MARSH'S INSTANTANEOUS
Disinfecting & Deodorizing

POWDER,

for the thorough purification of Water Closets, Urinals, Privies, Cesspools, Sinks, Gutters, Garbage, and offensive material of any kind. It is also prepared in liquor form for use in houses, school-rooms, restaurants, etc.

It promptly arrests and destroys all offensive effluvia arising in sick-rooms, or from vessels containing excretions, and neutralizes the unpleasant odors caused by the decomposition of animal matter, or the fermentation of vegetable substances. For sale by

S. F. Reed,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY.

sep 7—6m

THE FALL TERM OF

MISS FERNALD'S SELECT SCHOOL

Will open on Wednesday, Sept. 14, in

Franklin Hall, 5 Allen's Block.

For terms, references, and particulars, inquire at Gould & Stockwell's Millinery Store, No. 10 Allen's Block.

sep 7—2w

WANTED,

A house with two tenements, within five or ten minutes' walk of the Square. Address,
P. O. Box 558, Peabody, Mass.

aug 31—tf

FOUND,

In my pasture, a young cow. White, marked with red on neck and head.

A. F. DANFORTH,
aug 31—3t West Peabody.

PATENT FLOUR,—One car load Ames' Fancy Minnesota patent process Family Flour.—For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

NEW TOILET WARE. | A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

FRUIT JARS. | Mason's Fruit Jars, of all sizes, and Jelly Tumblers, at S, C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front street, Salem.

TOILET WARE. | New patterns of Toilet Ware just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furniturng store, 32 Front street, Salem.

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low.
CAARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of WILLIAM BUSHBY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased: Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one J. T. MAHONEY, sep 7—3w Register.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by EDWARD ENNIS to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated Oct. 1st, A. D. 1872, and recorded at Essex, South District, Registry of deeds, in Book 865, leaf 89, will be sold at public auction at the premises on Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D. 1881, at 12 o'clock, noon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, viz.:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Tremont street, being the estate formerly occupied and owned by the late Alfred Friend, bounded southerly by Tremont street about fifty-five feet and six inches; easterly by land formerly of Eben S. Poor about one hundred and thirty-seven feet; northerly by land formerly of said Poor about fifty feet; and westerly by land of Ellen Regan about one hundred and eleven feet. Being all of the estate that Eben S. Poor and others conveyed to said Edward Ennis by their deed recorded at said Registry, in Book 715, leaf 173, except so much of the same as said Ennis sold to said Ellen Regan by her deed recorded in Book 818, leaf 87.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL,
Treasurer of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.
Peabody, Sept. 7, 1881. 4t

TOWN OF PEABODY.

TOWN COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The owners and occupants of the following described real estate, situated in the town of Peabody, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified, that the taxes thereon assessed for the years hereinafter specified, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said town, by the Assessors of Taxes, remain unpaid, and that said real estate will be offered at public auction for sale, at the office of the Collector, at the Town House, in said town of Peabody, on Wednesday, the twenty-eighth day of September 1881, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the payment of said taxes, together with the costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged:

A lot of land bounded northwardly by Main street, eastwardly by Pierpont street, southwardly by land of Heirs of W. M. Jacobs, westwardly by land of Jacobs and Osborne, containing about 12,000 square feet, with the buildings thereon.—Taxed to Rebecca K. Jacobs, for 1877, $95.20; for 1878, $102.20; for 1879, $91.00; for 1880, $91.00.

LEVI PRESTON,
sept 7—3t Collector of Taxes.

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK.

WANTED, immediately, two respectable, steady, energetic men as Agents and Solicitors for the above-named company, for the districts of Salem, Peabody and Beverly.—Permanent situations offered to suitable men, with lucrative remuneration. Apply at the District Branch Office, Room 3, 71 Hubon Block, Washington street, Salem. Office hours, 8 to 9 A. M., 6 to 7 P. M.

aug 24—1m

MRS. S. E. MASON,

Having secured the services of a competent cutter and fitter, would inform the ladies of Peabody and vicinity that she has opened rooms for Dressmaking in all its branches, at 14 Park street, Peabody. "Button Holes and Machine Stitching as usual."

aug 24—1m

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,

FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.

aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS.—20 tons heavy White Wheat Shorts and Middlings. For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail.
CHARLES A. ROHES,
41 to 47 Central street.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REED, as our agent, is authorized to receive Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Plate o' raw!

Too thin—linen dusters.

Now preserve preserves.

Evenings are elongating!

Splendid fall weather yesterday.

The cool wave is very refreshing.

The sere and yellow leaf approacheth!

The assembly season will soon begin.

Soon time to lay away the hammock.

Republican caucus to-morrow evening.

Now we are looking for big fruit and vegetables.

Farmers report the potato crop about the average.

A light overcoat isn't comfortable of an evening.

The average temperature for August was only 70.

About 40 hands are now employed on the water-works.

Mr. S. S. Littlefield spends his vacation in New Hampshire.

Daniel Hogan is building a barn in the rear of the Fall River House.

Charlie Wiggin shot a large water-snake at Spring Pond last Thursday.

It has been observed that liquor saloons take no vacations summer or winter.

It is expected that Rev. M. J. Masterson will return on the 26th of October.

Joseph M. Larrabee contemplates building a two-story house on County street.

The annual illuminations of the boats in Beverly harbor will take place on Tuesday, Sept. 20.

This moist weather makes a lady's crimps fly around and act as if they ought to be banged.

The flats near Clark's lumber yards have been filled up with old rubbish and dirt during the week.

Mr. Jas. Buxton and wife returned last week from a refreshing visit to Cottage City and vicinity.

Ground was broken for the foundation of the Soldiers' Monument, on the morning of Nov. 10th, 1880.

Despite the many new buildings that have been put up the past year, houses for rent seem as scarce as ever.

Faces once familiar are seen upon the streets again, though in some cases bronzed as hardly to be recognizable.

The W. C. T. U. will hold their regular meeting on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at their room. All are invited.

A barge containing "dot leetle German band" favored the people on the Square with music last Friday evening.

Goats and other animals have full sway on Mt. Vernon street and neighborhood, to the serious detriment of all young fruit trees.

The position of Marshal of the Irish American societies at the dedication of the monument has been tendered to Mr. P. H. O'Connor.

The trees on Foster street, near Batchelder's coal sheds, have been much improved in appearance by the trimming of the lower branches.

The rostrum on the Square was held last night by a curb-stone orator, who made persistent efforts to sell his patent blacking to a crowd of boys.

Daniel R. Davis is furnishing the stone for the foundation of the new buildings to be erected on the old "Perley estate" on Essex street, Salem.

D. J. Gorman of Peabody won the first prize, $20, in a five-mile run at the Point of Pines last Thursday, making the five miles in 33 minutes and 10 seconds.

"The Vicissitudes of a Suit of Clothes" has been issued by the Naumkeag Clothing Company of Salem. It is illustrated and spicy. Call and get a copy.

Mr. Galeucia, of the firm of Stiles & Galeucia, has moved his family to Salem. Mr. G. while here made many friends who will regret his departure from us.

We are sorry to learn that the Goldsmith Literary Society have disbanded. It would certainly seem that such an organization could live in our midst.—Whose fault is it?

A gentleman is in town trying to organize a subordinate lodge of the Legion of Honor. Seems as if we had about as many secret organizations as are needed at present.

Mr. David T. Winter returned from a two-weeks' business trip to the west last week. He reports a warm climate as the train rushed through the great forest fires in Michigan.

In the matter of the will of the late Richard Loring in the Probate Court in Salem to-day, the will was sustained. Henry Wardwell for the will, Wm. D. Northend for the contestant.

The coal dealers anticipate an advance of from 25 to 50 cents a ton by the 1st of October. Read our advertisements and you will see where to purchase your winter's coal.

A granite monument has been erected to the memory of the late Jones Very at the old burying ground on Main street, and the lot is also being enclosed with a neat iron fence.

Dr. Geo. Burdett of Lynn, with several well-known test mediums, will hold a seance at Ashland Hall on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Regular Sunday evening meetings at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Dr. Steele will preach in the Methodist E. Church next Sunday at 2.15 P. M. Sabbath School at 10.15 A. M.—Young Peoples Prayer Meeting at 6 P. M. General prayer meeting at 7.

The new class at the High School numbers thirty-eight; fifty-five were entitled to enter. The Middle Class now contains 22, and the Senior 16, making the entire number in the school 76.

We hardly think the Monument Committee intended to invite all the schools in Essex County to take part in the dedicatory exercises of the Monument, as the News informed us last night.

"There have been more drunks in town this week than there have been before for a long time." Most of them are a low class of foreigners who have come to town to work on the water works.

Mr. William A. Smith was re-elected a Vice President of the Association of Massachusetts Union Survivors of Rebel Prisons, at the reunion held at the New Marlboro' Hotel, Boston, last Wednesday.

The following are interesting statistics: The number of steam boilers in town is 126; the number of horse power, 4937; number of houses, 1361; number of cows, 527; and the number of horses is 766.

The annual meeting of the South Danvers Mutual Fire Insurance Company will be held at the room of the South Danvers National Bank, on Monday, Oct. 3d. to choose directors for the ensuing year.

The evening preaching service at the Baptist Church will be resumed next Sabbath evening, at 7 o'clock, at which time the pastor will conclude his lectures on the Old Testament by a sermon on "The Songs of Solomon."

The Amateur Orchestra that practice in a barn on Elm street are doing nicely. When they commenced to practice the first of the season, it was of course natural that all the neighbors wanted to take a vacation. But now everything is working harmoniously.

There is no more sad or disgusting sight than that which is witnessed almost every day from our office windows—boys from 8 to 12 years of age, on their way to school, smoking cigarettes and often old stubs of cigars.

Residents along the streets and the public are encouraged to hope that improvements in the condition of the streets along which the new water pipes have been laid, will soon be made, and the large embankments of earth leveled off.

A birthday party was given at the residence of Mr. Hersey D. Larrabee of So. Peabody last Thursday. The attendance was very large, and during the evening Mr. Larrabee was presented with a watch and chain. The company was entertained with vocal and instrumental music and refreshments.

The firm of John Shaw, 2d, & Bro. of Lynn was reported yesterday as heavily embarrassed, caused by speculating in stocks. As near as we can learn Mr. John Shaw himself is a heavy loser by this speculation, and not the firm of which he is a member. The shoe business will be continued as usual.

An invitation has been given the ladies of Peabody by the Salem Educational Association to attend a lecture on School Suffrage by Miss Eastman in Lyceum Hall, Salem, on Thursday Eve, Sept. 22. Hon. Geo. B. Loring, Rev. E. C. Bolles and others are expected to address the meeting.

We learn that Holten Lodge, 104, I. O. O. F., have in contemplation a course of entertainments this winter, and that arrangements are already being made for them. The Institute has been secured for Thanksgiving night. If their course this year is as good as last, everybody will be satisfied.

Report has gained currency upon the streets to the effect that Mr. J. B. Thomas contemplates removing the wooden building on the corner of Foster and Main streets and the erection of a fine brick block. An interview with the occupants of the present building elicits the fact that they know nothing of it.

The old Mechanics Fair opened yesterday, and the Boston Traveller in noticing the exhibits, contains, among others, the following: "It is doubtful if there was ever a finer exhibit of American glue and size seen in this country than will be found tastefully arranged in a glass case near here, by W. H. Brown, of Peabody."

Any ladies desiring to register as a voter under the School Suffrage law (or re-register as the law requires,) and wishing to go to the Town House in company with others are invited to meet at the W. C. T. U. room on Friday, at 2 P. M. All who may not be able to go on that day will have until the first of October in which to add to the list.

A meeting of the engineers and the foremen of the several fire companies in town held a meeting last evening to consult about turning out at the dedication of the Monument on the 29th. No definite action was taken, although the general sentiment of the meeting was against taking part in the exercises. Another meeting will be held the last of the week.

The kite season is now at its height, and as the small boy sadly climbs the telephone pole to disentangle his kite tail from the wires, he little dreams what would be his fate if the operator at the central office, who has been shouting over the line for a full half hour vainly endeavoring to get a response over that particular wire, could discover his whereabouts.

It is with pleasure that we perceive that our young and well-known townsman, Mr. Arthur W. Sim, has successfully tried for admission into Williams College. Mr. Sim has overcome obstacles which would discourage many others in his efforts to obtain a college education, and we have no doubt that he will well represent Peabody while there. In the same class with him will be President Garfield's two sons and Col. Rockwell's son.

Those who saw yesterday a young man employed in one of our grocery stores climbing out of the trench on Endicott street, dug for the water pipes, and the amount of groceries scattered around, might have been led to think he had been taking too much ice water, but that was not the case. As he was crossing a board, that useful article broke, and thus his condition.—"Shum"-way should be devised to prevent such accidents in the future.

An elegant basket of flowers was presented to Essex Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Salem by Fraternity lodge of that city, last Monday evening, it being the occasion of a "house warming," held in honor of recently having their hall fixed up. In the centre were the three links in crimson carnations on a ground work of white hydrangea, surrounded with roses, gladioli, crocus, ferns, lilies, heath, pinks, heliotrope, mignonette and many other flowers. It was the work of B. D. Hill of this town.

At the semi-annual meeting of the St. John's C. T. A. Society last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing six months: President, Timothy Cunningham; Vice President, John F. McCarthy; Secretary, Michael C. Rea; Collector, Charles J. Houghton; Cor. Secretary, John F. Duffee; Treasurer, John Daley; Librarian, Michael F. Collins; Directors, Daniel Curwin, John Russell, John Murphy, James Finley, John Gilroy; Board of Investigation, Edward Flynn, Richard Barry.

Last Thursday was appropriately observed in this town in accordance with the Governor's proclamation, as a day of prayer for the recovery of the President. Between the hours of 10 and 12 nearly all of the stores were closed, and there was a goodly attendance at the union services at the South Congregationalist Church. Rev. Mr. Sperry presided, reading the proclamation, calling attention to the object of the assembly, and was followed in prayer and address by Rev. Messrs. Hudson, Harmon, Steele and Wood. The choir of the church sang appropriate selections, and intense interest was manifest throughout.

Mr. Thomas J. Jones, at his well arranged garden on Elm street, has a Procklington grape vine which contains three bunches of grapes on an 8 inch stock, it being only one year's growth. One bunch measures 6 inches in length and 4 inches across. The Procklington grape is a seedling from the Concord, and was raised by John Procklington of Sandy Hill, N. Y. The fruit is of a light golden yellow, while the quality is even better than the Concord. A large number of our citizens have this grape vine, but Mr. Jones is probably the only one in town that has yet raised any fruit, and quite an interest is taken in it.

A singular phenomenon was seen in the northern sky Monday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. The sky was entirely clear, excepting a haze near the horizon, and a band of nebulous matter extended from a point of clear vision in the west till it reached the zenith.—Soon the same appearance began in the east when the two bands met. When noticed by us it looked like a rainbow of narrow cloud extending from zenith to zenith. The Boston Journal says it was observable outside of New England, and at the signal office in Boston is believed to have been that form of the aurora borealis designated as the corona. At nine o'clock it had entirely disappeared.

W. WINSLOW. CLOTHING.

Down They Go!

STRAW HATS,

Never So Low.

Entire stock will be closed out regardless of cost.

Also, Great Bargains in

READY-MADE CLOTHING,

Furnishing Good,

TRUNKS, VALISES, etc., etc.

DISTIN, the Tailor, is still at his post, ever ready to give them fits, and prices way down.

PEABODY CLOTHING HOUSE,

W. WINSLOW.

FERNALD & SAWYER

Announce to the public that that they have

MARKED DOWN THEIR HOSIERY STOCK

To very low prices, in order to make room for fall goods. Our entire stock of 38 ct. and 42 ct. Children's Hose is marked down to 25 cts. per pair. Our 50 ct. and 62 ct. Children's Hose marked down to 38 cts. per pair. Our 15 ct. and 20 ct. Children's Hose we are selling for 12 1-2 cts. per pair. Be sure and procure some of the hose before they are all sold.

We have a decided bargain in

BEST QUALITY GERMANTOWN YARN,

slightly soiled, which we will close out at 15 cts. per skein. The regular price for this yarn is 25 cts. We guarantee it in quality the best in the market.

WE HAVE IN STOCK A LARGE LINE OF CORSETS,

For 50 cts., 75 cts., $1.00 and $1.25, which we guarantee as good goods as can be bought in Boston or elsewhere. We also have a regular 50 ct. Corset in all sizes, which we are selling for 38 cts. This is the best corset for the money that can be found anywhere.

We have about 25 doz. ALL LINEN SHIRT BOSOMS, slightly damaged, which we will sell for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents. These goods, if perfect, are worth 25, 38 and 42 cents. They are a decided bargain, and an early call is necessary to secure any of them, as they will not last long at the price we are selling them at.

IN DRY GOODS,

We are offering our extra stock of 15c Ginghams for 12 1-2 cts. per yard. Our 15 and 20c Dress Goods for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents per yard. Our remnants of Calicoes for 4 cts., yard wide 12 1-2c Cambrics, we are selling for 8 and 10 cts., according to style. We also have the largest and best stock of Domestic Dry Goods to be found in town—such as cottons, Crashes, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Flannels, Sileslas, &c., &c., and they are all marked at very low prices. We endeavor to make our prices so low that our people can save money by buying their goods at home.

FERNALD & SAWYER,

48 MAIN STREET, - - - - PEABODY, MASS.

A. B. & W.

1, 2 & 3 WEST BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET.

CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

Our new Fall Importations, Suitings, Trowserings and Overcoatings,

OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT.

MAMMOTH HALF-SEASON SALE

— OF —

Men's, Youths', Boys' and Childsen's

FINE AND MEDIUM

Clothing.

ON SATURDAY, AUG. 27TH.

We shall commence our Semi-annual Half-Season Sale which has given such satisfaction in the past. It has been our custom for the past two years to offer a sale of Half-Season CLOTHING. It being too late for the Summer, and too early for the Fall trade, we always take this opportunity of Clearing our Counters previous to receiving our Fall Stock. This sale should be one of interest to every person in want of Clothing, as the most of these goods are heavy enough for Fall and Winter wear.

PLEASE READ SOME OF THE BARGAINS.

75 Men's All-Wool, Light and Dark Colored, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed. The same goods have been sold all the season for $10 and $12; we shall close the lot at retail for SIX DOLLARS A SUIT. This lot comprises some six or eight different patterns.

175 Men's Strictly All-Wool, good weight, Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Cheviot Suits, thoroughly made and trimmed, handsome and stylish; have been sold all the season for $14, $15 and $16 per suit. We shall close the lot at retail for EIGHT DOLLARS PER SUIT, about half their value. This lot comprises some eight or ten different patterns.

325 Pairs Men's All Wool Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Pantaloons, Heavy and Medium Weight, handsomely made and trimmed, have been retailed all the season for $3 and $4. We shall close the lot at retail for TWO AND TWO AND A HALF DOLLARS PER PAIR.

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT.

1000 BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS. We are now prepared to give the Boys the Best, the Largest and most Varied stock of SCHOOL SUITS ever seen in any retail store in New England, with prices the lowest.

1500 Children's Plain and Fancy Mixed Cassimere and Scotch Wool Suits, Light and Medium Weight, all handsomely made and trimmed, prices from $1.50 to $5.00 per suit.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY,

Manufacturers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers,

179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM. Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.

Manufactory and Wholesale Rooms, 403 Washington St., Boston.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

AGAIN WE DEAL A PARALYZING BLOW TO HIGH PRICES

LOOK!		LOOK!!
Men's Calf Boots,	$2.00	Ladies' Kid Button,	1.50
" Buff Congress,	1.40	" " Foxed, Buttoned,	1.25
" " Eng. Walking Shoes,	1.50	" Grain " "	1.25
" " Strap, Solid,	.95	" Serge Slippers, only	.30
" Kip Boots,	2.00	" "	.17
" Brogans, Solid leather, only,	1.00	" Grain "	.65
" Kip Boots, 6 and 7, reduced from $3.00 to	2.25	" Opera " only	1.25
" Calf Epg. Walking Shoes,	1.75	" Machine Congress,	.85
" Rubber Boots,	2.75	" Hand Sewed, "	.85
Common Shoes at Cost.		Misses' Grain Button,	1.00
Boy's Congress,	.75	" Pegged, Lace, Fargo Tip, only 65, 75 and 85
" Split Alexis,	.85	Misses' Kid Foxed Polished, Solid,	.75
" English Walking Shoes,	1.25	Children's Grain, Button, Stackell Tip,	.95
Men's Hand Sewed Boots, only	4.50	Child's Pegged Lace,	.60
Ladies' Hand Sewed Button, Kid and Goat, only	3.25	Ankle Ties,	.25
		Blacking Brushes,	.15

THE NEWEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN, WITH PRICES THAT BEAT ANY STORE IN SALEM.

☞ Remember our prices are low and our goods the best.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my currying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.

aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS.

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.

jy 20—3m

SHAWMUT ONE PRICE STORE.

GREAT MARK-DOWN IN STRAW HATS.

Our Entire Stock to be Closed Out at

ONE HALF THE ORIGINAL PRICE!

We are selling Hats at Prices never before heard of in Salem.

Hats for 25c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 that are always sold for twice these prices.

NEW FURNISHING GOODS marked down to close.

Men's Merino Shirts and Drawers,

for 35c,—sold everywhere for 50 cents.

Fancy Hosiery, Neck Ware, Suspenders, &c., at prices that will insure their immediate sale.

SHAWMUT HAT & FURNISHING STORE

191 and 193 Essex Street, Salem.

Anecdotes.

"JOE."

"Hadn't you heard de news? Why, sah, he's don gone dead. Yes, sah, bin dead an buried for a hull week. Dat's de reason he didn't come aroun' any more wid his apples an' popcorn."

"What! your little Joe dead?"

"Dat's de truf, sah. Come home one day all stuffed up wid a cold, an' in twenty-four hours we had him in his shroud. It was awful sudden, an' I can't realize dat he's gone. Las' night we found ourselves waitin' supper fur him, an' in de middle ob de night we wake up an' find ourselves callin' his name. It comes powerful hard on us, it does, an' we can't speak of it widout our hearts swellin' up big 'nuff to bust. He was de only chile, you know, an' we had built up some powerful hopes on him."

"Joe was a good boy."

"'Deed he was. He nebber gin us one hour's trouble, an' dar wasn't a bad h'ar on his head."

There came a pause, and the old man seemed nervous and uneasy. He started to go, hesitated, and finally said:

"You don't know nuffin' 'bout Heaben fur suah, do you?"

"No."

"Well, has you got any ideas!"

"Yes, a few."

"You see, all de wimmin' has come in to console my ole woman, an' one of 'em says dat de big grown up folks go to one part of Heaben an' de chill'en to anoder part. If dat's true den we can't jine little Joe when we git up dar; maybe we can't eben see him. Dat's what makes his mudder take on so. We's got purty old now, an' we'll soon git de summons to go, but if de hope an' spectashun of meetin' dat boy up in Heaben am taken away from us we might as well hang ourselves in de woodshed."

"You need have no fears. Heaven is not fenced off to separate the young from the old."

"All piled in togeder?"

"Yes, and plenty of room for all."

"Will we know our Joe when we git up dar?"

"Yes."

"An' he'll know us?"

"Yes."

"Dat's de way I hold, but de ole woman she's kinder 'fraid dat I doan' knew fur suah. Say, boss?"

"Yes."

"Please do de ole man a favor. Take your pen an' write down dat Heaben am not fenced off, an' dat we shall fin' our little Joe clus by de pearly gates waitin' and watchin' to welcome us as we march in wid de purceshen. It will make de ole woman feel a heap ea ier an' help her to b'ar up under dis 'fliction."

The "certificate" was written and handed to him, and he carefully put it away and said, as he was ready to go:

"I'm a fousan' times obleeged, and de swellin' in my heart has gone down over half. It wrung us powerful hard to see dat boy on his dyin' bed, but when we war told dat we shouldn't be able to git up to him in Heaben we was clean dun fur. Day to you, boss. Ize gwine right off home, an' chirk up de ole woman wid de blessed news."—M. Quad.

A PLUCKY CORRESPONDENT.

The Standard has been fortunate in its agents in South Africa. Its correspondent with General Coley performed a really splendid feat—he joined in the advance of the troops, saw and shared in their defeat, was not killed, and telegraphed at once a long column of description to his paper. That man must come up to Jules Verne's ideal of a correspondent. He had the nerve to join, unarmed, in a desperate expedition, the eyes to see all that was going on, and the cleverness not to be killed on the spot, because it would impair his usefulness. He was trodden down, taken prisoner, and immediately interviewed Mr. Joubert with great effect. If he is, as we suppose, the man with whom Sir F. Roberts quarreled in Afghanistan, let us hope he will be forgiven by the General, in consideration of his pluck, readiness, and resources; and let us hope also that next time he goes under fire, he may have to record a victory. Gen. Roberts must not silence correspondents in a colonial war.—The Spectator.

UNDATED BOOK.

Many books are undated, their age being decided by the quaint conceits of the old printers. Gesner's Bibliotheva had numerous frogs and tadpoles imprinted on its pages, the printer's name, meaning a frog, being Latininized into Christopherus Frosshoverus. Varro's Quæ Extant, printed at Dort, is adorned with wood-cuts of portly bears and their clumsy cubs, to immortalize the printer, Joannis Bearwont. So, too, a book issuing from the press of Gryphius of Lyons begins and ends with effigies of portentous looking griffins. The device of Michael and Philip Lenoir is a jet-black shield, with an Ethiopian for crest and negroes for supporters. Apicarius has a bear robbing a bees' nest in a hollow tree. But most valuable of all, Ascenius has an accurate representation of the printing-press used at that period, every nail and screw being faithfully delineated, and a burly compositor setting up the type.—Chambers's Journal.

The man who easily and quickly forgets a good turn is just the man to avoid doing one if he possibly can.

If we could only tax the follies of the world the payment of national debts would be a mere bagatelle.

When a Methodist preacher of any prominence in this state does or says anything worthy of note, half the papers in the Commonwealth make a local of it and say "Rev. So-and-so, formerly of this city." Such is one of the beneficent features of the itinerant system.

☞ A Smooth Complexion can be had by every lady who will use Parker's Ginger Tonic. Regulating the internal organs and purifying the blood, it quickly removes pimples and gives a healthy bloom to the cheek. See notice.

sept7—1m

There was a man who had a clock,
His name was Matthew Mears;
He wound it regular every day
For four and twenty years.
At last his precious time piece proved
An eight day clock to be,
And a madder man than Mr. Mears
I would not wish to see.

☞ Try it; keep trying it, and try it again. We say this because we believe that the health, happiness and prosperity of the people depend upon the proper use of these medicines, which have proved so successful in eradicating disease and defeating death. The medicine so effective in its cure of diseases is the great Southern remedy, Simmons' Liver Regulator. Try it; we believe that the first trial will be satisfactory.

sept14—1m

The prisoner asked for delay until he could talk to his lawyer. The magistrate asked, "What can your lawyer say in your behalf when you were caught with your hand in the gentleman's pocket? What defense can he make?" "That's precisely what I, too, am curious to know," responded the accused.

Hundreds of Men, Women and Children rescued in every community from beds of sickness and almost death and made strong by Parker's Ginger Tonic are the best evidences in the world of its sterling worth.—Post. sept7—1m

An exchange prints a long recipe explaining "How to perfume a dwelling." It's too expensive. The cheapest and quickest way to perfume a dwelling is to fry a piece of codfish or roast a few onions. They go directly to the spot—and linger around the spot for a considerable length of period.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are free from all crude and irritating matter. Concentrated medicine only; very small; very easy to take; no pain; no griping; no purging.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE.

WONDERFUL SURGICAL OPERATION—REMOVAL OF URINARY STONES FROM THE BLADDER—SUCCESSFUL.

Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., has been treated for several years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Urethra, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.

While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Billious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle.—The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. sep 7—1m

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MINING, MILLING AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125,000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock,	250,000 shares
Common Stock,	125,000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs.	Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines, and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury. 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of

J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

THE GREAT UNFAILING SPECIFIC FOR Liver Complaint

The symptons of Liver complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side, sometimes pain in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism; the Stomach is effected with a loss of appetite and sickness: bowels, in genral, costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, and dull heavy sensation; considerable loss of memory with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done; often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above sympton attend the disease, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.

REGULATE THE LIVER, AND PREVENT

Dyspepsia, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Attacks, Chills and Feaer, Headache, Colic, Depression of Spirits Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Piles, etc., etc.

Prepared only by J. H. ZELIN & CO. Sold by all Druggists.

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting Imperfect Fitting Artificial Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6.00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.25
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors

Late of the Adams House, Boston.

may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds; Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition Prepared only by

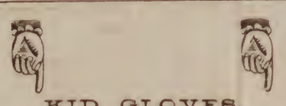
WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,



LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Miss M. E. HUTCHINSON. Miss N. P. PEABODY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm C. Munroe, Geo M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S. F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David A. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
ap13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6, 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 PM. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 PM.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M.,

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 PM. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05, 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 30, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 30AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42, 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 56 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45, 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN, Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 PM; leave Lynn, at 8, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M. and 11:00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pullman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00 Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6.9 A.M., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL, Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M.
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M.
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wood Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line. Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quincy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

357 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend it to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere House, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is raising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house at Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS.
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, MASS., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It is not only efficacious for rheumatism, but for strains, sprains, etc. It can not be recommended too highly as a family liniment. C. H. LEWIS.

It always relieves Neuralgia and if the application is continued a cure can be dependedupon.

[From Hon. A. Maynard, the extensive manufacturer and founder of the town of Maynard.]

ASSABET MILLS,
MAYNARD, MASS., Aug 24, 1880.

I gladly add my testimony to the value of the Shaker Liniment in case of Neuralgia and Rheumatism. By its use I obtained almost immediate relief, and unhesitatingly recommend it to my friends.

A. MAYNARD.

PRICE 50 CENTS.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES

GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO.,

Boston Wholesale Agents.

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

It is not at all singular that men who could tell within a half cent what they could afford to pay their operatives, couldn't tell within half a million dollars of how much their treasurers were taking for their valuable services.

☞ DON'T TRUST THEM. — When you feel badly, and have pains here and there in your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have Kidney or Liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the Doctor at Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

When you comb your hair in the dark, why does it resemble a traveler quitting his hotel? Simply because it's a parting guessed.

Fruit of the tropic's burning clime,
Thy wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way
Sanford's Ginger doth allay.--sep7-1m

The shades of night were falling fast, when through a rural paper cast, we found a dozen puffs so nice, and garnished with that sweet device—Taffy.

BRACE UP.—There is serious meaning in this. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and, perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities: the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

The Philadelphia Press needs a lesson on "respect for the dead." Its latest outrage is the statement that the face and features of Jennie Cramer resembled those of Lydia Pinkham. The editor of the Press is evidently in his dote-age.—Lynn Record.

SILVER CREEK, N.Y., Feb. 6, 1880.
GENTS—I have been very low, and have tried everything, to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

When lovely woman stoops to folly, and find too late that men betray, she sues at once for breach of promise, and makes him whack up with the pay.

ANXIOUS TO RISE.—There's plenty of room upstairs, as Daniel Webster said to the young lawyer anxious to rise, but despondent of his chance to do so; but no one need injure himself in either climbing the stairs of fame or those of his own house or business place. The following is to the point: Mr. John A. Hutchinson, Supt. Downer's Kerosene Oil Works, Boston, Mass., writes: Mr. Patton, one of our foremen, in walking up stairs last week sprained his leg badly. I gave him a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil to try. He used it, and an almost instantaneous cure was effected. —Lafayette Daily Journal.

Four old ladies on a piazza having secrets to unburden about the quality and style of the family silver that came down to them, and which they never describe twice alike, are equal to four packs of fire crackers set off in an empty barrel.

☞ SKILL IN THE WORKSHOP.—To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and the whole constitution be built up to a higher working condition.

Fashionable ladies now embroider handsome worsted collars for the cats. This is crewel-tie to animals.

ITCHING PILES — SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.
Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

A KING'S LOVE.

The picture of Holland House as it was in the early part of this century is one familiar to most readers, but they will find not a few details skillfully filled in by Mr. Hayward. One curious episode belonging to an earlier time—the attachment between George III. and Lady Sarah Lennox—is told at considerable length, and makes a most interesting story. Lady Sarah was residing under her sister's care at Holland House when the king's attachment became serious. She was then in her sixteenth year. She was was very cold in her demeanor to him. He made her what was really an offer through her cousin, Lady Susan Strangeways, who had said she intended to remain in town till the coronation.

"There will be no coronation," said the king, "till there is a queen, and I think that your friend is the fittest person for it. Tell your friend so from me."

"But when he asked in person what she thought of the message, all the reply he got was:

"Nothing, sir."

"Nothing comes of nothing," was his answer.

Nevertheless, she seems to have been vexed when the announcement of his approaching marriage with the Princess Charlotte of Mecklenburg was made.

"I shall take care," she writes to Lady Susan, "to show that I am not mortified to anybody; but if it be true that one can vex anybody with a reserved, cold manner, he shall have it, I promise him."

She seemed, however, to have consoled herself first with a squirrel, whose sickness troubled her more than the king's inconstancy, and then with a hedge-hog. After all, she was little more than a child. She was one of the queen's bridesmaids. The king, it is said, never took his eyes off her during the whole ceremony, and when the words "As Thou didst send this blessing upon Abraham and Sarah" were reached, was visibly affected. After the marriage, when the company paid their homage to the new queen, an old Jacobite noble, Lord Westmoreland, who had been persuaded to come to court, and who was more than half blind, knelt before Lady Sarah. George Selwyn, hearing of the incident, said:

"Oh, you know, he always loved Pretenders."

Lady Sarah became the mother of the Napiers by her second marriage—doubtless a higher vocation than being the mother of a royal family.—Pall Mall Gazette.

HOW LINCOLN ENDED A DISPUTE.

During Mr. Lincoln's time there was a great row over the postoffice at Dayton, O. Two Hotspurs were in the field. Petition after petition in favor of one or the other poured in upon the President, and delegation after delegation hastened to Washington to argue the case. Mr. Lincoln was a long-suffering man, but his patience gave out at last. He could not determine that one applicant was in the slightest degree more competent, or more patriotic, or better supported than the other. Finally, after being bored by a fresh delegation, he said to his secretary: "This matter has got to end somehow. Bring me a pair of scales." The scales were brought. "Now put in all the petitions and letters in favor of one man, and see how much they weigh, and then weigh the other fellow's pile." It was found that one bundle was three-quarters of a pound heavier than the other. "Make out an appointment at once for the man who has the heaviest papers," said Mr. Lincoln, and it was done.

A BURIED CITY IN ALGIERS.

French newspapers report the discovery in Algiers, by the archæologist, M. Tarry, of a city which had been entombed in the sand. M. Tarry's attention had been awakened by the mound-like appearance of the sandy soil, and some digging brought to light the minarets and upper portion of a mosque. Further excavations laid bare a terrace, a tower, and about a dozen houses, all in excellent preservation. He reported his discovery to the Government of Algiers, which has undertaken to have the place thoroughly explored. The place is in the southern part of the province, not far from the town of Ouargia, and exposed to the full blast of the sandy winds from the desert. Probably a succession of siroccos bearing clouds of sand completely filled up the streets and houses, making the town uninhabitable, and so drove out the population. At present there is no ground for conjecture as to the date of the occurrence.

FREEING SLAVES.

Under the double-headed eagle of Russia no slavery is permitted, and the hoisting of the Russian standard on the ruined ramparts of the Turkoman fortress was the signal for the emancipation of 700 wretched Persian captives. Half-naked, starving and covered with bruises, after being compelled to work all day, they were chained at night hand and foot and guarded by dogs. No words could describe the rapture of these unfortunate men when the Russians told them they were free to return to Khorassan, from whence most of them had been carried off by the Tekkes. Within the fortress the Russian found about 4,000 Turkoman families, or about 18,000 individuals, whose astonishment knew no bounds when, instead of being butchered or enslaved, they were treated with scrupulous kindness, and confided to the care of the Red Cross Society.

The world knows nothing of its greatest men.

Dare to do right; fear to do wrong.

Yard Wide Cambric for 10 cents, at Peabody's.

JAPANESE GARDENS.

The love of flowers, shrubs and trees is widely spread in Japan; even in the busy commercial quarters of the large towns almost every house has its garden spot, with its tiny dwarf shrubs. These dwarf shrubs and trees probably owe their origin to the narrow limits of space, and their production is carried on to such a ridiculous degree that a Dutch merchant was shown a box three inches deep, and with a square inch of surface, in which a bamboo, a fir, and a plum tree, the latter in full bloom, were growing and thriving. The price asked for this botanical curiosity was about $300. The method of dwarfing is by checking the circulation of the sap, crampling the extension of the branches, chilling the roots in flat porous pots, which are kept constantly cold and wet. Many dwarf plants have striped or variegated leaves, and the production of such varieties, both dwarfed and in the natural size, is a favorite hobby with Japanese gardeners. In the portions of the garden immediately surrounding the house, no tree or shrub is allowed to retain its natural size, but within one sees fans, ships in full sail, round tables, candelabra, large crescents, and stiff rectangular walls. A soft, velvet-like turf covers the ground, and the clean gravel paths are bordered with gay stones, dwarf trees, and flower vases. From the ponds, in which goldfish swim, and from the artificial rivulets rise mossy little rock, to which tiny bridges of every conceivable shape lead. Such spots require too much care and attention to admit of wide extension, and so they generally occupy but a comparatively small space in front of the mansion. High pruned hedges enclose these green boudoirs, where nature is disguised and curled as conventional culture and the usage of "good society" demand. Without these lies the larger part of the garden, where nature is left more to herself. Japanese gardens look most beautiful toward the end of autumn, when the foliage of the maple assumes a bright purple hue, and the azaleas and wax trees are clothed in dark purple tints. The winter chrysanthemum is the favorite flower of the Japanese, who possess countless varieties of it. The size and splendor of its star-like flowers are often incredible.—J. Douglas, in Gardener's Chronicle.

A NAMELESS HEROINE.

Some days since a farmer's wife in Grayson county, whose name we have not obtained, was frying meat for dinner at her house, situated near a mountain range in a rather wild and sequestered place, her hurband in the meantime being engaged at work some distance from the house. The savory odor of the bacon was scented by a couple of young bears that were ranging on the premises, and enticed them to follow the direction from which it came. They kept the scent until it even drew them into the house where the meat was on the fry. The lady of the house secured the strange visitors, and her knowledge of bears led her to think that these young ones had strayed from their maternal parent, which would soon follow their trail and hunt them up. Her judgment was correct, for it was but a few moments before the old she bear came in sight—an enormous black bruin, of a kind which, as many of our readers know, will fight to the death for their young. The woman drew down from its rack the old, true, tried and trusty mountain rifle, and fastening the door she made a loop-hole of the window and waited the approach of her bearship within a sufficient distance for a shot. She waited not long and fired, the ball taking effect but not proving fatal. The report of the rifle drew her laboring husband from his work, who, coming near the house, was chased several hundred yards by the bear, which then gave up the pursuit and returned in quest of her young. The plucky backwoodsman's wife had in the meantime reloaded the rifle, and with the second shot the old she bear keeled over, underside topmost, and yielded up the ghost. The cubs, we are told, sold for twenty-six dollars, and the skin of the bear, which was very large, brought the sum of eight dollars.—Wytheville Enterprise.

LYNCH LAW IN JAPAN.

Says the Japan Mail: Not so many years ago there was a sort of lynch law in Japan which seems to have exercised the usual deterrent effect of justice sharp, short and decisive. An instance of it came under our own notice once in the shape of a man, stark naked, who was hurrying along the Tokaido on a winter's morning, attended by a very tolerable crowd of women and children. His arms were firmly pinioned to a stout pole, which was laid across his shoulders after the manner of a pack board, and to this pole his queue was fastened so tightly that the utmost stretching of his neck and elevation of his hands scarcely sufficed to save his hair from being torn out by the roots. It was a pitiable and withal a revolting spectacle, but if the man's crime could have been put into some form appreciable to the outer senses it would scarcely have seemed less shocking. He had robbed a blind cripple of the few coins bestowed on him by rare charity.

M. Dohrn has introduced the telephone in connection with his scientific explorations of the bed of the Bay of Naples. By its use the diver and the boatmen overhead are able to communicate with each other quickly and intelligently.

Analogy, although it is not infallible, is yet that telescope of the mind by which it is marvelously assisted in the discovery of both physical and moral truth.

Calder's Dentine, 15 cts. at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.

SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.
☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Billiousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pill at a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S
IRON PILLS
FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION
We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents. Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.
INDUCEMENTS:
Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj. French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 250½ ESSEX ST. SALEM, MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.
VICE PRESIDENTS.
George Osborne, Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney, Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen, George F. Osborne.
TRUSTEES.
John A. Lord, George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill, Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler, Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little, Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren, Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill, Albert A. Messer,
C. Warren Osborn, John Pinder,
TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.
New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.
Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS,
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,
Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.
J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,
Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
The undersigned, having had large experience, solicts, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.
Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.
PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.
Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.
STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO.,
Proprietors.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS.

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF

MERCANTILE PRINTING,
Is executed at this establishment,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.
In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work
IS MADE
A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.
Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,
And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have
ADDED TO THE OFFICE
A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to
EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING
Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
PEABODY, MASS.

THE N. Y. POSTMASTER'S CORRESPONDENCE.—We have dozens and dozens of letters every day, said Mr. Gayler, which may be termed "Private Inquiries." They have become so numerous that we have been compelled to issue a circular answer to such inquiries, stating that they are not connected with any official duties here and that we have no time to attend to them. They include all sorts of anxious and all sorts of foolish questions. If we can conveniently do so, we make inquiries and send a reply, provided there is a stamp enclosed. Some time ago there was a man wrote to us from California, saying that he wanted the address of his father, whom he had not seen for ten years. Of course he gave the name and last address, and one of our carriers on his rounds asked for the old man at his last address. There it was found he had removed to some other place years before. Another carrier on the other round then took up the thread and inquired at the new address. Well, to make a long story short, the old man was found working in a Bowery shoe-shop, and his son, who, of course, had grown rich and prosperous, sent him money to come out to California, where he has lived happily ever since.

Many inquiries are made daily of the Postmaster respecting business schemes the virtues of medicines, and as to the character of men who are about to marry in some distant place. These the Postmaster can hardly reply to, except on his own personal knowledge or that of some one of his trusted subordinates. One letter came inquiring "if——had a good paying gambling saloon, as he is courting my daughter, and says he has." The Postmaster responded mildly that he didn't know. It was too delicate an inquiry to go into where the future happiness of two human beings may have been at stake.

Persons who may want to start a scandal will often write a letter from some other town dating it New York, and addressing it to the proposed victim in that town. They will then inclose the letter, enveloped, addressed and stamped, to the Postmaster here, with a request that it will be posted.—That secures the New York postmark on it, which is what they want. But under the regulations all such letters have a special mark put on them which greatly disturbs the sender's expectations. Each one receives an extra mark which reads thus: "Mailed at——under cover to Postmaster, New York." This, continued Mr. Gayler, rather gives away the sender, especially as he is apt to care little about concealing his handwriting when the supposed postmark will help so much to hide him. —N. Y. Tribune.

WHAT A PRINTER IS.—A printer, according to a punning exchange, is the most curious being living. He may have a "bank" and "quoins" and not be worth a cent; have "small caps" and neither wife nor children. Others may run fast, but he gets along swifter by "setting" fast. He may be making an "impression" without eloquence; may use the "lye" without offending, and still tell the truth; while others cannot stand while they set, he can "set standing," and do both at the same time; may have to use "furniture" and yet have no dwelling; may make and put away "pi" and never see a pie, much less eat it, during his whole life; may "press" a good deal, and not ask a favor; may handle a "shooting iron" and know nothing about a cannon, gun or pistol; he may move the "lever" that moves the world, and yet be as far from the morning globe as a hog upon a mole-hill; "spread sheets" without being a housewife; he may "lay his form on the bed," yet be obliged to sleep on the floor; he may use the "dagger", without shedding blood, and from the earth may handle "stars;" he may be of a "rolling" disposition, and still never desire to travel; he can have a "sheep's-foot" and never be deformed; never without a "case" and know nothing about law or physic; be always correcting his "errors" and growing worse every day; have "embraces" without ever having the arms of a lass thrown around him; have his "form locked up," and at the same time be far from the jail, watch-house. or any other place of confinement; he may be plagued by the "devil" and not be a Christian of the very best type.

The Manchester Mirror says that "it it quite likely that the union movement between the Concord and Boston & Lowell railroads, will bring about some changes next week, it being intimated that the present conductors on the Concord railroad, instead of running only to Nashua, will take their trains through to Boston; and the conductors of the Boston & Lowell line will run as far north as Concord. The long waits at Nashua for change of cars will be done away with, and it is also intimated that the Lawrence train, after leaving Lawrence, will run over the rails of the Boston & Lowell corporation, and enter the Lowell depot at Boston. It is supposed that the running time between this city and Boston will be shortened considerably."

ONE OF the most endearing connections with this life is to know that we have friends whom we have tried and can trust. Such friends are very scarce, and, perhaps, rarer still are those people who know or are capable of judging when they have such friends. Our characters are formed for good or bad from the company we keep. Confidence in our power to refrain from the vices of others too often inveigles us into the risk of mingling with associates whom we know to be our inferiors both mentally and morally. The daily influence of such company will blind us to what we know to be wrong, and we are unconsciously led into acting in such a manner as we would have formerly condemned. In forming friendships, avoid these lower types, and let your mode of living be directed by comparing your daily actions with the standard of what you conscientiously consider right. Beware of the two-faced man. A slur coming from one that is supposed to be your friend, carries with it more destruction than many things equally untruthful from every known enemy you have. You had better make such men your outright enemies rather than have them continue as your apparent friends. Simply ignore them and waive all combativeness with them; that is, so far as your intuitively revengeful nature will allow.—Bost. Star.

Rev. A. A. Waite has concluded to make Lynn his home, locating his family here as soon as household arrangements can be effected. The probabilities point to the erection of a neat and substantial house of worship on the site of the "Glad Tidings Tent" on Brookline street, and one friend, we understand, has started a popular subscription to that end with the sum of one hundred dollars.—Lynn Transcript.

Conversation on a seaside hotel veranda, between a young man and an elderly guest: Young man—"I must have seen you somewhere, sir?" Elderly guest—"Very likely; I am a pawnbroker."

A very little money will buy a nice Breakfast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem. Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Salem, Sept. 4, by Rev. Mr. Vezina, Mr. John Martin to Miss Virginie Lord; 7th, by Rev. Mr. Willson, Mr. Lawrence P. Smith to Miss Hattie W., daughter of Edwin R. Ide, Esq., all of this city.

In Danvers, 3d, by Rev. Mr. Drury, Mr. Zebina Blackadair to Miss Minnie Durkee; 7th, by Rev. Mr. Dillingham, Mr. Henry M. Keniston of D. to Miss M. Agnes Nugent of Lynn; 8th, Mr. John H. McInnerney to Miss Fanny W. Tufts.

In Lowell, Sept. 6th, at St. Ann's church, by Rev. Theodore Edson Mr. Andrew B. Cross to Miss Matilda L. Willis of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 10, Edward Henry, only child of H. J. Gardner and Maria Kimball, 1 yr. 1 mo. 9 days.

A lily broken by the rain,
Before a single earthly stain
Has on its velvet whiteness lain;

A snowy bird that. close caressed
By the soft, brooding mother breast,
Dares yet forsake the sheltering nest,

And straight, before its silver wings
Have ever stooped to baser things,
Flies up to heaven, and flying sings.—

These and all other pure and mild
And lovely objects undefiled,
Are types of what thou wert, our child!

7th, Mr. Eugene McCarthy, 50 yrs.
11th. Ellen Barrett, 72 yrs.
13th, Rebecca M. Lamson, 25 yrs. 11 mos. [Funeral Thursday afternoon at 2 1-2 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited.]

In Salem, Sept. 5th, Mr. William Hill, 74 yrs. 9 mos. 10 days; 7th, Mr. Nathaniel Ross, 72 yrs. 1 mo 29 days; 10th, Mr. William McKown, 84 yrs.; 11th, Mr. John Pratt, 83 yrs. 4 days.

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2 quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

HOUSEKEEPERS
Of Peabody!

COMPLETE REVOLUTION!
IN PRICES OF CROCKERY,
GLASS & WOODEN WARES.

READ OUR PRICES!
EXAMINE OUR WARES!

And get the best equivalent for your money.

WE QUOTE

A Gilt China Tea Set, 44 pieces,		$5.50
A Toilet (banded) Set, 10	"	3.25
" " " 3	"	1.00
Breakfast Plate,		75c per doz.
Dinner "		90c per doz.
Tea "		95c " "
Sugar Bowls,		30 and 40c each.
Ewer and Basin,		72 and 80c each.
Covered Dishes,		55, 60 and 75c each.
Platters,	9, 12, 15, 20 to	50c each.
Chambers,	25, 30 and	40c each.
Quart Bowls,		7c each.
3 Pint Bowls,		10c each.
Cups and Saucers,		40c per set.
Odd Saucers,		2c each.
Syrup Cans,		20c each.
Salt Cellars,		5 and 12c each.
Sauce Boats,		10c each.
Pickle Dishes,		10c each.
Fruit Dishes,		15 and 20c each.
Goblets,		50 and 58c per doz.
Tumblers,		40c per doz.
Pie Plates,		3, 5 and 8c each.
Dover Egg Beater,		25c each.
Lemon Squeezers,		15c each.
Decorated Tiles,		25c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 8 qt.,		10c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 15 qt.,		15c each.

Want of space limits us in our quotations, but we have a store full of goods, and ask our friends and the public to give us a call ensuring them to always find us on the Square.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building.

Who does not like entertaining company?
"An always entertaining magazine"—
Hartford Courant.

COOD COMPANY;
A MONTHLY MAGAZINE; FRESH, VARIED, VIGOROUS.
THREE DOLLARS A YEAR.
A new volume just beginning. Subscribe now.

☞ A RARE CHANCE!
Twenty-four Numbers for Three Dollars and Seventy-five Cents.

Any one who sends three dollars for a year's subscription, beginning with the September number, to the office in Springfield, Mass., can by sending seventy-five cents additional, or three dollars and seventy-five cents in all, have the twelve numbers for the year past sent him; making with the twelve numbers for the year to come twenty-four in all. Regular Price, six dollars. Ask any one in whom you have confidence if this is not a rare chance- Besides a large number of short stories, these numbers for the past year contain

Three Serials.

1. A serial story by Ellen W. Olney, running through six numbers, entitled, "Rose and the Doctor."

"One of the very best stories we have read for years." "Is proving a charming and powerful story." "They are as real people in whom we feel a human interest." "Ellen W. Olney's capital serial."

2. A series of six articles by Lieutenant Schwatka. U. S. A., commander of the recent Franklin search expedition, about his own and other experiences and adventures in the Arctic regions.

"No magazine articles have appeared which are of more interest to us than the series of Polar Travels by Lieutenant Schwatka." "Extremely interesting." "Especially seasonable at this time when popular interest is freshly awakened by the departure of vessels in search of the exploring steamer Jeannette, whose fate is unknown." "At this time, when the spirit of Arctic adventure is once more thoroughly aroused, these articles come with additional interest."

3. A serial story in six instalments, published anonymously, entitled, "Mildred's Caprice."

"Opens remarkably well." "The story is powerfully told." "The strong story of 'Mildred's Caprice.'" "That excellent serial of 'Mildred's Caprice.'"

Among other contributors are included John Burroughs, Maurice Thompson, Edward Bellamy, H. E. Scudder, Geo. M. Towle, Ernest Ingersoll, T. S. Collier. President D. C. Gilman, B. F. De Costa, A. T. Bacon, Octave Thanet, Rebecca Harding Davis, Mrs. Gen. Lew Wallace, Mrs. Lizzie W. Champney, Katherine Carringeon, Louise Stockton, Saki Wakamatz, Elaine Goodale, Dora Read Goodale.

IF YOU HAVE NOT SEEN GOOD COMPANY send twenty-five cents to the office in Springfield, Mass., for the September number, having a capital story by Constance Fenimore Woolson; an attractive story of twenty pages by Ellen W. Olney; an article on the great Cotton Exposition to be held at Atlanta, by Edward Atkinson, its originator; besides much else of interest. ☞ If after examining this number you want to subscribe as above, you need send but three dollars and fifty cents to the Springfield, Mass., office. Elsewhere you pay four dollars; the regular price being six. ACT PROMPTLY. Address GOOD COMPANY, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Essex, ss. August 12, 1881.

Taken on execution and will be sold at Public Auction, on Saturday, September 17, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock, A.M., at the office of the undersigned, in the Post-office Building, in Salem, in said county, all the right in equity that ALFRED F. WHEELER, of Peabody, in said county, has this day to redeem the following described mortgaged real estate, to wit: A certain lot of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Peabody and bounded as follows: Commencing at a point on Main street, by land of Amos Osborn, and running southerly by said land and land of Eliza D. Clement, 178 feet, more or less, to land of Joseph Hamilton; thence westerly by said land of Hamilton 40 feet, more or less, to a lane 12 feet wide leading from Main street to Summer street, by the premises; and thence by said lane 178 feet, more or less, to said Main street; and thence easterly by said Main street 40 feet, more or less, to point begun at. Also all of said Wheeler's right, title and interest in said lane on the westerly side of said premises.

SAMUEL A. JOHNSON,
aug 17—3w Deputy Sheriff.

CATARRH,
THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,
CURED BY
DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.
Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.
Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence. Nov. 4. 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celebrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.
From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.
From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.
A REMARKABLE CURE.
From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

CLAM BAKE,
—AT THE—
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thur day,
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.

Clam Chowder: Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing; Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.

75 CENTS PER PLATE.

SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.

C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.

Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston: thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TAB LE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.

Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M., 1. 2, 3. 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 8, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.

Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

EXCURSIONS
FROM LITCHFIELD'S WHARF, Boston.
EMPIRE STATE,
(J. M. PHILLIPS, Commander),
The Largest, Staunchest, and Most Magnificent Excursion Steamer
In our waters, will leave Litchfield's wharf, 468 Atlantic av.

Grand Fishing Tournament,
Commencing Monday, Sept. 12.

MOONLIGHT TRIPS
Will continue through the present week.

The Empire State Band,
C. H. THOMPSON, Leader, will give Grand Concerts and furnish Music for dancing.
Ample accommodations for passengers furnished by Metropolitan cars. Tickets and staterooms at L. H. Palmer's, 3 Old State House. H. A. M'GLENEN,
Business Manager.

WHITE MOUNTAIN
EXCURSIONS,
VIA THE
Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.

The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,
WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.

THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.

The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.

Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.

For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at

NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON.
GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

$25. REWARD.
We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.

CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.

RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.

HUCKINS' SOUPS
—AND—
SANDWICHED MEATS.

FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

FINE STATIONERY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
CIRCULATING LIBRARY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
Blank Books of All Kinds,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
Photograph and Autograph ALBUMS,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
Juvenile Books,
IN GREAT VARIETY,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
WALLETS AND PURSES,
At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.
5 and 10 Cent Counter,
—AT—
SWAIN'S,
220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

DINING SALOON.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.
Meals Served at All Hours.
A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.
MUNROE & ARNOLD,
Sole Agents for Peabody,
Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of FERTILIZERS,
manufactured by the
BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.
mch 30—6m

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.

Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.

Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces, These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.

Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.

We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

NADOR & GOODWIN.
DEALERS IN
CONFECTIONERY OF ALL KINDS.

We have recently fitted for the convenience of our customers a
First Class Ice Cream Saloon,
AT OUR STORE 239 ESSEX STREET.

Ice Cream delivered in Peabody every afternoon.
Cream packed in moulds and delivered on Sundays at 40 cents a quart.
Picnic parties, weddings, and social entertainments furnished at reasonable rates.

NADOR & GOODWIN,
239 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
jy 20

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILLOAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

S. B. WINN, SALEM, MASS.,
Keeps constantly on hand a fine stock of
ENGLISH AND AMERICAN
ALES & PORTERS
Including Bass & Co.'s India Pale, in quarts and pints.
Guinness Double Stout Porter, Isaac Cook & Co.'s Ales.
I have also the Agency for Philip Bests & Co.'s Celebrated
MILWAUKIE LAGER,
acknowledged to be the best lager brewed in the U. S. Price $1.50 per case of two dozen. Also New York and Boston Lagers, J. Holbrook & Son's
CHAMPAGNE CIDER,
In Bottles or by the Gallon. I have lately added New Machinery, whereby I am better enabled to manufacture all kinds of Summer Drinks, including GINGER ALE, a delicious family beverage),
TONIC, HOP, GINGER,
AND OTHER BEERS.
SODA WATER in Siphons for family use.
I should be pleased to show you samples of any of the above named goods.
Goods delivered to all parts of the city, free of charge.
S. B. WINN,
191 Washington St., Salem, Mass.
may 25—3m

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to
CHAS. E. HOAG,
je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A tenement of six rooms, No. 24 Holten St Apply at No. 19 Lowell St.
aug 24 tf

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by
CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 21, 1881. NO. 39.

President Garfield.

A wasp flew out upon our fairest son,
And stung him to the quick with poisoned shaft,
And while he chatted carelessly and laughed,
And knew not of the fateful mischief done;
And so this life among our love began,
Envenomed by the insect's hellish craft,
Was drunk by death in one long feverish draught,
And he was lost—our precious, priceless one.

Oh! mystery of blind, remorseless fate.
Oh! cruel end of a most causeless hate.
That life so mean should murder life so great!
What is there left to us who think and feel,
Who have no remedy and no appeal,
But damn the wasp and crush him under heel?

—Dr. J. G. Holland.

"God reigns, and the government at Washington still lives." These prophetic words of our late President, who has at last succumbed to the fate which the bullet of the assassin intended for him on that July morning, have passed into history. For long and weary weeks it has seemed as if the whole nation had watched by the bedside of the patient sufferer, so intense was the feeling, and so quick was the popular pulse to feel the slightest indication of change in the patient, either for the better or worse. His death was not unexpected. The bulletins of Sunday and Monday had prepared the country to expect his dissolution at any time, and the surprise was not as great, though the grief was not less poignant, when we beheld our flag floating at half-mast yesterday morning, and we knew that the end had come.

For the second time in our nation's history has the work of the assassin been completed, in taking the life of the Chief Magistrate. The gloom and sadness into which the nation is plunged recalls the day when the news of the death of Lincoln was flashed along the wires. Very different are these two cases, however, in their results upon the feelings of the people. Had Gen. Garfield died as suddenly as did Lincoln, there are many who have predicted that strife and anarchy would have been the result. Fortunately for the fears of such alarmists, there is no possibility now of such an event. This long illness, the patient and prayerful waiting of the people, have subdued their passions, have quieted party strife, and now that this terrible affliction has come upon the country, it will be the endeavor of all of our citizens through the length and breadth of the land, to see to it that the nation suffers no harm. The noiseless machinery of our government has run easily during his protracted suffering. Nothing should be allowed to disturb it now. The work which he had laid out for himself to accomplish during the years in which he had expected to remain at the head of the government is but just begun. It should be the duty of all good citizens to follow his successor with their sympathy, their encouragement and prayers, that he may be enabled to carry out the aims and purposes of this noble man, and the nation come out of this trial purified and strengthened. To him the people will look at this juncture. May he prove faithful to the trust reposed in him.

THE ARRANGEMENTS so far as completed for the funeral services of the late President are that the body will be conveyed from Long Branch to Washington to-day, and will lie in state on Thursday and Friday until 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the rotunda of the Capitol, when it will be taken by a special train on the Pennsylvania Central R.R. to Cleveland, Ohio. The remains will lie in state in that city over Sunday and will be interred on Monday at Lake View Cemetery. An autopsy was held yesterday on the body by all the physicians who have been in attendance, assisted by Dr. A. H. Smith, of Elberon, and Acting Asst. Surg. D. S. Lamb, of the Army Medical Museum, Washington. It was found that the immediate cause of death was secondary hemorrhage from one of the arteries adjoining the track of the ball, the blood rupturing the peritoneum, and nearly a pint escaping into the abdominal cavity, and which undoubtedly caused the severe pain complained of by the President just before his death. It was also found that the ball was in an entirely different position from that supposed by the surgeons, and that instead of passing downward and forward it went sideways across the spine, and that the injury to the spinal column was such that his death would have been only a question of time. What was supposed to be the track of the wound was a burrowing pus cavity, and what was supposed to be the ball was an accumulation of pus. It shows that the position of the ball was entirely unknown to the physicians.

One of the peculiar incidents in connection with the tragedy is the prediction made by Gen. R. D. Mussey, a well-known lawyer of Washington and a personal friend of the late President, on Saturday, August 27. When the physicians gave the President up, announcing to Mrs. Garfield and the Cabinet that he could not live, Gen. Mussey was asked about his opinion, being on the evening of that day in New York. He said he did not think that the President would die on that day, and that if he died at all it would be on Sept. 19. When asked for an explanation of his cause for fixing the death so far in the future, he said that on Sept. 19, 1863, Gen. Garfield was made a Major-General for his gallantry at the battle of Chickamauga, and that he had frequently told him that he thought he should die on the anniversary of his promotion. Gen. Garfield was a great believer in dates, and the verification of the prediction is, under the circumstances, regarded as one of the most striking of the many strange incidents in connection with the case.

Opinions of the Press.

The Boston Advertiser says:

While President Garfield was a man of superior intellectual power, of general scholarship, of commanding eloquence, and of an amiable temperament, he had something more and better than these. More powerful than all his talents and accomplishments, something very different recommended him to the confidence of the nation when he became known in public life, as it had recommended him in youth and early manhood to the confidence of teachers, pupils, comrades and acquaintances in every situation of his changeful and advancing career. This dominant and ennobling quality was his high moral character. He was pre-eminently a man of noble character. In every walk and service he sought to discover duty, and follow where she beckoned. He was capable of self-denial and of sacrifice, as well as of ardor and of achievement. He was one of those men who cherish in their breasts a lofty ideal and are faithful to it. Because of this he was a statesman whom the people loved and trusted while they honored him.

The Boston Globe says:

A nation that has given such substantial proof of its ability to calmly bear the gravest afflictions, to recover from the severest shocks to its constitution and its affections, can be safely trusted in an emergency like the present. There will be no panic in its marts, no interruption in its commercial activity, save only that which tender reverence and respect for the illustrious dead will prompt; there will be no friction in the administration of its public affairs and no crisis in its government. The death of the chief magistrate transferred the responsibility and the duties of the office to a successor, duly elected to assume the one and perform the other. To him the civilized world will look today for a faithful discharge of the sacred trust which the decree of Providence has imposed on him. He will carry on to the best of his ability, let us hope, the work mapped out by the framers of the Constitution for his predecessors and for him. The love and affectionate regard bestowed on the dead President must fill him with a holy desire to so conduct the public business that when he lays down the robes of office he may deserve as much.

The Boston Herald says:

It is in this aspect of the case that Gen. Garfield's death seems the most deplorable. Every impulse of his heart and every conviction of his mind, as shown by his later speeches in Congress, and by his appointments in that section since he became President, led him to favor a political amnesty for the South as complete as the governmental amnesty has been. He wished the old issues to be buried, and the new questions that press for consideration to be taken up. The South had already begun to trust him, and the splendid, spontaneous outburst of sympathy from that warm-hearted people when he was struck down so foully, and their deep interest in his recovery, opened the way for a liberalizing of the Republican policy and a nationalizing of Southern sentiment that would have advanced most rapidly the true unification of the country. It is to be hoped that the death of Garfield will not be proportionately as great a loss to the South, and so to the nation, as was the death of Lincoln in a far more important emergency.

The Boston Post says:

Now, we ask, what of our country? What of our government? The President of the United States, dead, is the nation's President, and no class nor party nor section nor creed, unless it courts the execration of all good men, will or can withhold its grief and sympathy. He will be laid in the grave with sorrow unfeigned, because in these 11 weeks the American people have learned that the bullet which pierced his vitals meant more than death to an individual. They have the vindication of their sovereignty, of their right to rule, now left naked in their hands for proof. Will they clothe it with the respect and the confidence of the world by accepting with wisdom and a dispassionate spirit the embarrassing situation that is left them? It is easy to make the future full of anxiety and peril, or to direct our steps therein so as to prove that it requires even more than the assassination of a chief magistrate to disturb the equipoise of a great and free people or interrupt their steady march to a higher development and destiny.

The Boston Journal says:

It is our duty, and for our interest as well, to accept with saddened hearts this great affliction, and to hold to the even tenor of our way. We cannot better honor the memory of the dead President than by showing to the world that, while we deeply deplore the loss of the good man whom we had placed at the head of affairs, we can as a nation sustain the blow, which might be fatal to a weaker State, with resignation and without shock to our institutions. The intelligence, the good sense, the patriotism of the great masses of the people are the enduring elements of our national strength; and these remain unchanged, though leaders rise and fall, and Presidents come and go, whether by ordinary succession or by some great tragedy like the present. Grief for the murdered President must find expression, however inadequate words may be to convey all that is felt; and then the nation will move on along its career of prosperous growth and development. The motto which we stamped upon our coin when the strength of our institutions was tested by the ordeal of civil war still voices the assurance of the nation—"In God we trust."

Among the guests entertained by Lotta, the actress, at her Lake George villa, this summer, are fifteen or twenty young ladies from different cities, bright, pretty girls, who had not the means to spend the summer at a fashionable resort. So Lotta brought them up into the green hills, and took them riding on buckboards, and rowing in canoes, and black-berrying and bathing, and gave them a regular good time.—Exchange.

And there are people who believe that an actress is a synonym for all that is wicked, evil and corrupt. Here is an example which many of our ladies, having abundant means, but who consider themselves above the charming actress, Lotta, would do well to copy.

Efforts are now being made to induce the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company to go to Montreal on their fall parade. Geo. W. Sweet, manager of the Windsor hotel, will offer extra inducements for them, and prominent military men there enter heartily into the project. They will be allowed to enter the city with arms.—Boston Home Journal.

The Soldiers' Monument.

As will be seen by an official announcement at the head of our columns, it was decided by the Committee at their meeting last evening not to postpone the dedicatory exercises from the 29th inst., but it was voted that the services be entirely of a memorial character, and that all parade be dispensed with. This action of the committee we deem timely and wise. Surely at this time, within a few days of the burial of the remains of our honored president, a grand celebration, partaking of a general holiday and calling together a large delegation from the country around, would be such an event as would be deplored by our best citizens. Instead of this the people of this town will come together in a quiet and informal manner, showing our respect by paying tribute not only to those of our own sons who have died in the service of our country, but to him, also a soldier in our Army, whose memory is especially dear to us at this hour. Some little disappointment may be expected, but we feel sure that on reflection this will be acquiesced in by all as the only fitting course to be pursued.

The monument has at last been put in position, is an ornament to the Square, and reflects great credit upon those who have had the matter in charge. On Saturday morning last, the following articles were deposited in the copper box inside the pedestal, the corner stone having been placed in its position:

Vote of the town, and the several reports of Committees relative to the monument; History of the old town of Danvers, by J. W. Hanson; Centennial History of the Town; bird's-eye view of the town; picture of the town from Buxton's hill; Town Report; Report of Trustees of Peabody Institute; Report of the School Committee; List of Town Officers for 1881; Roll of the G. A. R. Post of the town; Warren Bank bills, with engraving on the back, of the Square as it was in 1860; specimens of U. S. coin, from one cent to one dollar; other coin; list of the Soldiers and Sailors who participated in the War of the Rebellion from this town, (prepared at this office by Chas. D. Howard, Esq.); Peabody Press; Peabody Reporter; Boston papers; Salem Evening News; photographic views in town; The North Shore of Massachusetts, by B. D. Hill and W. S. Nevins.

The woolen fabrics imported this season, according to the Bazar, have strips of plush an inch wide or more, shaded in the color of the woolen ground, or else in contrast with it. The woolen fabric must be heavy to hold the plush, and is almost equal to ladies cloth, though usually twilled or woven in armure figures. The contrast of green and red is seen in bronze armure stripes an inch wide, with a shaded plush stripe ranging from red to deep maroon. Dark blue armure has orange and golden brown plush stripes. Myrtle green is similarly striped, seal brown has écru to leaf brown plush, and blue is striped with shaded red. This comes 24 inches wide and is sold for $3.50 a yard. It is used for the skirt of the dress, while plain armure is imported to match for the overdress. At the same prices are twilled woolens, with several gay colors mixed in the plush without the shades being gradual. Very gay striped wool satines are shown with the alternating stripe of twilled wool; these are $2.50 a yard for goods 46 inches wide; if the plain stripe also has a satin lustre, the price is $3. Bordered cheviots are new this season, and are of very light quality and gay colors. The principal part of the goods is in small indistinct checks, while the border is a wide well defined stripe. This is 46 inches wide, and costs $2.50 a yard. Lower-priced cheviots, ranging from $1.25 upward, have inch stripes of Prussian blue, or bronze, terra-cotta red, seal brown and myrtle, usually showing two or three tones of one color; others show heavy diagonals like the cloth of men's coats, or else the surface is smooth, and presents a sombre yet rich tone, produced by threads of dark colors varied with brighter ones.

POLICE NOTES.—Sept. 16, Maurice Hammond, malicious mischief, $6.80.

Sept. 17, Arthur Neal, Eugene Kiley, Michael Shea, John McCarthy, John Kelley and David Holleran, for truancy, case continued two weeks.

Annie Hall, Danvers, drunk, $5.85.

19, William Brown, Salem, drunk, $7.

John Mallady, assault, discharged.

Daniel Hogan, assault, $11.65, appealed.

Onset Bay Grove.

We had the pleasure recently of visiting Onset Bay Grove, which is situated on the north side of Buzzard's Bay and is reached by the Old Colony Railroad. The distance from Boston is some fifty-five miles. One would not be very favorably impressed with the grove on entering it, as it differs from almost every other in many respects. Here you do not find the tall handsome pine trees such as are seen at our own Asbury Grove, but instead they are scrub oak, and are very close together. This location was selected some five or six years ago by the Spiritualists for their camp-meeting, and comprises about 200 acres. The first cottage was built in 1877, since which time the growth of the place has been remarkable, there being at the present time upward of 200 cottages, besides family tents, and several large boarding houses. Here you see frail looking ladies who come here for their health, as a splendid sea breeze is obtained here at all times, while the water is very warm and affords fine opportunities for sea bathing. From that part of the grove known as the "boulevarde," where the finest cottages are located you can obtain a nice view of the bay with the small islands which give you a glimpse of nature's most beautiful handiwork. The Spiritualist Association are greatly improving the grounds, and lots that sold two years ago for $75 cannot be bought to-day for $500. The speaker's stand is of wood, with a dome-like appearance, having a wing on each side, and is painted in fancy colors with the words "Onset Bay Grove" across the front. There is also a large dance hall but a short distance from the speaker's stand. The large pleasure steamer Monohansett runs between here and New Bedford. That this place is growing in popular favor is evident from the fact that people who own cottages at the Vineyard are offering them for sale and locating here. Monument Beach is not far away—only five miles—but like Martha's Vineyard, it is out of the reach of pocket books unless they can stand the pressure of $4 or $5 a day. The cottagers here are very confident that they will soon be a great rival to the Vineyard, as the air is better, prices are lower for board, and bathing and boating facilities are unsurpassed. And while its guests are numbered by the thousand this season, it will soon be better known because those who are there this year will come again, and are the best mediums to carry the news to others till the number is swelled to tens of thousands. We could say more about this beautiful resort but our space is limited, and should any of your readers wish for a quiet, pleasant, sea-side resort, they could scarcely find a more quiet and retired spot to rest, and still be in constant communication with the world outside than at Onset Bay Grove.

V.

MESSRS. W. C. PACKARD & CO., of Salem, have a new advertisement in another column, which should be carefully perused by all our readers. This firm have the largest and best appointed furniture emporium outside of Boston, and in fact their selection of parlor and chamber sets is fully equal to the best house in that city. They are making a fine display in their windows, and their stock will bear a careful examination by all in need of the best of workmanship at low prices.

BUILDING NOTES.—Mr. J. B. Thomas of Peabody is making extensive improvements in his store house at the freight station in this city. The building has been moved to the westward and raised seven feet, thus securing an additional story. A large refrigerator is to be placed in the building, which will do away with the necessity of keeping his refrigerator car here. Mr. M. S. Clark of Peabody has charge of the job. It will take sixty tons of ice to fill the new refrigerator.—Cape Ann Bulletin.

They tell of a Boston shopkeeper who closed his store a couple of hours on the day suggested by the Governor for the holding of meetings for prayer for the recovery of the President, and docked all his employees their pay for the time.—New Haven Union.

The Union must have been thinking of its own shopkeepers. The largest dry goods establishment in that city is up to that sort of business every opportunity that is afforded.

Criticism vs. Comparison.

MR. EDITOR,—It seems that through evil or good report, a large class of humanity have learned to look upon the late revision of the Bible as a labor of doubtful necessity,—a comparison between the new and the old tending to encourage satire and ridicule, rather than to foster a devotional reverence for the divine records. Some one has said that the old volume was full of error and contradiction. This we look upon as a mistake, believing the contradiction more often appears in the creed than in the book. As an illustration we have often read of a sect of worshippers who base their belief upon the supposition that there is no hell. On the other hand, in a printed sermon purporting to have been delivered by the late John N. Maffit at a revival meeting in Ipswich in '36, we read, "Why not believe there is a hell and no heaven, as to believe the one could exist without the other?" Thus to make such extremes meet, we have a clashing of creeds which often destroys the harmony of good fellowship and Christian cordiality. No doubt some of the readers of the PRESS can readily call to mind the severe controversy among certain journals supporting opposite creeds, during the revivals of '42 and '43. At that time public opinion was most superstitiously inclined to sectarianism. Thus the great comet which appeared in the heavens during the year '43, and which was seen at midday in close proximity to the sun, was a real bonanza to a sect known as Millerites, who made use of this phenomenon in the heavens to prove their theory that the world was to be burned up that year, all unbelievers to share the same fate, while the elite were to be caught up as on a sea of glass. There are some timid minds in all communities. Thus many truly believed the sensational story that this comet would strike the earth at a given point near the north of Ireland at 4.30 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 22d, '43, and, rebounding, would probably, some hours later, again strike the earth near the north-eastern boundary of the great North American republic.

It was a singular coincidence that the time set by the Come-outers or Millerites as the end of all things, should tally with a severe calamity which at that time befel our own town. It appears that near mid-night on the above-named date, our citizens were aroused from their their slumbers by the watchman's cry of "Fire! fire! fire!" and rushing to their doors and windows to behold the whole mighty centre, or business part of the town of Danvers, now Peabody, "melting away like wax," quickened their pulse to the uncertainty of all earthly treasure, although the end did not fortify their faith in the Millennium. We cannot prove that on that eventful night the righteous did actually disappear on a sea of glass, yet from a well authenticated fact that, amid the noise and confusion, a loud voice from a neighboring "tap-room" was heard to exclaim, "Hold on one moment, Moses; let us have another glass before we go," was proof positive that they went somewhere, and at once disproves the absurd doctrine that, suffering by fire, flame and smoke, the thirsty soul can find nothing to drink. M. W. G.

It is interesting to note the difference in the responses of the people to different occasions. Now a day was set apart last week, by the Governor, as a fast day, or, to be more particular, two hours were specially devoted to the service of prayer for the President's recovery. Most of our stores closed, or pulled down the curtains for the time designated. None of the manufacturing establishments suspended operations, while barely one per cent. of our population went to hear one-tenth of one per cent. pray for the desired blessing. But when the fast days appointed by proclamation of the hotel and saloon-keepers of Salisbury Beach arrive, nearly all the carriage shops in the village shut down, the banks close, the schools are dismissed, and there is a general suspension of business. All the approaches to Salisbury Beach are crowded with vehicles, and by land and water people flock seaward to properly observe this fast day. Why is this thus?—Amesbury News.

Swain has a new advertisement in another column. The ladies who enjoy painting will find a line of artists' materials at his store.

PEABODY.

Fallish!

Cool evenings.

Trot out your overcoats.

Did you see the goddess of liberty?

Rev. L. L. Wood resumed last Sunday evening his lectures on the Books of the Bible, which were so popula last spring, and was greeted with a large audience. Next Sunday the Anniversary Concert takes place at 7 o'clock in the evening.

One of our best known, steady going citizens was accosted a few days ago by a gentleman (?) suffering from a severe attack of acute intoxication, somewhat after this wise: "My friend, can you—hic—tell me—hic—the way to Stoneham. The s. g. c. gave him the desired information, when the other laid his hand familiarly on his shoulder and said: "Thank you, mister. Wish I had a little loose change in my pocket; should like to give you a few cents.

Mr. Washington Simonds, the well-known proprietor of the hotel, which, until recently, bore his name, died at the Danvers Asylum of Bright's disease on Saturday last. He had been in failing health for many years, and was obliged to retire from hotel life in July, 1881, when he sold out to Mr. Baldwin, the present proprietor. Mr. Simonds kept the hotel from 1859 until that time, and was well and favorably known for his cordiality and benevolent spirit, which made for him many friends. The funeral took place yesterday from the residence of his brother, Mr. Charles Simonds, Rev. Mr. Hudson officiating. The funeral, which was a private one, was attended by a large number of his friends.

In our last issue we said that Mr. Thomas J. Jones had the only vine of the Pocklington grape in Peabody that had fruited. Since the publication of that article we have learned that Mr. A. C. Osborne, on Central street, has a vine of that kind, purchased of the same agent, Mr. Milo Lawrence, at the same time, which has seven clusters of grapes on it, also propagating a number of strong layers, which he proposes to sell this fall at popular prices. These are the only vines of this variety in town that are in fruit. They were set out in the fall of 1879. Mr. George A. Stone, nurseryman, Rochester, N. Y., paid Mr. John Pocklington, the originator of this variety, the sum of $10,000 for plants for the fall trade of 1879 and spring of 1880, thus securing the entire stock of saleable plants. Mr. Stone paid Mr. Pocklington the same amount for vines sufficient for his fall trade of 1880 and spring trade of 1881. We have been informed by his agent that Mr. Stone has contracted with Mr. Pocklington to furnish him with plants for the fall trade of 1881 and spring trade of 1882, for the sum of $15,000. This grape will undoubtedly prove to be the white grape for the million, both for market and home use. The parent of this grape, the Concord, has been the standard grape for years. The present season it comes forth brightest and best, both in foliage and fruit, of any of the old varieties. In confirmation of this statement, we invite our readers to visit the garden of Mr. Amos L. Ames, on Central street, where may be seen the most magnificent display of Concord grapes in Peabody.

THE New England peach crop, this year, will be much larger than for many years past, and the farmers ought to be encouraged by this to pay more attention to peach culture. There need be no fear of overstocking the market, for the demand will be equal to any supply if the fruit is good and the prices fairly reasonable. Home grown peaches will always sell for more in New England cities and villages than those brought from Delaware, and the producer and consumer can be brought so much nearer together that moderate prices paid by the consumer may be satisfactorily remunerative to the grower. Fruit dealers are just now keeping a sharp lookout for the peach orchards in Massachusetts and are buying the fruit on the trees, taking all the risks of frosts. One Worcester County man has sold his crop for $1,000, and there is everywhere a quick sale at good prices. The Delaware peach crop seems to have been a real failure this year, and the Baltimore canning people have been buying up every case of canned peaches they could find at Boston, at a handsome advance on last year's prices.—Lawrence Sentinel.

Poet's Corner.

The Church in the Flood.

BY MRS. S. M. WALSH.

"During the flood a church came floating down the river. . . . It had a steeple, and in the steeple was a bell, and as the building rocked with the current the bell would toll."

When the flood swept through the town,
On its broad and foaming track,
What went sailing slowly down?
What came sailing softly back?
On the torrent's heaving breast,
Lo! a church, with stately grace,
Swept along; an ark of rest
Torn from its abiding place.
In the belfry swung the bell,
And its loud tongue rose and fell
Clear above the torrent's swell,
Pealing forth, "All's well! All's well!"

Silent aisle and empty pew,
And a pulpit mute as death,
Met the sunlight streaming through;
While the waters underneath
Mocked the organ's stifled moan
In their steady surge and roar,
Or proclaimed in sullen tone,
"To this house peace nevermore!"
But aloft still swung the bell,
And above the angry swell
Soft its silvery cadence fell,
Pealing forth, "All's well! All's well!"

Through those aisles, with measured tread,
While the organ sobbed and wailed,
Men have borne the sacred dead,
Hearts have ached and faces paled.
From that pulpit words of cheer,
Words of holy hope and trust,
Falling on the grief-dulled ear,
Raised the spirit from the dust,
While, on high, there swung the bell.
And above its mournful knell,
Like an angel's voice there fell
This glad peal: "All's well! All's well!"

When baptismal waters lay
Sparkling on a baby's brow,
And the mother bowed to pray
For the strength to keep her vow;
Or when lightly down the aisles
Swept the happy bridal throng,
And, 'midst blessings, tears and smiles,
Burst the organ into song;
In the belfry swung the bell,
Silver-tongue and who can tell
Peace that babe or bride befell
From its peal, "All's well! All's well!"

Now the house is desolate;
From its strong foundations torn;
Like the ark, till floods abate,
Drifting helpless and forlorn.
Yet, though hushed the organ's note,
As the torrent sweeps along
Over all there seem to float
Angel-voices, sweet and strong;
While aloft still swings the bell,
Chiming as the surges swell,
"Peace be to this house! All's well!
God is here! All's well! All's well!"

—Christian Union.

Dot Fritzey.

I kin saw you, you shly leedle raskel,
A beekin' ad me drough dot shair;
Come here right avay now und kiss me—
You dough'd I don'd know you vas dere.
You all de time hide from your fader,
Und subbose he can't saw mit his eyes;
You vas going to fool me—eh, Fritzey—
Und gafe me a grade big surprise?

Dot boy was a reckular mongkey—
Der was noting so high he don'd glimb;
Und his mudder she says dot his trousers
Vants new bosoms in dem all der dime.
He vas smard, dough, dot same leedle feller
Und he sings all der vile like a lark.
From vonce he gids up in der mornin',
Dill we drofe him to bed afder dark.

He's der bissiest von in der fam'ly,
Und I bed you the louder he sings
He vas raisin' der dickens mit some von—
He vas up to all manner of dings.
He vas beekin' avay, dot young raskel,
Dro' der shair—Moly Hoses! vot's dot?
Dou young sun-of-a-gun mid a sceesors
Is cut all der tail off der cat!

—Oofty Goofty, in N. Y. Telegram.

Old Folks.

Ah! don't be sorrowful, darling,
And don't be sorrowful, pray;
Taking the year together, my dear,
There isn't more night than day.

'Tis rainy weather, my darling,
Time's waves they heavily run,
But taking the year together, my dear,
There isn't more clouds than sun.

We are old folks now, my darling,
Our heads are growing gray;
And taking the year together, my dear,
You will always find the May.

We have had our May, my darling,
And our roses long ago;
And the time of year is coming, my dear,
For the silent night and snow.

And God is God, my darling,
Of night as well as day;
And we feel and know that we can go
Wherever he leads the way.

Aye, God of the night, my darling,
Of the night of death, so grim;
The gate that leads out of life, good wife,
Is the gate that leads to Him.

Selected Story.

THE MINISTER'S OLD COAT.

"Minister's sons are very apt to turn out badly," said I to a gentleman who sat next to me in a car. We had met on the train bound for Chicago, and had struck up an acquaintance.

He stopped me with his hand on my arm, and with an earnest look that I shall never forget.

I paused at once in what I was saying, and it seemed for a moment almost as if the rushing train had stopped to listen too.

"Let me tell you a story," he said, "I know it is a common belief that minister's sons are wild; but that is because people talk about the bad ones, while those that turn out well are taken as a matter of course. I gathered statistics about them once, and found out of a thousand sons of ministers there were very few who did not grow up useful and industrious men."

"But what is your story," I asked, sitting back in the seat.

"Well," said he, "it begins with a supper in Boston a dozen years ago. A number of college friends had gathered in the evening for their annual re-union. Among them was the rich merchant J. E. Williston—perhaps you have heard of him—and a poor pastor of a country church in Elmbank village, out in eastern Massachusetts, whose name was Blake. A good many of the class had died and the dozen or so elderly men who were left felt more tender than ever toward each other as they thought of the bright old days at Harvard and how soon no one would be left on earth who shared in that happy time.

"The dishes came and went, the lights glowed brilliantly, and at length the friends grew quite gay. But the tender feelings I have spoken of would come uppermost now and then, and in one of these musing moments Williston's eye was attracted by something about the coat his friend Blake, who sat near him, had on.

"He looked closer, and saw that the black cloth of which the coat was made had been worn so thin and smooth that it was very shiny.

"'Well, Blake,' said he, suddenly, taking hold of his friend's arm very cordially (which he somehow hadn't thought of doing before), how has the world gone with you lately?'

"'No need to ask," he said laughingly, 'You can read the whole story on my back. This old coat is a balance-sheet, which shows my financial condition to a T.'

"Then he spoke more seriously, adding, 'It's a pretty hard life, Williston, that of a country parson. I don't complain of my lot, though sometimes I am distressed for my family. The fact is, this coat I've got on is hardly fit for a man in my profession to appear in, but I'm going to send my boy Sam to Harvard this year, and must pinch here and there to do it. I really ought to be thankful, though, that I can get such advantages for him by a few little sacrifices of personal appearance and convenience.'

"'Don't you give a thought to your coat, old fellow,' returned Williston. 'Nobody who knows you will ever imagine that the heart inside of it is threadbare, however the garment may look.'

"Blake was pleased with this kindly expression, and both men after that exchange of confidence felt happier. But among the various incidents of the evening, this one almost passed out of the minister's mind by the next day, when he started for Elmbank.

"Speedy as was his return, however, something meant for him had got to his destination before him. It was a letter. Taking it up, he tore open the envelope, and found inside a few words from Williston, with a check of $500 to defray the first year's collegs expenses of his old classmate's son.

"You are a stranger to me, sir," said my travelling companion at this point, "but I think you will appreciate the feeling with which poor Mr. Blake stood in his bare and dingy study in the farmhouse parsonage, holding the letter in his hand, and lifting his eyes in thankfulness to God."

"Yes," I replied, "Williston did just the right thing too. And how was it? Did the son show that he deserved the help?"

My acquaintance looked away from me at the rich country through which we were passing. Then he said:

"Sam Blake was a good-natured, obedient fellow enough, and was greatly pleased to have the expense of his first college year taken off his father's shoulders; but his sense of duty didn't go very far. The Rev. Mr. Blake bought a new coat, and Sam entered Harvard that fall; and there matters stopped for awhile.

"A freshman has a great deal to learn, as you know; but I think the chief thing Sam learned that term, was the difference there is between Harvard and a little village like Elmbank, and a great difficulty of working and playing at the same time.

"Here he had society meetings to attend and rooms of his own, with a chum, where a good deal of smoking was done by himself and his friends. And then there was baseball into which it appeared indispensible for the honor of his class that he should enter actively, on account of his strong legs, wonderful wind and ground batting.

"He could not refuse to go to the theatre occasionally, with his richer companions. Sam took a natural interest in the society of young ladies, too, and had to give up some time to its cultivation. He also thought a moderate amount of practice in the gymnasium was desirable to prevent his health breaking down under the confinement of study. So, on the whole, the actual work in the college course was not very extensive.

"This didn't seem to have any bad effect till well along in the winter, when the habit of shirking had grown so strong without his noticing it, that he fell easily into the habit of reading novels when he ought to have been in the recitation-room. Gymnasium, billiards, theatre, smoking—and I am afraid I must say a little drinking—frittered away his time.

"One horribly snowy, sleety morning when he had got up too late for prayers, the postmaster brought him a note from the faculty—an 'admonition.'

"He dropped the pipe he was just lighting and bolted off to recitation. But he 'deaded' immediately and that discouraged him.

"He soon began to make light of the warning, and did himself no credit in his studies. Though he managed to squeeze through the examination at the end of the freshman year, he came out far down toward the foot of the class.

"He wasn't quite satisfied with himself and thought he'd try to do better the next year; but during his journey home he recovered his usual spirits.

"When he walked up the village toward the parsonage farm, he was thinking that—since he was a sophomore now—he would buy the knottiest and biggest headed cane in Cambridge when he returned there. And what do you suppose was the first sight that met him at home.

"It was his father out in the field digging for new potatoes, his coat off and his spectacled face perspiring.

"The sight struck shame into the boy. He vaulted the fence, and running up with hardly a pause for greeting, cried:

"'O, father, let me do that! I don't like to see you at such work.'

"'Well, Sam, I think that's about as good a how-do-you-do as you could have offered me. There's something right about you after all.'

"It hadn't occurred to Sam that there was any doubt upon that point before. He blushed as he asked,

"'Where's the hired man?'

"'I've discharged him. I can't afford one at present, my son,' was the answer.

"Sam was rather puzzled, and began to reflect.

"They went into the house, and there when the minister reappeared, after making his toilet, the son noticed that he wore the soiled, shabby, shiny coat. At this he was more than ever astonished.

"The supper, also, notwithstanding that was the first night of the prodigal's return, was very meagre. Not a single extra luxury was on the table, and Sam observed that his father and mother took no sugar or butter. His own appetite began to fail seeing this, and his perception was sharpened accordingly. He was now aware that his father looked very thin as well as sad. Suddenly he laid down his knife, and exclaimed to his sister Kate:

"'Sis, what does all this mean?—this going without a hired man, and starving yourselves.'

"His sister looked at him, then glanced at Mr. Blake and her mother, and made no reply.

"'I thought,' said Sam, petulantly 'that Williston's money was going to make it easy for you, father; and here the pinching is going on five times worse than ever.'

"'I don't own my friend Williston's money,' said the minister quietly.

"'Of course not. But the five hundred dol—' Sam stopped abruptly on an entreating gesture from his sister.

"The subject was not resumed. But before he went to bed Sam obtained an interview with his sister alone. He felt secretly that he was responsible for the depression and trouble which seemed to fill the household, but that only made him speak more impetuously. 'Now sis,' he said, 'can't I get two words of sense out of you?'

"'Not until you ask politely,' she said.

"'Well, then, please tell me what the mystery is?'

"'It oughtn't to be a mystery to you, Sam, that you haven't done well at college. Papa is terribly disappointed.'

"'I don't see why he should commit suicide, if he is,' retorted Sam. 'I haven't cost him much this year.'

"'Oh, yes, you have. Do you know he actually sold the new coat.'

"'Why?' Sam frowned.

"'Because he's been trying every way to save money since he began to get reports of how you were wasting your time.

"'What for?' asked Sam, though he began to suspect.

"'Well, he—how should I know?—don't you see? He's ashamed to have had that money from his old classmate, and he's nearly saved enough, and he's going to pay it all back. There I was to keep it a secret, and now I've told you!' and his sister broke into tears. 'You've nearly broken his heart, Sam,—poor papa.'

"The next day Mr. Blake's son went off directly after breakfast, and was not seen again until afternoon.

"Coming back, he overtook his father coming back from the post-office.

"'I know all about it!' he exclaimed in his excitement. 'Katy told me last night. I wish, though, you'd held on to the new coat, awhile.'

"'Why?' asked Mr. Blake imperturbably.

"'Because,' said Sam, 'I'm going to pay my own way now. I've been off to-day and hired for the season to Farmer Hedgeburton. You won't send the money to Williston, will you, father?'

"'You are too late,' was the minister's reply. 'I have just mailed the letter to him.'

"In fact the next day the kind merchant's eyes were dimmed as he read these words.

"'DEAR WILLISTON; My boy—it almost breaks my heart to say it—has not proved worthy of your generosity. I have decided to return the sum which you sent me for him last year, and you will find a draft enclosed for the amount. BLAKE.'"

Here I interrupted the narrator.

"Doesn't this story prove what I said at the beginning?"

"No; but that isn't the end of it. Sam went to Boston in the autumn with a few dollars of earnings in his pocket. He had decided to give up college, and so applied to Mr. Williston for a clerkship.

"He told him:

"'I proved myself unworthy as my father said. Now give me a chance to prove myself worthy.'

"Williston gave him a position, and he worked there two years. Then an opportunity offered to go West and a partnership in—what do you think? The clothing business? Sam jumped at it, and you may believe he sent his father, next Christmas the finest coat the concern could produce.

"I am a well-to-do man, now, sir," continued my acquaintance, suddenly speaking in the first person, "and when we get to Chicago, if you will come to my establishment, I will show you my father's, the minister's, old shiny coat, which I preserve because it was the beginning of my fortune and made a man of me."

"Then," I exclaimed, taking him by the hand, "it is yourself you have been talking about all this time? You are—"

"Sam," concluded my new friend nodding and smiling.

Miscellaneous.

KISSED FOR LAFAYETTE.—A humorous variation to the song "Let me kiss him for his mother" is here suggested by an historic incident, which, however, seems to have been left somewhat in dispute. "About the year 1845," writes Josiah Quincy in the Independent, "in going from Boston to New York, I fell in with a bridal party. The gentleman introduced himself and then presented me to his wife and very pretty sister, who was travelling in their company.

"After some chat upon different subjects, the bride turned to me with an air of well-assumed seriousness, and said:

"'I may as well tell you, Mr. Quincy, that I have long desired to make your acquaintance, and determined to do so when I found you were upon this boat. There is an event with which you were connected which has caused much unhappiness in our family. It is in your power to remove this unhappiness by answering a single question. Did you ever kiss my sister?"

"Amazed at this singular inquiry, I could only say that, without betraying the past, I should be glad, with the young lady's permission, to qualify myself to answer the question in the affirmative from that time forward.

"'That would would not improve things,' said the bride, roguishly; 'for the fact is, that this pert young thing has always given herself airs because, when she was four months old, and you were driving through our town with Lafayette, she was lifted up into the carriage, and as she says, kissed by the general.

"'Now, the old people who remember the time, tell us that this notion of hers is a mistake, for they are certain that, while Lafayette was shaking hands with the men on one side of the barouche, he detailed you to kiss the babies on the other.'"

PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATION OF THE CATECHISM.—Not long ago a bright little girl in the Sunday-school of St. Luke, M——n, New Jersey, who was in the Calvary Catechism class, taught by Miss S——, and evidently had reached the bottom facts of the lesson—the reaction of man out of the dust of the earth—came running home to her mother, overfull of confidence in the Scripture theory and her own reflective conclusions, and exclaimed:

"Oh, mother, I know it is all true what the catechism said about Adam's being made out of the dust of the earth—I know it is!"

"Why?"

"Because I saw Aunt Emma whip Gracie, and I saw the dust fly out of her. I know it is so."

Little Gracie had been playing with ashes.—Harper's Magazine.

BRACE UP.—There is serious meaning in this. That wearied step, languid eye and feeling of general lassitude, come from "spring sickness." Be assured, a serious, and, perhaps, fatal disease is close in its wake. The system wants cleansing of winter impurities; the sluggish blood needs to be sent in swift and clear currents through the veins. "Favorite Remedy" will do this; it will give new vigor to the body, brightness to the eye, a glow to the countenance and elasticity to the step. One dollar a bottle. Every druggist has it. Dr. David Kennedy, proprietor, Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

Travellers in the White Mountains are indebted to Mr. Edward Sands, the agent of the Eastern railroad at Fabyan's, for many valuable hints and information about routes and points of interest, as well as for many courtesies very welcome to tourists.—Boston Home Journal.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2, 1880.
I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures — all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

GREAT SALE OF BLANKETS.

ANOTHER GREAT ATTRACTION!

Conrad

Will begin to-day a great sale of BLANKETS at prices which will outdo any offered in this city heretofore.

2 cases Standard Prints, in fast colors, at 4 cents per yard.

50 dozen elegant Damask Towels, 40 inches long, in entirely new designs, at 25c.

We are the only party who have them, and we consider it the best bargain ever offered to customers.

D. Conrad,

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

191-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors,
Sitting Rooms,
Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

Floreston Cologne.

A NEW AND FASHIONBLE PERFUME. FRAGRANT, REFRESHING, LASTING. SOLD BY DEALERS IN PERFUMERY AT 25 AND 75 CENTS. HISCOX & CO., N. Y. GREAT SAVING IN BUYING THE 75c. SIZE.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia and many of the best medicines known are combined in PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, into a medicine of such varied and effective powers, as to make it the Greatest Blood Purifier and Kidney Corrector and the Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used.

It cures Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness, and all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Urinary Organs, and all Female Complaints.

If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the TONIC to-day. It will surely help you.

Remember! This TONIC is the Best Family Medicine ever made, and is far superior to Bitters, Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it never Intoxicates, and cures Drunkenness. Any dealer in drugs can supply you—50c. and $1 sizes. None genuine without signature of HISCOX & Co., Chemists, N. Y.

LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

Parker's Hair Balsam.

An elegant, agreeable Hair Dressing that

Never Fails to Restore Gray or Faded Hair

to its Youthful Color. 50c. and $1 sizes.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

New Fall Goods.

WE ARE OPENING NEW

DRESS GOODS FOR FALL & WINTER WEAR,

AND ALSO

Cotton Flannels and Blankets.

At Extremely Low Prices.

We have just received another lot of our celebrated PEARL SHIRTS, which every one acknowledges to be the

BEST ONE DOLLAR SHIRT IN THE MARKET.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

THE TREATMENT OF WOMEN.

It fell in the way of Malthus, in his celebrated work on population to search in the accounts of travelers for those causes which operate, in different countries of the world, to check the progress and to limit the numbers of mankind. Foremost among these is vice, and foremost among the vices is that most unnatural one, the cruel treatment of women. "In every part of the world," says Malthus, "one of the most general characteristics of the savage is to despise and degrade the female sex. Among most of the tribes in America their condition is so peculiarly grievous that servitude is a name too mild to describe their wretched state. A wife is no better than a beast of burden. While the man passes his days in idleness and amusement, the woman is condemned to incessant toil. Tasks are imposed upon her without mercy, and services are received without complacence or gratitude. There are some districts in America where this state of degradation has been so severely felt that mothers have destroyed their female infants, to deliver them at once from a life in which they were doomed to such a miserable slavery." It is impossible to find for this most vicious tendency any place among the unities of nature. There is nothing like it among the beasts. With them the equality of the sexes, as regards all the enjoyments as well as all the work of life, is the universal rule. And among those of them in which social instincts have been specially implanted, and whose systems of polity are like the most civilized polities of men, the females of the race are treated with a strange mixture of love, of loyalty, and of devotion. If, indeed, we consider the necessary and inevitable results of the habit prevalent among savage men to maltreat and degrade their women—its effects upon the constitution, and character, and endurance of children—we cannot fail to see how grossly unnatural it is, how it must tend to the greater and greater degradation of the race, and how recovery from this downward path must become more and more difficult and impossible." But vicious, destructive, unnatural as this habit is, it is not the only one or worst of similar character which prevail among savage men. A horrid catalogue comes to our remembrance when we think of them—polygamy, infanticide, cannibalism, deliberate cruelty, systematic slaughter connected with warlike passions or with religious customs. Nor are these vices, or the evils resulting from them, peculiar to the savage state. Some of them, indeed, more or less changed and modified in form, attain a rank luxuriance in civilized communities, corrupt the very bones and marrow of society, and have brought powerful nations to decay and death.—Duke of Argyll, in Contemporary Review.

ELECTRICITY AND SALTED HERRINGS.

Had any scientific enthusiast of the last generation announced his belief that the progress of electrical science would directly affect the supply of herrings to those inland Catholic countries where they are—when salted—in such demand for food on fast days, his friends would have been anxious concerning his cereral welfare. As a matter of fact, this is now the case. The Norwegian coast is girded by one thousand two hundred miles of herring telegraph wire, and telegraph stations are established on the barren rocks of the Lofodden islands, and in the hollows between the dark precipitous cliffs that form the Arctic face of Europe. Here, among the screaming sea-birds, a watch is kept on the movement of herring shoals, and particulars concerning their progress are flashed to the little settlement of hardy Norsemen who live by the harvest of the Arctic and sub-Arctic ocean. According to such intelligence they make their preparations for securing some of the merchandise that they send so largely to the countries on the Mediterranean.—Gentleman's Magazine.

INTERESTING OPERATION.

An interesting operation was performed in the Toronto (Ont.) General Hospital a short time ago. The Mail gives this account of it. It consisted of amputation, by means of electricity, of the left leg at the hip. The patient, a young man, being reduced very much by the sloughing of an open wound on the right side of the leg, it was desirable that he should lose as little blood as possible. Having placed the patient under the influence of ether, the customary flaps were made, and then a platinum wire, attached to the two poles of a galvanic battery, was encircled round the leg under the flaps. In a moment this wire was brought to a white heat, and began to cut its way through the limb. By the great heat the ends of the arteries were contracted, and only the larger ones required to be tied. Many of the leading surgeons of the city and a large number of the students from both schools were present.

The vicar of a village near Gravesend, England, who is somewhat unpopular with some of his parishioners, made certain remarks in a recent sermon, at which a lady smiled scornfully. The vicar walked down from his rostrum to the pew where the lady was seated, and, having given her a good shaking, returned to his place and finished his discourse.

The seat of knowledge is in the head; of wisdom, in the heart. We are sure to judge wrong if we do not feel right.—Hazlitt.

All that nature has prescribed must be good; and as death is natural to us it is absurdity to fear it.

Buy the Corded Side Corset, new and nice, at Peabody's.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!
SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts.
MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

SANFORD'S

GINGER

Impure water, unhealthy climate, unripe fruit, unwholsome food, cramps, chills, malaria, excessive heat and the thousand and one ills that beset the traveler or family are nothing to those fortified and sustained by the use of SANFORD'S GINGER, "the delicious." As a beverage it quenches thirst, opens the pores, relieves the head, regulates the stomach and bowels, eradicates a craving for intoxicants and imparts new life to the langnid, careworn, overworked, nervous and sleepless. Beware of imitations said to be as good. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER and take no other. Sold everywhere. WEEKS & POTTER, Boston.

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free.
aug 3—6 w

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

—AT—

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.
jan

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

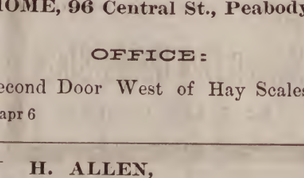
Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.



C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,

also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.
Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:

Second Door West of Hay Scales.
apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required.
feb 18—tf

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.
All calls promptly attended to, day or night.
No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.
A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.
my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at
A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.
je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by
CHAS. A. ROPES.
218 and 222 Derby Street.

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS.

WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

—AT—

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES,

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing

a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
165 Essex Street, Salem.
Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. and Wicks, at Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps. Burners, Chimneys
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'
House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by
CHAS. A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS'
House Furnishing Store,
32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh, did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy," for help. He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverence.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weaknesses and diseases of the blood. One dollar a battle. Your druggist has it.
aug 17

VISIT

SOUTHWICK'S

FISH AND OYSTER MARKET,

Where you can find a good assortment of fresh Cod, Haddock and Halibut, also salt nda pickled fish.

OYSTERS, CLAMS, &c.,

S. SOUTHWICK, Pro'r.

PEABODY SQUARE.

CUT FLOWERS,

—FOR—

Weddings & Funerals

ROSE BUDS,

RED & WHITE BOUVARDIAS,

PINKS, &c.,

—AT—

WARD'S GREENHOUSES,

Cor. Endicott and Warren Sts., Peabody.

☞ No Connection with any Salem Greenhouses.

GROCERY STORE

—AT THE—

COR. OF FOSTER & SUMMER STS.,

The Subscriber thanks his friends for their past and present patronage, and respectfully invites others to call and see his assortment of

CHOICE GROCERIES,

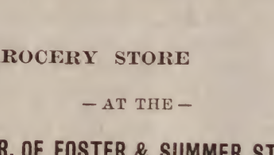
Country Produce,

And the best grades of

FLOUR,

n the market, at the lowest prices.

Passage to and from Ireland.



He is also Agent for the sale of Passage Tickets to and from Ireland, England, Scotland, etc., by the various Lines sailing from Liverpool and Cork, by the way of New York or Boston direct.

Sight Drafts of £1 and upwards, payable in England, Ireland or Scotland, for sale at the lowest rates of exchange.

Also, Passage Tickets to and from California by the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Line, for sale.

JOHN LINEHAN.

Peabody, February 27th, 1880.

FOR SALE.

A Full-size Overstrung Piano, manufactured by Geo. M. Guild & Co.; in good condition. Terms reasonable.
Address VICTOR, this office.

PAINT BRUSHES.

All kinds of Paint Brushes, at low prices, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

PARIS GREEN. Strictly Pure Paris Green, for killing Potato Bugs and all other vermin, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
32 Front street.

ARE YOU GOING

To send for any of your Friends in Ireland, Scotland or England this spring? Or perhaps You contemplate a visit to the Old Country this summer? In either case, go to the undersigned Agent and ask him to sell you a Prepaid or Outward Ticket by the

ALLAN LINE,

Royal Mail Steamers,

If you buy such a Ticket you will never regret it, for it will take you or any of your friends by a line which treats it Intermediate and Steerage passengers with as much consideration, civility and kindness as its Cabin Passengers. It will take you by a line which has steamships that are not excelled by any other line for

Strength, Safety, Speed and Comfort.

It will take you by a Steamship commanded by an experienced navigator, who has charge of officers and a crew practicing the discipline of the Royal Navy.

It will take you by a line which has

STEAMSHIPS SAILING DIRECT

to and from Londonderry, Galway, Queenstown, Ireland: Glasgow, Scotland; and Liverpool, England.

☞ If your home is in the New England States, by patronizing the Allan Line TO AND FROM BOSTON, you will save time and distance and unnecessary transfer.

The Rates of Passage by this Line are as low as by any First-class Line.

STEERAGE,

OUTWARD, $28. PREPAID, $30.

INTERMEDIATE,

$12 HIGHER.

Give the

ALLAN LINE

one trial and satisfy yourself that the statements made herein are facts.

For Tickets and Full Information, apply to

CHAS. D. HOWARD,

Agent for Peabody.

Or to LEVE & ALDEN, Gen. Pass. Agts., 207 Broadway, New York, and 5 State St., Boston, Mass. dec 29

D. B. LORD, JR.,

GAS, STEAM AND WATER PIPING,

—AND—

PLUMBING.

Sole agent for Miner's

PATENT STREET LANTERNS.

Also dealer in

Gas Fixtures, Burners, &c., Rubber Packing, Rubber Hose, Hose Pipes, Sprinklers, &c. Lamp posts & Lanterns,

Furnished at short notice. All work executed in the best manner and warranted.

D. B. LORD, JR.,

NO. 12 SEWELL ST., SALEM.

7 FOSTER ST., PEABODY.

Residence, 5 Andover Street, Peabody

If you want to buy or sell anything advertise IN THE PEABODY PRESS. Advertising means "business." It pays advertising men to remain among us. JOB PRINTING of all kinds neatly and promptly executed. Give us a new type, call, and paper, exam- etc. ine,

---

NOTICE.

We hereby caution all the citizens of Peabody and vicinity against all irresponsible partriespalming off a cheap and fraudulent flou for the Snow Flake Haxall: We are ole Receivers and Jobbers of this flour, and anyinfringement will be promptly adjusted by the law of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
Peabody, April 6, 1881. tf

IMPROVED Scouring Table.

Any one wishing a new Scouring Table, for hand work, will do well to see E. C. SPOFFORD, who is agent for Slate tables which are fast taking the place of mahogany. 33 Main street, Peabody. P. O. BOX, 515.

PEABODY DRUG STORE,

35 MAIN STREET, PEABODY,

Where will be kept a good assortment of

DRUGS, MEDICINES,

Toilet Articles, Perfumery,

FANCY GOODS,

And all articles usually found in a well-appointed Drug Store.

OFFICE OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

CHAS. A. ROPES.

FAMILY FLOUR!

At Wholesale and Retail. Superior brands always on hand.

HAMS,

LARD IN SMALL TUBS,

MAPLE SUGAR,

Hay & Grain of all kinds

GENERAL PRODUCE.

For Sale by

CHAS. A. ROPES,

41 TO 47 CENTRAL ST., SALEM.

A GREAT CAUSE OF

HUMAN MISERY IS THE LOSS OF

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of self-abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. We have also a sure cure for tape worm. Address
THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann St., New York, N. Y.;
P. O. Box, 4586.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NORTHERN TEXAS offers greater attractions in way of good, cheap lands, healthy country, mild climate, abundance of timber and water, diversity of products, than any other region now open to settlement. In this rapidly developing section, the TEXAS & PACIFIC RAILWAY has in operation over 800 miles of road, along which are to be had, at low prices and on easy terms, millions of acres of good and cheap Railroad and Government lands, but recently opened for settlement. For circulars and maps giving truthful information, address W. H. ABRAMS, Land Commissioner, T. & P. Railway Marshall, Texas.

IT'S WORTH A HUNDRED DOLLARS

for any smoker to know that we are putting up a very fine Havana filler, with Connecticut wrapper—equal in flavor to cigars generally sold at from 10 to 15 cents—which we are selling to consumers and the trade at $4 a hundred. We will send a box containing 25 to any part of the United States, postage paid, on receipt of $1, or 50 Cigars for $2. Address VILLAGE STORE COMPANY, Wholesale Dealers in Cigars and Groceries, Bridgeport, Conn.

HUNTER'S SIFTERS. 12 Articles in one. Millions in use—everybody's choice. 44-page catalogue of other specialties free.
J. M. HUNTER M'F'G Co.
Cin., O.
Agents wanted, Male and Female.

$777 A YEAR and expenses to agents. Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

Newspaper Advertis'g Bureau, 10 Spruce St., N. J.

MONEY is now being made faster than ever by those at work for us. Persons of either sex can make $66 a week in their own towns if they are willing to work. No risk. $5 outfit free. Anyone can run the business. Capital not required. All who engage prosper. No one fails. Particulars free. Address, H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.
jy 1—1y

PEABODY'S ADV.

Dress Plaids.
New Patterns—nice, bright colors.
Plain Twills.
In all the new shades for dress goods—cheap.
Furniture Patches.
In new and choice designs.
Cretonnes.
Very handsome New Patterns.
Cashmeres.
In all Colors—in low priced goods for dresses.
PEABODY'S.
Ball Yarns.
All the Desirable Colors.
Kid Gloves.
Good fresh ones at 50 cents per pair.
Fall Millinery.
Hats, Bonnets, Flowers, Feathers, Long Ostrich Plumes, &c.
In this department we are prepared for our Fall trade.
Linen Hdkfs.
Ladies' at 4, 5, 6 and 8 cts. that are decided bargains. Examine them.

☞ STORE OPEN EVERY EVENING

J. P. PEABODY,
227 & 229 ESSEX STREET,
SALEM.

The Peabody Press.

Wednesday Evening, Sept. 21, 1881.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

ON account of the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument, which will occur on the 29th inst., we shall delay the next issue of our paper till after that event. The PRESS will contain a full account of the exercises, and will be issued as soon thereafter as is possible.

Soldiers Monument.

At a meeting of the Peabody Soldiers' Monument Committee, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 20, 1881, it was voted unanimously:

That in consequence of the great calamity which has befallen the nation, in the death of President Garfield, we deem it becoming and appropriate that the exercises at the dedication of the Monument be wholly memorial in their character, and everything in the nature of a celebration be avoided, and, therefore, that all parade on that day be dispensed with, and the dedicatory exercises be at the Monument at 2.15 P.M., and as follows:

PRAYER.

UNVEILING AND DELIVERY OF THE MONUMENT.

MUSIC.

ADDRESS.

MUSIC.

For the Committee,
F. E. FARNHAM, Sec'y.

THE SENTIMENT of the community within the last twenty-five years has undergone a radical change in the matter of amusements for the young.—Many games and innocent sports that were looked upon by our fathers as the work of his Satanic Majesty are now freely indulged in without the risk attaching to them of being employed in the aforesaid individual's work. The young need the relaxation; it is as necessary to them as food and air. If denied them at home, it will be obtained sooner or later outside, and we fear there are many fathers and mothers who have to regret the re-action from the severe austerity and condemnation of amusement indulged in at their home, which follows as naturally as the daylight follows darkness. In this connection rooms of entertainment and innocent enjoyment for children and youth, provided with illustrated magazines, games, and an occasional frolic or entertainment, will keep many a young man from the pleasures which lead only to sin and destruction.

Our readers will remember, when the Womens' Christian Union opened the free reading room for boys, and provided innocent games for their amusement, that the PRESS spoke highly of the movement and expressed the opinion that the public would come forward and relieve them of the expense of running it, and thus assist in the good work begun. We always enjoyed visiting the room of an evening and watching the boys as they played their games and looked over the illustrated papers and magazines. For some reason we learn that this room has been closed every evening for some time. To be sure, the evenings have been short during the summer, but as we understand it, the room was opened for the benefit of the boys who would otherwise be found loafing around the streets and in saloons, and we hardly see why it isn't just as important to keep them away from such places at one season of the year as another. We think that if the Union haven't the funds to carry on the work, they should be sustained by our citizens, and funds provided for its maintenance and improvement. They can well afford to support such a room, and it would be a shame for the Union to have to give it up. It should be the duty of all to give their time and money to draw from our streets and the temptations of saloons and other places, the young who are growing up around us, and surround them with more wholesome influences. The room should be furnished with every attraction for the class it is intended to reach. To carry on the room as it should be, it is probable that more funds would be needed, but the result would be an infinite gain.

THE BOSTON STAR is urging with great vehemence and much spirit the cutting off of the extra penny for the cash fare in the horse cars in Boston, abolishing the ticket system altogether, and making one cash fare of five cents to all. This enterprise is to be commended. This is the custom in New York, with a few exceptions, and should be the case in Boston. Probably over half the passengers ride now for five cents, by purchasing tickets, but this is not always convenient, and not known to strangers. The increase of fare to six cents was made in the time of the war, when it was not out of proportion to the increase of values; but the occasion for it has passed. We think also a change of this kind between Peabody and Salem would be of advantage to the company in the end. Horse car tickets are at best a nuisance; a cash fare of five cents is the easiest and most sensible method of taxing the traveller on the horse railways, either here or elsewhere. There may be reasons for an exception to this, on long routes, and where the travel must of necessity always be light. But this does not apply to the corporations either in Boston or here.

LAST WEEK, in Glen Village, N. H., was committed another of those cool and daring robberies which are becoming too frequent of late. A gentleman from Boston, returning from a visit to one of the mountain nooks in the vicinity of his permanent sojourning, is waylaid suddenly in broad daylight and robbed. An attempt was also made upon the stage coach but a short distance in the rear, and over the same road, but owing to the coolness of the driver and his companions on the box, it was frustrated. It is for the interest of the landlords in that vicinity that the villain be discovered and a speedy example be made of him, not alone to further the ends of justice, but to preserve their own patronage. It is a pity that a few of these desperadoes could not be dispatched on the spot. It might serve as a warning to some of them, and would be as just as it would be timely.

A RECENT decision of the Massachusetts legislature grants women the privilege of voting for School Committee in the town, and also allows them to become a member of that board. We are sorry to see that this privilege is but little regarded. The education of the children and youth in our country is one of great importance, and of as much interest to the mother as the father. Hence the advantage and duty on their part, of using their influence and vote, if necessary, in securing the best means of education, and the purest and ablest men and women who are to have control of the training of their children in the public schools. In this woman can be an effectual aid, not only in their votes, but also as a member of the Board of School Committee. We should like to see the women of this town rally in such force as to assist in electing one of their own number by an overwhelming majority. We trust they may be led to see the wisdom of such a step. There are two members of the School Committee whose terms of office expire at the next election. Rev. Mr. Hudson will of course be reelected. By all means let the other member be a woman.

WE ARE somewhat surprised that our neighbor should wish to hear from us again with regard to the Press Association, as the rebuke administered in his own columns over the signature of Mr. Bancroft ought to have been a sufficient reply to the slurs of that sheet. In looking over the official records of this Association, we noticed Mr. Bancroft's name there in connection with the Reporter. We also found that no one could be a member of that association without being editor or publisher of a paper. We asked our neighbor how it was, to which we received no direct reply, but only a covert slur on the PRESS, coupled with the intimation, which Mr. Bancroft admits, that after all he was a member. Had our neighbor been as truthful as he thinks we ought to be, and had stated the facts as he knew them, the matter would have rested. We have nothing to apologize for or retract. We had a right to take it for granted that the official records of the association were correct. The fact that Mr. Bancroft has not paid his assessments since 1878, thereby forfeiting his claim to membership, was something that, of course, we had no means of knowing, and it was the fault of the secretary of the association in allowing his name to appear.

In regard to the other query of our neighbor, if "we suffered any remorse for belonging to the association last year," we would say that under no circumstances, directly or indirectly, can our neighbor find any statement in our columns intimating that the senior editor of this paper ever withdrew from the proprietorship of the PEABODY PRESS. The fact that a change in the management was effected whereby Mr. Vittum's name appeared as manager, which position he still holds, and Mr. George Randall's name appeared as editor, had nothing to do with the proprietorship or financial interests of this paper. Inasmuch as the by-laws of the Press Association allow editors or publishers to be members, it was perfectly proper that this paper should be represented by Mr. Howard. When Mr. Randall withdrew from the position, the name of the senior editor of this paper again appeared at the head of its columns. The only remorse which the PRESS has ever felt is that this radical change in management, resulting in the retirement of our neighbor from his connection with this office, had not been made many years previous.

IT WOULD SEEM that the several lines of railroads in this vicinity were vieing with each other in their endeavors to furnish the public with excursions to the various points of interest on their lines at a merely nominal rate. Several excursions have visited Lake Winnipeseogee and Old Orchard, and this week a large number are availing themselves of the privilege of visiting North Conway and Fabyan's at this, the loveliest time in the year for a trip to the mountains. There have also been low rate fares on the Boston & Albany railroad to and from Springfield and vicinity at certain times, and taken in connection with the cutting of rates to the west, there probably has not been a season for many years offering so many inducements to tourists, so far as railway travel is concerned. If the management of these different lines would learn a lesson from the patronage which these efforts have secured for them, it would be of much value to the community. There can be no question as to their ability to carry passengers at very much lower rates than is now obtained. This cutting of the passenger tariff to Chicago, which has continued much longer than was anticipated, and longer than any previous war of this nature which made such radical changes, is only the beginning of what, in our judgment, will be seen on other roads and in different sections of the country. With a few exceptions the rates of passenger travel on the different railways is but little less than during the war. This ought not to be, and when the railroad corporations are willing to reduce their fares they will carry more people, make more money, and at the same time win the favor of the people, which they should have at all times.

The PEABODY PRESS complains because certain exchanges "indulge in slings and innuendoes" against that paper "under cover of their Peabody correspondence," and says that most of the writers are young men whose attempts at journalistic prominence have been discountenanced by that office.—Of the papers in which these slurs appear it says: "All we ask is, if they have any criticisms to make on ourselves, our business, or any other matter, that they will do it in a fair and honorable manner and not under cover of a rural correspondent." The PRESS is about right, but it strikes us it makes too much fuss about the matter. No decent paper would allow such a method of attack, and no other is worth noticing. The old gentleman who said, "No respectable man would insult me and no other can," was about right. In every Essex County town where an enterprising and independent newspaper like the PRESS exists, there are cheap fellows of the kind our neighbor refers to who delight in pecking at it through the medium of some other sheet; but their dislike, rightly considered, is a high compliment. Just think what would be necessary to secure their good-will!—Marblehead Messenger.

Thanks, brother Messenger. We are of the same opinion. But when journals like the Salem Gazette and Observer, which have been established half a century and over, and ought to set us an example, indulge in such business, we had to speak out.

The Salem Observer is evidently a little mixed on the question of the voting of women for School Committee, stating that women who desire to vote must pay a poll tax of two dollars, whereas they are only to pay fifty cents. For their benefit and those of our lady readers who are interested, we quote from Chap. 191, Sect. 2, P. 115, of the Laws and Resolves of Massachusetts for 1881:

"Any woman, who is a citizen of this Commonwealth, may on or before the first day of October in any year give notice in writing to the assessors of any city or town, accompanied by satisfactory evidence, that she was an inhabitant thereof, and that she desires to pay a poll tax and furnish under oath a true list of her estate, both real and personal, not exempt from taxation; and she shall thereupon be assessed for her poll, not exceeding fifty cents, and for her estate; and the assessors shall, on or before the fifth day of October in each year, return her name to the clerk of the city or town in the list of the persons so assessed. The taxes so assessed shall be entered in the tax list of the collector of the city or town, and the collector shall collect and pay over the same in the manner specified in his warrant."

A full line of Fruit Jars and Jelly Tumblers. Bushby & Co.—Adv.

120 Sheets Writing Paper, 20 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Smoke Sour Mash Cigars, five cents apiece, sold at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

We suggest to the greenback party in Maine to appoint its own funeral at an early day. The corpse is ready.—Boston Herald.

A nice lot of White Granite Plate, all sizes which we offer at low prices. Bushby & Co.,—Adv.

Cool Soda and Ottawa at 5 cents a glass, a Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Even a deacon won't say grace when he steps into a railway eating house. He knows that it would be asking too much to be thankful for anything he will get there.

Jelly Tumblers. 50 cts. a doz., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Mr. Geo. Stevens' store is now connected by telephone. All orders promptly attended to. Goods delivered free of charge.—Adv.

People who haven't been able to get out of town this summer can comfort themselves with the reflection that one half of the next world is an eternal summer resort.

12 spools "Ladies' Favorite Cotton" for 8 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Peanuts at 5 cents a quart at Geo. Stevens'.—Adv.

Clara Bell writes that the majority of her sex are either too fat or too lean to be pleasing without the kindly shaping of clothes. This is a strong argument in favor of wearing clothes, and no lady with any pretension to fashion should be without them.

Messrs. Schollar & Donnell are offering great bargains in Crockery, Glass, Wooden and Tin Ware.—Adv.

China Tea Sets, 44 Pieces, $5.50, at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

An inquisitive old gent poked his head in a printing office door and asked, "Who is dead?" The man at the wheel answered,

"Nobody that I know of." The old gent asked,

"What is this crape on the door for?"

The boss then went out and found that the "devil" had hung the job office towel on the door knob while he chased a lame pigeon up an alley.

A good Elastic Suspender for 25 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Pure Cider Vinegar and Whole Spices at wholesale prices, at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Hazel Kirke was performed at Carson night before last and so affected the audience that it was necessary to mop up the floor of the theatre between acts.

Glass Sets, 6 pieces, 50 cts., at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

Some one having propounded the query, "What invention would benefit the community at large?" a suspicious married woman replies:

A glass so framed that when the husband's out,
The wife, at home, can see what he's about.

Pure Cider Vinegar, 7 year old, at Schollar & Donnell's.—Adv.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Do you want a watch? If so, you can select from a large stock, bought for cash and offered at a small advance, at DANIEL LOW'S, Salem. Great Bargains in Waltham and Elgin Watches. $9.75 for a solid silver American Watch,—WARRANTED.

NEW ENGLAND BOOT AND SHOE COMPANY.

Read! Read! Read!

And then call on us that we may prove to you that we can save you money in buying your

FALL BOOTS AND SHOES.

☞ We have the LARGEST STOCK to select from in Essex County.

OUR PRICES ARE THE LOWEST.

OUR GOODS OF THE BEST QUALITY.

We offer Great Bargains in every department. Visit our store. Examine our goods and prices, for it will repay you for your time and trouble.

NEW ENGLAND BOOT & SHOE CO.
OPPOSITE CENTRAL ST., SALEM.
F. W. LUCAS, Manager.

New Advertisements.

SWAIN'S ADVERTISEMENT.
220 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.

STATIONERY,
of all kinds, Cheap.

The best ten cent box ever offered in this vicinity.

A 7 lb. CREAM NOTE, 12 cents a quire, 50 cents a package.

ARTISTS' MATERIALS.

At Swain's, 220 Essex street, Salem.

Oil and Water Colors, Brushes of all kinds, Drawing and Tracing Papers.

Papier Mache, and Porcelain, Placques, Panels, etc., etc.

SWAIN'S,
220 Essex St., Salem.
jy 27

50 Pieces Cotton Material,
BLACK AND WHITE,
For Draping purposes at the
BOSTON DRY GOODS STORE.
Business dealers and private citizens desiring to Drape their Houses or Stores should send their orders in immediately, that we may know the amount required.
Boston Dry Goods Store,
42 MAIN STREET.

JACOBS,
THE AMERICAN TAILOR.
The Largest Stock and Latest Patterns to select from.
Imported all wool Cassimere Pants to order,
Four Dollars.
Imported all wool Cassimere Suits to order,
Sixteen Dollars.
Wedding and Dress Suits a Specialty.
JACOBS, The American Tailor,
151 Court Street, Boston, Mass.
sept 21—6m

ESSEX AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.
Passengers on the line of the Eastern Railroad will take the train on the Lawrence Branch, leaving Salem, at 7 o'clock A. M., and connecting at the crossing of the Boston & Maine at Danvers, at 7.15 with special train for Haverhill, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 27th and 28th, the two days of the Fair. Round trip tickets will be sold at one half the regular fare.
CHAS. P. PRESTON, Sec'y.
Danvers, Sept. 19, 1881. s21

WANTED,
A house with two tenements, within five or ten minutes' walk of the Square. Address,
P. O. Box 558, Peabody, Mass.
aug 31—tf

FOUND,
In my pasture, a young cow. White, marked with red on neck and head.
A. F. DANFORTH,
aug 31—3t West Peabody.

MILK WANTED.
Cash paid for Sour Milk by
F. A. BRAGDON, sep21—tf Bakery, rear Lowell St.

PACKARD'S NEW FURNITURE EMPORIUM

PARLOR SUITS.

We shall have on exhibition MONDAY all our new designs in Parlor Suits, embracing over 40 different styles of Sets, in coverings of French Embossed Silk and Mohair Plushes, Satins, Cashmeres, Tapestries and Hair Cloth, in prices from $40 to $450 per suit.

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

The largest line of these goods in the city. Sofa, Lounge and Chair Coverings, Lace and other Draperies. Draperies made from original designs by experienced workmen.

MANTLE AND PIER MIRRORS. SIDEBOARDS.

Just received, a large line of Black Walnut and Ash Sideboards, new styles.

CHAMBER SETS.

In Mahogany, Maple, Ash, Chestnut and Black Walnut. We are showing to-day over 50 varieties of these hard-wood sets, making the largest and most complete stock of Hard-wood Chamber Furniture ever shown in this city, as our stock of these sets are all new patterns and purchased before the late great rise in lumber. We can save you from 10 to 15 per cent. on these Sets.

Book and Library Cases, Secretaries, Gents' and Ladies' Davenport Desks, in Walnut, Ebony, Ash and Mahogany.

WAKEFIELD RATTAN CHAIRS.

All the new styles for Upholstering. All are invited to call and examine our immense stock at our New Warerooms. All our stock is new and fresh and of the latest designs.

W. C. PACKARD & CO.,
281 ESSEX STREET, 1, 3, 5, 7 CROMBIE ST., SALEM.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY'S ADVERTISEMENT

Clear the Counters!

MAKE ROOM
— FOR THE — FALL & WINTER STOCK.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SALE!
FOR TWENTY DAYS ONLY.

On Sept. 17, we shall commence our Great Clearing-out Sale of all our Broken Lots and Odd Sizes of

Men's, Youths', Boys' & Children's SUITS AND PANTALOONS.

REMEMBER!

This store is a branch of one of the Largest Clothing Establishments in America, if not in the world. Our Headquarters, Manufactory, and Wholesale Rooms are now located in the New Marlboro Building, 395 and 403 Washington Street, Boston. We have also a large establishment in Brooklyn, N. Y., for the exclusive manufacture of Boys' and Children's Clothing.

N. B. The prices in this store are precisely the same as at our Headquarters in Boston.

NAUMKEAG CLOTHING COMPANY,
Manufacturers, Wholesale and Retail Dealers,
179 ESSEX STREET, SALEM. Z. A. GALLUP, Manager.
DIRECTLY OPPOSITE THE ESSEX HOUSE.

The Peabody Press.

MR. STEPHEN F. REID, as our agent, is authorized to receve Subscriptions, Advertisements, orders for Job Printing, and to make Collections.

HOME HAPPENINGS.

Short pasturage means early feeding for all the stock.

James E. Miller is the latest to come out with a new sign.

The grade of the E. R. R. at Grove street crossing has been raised.

Chief of Police Peaslee is spending his vacation at Nashua, N. H.

Mr. Geo. Clerk has just returned from a trip to the White Mountains.

Pinder & Winchester's engine room has been treated to a new tarred roof.

In So. Peabody there are five ladies whose combined weight is 914 pounds.

Read it! Read it! The new advertisement of the Naumkeag Clothing Co.

Mr. B. F. Hutchinson's residence on Central street is being shingled with slate.

A circus and firemen's muster will be held in Salem on the same day, Oct. 5th, 1881.

All that is left of Summer is mosquitoes, faded ribbons, soiled clothing and tender memories.

A mild winter is predicted, and coal and wood dealers had better come down in their prices.

When you see "Order slate" at one of our coal dealer's office, you are not obliged to do it.

A dividend of 4 per cent., free of all taxes, is payable at the Warren National Bank, Oct. 1st.

The familiar face of Mr. Hazen N. Quint of Conway, N. H., was seen in our streets last week.

The house on the John S. Torr estate on Washington street, is being improved with a coat of paint.

The avenues of Monumental Cemetery have been scraped and otherwise put in order, this week.

Mrs. Clara A. Field of Boston will address the Spiritualists at Ashland Hall next Sunday evening.

Mr. William E. Simonds of Browne university of Providence, R.I., a former resident, was in town yesterday.

As early as week before last, frost was seen on Mrs. Sutton's farm at Center Harbor, N. H., three nights in succession.

The Prohibition candidate for Governor of Ohio is a manufacturer of cider presses. There is nothing wrong in that.

Edw. McLaughlin of Shillaber street, a lad about 10 years of age, broke both his arms while practicing on a horizontal bar, on Sunday.

Mr. H. P. Reed has purchased the residence of Mr. Warren Bushby on Central street. Mr. Bushby will remove to Lynn.

Last Sunday, at the South Church a collection was taken up in behalf of the Michigan sufferers, and a sum amounting to nearly $140 was raised.

A stranger employed on the water works at So. Peabody, was shamefully beaten while in an intoxicated condition by his companions, last Saturday evening.

Among those from this town who attended the re-union of the Poor family in Newburyport, the 16th inst., were Mary O. Jacobs, John Osborn, and Joseph Poor.

Eighteen barrels of clothing were sent to the Michigan sufferers from this town yesterday afternoon — collected within 24 hours by some of our benevolent-hearted ladies.

The old balls in charge of Peter Langley, at the depot, have been changed for new ones. These will be more conspicuous for signals than the others, as they are painted a bright red.

The Boston Dry Goods Store in this town advertises in another column 50 pieces cotton material for draping purposes, to which the attention of business men and others is directed.

The Essex County Sunday School Teachers' Institute is held at Rockport to-day. Rev. W. G. Sperry will preside. The exercises occupy all day and evening, and are usually very interesting.

The Ladies Moral Reform Society will hold its next meeting in the Vestry of the Baptist Church, Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 2 P. M. All members and those interested in the cause are invited to be present.

Mrs. Sally Holden, a respected widow lady living at West Danvers, and nearly four score years of age, held a birthday party last Saturday, which was largely attended by relatives and friends.

A little girl, while playing around one of Julyn's ice carts on Washington street, last Friday, fell under the vehicle and one hand was badly bruised.—Fortunately there was no ice in the cart or the result would have been serious.

Miss Mary E. Casey, the lady assistant at Mr. C. E. Collins', is rusticating at Saxonville, Mass.

The Essex County Universalist Sunday School Union held a meeting at Essex last Wednesday, at which Amos Merrill, Esq., of this town, presided, and Rev. Mr. Harmon was one of the speakers.

Last Thursday morning Thomas Hamilton, employed at Nelson & Merrill's, fell into a hot vat and badly scalded his leg. He was conveyed to his boarding house, and medical attendance summoned.

Probably the largest sheet of bark ever brought to this town came in with a load for Mr. Henry Wilson, the tanner, on Foster street. It measured 5 feet 9 inches, and was on exhibition at Little's mill.

The following ladies have been assessed:—Lydia C. Reed, Sarah N. Bancroft, Mary F. Hoag, Martha M. Cutler, Elizabeth S. Osborne, Harriet A. Sumner, Mary O. Stevens, Mary E. Moore, Mary J. Floyd.

The firm of Nador & Goodwin has been dissolved. Mr. Chas. W. Goodwin of this town will continue the confectionery business at the old stand, Essex street, Salem, where he will be pleased to see his friends.

We should say as a juror judging from recent observations, that a large and interested crowd of spectators have watched the raising and placing into position the ten foot shaft and the handsome lady that grace our soldiers' monument.

The fence between the estates of Mr. Rufus H. Brown and Mr. G. Horace Merrill, on Washington street, has been removed. This certainly adds to the looks of both estates, and could more of our citizens do the same they would find it pleasanter.

A defect in the highway at the corner of Central and Elm streets was repaired last Monday. It is a dangerous place, caused by the giving away of the wooden covering of the drain. Stone is the better and always the safest to use in such cases.

Last evening a large audience assembled in Peabody Institute to listen to Baird's minstrels, who were brought here under the auspices of Post 50, G. A. R. The end men were good, the jokes new, and general satisfaction was afforded. The drilling of the little Zouaves was excellent.

Oysters! Oysters! Nice Providence River oysters by the pint or gallon; wholesale or retail; raw or cooked; straight, plain, hot, cold, ornamental, embellished, or otherwise; in every way, shape or manner; large or small quantities; we don't care, but call at Southwick's fish market for them.

While we cannot believe that any prohibition measure will stop the sale of liquor, we can respect the man who stands up for principle.—Reporter.

That is our neighbor's generous spirit, always thinking of others and not of himself.

That dreadful disease, diphtheria, is again somewhat prevalent in town.—People should be particularly careful during this weather especially, to use disinfectants frequently, a little of which sprinkled about the sink drain once or twice a week, may be the means of preventing sickness or death in the family.

There is no better time to drive through our suburbs than in the month of September, through West Danvers and Lynnfield, etc. The air is salubrious and invigorating, the forest foliage takes on inimitable tints, and the hills, streams and pretty lakes, present a picture indescribably beautiful.

The new postal law now makes the taking of a newspaper and the refusal to pay for the same, a theft, and any person guilty of such action is liable to criminal prosecution the same as if he had stolen goods to the amount of the subscription. A New York paper has already commenced suit against several subscribers for such an offense. Most every well-established newspaper has quite a number of subscribers who will be delighted at receiving this bit of information.

The Essex Agricultural Society will hold their annual Cattle Show and Fair this year at Haverhill, commencing Tuesday, September 27th, and continuing through the 28th. The address will be delivered by Dr. James R. Nichols at the Center Congregational Church at 2.30, on Wednesday. At 1 o'clock on Wednesday the dinner will take place, at which Gov. Long, Mr. Russell, Secretary State Board of Agriculture, and other distinguished speakers will be present.

At the Republican Caucus held last Thursday evening, Col. C. T. Batchelder presided, and Mr. E. W. Abbott acted as clerk. The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the Convention at Worcester to day:—O. B. Chadwick, C. H. Goulding, Frank C. Merrill, S. W. King, Jacob Osborn, E. W. Abbott. A town committee was elected as follows: — C. W. Osborn, Merritt Cook, Warren Wilson, F. E. Farnham, Everett Herrick, F. Osborn, Jr., George Randall.

Mr. C. Warren Osborn will, we learn, resign from the Republican Town Committee to which he was elected last Thursday evening.

Dr. Steele will preach in the Methodist E. Church at 2.15 P. M. next Sunday, Sept. 26th, on President Garfield and the World's unanswered prayer.

We learn that the action of the Monument Committee in not postponing the dedicatory services, is not received with favor among the Grand Army, and a special meeting has been called to take action on it.

The conductors' and drivers' benefit on the Naumkeag Street Railway will take place to-morrow, Thursday, Sept. 22. Turn out liberally and give them a lift. The company has put off this benefit till the season is over, but the conductors and drivers are accommodating gentlemen and deserve to be helped.

Once more we take the space to say that the police did not do their duty last night or they would have suppressed the crowd that hooted and whistled, and made the place hideous with their cat calls. If the police would snatch out a few of the hoodlums, and make an example of them, they would soon stop it. Such actions are an insult to a decent audience, as well as to the company on the stage.

A large number of Peabody people went to Beacon Park last Thursday, to witness the great turf event of the year, when the stallion race for a purse of $10,000 was trotted in the presence of 20,000 people. There were but three starters, and the California stallion, Santa Claus, won first money, Piedmont second, and Wedgewood third. A pacing race for $1000 was won by Mattie Hunter. John Shepard's double team, Blondine and Mill Boy, failed to beat 2.23 1-4, and Trincket beat her record of 2.17 1-4. The Abel Proctor H. & L. Company went in a body, and were conveyed in one of Smith & Manning's barges.

The Volunteer Engine Company of this town attended the firemen's muster at Charles River Riding Park, Milford, last Thursday. There were thirteen machines entered. After a parade through the town, they marched to the Park and drew for position, it falling to the lot of the Volunteers to play first. A strong northeast wind was blowing and no big records were made. The Volunteer scored 135 ft. 10 1-8 inches. The first prize, $250, was awarded to Gen. Putnam of So. Weymouth; second, $125, to Quinsegamog of Hopkinton; third, $75, to Emperor of N. E. Village; fourth, $50, to Cataract of Franklin. In the subsequent trial for the fifth prize between the five lowest contestants in the regular trial, the Volunteer played 159 ft. 4 1-4 inches, and was awarded the prize, $75.

We have often thought, while repeatedly hearing of the painful and oftentimes very serious accidents which happen to the leather splitters of this town and Salem, that it would be almost a duty for those engaged in this very dangerous branch of business, to form some kind of a benefit or insurance union, and we are pleased to hear, that steps in that direction have already been taken.

A temporary organization has been made as follows: Pres., A. H. Warner, Sec. Stephen Murphy, and a committee to frame by-laws, viz: A. H. Warner, Stephen Murphy and Geo. A. Warren. We understand it is the purpose of the committee to invite all leather splitters to attend future meetings, and that a permanent organization will be made in a few weeks.

We hope that all such will give this close consideration, and as there is nothing about the object, relating to a strike, it seems as though it might also claim some recognition from the employers.

While the Volunter Engine Company was returning from the Muster at Milford, last Thursday night, a young man named David Nolan was thrown from a platform car, the wheels passing over his legs crushing off both feet above the ankles. He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital and there cared for and a surgical operation performed. A later dispatch from the Hospital yesterday afternoon, states that mortification has set in and another operation performed by which both legs are amputated above the knee. A subscription paper has been started for the young man's benefit. The Volunteers intend to get up a grand firemen's fair, and by making an appeal to all the firemen in the State, it is hoped money enough will be realized to provide Nolan with a light business in the event of his recovering. The Gen. Putnam engine company of East Weymouth, at a meeting last Saturday, voted $50 from its treasury for the benefit of Mr. Nolan.

EXCURSION

AMONG THE MOUNTAINS.

Mr. I. Munroe and party will leave Oct. 1 for Jackson Falls, N. H. Tickets to Glen Station and return, $4.25. Board at Glen Ellis House, the largest and best in town, will be six dollars per week, or one dollar per day, including ride from and to the depot. Tickets good for 30 days.

MARSH'S INSTANTANEOUS

Disinfecting & Deodorizing

POWDER,

for the thorough purification of Water Closets, Urinals, Privies, Cesspools, Sinks, Gutters, Garbage, and offensive material of any kind. It is also prepared in liquor form for use in houses, school-rooms, restaurants, etc. It promptly arrests and destroys all offensive effluvia arising in sick-rooms, or from vessels containing excretions, and neutralizes the unpleasant odors caused by the decomposition of animal matter, or the fermentation of vegetable substances. For sale by

S. F. Reed,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY.

sep 7—6m

THE FALL TERM OF

MISS FERNALD'S SELECT SCHOOL

Will open on Wednesday, Sept. 14, in

Franklin Hall, 5 Allen's Block.

For terms, references, and particulars, inquire at Gould & Stockwell's Millinery Store, No. 10 Allen's Block.
sep 7—2w

CHAS. E. TEAGUE'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THE OLDEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN.

We are Here, and Here to Stay.

All in need of good boots and shoes will do well to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we are not to be beaten in PRICES, STYLE or DURABILITY.

We have a full line of the celebrated

IPSWICH BOOTS AND SHOES,

(To be found at no other store in town), for Gentlemen's wear, and the past record of these goods is too well known to need any praise. Also a large line of other manufacturers' goods, at VERY LOW PRICES. Our line of

WOMEN'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS AND SHOES

Cannot be excelled. We buy our goods of the best firms, and are all nice clean goods, and warranted to suit. The best line of

Children's School Boots

is to be found at our store. Every pair made expressly for us, and STAMPED and WARRANTED.

TO CLOSE! TO CLOSE!

A few dozen BASE BALL SHOES, in Men's, Boys', Women's and Children's

TO BE CLOSED AT COST.

We have also a full line of

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS,

AT LOW PRICES.

CALL AND SEE FOR YOURSELVES.

Chas. E. Teague,

52 Main Street, Peabody.

PROBATE NOTICE.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Essex, ss. Probate Court.

To the Heirs-at-Law, next of Kin, and all other persons interested in the Estate of WILLIAM BUSHBY, late of Peabody, in said county, farmer, deceased: Greeting:

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Salem, in said county of Essex, on the first Monday of October next, at nine o'clock before noon, to show cause, if any you have, against the same. And said William Bushby and Frederick C. Parker are hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once a week, for three successive weeks, in the newspaper called the Peabody Press, printed at Peabody, the last publication to be two days at least before said Court.

Witness, GEORGE F. CHOATE, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this fifth day of September, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one. J. T. MAHONEY, sep 7—3w Register.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by EDWARD ENNIS to the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank in Peabody, dated Oct. 1st, A. D. 1872, and recorded at Essex, South District, Registry of deeds, in Book 865, leaf 89, will be sold at public auction at the premises on Thursday, the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D. 1881, at 12 o'clock, noon, all and singular, the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, viz.:

A lot of land situated in said Peabody on the northerly side of Tremont street, being the estate formerly occupied and owned by the late Alfred Friend, bounded southerly by Tremont street about fifty-five feet and six inches; easterly by land formerly of Eben S. Poor about one hundred and thirty-seven feet; northerly by land formerly of said Poor about fifty feet; and westerly by land of Ellen Regan about one hundred and eleven feet. Being all of the estate that Eben S. Poor and others conveyed to said Edward Ennis by their deed recorded at said Registry, in Book 715, leaf 175, except so much of the same as said Ennis sold to said Ellen Regan by her deed recorded in Book 818, leaf 87.

Terms made known at sale.

ALBERT H. MERRILL,
Treasurer of the Warren Five Cents Savings Bank.

Peabody, Sept. 7, 1881. 4t

FOR SALE.

One Pair of superior-working, matched Cattle, five years old, weight about 3300 lbs. Also one good working horse, weight 1100 lbs. Apply to, or address,

FRANK MARSH,
aug 17—3w Peabody, Mass.

BEANS.—Pea and Medium Beans, for sale at lowest prices, at wholesale. Also a few barrels of Red Kidney Beans, selling low.

CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

FERNALD & SAWYER

Announce to the public that that they have

MARKED DOWN THEIR HOSIERY STOCK

To very low prices, in order to make room for fall goods. Our entire stock of 38 ct. and 42 ct. Children's Hose is marked down to 25 cts. per pair. Our 50 ct. and 62 ct. Children's Hose marked down to 38 cts. per pair. Our 15 ct. and 20 ct. Children's Hose we are selling for 12 1-2 cts. per pair. Be sure and procure some of the hose before they are all sold.

We have a decided bargain in

BEST QUALITY GERMANTOWN YARN,

slightly soiled, which we will close out at 15 cts. per skein. The regular price for this yarn is 25 cts. We guarantee it in quality the best in the market.

WE HAVE IN STOCK A LARGE LINE OF CORSETS,

For 50 cts., 75 cts., $1.00 and $1.25, which we guarantee as good goods as can be bought in Boston or elsewhere. We also have a regular 50 ct. Corset in all sizes, which we are selling for 38 cts. This is the best corset for the money that can be found anywhere.

We have about 25 doz. ALL LINEN SHIRT BOSOMS, slightly damaged, which we will sell for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents. These goods, if perfect, are worth 25, 38 and 42 cents. They are a decided bargain, and an early call is necessary to secure any of them, as they will not last long at the price we are selling them at.

IN DRY GOODS,

We are offering our extra stock of 15c Ginghams for 12 1-2 cts. per yard. Our 15 and 20c Dress Goods for 10, 12 1-2, and 15 cents per yard. Our remnants of Calicoes for 4 cts., yard wide 12 1-2c Cambrics, we are selling for 8 and 10 cts., according to style. We also have the largest and best stock of Domestic Dry Goods to be found in town—such as cottons, Table Linen, Napkins, Towels, Crashes, Flannels, Silesias, &c., &c., and they are all marked at very low prices. We endeavor to make our prices so low that our people can save money by buying their goods at home.

FERNALD & SAWYER,

48 MAIN STREET, - - - - PEABODY, MASS.

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.

AGAIN WE DEAL A PARALYZING BLOW TO HIGH PRICES

LOOK!		LOOK!!
Men's Calf Boots,	$2.00	Ladies' Kid Button,	1.50
" Buff Congress,	1.40	" " Foxed, Buttoned,	1.25
" " Eng. Walking Shoes,	1.50	" Grain " "	1.25
" " Strap, Solid,	.95	" Serge Slippers, only	.30
" Kip Boots,	2.00	" "	.17
" Brogans, Solid leather, only,	1.00	" Grain "	.65
" Kip Boots, 6 and 7, reduced from $3.00 to	2.25	" Opera " only	1.25
" Calf Eng. Walking Shoes,	1.75	" Machine Congress,	.85
" Rubber Boots,	2.75	" Hand Sewed, "	.85
Common Shoes at Cost.		Misses' Grain Button,	1.00
Boy's Congress,	.75	" Pegged, Lace, Fargo Tip, only 65, 75 and 85
" Split Alexis,	.85	Misses' Kid Foxed Polished, Solid,	.75
" English Walking Shoes,	1.25	Children's Grain, Button, Stackell Tip,	.95
Men's Hand Sewed Boots, only	4.50	Child's Pegged Lace,	.60
Ladies' Hand Sewed Button, Kid and Goat, only	3.25	Ankle Ties,	.25
		Blacking Brushes,	.15

THE NEWEST BOOT AND SHOE STORE IN TOWN, WITH PRICES THAT BEAT ANY STORE IN SALEM.

☞ Remember our prices are low and our goods the best.

Lewis R. Power,

94 MAIN STREET, - - PEABODY, MASS.

A. B. & W.

1, 2 & 3 WEST BLOCK,

ESSEX STREET.

CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

Our new Fall Importations, Suitings, Trowserings and Overcoatings,

OPEN MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5th.

ALMY, BIGELOW & WEBBER,

SALEM.

TOWN OF PEABODY.

TOWN COLLECTOR'S NOTICE.

The owners and occupants of the following described real estate, situated in the town of Peabody, in the County of Essex, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified, that the taxes thereon assessed for the years hereinafter specified, according to the list committed to me as Collector of Taxes for said town, by the Assessors of Taxes, remain unpaid, and that said real estate will be offered at public auction for sale, at the office of the Collector, at the Town House, in said town of Peabody, on Wednesday, the twenty-eighth day of September 1881, at 9 o'clock A. M., for the payment of said taxes, together with the costs and charges thereon, unless the same shall be previously discharged:

A lot of land bounded northwardly by Main street, eastwardly by Pierpont street, southwardly by land of Heirs of W. M. Jacobs, westwardly by land of Jacobs and Osborne, containing about 12,000 square feet, with the buildings thereon.—Taxed to Rebecca K. Jacobs, for 1877, $95.20; for 1878, $102.20; for 1879, $91.00; for 1880, $91.00.

sept 7—3t LEVI PRESTON, Collector of Taxes.

SOUTH DANVERS MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The members of this Company are hereby notified that their Annual Meeting for the election of a Board of Directors for the ensuing year, and the transaction of such other business as may come before them, will be held at the Room of the South Danvers National Bank, on Monday, October 3d, 1881, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

GEORGE A. OSBORNE, Sec'y.
Peabody, Sept. 14, 1881.

C. W. GOODWIN,

SUCCESSOR TO NADOR & GOODWIN,

Manufacturer and Retail Dealer in

PURE CANDIES OF ALL KINDS,

Including Walnut Creams, Butter Creams and Caramels.

Parties supplied at short notice with Ice Cream and Confectionery.

CHARLES W. GOODWIN,

239 Essex Street, Salem, Mass

SHORTS AND MIDDLINGS.—20 tons heavy White Wheat Shorts and Middlings. For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

REMOVAL.

S. M. SPILLER,

AGENT FOR

BUTTERICK'S PATTERNS,

Has taken the store,

168 ESSEX STREET, SALEM

Corner St. Peter. Opposite the Museum,

Where will be found a good assortment of Buttons, Laces, Hoop Skirts, Jewelry, &c.

jy 13—3m

REMOVED.

MISS M. B. WILSON,

MILLINER,

HAS REMOVED TO

262 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Third Door above old stand.
jy 20—3m

MUST BE SOLD!

STOCK OF

BOOKS, STATIONERY,

— AND —

WALL PAPERS,

At a Great Sacrifice for 30 days,

To close out the concern.

GREAT BARGAINS are offered.

Call and see the prices at the well known stand of

A. A. SMITH & CO.,

243 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

jy 27

$50 REWARD.

I hereby offer the above reward for the detection and conviction of the person or persons who broke into my carrying shop on Crowninshield street. I also offer $25 reward for the detection of any person who shall be found breaking glass or committing any other depredations upon said estate.

aug 10—tf STEPHEN BLANEY.

Anecdotes.

THE LORD OF BURLEIGH.

The Lord of Burleigh is, of course, the Marquis of Exeter, who married a poor cottager. He was an amateur artist, indeed, but he was not the youthful artist delineated by the poet Tennyson. Lord Exeter was a widower. He had been unhappily married and divorced from his wife by act of Parliament. He was a man who used to lay aside all the trappings of rank and betake himself to quiet ways of wandering about the country to paint. In this guise he used to wander through various secluded districts, and many of the wise among us know the rest and quiet which such solitary wanderings give. He made friends of the peasantry folk, and became on great terms of intimacy with some of the humble people. Our readers will recollect that something of this kind was the case with a Lord Byron and a Lord Aberdeen. There was one poor cottage where he was especially made welcome, and which, for two or three years, he made his headquarters. It so happened that in the course of these wanderings, Lord Exeter fell ill. In his favorite cottage he was nursed and well cared for. One of those who attended the sick peer with the greatest kindness and attention was a daughter of the house, a young girl of fifteen. The sick man was greatly touched by this kindness and attention. It is a curious fact that your middle-aged man often falls in love with quite a young girl; and it is a still more curious fact that the young girl will just as often, or as seldom, fall in love with the middle-aged man. It is not until after the marriage that the radical incongruity between May and December is made apparent. Lord Exeter determined to make the young girl his bride, and enthrone her in state at "Burleigh House by Stamford town." Things, however, were not exactly managed as set forth in the lyric. Lord Exeter thought that his future wife was both too young and too uneducated for her great position. The young lady was sent to a good school and received an excellent training. All this time he religiously preserved the secret of his rank. They were married; and then came the great sensational surprise of his declaring his rank and welcoming her as the Lady of Burleigh. The melancholy conclusion of Tennyson's ballad is, in the main, true enough. The young girl thus married had several children, and then she faded away. Perhaps it was, as the poet says, "through the burden of a greatness to which she was not born." Perhaps it was not only the inequality of station, but the inequality of age and tastes. Such is the true story of this romantic and famous marriage. It comes to me indirectly through a brother of the bride, an unbeneficed clergyman of the Church of England, who, though sent to college at the expense of his brother-in-law, had reasons for afterward refusing promotion from the Exeter family. He was for many years curate of Sefton, near Liverpool. The bride's name was the unpoetical one of Sarah Hoggins, as may be verified by a reference to the Peerage.—London Society.

CAPTURING MONKEYS.

The monkeys are frequently captured in nooses, and in traps built in the shape of houses. The only entrance is a trap-door in the roof, which communicates with a trigger set upon the ground. Food is spread about inside, the monkeys enter, and, after skirmishing around, disturb the trigger, and the traps shuts them in. The third method for catching them is the most ludicrous one. An old, hard cocoa-nut is taken, and a very small hole made in the shell. Furnished with this and a pocketful of boiled rice, the sportsman sallies into the forest, and stops beneath a tree tenanted by monkeys. Within full sight of these inquisitive spectators, he first eats a little rice, and then puts a quantity into the cocoa-nut, with all the ostentation possible. The nut is then laid upon the ground, and the hunter retires to a convenient ambush. The reader may be sure that no sooner is the man out of sight than the monkeys race helter-skelter for the cocoa-nut. The first arrival peeps into it, and, seeing the plentiful store of rice inside, squeezes his hand in through the tiny hole, and clutches a handfull. Now, so paramount is greed over every other feeling connected with monkey nature, that nothing will induce the creature to relinquish his hold. With his hand thus clasped he cannot possibly extract it; but the thought that if he leaves go one of his brethren will obtain the feast is overpowering. The sportsman soon appears upon the scene; the unincumbered monkeys fly in all directions, but the unfortunate brute, who still will not let the rice go, is thereby handicapped beyond hope with a cocoa-nut as large as himself—a state of affairs quite fatal to rapid locomotion, either terrestrial or arboreal. The sequel is that he falls an easp capture to the hunter, a victim to his own greed. Even when caught, he reads in the actions of his captor a design to rob him of his rice, and he clutches it all the harder; and the very first thing he does when the nut is cracked and the hand released is to cram its contents into his mouth. Thoughts of escape come afterward.—London Field.

Porter was discovered by a man named Harwood, who, to avoid the trouble of mixing beer, ale, &c., a concoction then in demand, contrived to brew a liquor to answer the same end. It derived its name from being chiefly consumed by porters.

When bad men combine the good must associate, else they will fail, one by one, an unpitied sacrifice, in a contemptible struggle.

Wonder if the united efforts of all the Spiritualists of Essex county will be able to obtain sufficient information from the other world to enable them to secure the treasures which Edwin Marble spent the best years of his life to obtain.—Lynn Reporter.

☞ Try it; keep trying it, and try it again. We say this because we believe that the health, happiness and prosperity of the people depend upon the proper use of these medicines, which have proved so successful in eradicating disease and defeating death. The medicine so effective in its cure of diseases is the great Southern remedy, Simmons' Liver Regulator. Try it; we believe that the first trial will be satisfactory.

sept14—1m

The San Francisco Vanity Fair perpetrates thusly:

"Mary had a little bunch
Of silk with feathers on it,
And though it weighed but half an ounce
'Twas an $80 bonnet."

☞ Unhealthy or inactive kidneys cause gravel, Bright's disease, rheumatism and a horde of other serious and fatal diseases, which can be prevented with Hop Bitters, if taken in time.

A Brooklyn boarding-house keeper has recovered $400 from a person who spoke of her place as a "hash house." Take warning, young men, and deal in a more mysterious phrase when refering to your landlady.

Hundreds of Men, Women and Children rescued in every community from beds of sickness and almost death and made strong by Parker's Ginger Tonic are the best evidences in the world of its sterling worth.—Post. sept7—1m

Mr. Dana's hair stands on end when he contemplates the military gaurd around the president's cottage at Long Branch. He suspects the president of imperial designs. Why does he surround himself with the armed minions of despotism? "What," he asks in the Sun, "is the need of United States soldiers at Elberon? Cannot the authorities of New Jersey furnish all the police force requisite?" The worst of it is that he eminent Demorctatic leader, Hancock, lends himself to this scandalous and alarming performance. Manifestly the country is going to the dogs. —Phila. Bulletia.

☞ Ministers, Lawyers, Teachers, and others whose occupations give but little exercise, should use Carter's Little Liver Pills for torpid liver and biliousness. One is a dose.

THE SURGEON'S KNIFE.

WONDERFUL SURGICAL OPERATION—REMOVAL OF URINARY STONES FROM THE BLADDER—SUCCESSFUL.

Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., has been treated for several years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Urethra, without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his great Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.

While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Billious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women, Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle.—The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he in engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. sep 7—1m

A SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

THE NEW ENGLAND & COLORADO

MINING, MILLING AND PROSPECTING CO.

First Mortgage preferred Treasury Stock, 125,000 shares.

Reserve Treasury Stock,	250,000 shares
Common Stock,	125,000 shares
Total, 500,000 shrs.	Par value $10 each.

To purchase Machinery and Furnaces for the extraction and reduction of its ores, procure continued development of its mines, and carry out its purposes, the Company have placed three-fourths of its entire capitalization or 375,000 shares in its Treasury 125,000 shares of this Treasury Stock is now offered for sale and is exclusively Guaranteed One Dollar per Share Dividends out of the Company's first revenues, and this guarantee is secured by First Mortgage upon the Company's properties, including its 20 mines. The other stock is pooled and cannot be sold or participate in dividends until this guaranteed dividend is paid. Stock is non-assessable. The Company are working their mines; have plenty of ore, and its officers are experienced and reliable, and are endorsed by leading business men of the United States.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE.

For Stock, Prospectus, Maps, &c., address with stamp, HIRAM BLAISDELL, Financial Agent, Boston, Mass. aug 17—4t

CHARLES SIMONDS,

LIVERY STABLE,

(HOTEL STABLE).

SAFE and Reliable Horses, and Easy Carriages of the best style, furnished at short notice, for Funerals, Weddings, Business or Pleasure Riding.

CEDAR POSTS FOR SALE

A LOT OF RED CEDAR POST from 5 to 15 feet long—all sizes. On premises of

J. B. THOMAS,
may 5—tf Oak Street, Peabody.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

THE GREAT UNFAILING SPECIFIC FOR Liver Complaint

The symptons of Liver complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side, sometimes pain in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism; the Stomach is effected with a loss of appetite and sickness: bowels, in genral, costive, sometimes alternating with lax; the head is troubled with pain, and dull heavy sensation; considerable loss of memory with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done; often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above sympton attend the diseasc, and at other times very few of them; but the Liver is generally the organ most involved.

REGULATE THE LIVER, AND PREVENT

Dyspepsia, Constipation, Jaundice, Billious Attacks, Chills and Feaer, Headache, Colic, Depression of Spirits Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Piles, etc., etc.

Prepared only by J. H. ZELIN & CO. Sold by all Druggists.

READ AND BE JOYFUL.

'A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever.'

DR. CARLTON,

Is having remarkable success in Re-setting

Imperfect Fitting Artificial Teeth.

Teeth Filled with Gold or Silver. Decayed or Diseased Teeth, so destructive to health, can now be alleviated and totally eradicated by calling upon Dr. Carlton.

HIS PROCESS FOR MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH IS ENTIRELY NEW.

No waiting a week or so, but you can have them the same day the impression is taken.

Gas and ether administered. Parties from out of town can make their appointments by mail. NO CHARGE FOR EXTRACTING when I insert new work.

LIST OF PROFESSIONAL PRICES.

Whole Upper or Under set Gum Teeth,	$10.00
Whole Upper or Under Set Gum Teeth, re-set on new plate,	6.00
One Tooth,	2.00
Two Teeth	3.00
Three "	4.00
Four "	5.00
Five "	6,00
Six "	7.00
☞ Over seven same as whole set.
Extracting,	.25
Killing Nerve,	.2g
Gold Fillings from	$1.00 to 3.00
Silver " "	$.50 to 1.50

DR. CARLTON'S,

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE,

200 1-2 ESSEX ST., SALEM.
jy 30

DENTAL NOTICE.

Those needing the services of a Dentist, will find it to their advantage to call on

DR. H. C. DOYLE,

At his office, 14 Main Street, (over B. F. Stevens' store) where they may be sure of work carefully and thoroughly performed, and prices reduced to suit the times. Dr. Doyle can and will, if desired, furnish hundreds of good references from people in Peabody and vicinity.

Parties needing ARTIFICIAL TEETH, are particularly requested to call and learn prices, and see specimens of workmanship.

ALL OPERATIONS ARE WARRANTED TO GIVE SATISFACTION.

H. C. DOYLE,

apr 16 SURGEON DENTIST.

ESSEX HOUSE.

NO. 176 ESSEX STREET,

SALEM, MASS.

This old and well known House has been thoroughly renovated and newly refurnished throughout, and travellers will find all the comforts of a first-class Hotel. Billiard Room, Livery and Sale Stable connected with the House.

RATE $2.50 PER DAY.

☞ Special Rates to Commercial Men.

DAVIS & FAY, - - Proprietors
Late of the Adams House, Boston.
may 26 1 y

O. B. CHADWICK & CO.,

(SUCCESSORS TO CHAS. TAPLEY)

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS,

NO. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY

Over $12,000,000 Cash Capital represented

Also, Agents for Holyoke, Merrimac, Quincy, and Dorchester Mutual Fire Ins. Cos.

Particular attention given to insuring Household Furniture, Family Wearing Apparel, Musical Instruments, Libraries, and Merchandise of all kinds, in sums of $100 and upward, for one, three or five years, at the lowest rates

SWEETSER'S

DRUG STORE,

NO. 37 MAIN STREET,

PEABODY.

Drugs and Medicines of all kinds: Toilet Articles, Sponges, Brushes, Perfumery, &c kept constantly on hand.

Prescriptions carefully and promptly prepared.

MAGNETIC RESTORATIVE.

This preparation, made of purely Vegetable Matter, is guaranteed to

RESTORE GRAY HAIR,

Keep the hair from falling out, promote its growth, keep the head in a healthy and clean condition. Prepared only by

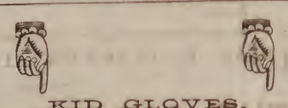
WILLIAM A. SMITH.

9 MAIN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

This is no Vision, but a Stern Reality.

J. J. HEYLINGBERG,

HAIR DRESSING ROOMS,



LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

Agent for HURSELL'S SHAVING SOAPS, CAMPHOR ICE, COSMETICS, for Dressing and smoothing the hair, whiskers, and moustache.—Hoping for a share of patronage, I thank the public for past favors.

Particular attention paid to cutting of ladies' and children's hair.

Razors honed, concaved and warranted.

The Eureka Dandruff Remover will remove Dandruff, and is cooling to the head.

KID GLOVES,

Imported Direct from Germany.

TRIED ON AND FITTED AT

251 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

MISS M. E. HUTCHINSON. MISS N. P. PEABODY

TO HORSE OWNERS.

CLARK'S PLATE HORSE SHOE,

A Sure Cure for Tender and Contracted Feet.

SOLE RIGHT FOR PEABODY BY

SHEEHAN & TOBIN,

HORSE SHOERS,

WALLIS STREET, PEABODY.

TESTIMONIALS.—Wm. C. Munroe, Geo. M. Teel Isaac Hardy, S F. Blaney, John Linehan, Geo. H. Poor, David G. Upton, A. J. Hubbard, Mayhew S. Clark, Aaron F. Clark, George Plummer, Henry M. Osborn, Chas. Davis, Chas. D. Howard, and others. oct 13

T. W. McKEAN,

MERCHANT TAILOR

FINE CUSTOM TAILORING.

Please examine my stock and prices.

200 1-2 Essex Stret.

SALEM, MAINE'S NEW BLOCK.

Gentlemen desiring well fitting garments of good style and finish can get good bargain at this establishment.

feb 23

Wanted

AGENTS! AGENTS! AGENTS!

JOHN B. GOUGH'S bran' new book, entitled

SUNLIGHT AND SHADOW

is the best chance offered to you. Its Scenes are drawn from the bright and shady sides of life, portrayed as only can portray them. This grand work—now for the first time published—is the "booming" book for agents, and is outselling all others ten to one. The thirty-third thousand is now in press. Its immense sale has been made entirely by active canvassers. No other book compares with it for quick and profitable returns. We are starting more agents now than ever before, and we believe the sale of this book will reach One Hundred Thousand Copies in the next few months.

John B. Gough

We want 1000 more agents at once, to supply this grand book to the thousands who are waiting for it. Remember the sale is only now commencing. The book is entirely new, and most of the territory is now clear. Agents, now is your time to make money, and at the same time circulate a thoroughly first-class book. Exclusive Territory and very Special Terms given. Send for our large circulars containing full particulars. Address A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Publishers, Hartford, Ct.

For Dyspepsia And INDIGESTION, USE Dr. Fuller's PEPSIN TROCHES

For sale by all Druggists.

SAMPLE BOX

mailed on receipt of 35c. by the manufacturers,

CHASE & CO., Boston, Mass.

HELLO!

Agents can make more money selling our new Telephones than in any other business.—Send $4 for sample pair and wire to put up and exhibit. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Large profits. Address,

U. S. TELEPHONE CO.,
apl13—6m 123 S. Clark St., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED A CATHOLIC MAN of good business disposition and steady habits. Must travel short distances in section in which he resides. Apply, with references, to BENZIGER BROTHERS, 311 Broadway, New York.

Conveyances.

EASTERN RAILROAD. On and after Monday, June 27, 1881, trains will run as follows, leaving Salem—

for Lynn and Boston, at 5 45, 6 00, 7, 7 15, 7 45, 7 50, 8 18*, 8 30, 8 40, 8 55, 9 20, 10 00, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 12 35, 2 15, 2 50, 3 40, 4 30, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 7 58, 9 20, 10 15 P M. Sundays 5 45, 8 40 A M, 5 40 P M.

Swampscott—6. 7, 7 15, 8 40, 8 55, 10 53 A M, 12 M, 2 15, 3 40, 5 17, 5 48, 6 33, 7 20, 10 15 PM. Sundays 8 40 A M, 5 40 PM.

Beverly—6 55, 7 58, 8 10, 10 35, 11 30 A M, 1 07, 2 47, 3 50, 4 05, 5 15, 5 35, 6 35, 7 05, 8 28, 10 05 P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M.

Beverly Farms, Manchester and Gloucester—7 58, 11 30, A M, 2 47, 405, 5 35, 7 05, 10 05 P M.

Essex—8 10 A M, 3 50, 6 35 P M.

Ipswich—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40, 8 28, P. M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Newburyport—6 55, 8 10, 9 08, 10 35 AM, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 6 35, 7 40 PM. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 P M.

Amesbury—8 10, 10 35 A M, 3 50, 5 15 P M.

Portsmouth—8 10, 9 08, 10 35 A M, 1 07, 2 05, 3 50, 5 15, 7 40 P M. Sundays 8 45 A M, 7 40 PM.

Dover—8 10, 10 35 A M, 2 05, 5 15 P M.

Great Falls, and Rochester—8 10, 9 08 AM., 2 05, 3 50 P M.

Wolfboro—9 08 A M, 3 50 P M.

North Conway—8 10, 9 08 A M, 2 05 P M.

Portland—8 10, 9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Augusta—9 08 A M, 1 07, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Bangor—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

St. John and Halifax—9 08 A M, 7 40 P M. Sundays 7 40 P M.

Montreal—9 08 A M.

And FOR SALEM—from

Montreal—10 00 P M.

St. John—8 15 A M, 8 P M (daily except Saturday).

Bangor—7 50 A M, 8 00 P M. Sundays 8 00 P M.

Augusta—6, 10 10, A M, 2 42, 10 58 P M. Sundays 10 58 P M.

Portland—2, 8 45 A M, 1 10, 6 P M. Sundays 2 AM.

North Conway—7 30, 11 48 A M, 3 35 P M.

Wolfboro—6 05 (Mondays only), 8 22, 11 15 A M, 12 55, 4 15 P M.

Rochester—7 22, 9 45, A M, 2, 5 36 P M.

Great Falls—7 37, 10 05 A M, 2 13, 5 50, P M.

Dover—6 45, 10 30 A M., 2 25, 4 30 P M.

Portsmouth—4 05, 7 15, 8 20, 11 02 A M, 3 05, 5 00, 6 40, 8 P M. Sundays 4 05 A M, 4 PM.

Amesbury—6 45, 8 40, 11 20 A M, 3 20, 5 20 P M.

Newburyport—4 50, 7 05, 7 55, 8 10, 9 04, 11 46 A M, 3 45, 5 43, 7 20, 8 40 P M. Sundays 4 50AM, 4 45 P M.

Ipswich—5 12, 6 45, 7 22, 8 10, 8 30, 9 27 A M, 12 08, 4 07, 6 06, 7 35, 8 55 P M. Sundays 5 12 A M, 5 06 P M.

Essex—7 10, 11 55 A M, 5 00 P M.

Rockport—6 05, 7 30, 8 30, 10 00 A M., 2 00, 5 00, 9 15 P M.

Gloucester—6 15, 7 38, 8 40, 10 10 A M, 2 10, 5 08, 9 25 P M.

Manchester—6 30, 7 51, 8 53, 10 24 A M, 2 24, 5 22, 9 38 P M.

Beverly—6 50, 7 06, 7 42, 8 10, 8 46, 9 11, 9 50, 10 43 A M, 12 25, 2 40, 5 40, 6 23, 9 53 P M. Sundays 5 30 P M.

Swampscott—6 46, 7 48, 8 50, 10 27 A M, 12 36, 2 23, 3 31, 4 33, 6 27, 6 56, 8 20, 9 53, 11 49 P M. Sundays 8 36 A M, 5 48 P M.

Lynn—6 42, 7 45, 7 57, 8 46, 8 58, 10 25, 11 18, A M, 12 33, 12 56, 1 54, 2 20, 2 50, 3 27, 3 40, 3 55, 4 30, 5 04, 5 24, 5 40, 6 24, 6 52, 7 28, 8 17, 9 50, 11 45 P M. Sundays 8 32 A M, 5 45, 7 28 P M.

Boston—6 10, 7 15, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 10, 10 50, AM, 12 M, 12 30, 1 30, 1 45, 2 05, 2 15, 3, 3 15, 3 30, 4 05, 4 40, 5, 5 15, 6, 6 20, 7, 7 45, 9 15, 11 15 P M. Sundays 8 A M, 5 10 7 P M.

*For Boston only.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Salem for Marblehead—7 00, 8 00, 9 45, A M, 12 45, 2 30, 4 50, 5 55, 7 10 P M.

Marblehead for Salem—6 30, 7 37, 8 25, 10 15, A M, 1 50, 3 25, 5 35, 6 20 P M.

SOUTH READING BRANCH.

Salem for Boston—7 25, 10 A M, 2, 4 35 P M.

Boston for Salem—7 45, 11 30 A M, 3, 4 45 P M.

Wakefield for Salem—8 20 A M, 12 03, 3 28, 5 10 P M.

Lynnfield for Salem—8 30 A. M., 12 13, 3 38, 5 20 P M.

Peabody for Salem—8 37 A M, 12 21, 3 45, 5 27 P M.

LAWRENCE BRANCH.

Salem for Lawrence—7 00, 11 35 A M, 4 45 5 55 P M.

Salem for Middleton—7 00, 9 00, 11 35 A M, 3 40, 4 45, 5 55 P M.

Salem for Danvers—6 25, 7, 9, 11 35 A M, 12 50, 3 40, 4 45, 5 20, 5 55, 6 40 P M.

Lawrence for Salem—6 45, 8 10 A M, 1, 5 50 P M.

Middleton for Salem—7 14, 8 40, 10 15 A M, 1 35, 4 45, 6 20 P M.

Danvers for Salem—6 55, 7 28, 9, 10 30 A M, 1 50, 3 20, 5, 5 45, 6 34, 7 00, P M.

Peabody for Salem—7 03, 7 35, 9 08, 10 38 A M, 2 01, 3 28, 5 08, 5 53, 6 42, 7 11 P M.

LUCIUS TUTTLE, General Pass'r and Ticket Agent.

D. W. SANBORN,
Master of Transportation.

Boston, May 30th, 1881.

SALEM & LOWELL RAILROAD. NEW ROUTE NORTH.

On and after April 3, 1881, trains will run as follows:

Salem for Lowell, 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Lowell, 7 25, 11 11 A M, 4 56 P M.

North Reading for Lowell, 7 36, 11 24 A. M, 5 08 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Lowell, 8 01, 8 51, 11 46 AM, 12 29, 4 20, 5 33, 7 05 P M.

All connect with trains for Nashua and upper roads.

Leave Salem for Lawrence at 7 10, 10 55 A M, 4 40 P M.

Leave Lawrence for Salem at 7 45 A M, 1 15, P M.

Lowell for Salem, 7 35 A M, 1 10, 5 40 P M.

Tewksbury Jun. for Salem, 7 52 A M, 1 27 6 04 P M.

North Reading for Salem, 8 20 A M, 1 47, 6 24 P M.

W. Danvers Jun. for Salem, 8 34 A M, 2 00, 6 38 P M.

Both connect with trains from upper roads.

Leave Boston, (Boston and Lowell Depot) for Wilmington Junction, and North Reading, at 7 A M, 5 35 P M.

The 7 10 A M, and 4 40 P M, trains from Salem connect at Wilmington Junction for Boston, via L. & B. R. R.

J. F. CROCKETT, Master of Trans.

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN RAILROAD.

SUMMER TIME TABLE. JUNE 26, 1881.

Leave Boston for Lynn, at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, ¶6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P M.

Leave Lynn for Boston, at ¶6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A M, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P M.

¶Workingmen's trains.

SUNDAYS—Leave Boston, at 9, 10, 11 AM, 12 M, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, All trains stop at West Lynn.

EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A

NEW YORK & New England RAILROAD.

SCHEDULE OF TRAINS.

Boston and Philadelphia Line.

The only line without change of cars between BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA and WASHINGTON.

Trains leave Boston at 6 15 P. M. daily, Pullman Palace Cars on all trains.

NORWICH LINE.

Boston to New York $3.00.

Steamboat train leaves Boston at 6 15 P. M., week days and Sundays.

ALL RAIL LINE TO NEW YORK.

Leave Boston at 9 A M, and 11:00 PM, arriving at Grand Central Depot, 4.22 P. M., and 6.25 A. M. Pulman Sleeping cars on night trains.

Returning, leave Grand Central Depot at 4.30 and 11.35 P. M., arriving in Boston at 11.30 P.M. and 7 45 A. M.

NEW LINE

Between Boston and Providence.

Single Tickets, $1.00. Round Trip Tickets (limited) $1.50.

Trains leave Depot foot of Summer Street, Boston, 6,9 AM., Express 12.15, 3.30, and 6 15 PM. Express.

Return, 7.40, 11.30 A. M., 4.30 and 10 P. M.

OFFICE—322 Washington Street.

DEPOT—foot of Summer Street, Boston.

A. C. KENDALL,
Gen'l Pass. Ag't.

PEABODY & LYNN Omnibus.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT.

On and after April 17th, leave Peabody at 6 and 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 7 15 and 10 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

SUNDAY TIME.

Leave Peabody at 8 40 A. M., 12 40 and 4 40 P. M.

Leave Lynn at 9 40 A. M., 2 and 6 P. M.

C. O. STONE.

MUNROE & ARNOLD'S

PEABODY AND BOSTON

RAILROAD EXPRESS.

Express leaves Peabody at		9 47 A. M.
Freight " "	at	5 00 P. M.
Express " Boston	at	3 30 P. M.
Freight " "	at	4 00 P. M.

OFFICE AT FREIGHT DEPOT, Peabody.

Express Offices in Boston, 174 Washington and 15 New Devonshire Street.

Freight Office in Boston, 128 State Street.

☞ Particular attention paid to removing Furniture, collecting Bills, Notes, Drafts, &c. Smallest favors thankfully received.

B. M. HILLS'

PEABODY and SALEM

EXPRESS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Connects with Eastern and No. Conway Trains. Leaves Peabody at 7.30 A. M., and 1.30 P. M. Salem, at 10 A. M., and 4.45 P. M.

Order Boxes.—PEABODY, at Holman's, Pickering's, Bushby & Johnson's, Frost's Drug Store and Sutton's Wool Store.

SALEM, at Savory's Express Office, Roberts' Store, corner Washington and Front Sts., and 15 Central Street.

B. M. HILLS' Express connects with the Eastern and Western Expresses.

E. N. TUFTS.

DANVERS, PEABODY and LYNN

DAILY EXPRESS.

Old Line, Established in 1861.

The subscriber takes this opportunity to inform his friends and the public generally, that he "still lives," and has two good teams on the road, and will faithfully attend to all business entrusted to his care.

Thankful for the liberal patronage of the past, he will endeavor, by promptness and fidelity, to deserve a continuance of the same.

Office in Peabody at Newman & Symonds. Leave Peabody square for Lynn at 1.30 P. M.

E. N. TUFTS.

je 29—6 m

NEW AND ELEGANT

BOOKS.

EXCELSIOR DIARIES-1881

The Neatest and Best Made.

FANCY GOODS,
GAMES and DESKS,
FINE STATIONERY,
GOLD PENS, WALLETS,
HOLIDAY CARDS.

ALL THE VARIOUS STYLES.

POCKET KNIVES, SCISSORS

A splendid assortment of

Photograph & Autograph ALBUMS.

☞ Call and examine before buying.

A. A. SMITH & CO.

Portrait of FAITH WHITCOMB, the Shakeress, the most successful nurse of the age, who is now accomplishing more good through the distribution of her medicine than all the doctors in the country.

SPECIAL TO LADIES!

FAITH WHITCOMB'S Shaker Liniment is a Sure and Certain Cure for Inflammation of the Womb and for the distressing Lame Back, from which the majority of American women suffer.

A Boston gentleman, well known in business circles—in fact, one of the largest advertisers of the city whose wife has suffered for four years with inflammation of the Womb with constant lameness in the back—employing the best regular Physicians—and afterwards the best Female Electric Physicians, expending vast sums of money with but little effect, has had no occasion to employ a Physician since commencing the use of last July. She is now well. She never has the Backache from which she was hardly ever free during the previous four years.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT.

LADIES:—Instead of filling the stomach with wishy-washy medicines for so-called "Female Complaints," apply the proper remedy—externally—and you will obtain certain relief. Every regular Physician will tell you that the only wise treatment for the Inflamation of the Womb is by the external application of the proper remedies, and if you ask your Family Physician he will advise you to use FAITH WHITCOMB'S SHAKER LINIMENT, (to whom the recipe is open for examination.

INVALID LADIES

Who will send a postal card, simply bearing their address, will receive, prepaid by mail,

"FAITH WHITCOMB'S ADVICE TO MOTHERS,"

which every mother should read. Address, FAITH WHITCOMB'S Agency, Boston, Mass.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S

LINIMENT.

THE GREAT SHAKER REMEDY

FOR

Neuralgia, Rheumatism. Pains in the Spine, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Enlarged Glands, Toothache, Croup, Earache, Sprains, Chronic Diseases of the Joints and Muscles, Bruises, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quincy, Sore Throat, Swellings, Burns and Scalds, Headache, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, and all diseases of an inflammatory order.

FOR TOOTHACHE.

Boston Dentists use it in their practice and recommend it to their patrons.

FROM THE CELEBRATED SURGEON DENTIST, U. K. MAYO.

237 TREMONT ST. BOSTON, Aug 30, 1880.

I congratulate you upon the merited and enviable renown attained by your really valuable liniment. It is the most effective remedy for toothache that has ever come to my notice and I cheerfully recommend to my patrons. U. K. MAYO.

IT WORKS LIKE MAGIC IN INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

For proof of which please read the following:—

214 CAMBRIDGE ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1880.

I am astonished at the wonderful properties of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment. Three weeks ago I was attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism, my head was swollen to double its usual size and the Pain was intense. The first application relieved the pain. In two weeks after using two 50 cent bottles of the Liniment I was entirely cured. Those who are familiar with the Inflammatory Rheumatism and the time which it generally runs will agree with me that the Shaker Liniment is a remarkable remedy, and I advise Rheumatics to use it. J. F. SAWTELL.

The Boston Evening Traveller in referring to the above case says:—

"The cure of Mr. Sawtell, the well known grocer, inflammatory rheumatism, is creating a decided sensation at the West End. Several gentlemen from the Revere Houte, chronic Rheumatics, called upon Mr. Sawtell for confirmation of the rumors of his astonishing recovery and found that the facts had not been exaggerated. Such cures place Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment at the head of rheumatic remedies."

CROUP.

SAVE THE LITTLE ONES.

"If Faith Whitcomb's directions are followed not one case of croup in a thousand will prove fatal.

"He will give further proof if you will call upon him.

BOSTON, Nov. 1, 1880.

This certifies that my wife who had been a sufferer from Neuralgia for twenty years, was cured by the use of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and four applications cured my back which was so lame from Rheumatism that I could not move without pain. I assure sufferers from Neuralgia and Rheumatism that this Liniment will surely cure these diseases. I know it to be a fact that Mr. Lord, one of my neighbors at Greenwood who had been on crutches for fifteen years, and had unsuccessfully tried many remedies, obtained relief from less than one bottle of Shaker Liniment and Mrs. Wheeler of the same place another neighbor, a great sufferer from Chronic Rheumatism—is praising the Shaker Liniment in the strongest terms, for it is the only remedy that would help her. I shall be glad to give further proof of the value of this Liniment to any sufferers who will call either upon me in Boston or at my house ac Greenwood. A. HANSON.

BOSTON WIRE WORKS,
75 and 81 Cornhill and 11 Brattle St.

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER.

You know Physicians are proverbially shy of anything like patent medicines. Doctor Sylvester is no exception to this rule; but when he saw the formula of "Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment" he said "that is all right, that is a good remedy." He prescribed it for me when I was next assailed by my old enemy Neuralgia, or rather Neuralgic Rheumatism, from which I have suffered much, especially from Neuralgia of the Heart. It was a severe attack and I feared a long illness, but I used the Liniment freely and began to find relief very soon. In a week I was WELL. Its effects are almost magical. I will cheerfully recommend it to my friends. C. A. SYLVESTER.

SHERBURNE, MASS., Nov. 2, 1880.

Dr. Sylvester the well-known Physician of Sherborn, gives the following statement:—

SHERBORN, MASS., Sept. 20, 1880.

This certifies that I have examined the formula of Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment, and the ingredients are such that it must be of great value in Neuralgia and Rhumatism. I use it in my family and I recommend it to all sufferers from these diseases, for it is better than any Liniment that has ever come to my notice. W. P. SYLVESTER, M. D.

When regular Physicians recommend a remedy, and use it themselves in their families you may be sure it has unusual merit.

A well-known Sunday School Worker gives his evidence.

WOBURN, Aug. 24, 1880.

The Shaker Liniment cured my wife of an enlarged joint, from which she suffered for months. A few applications cured her. I also received almost immediate relief in a case of acute inflammation and my son received great benefit in a severe attack of rheumatism. As a family liniment I think it has no equal. E. N. CUMMINGS.

"It cannot be recommended too highly as a family liniment.

SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 20, 1880.

I have used Faith Whitcomb's Shaker Liniment for rheumatism with the happiest results, indeed it is the best liniment that I have ever used giving me quick relief. It is not only efficacious for rheumatism, but for strains, sprains, etc. It can not be recommended too highly as a family liniment. C. H. LEWIS.

It always relieves Neuralgia and if the application is continued a cure can be dependedupon.

[From Hon. A. Maynard, the extensive manufacturer and founder of the town of Maynard.]

ASSABET MILLS,
MAYNARD, Mass., Aug 24, 1880.

I gladly add my testimony to the value of the Shaker Liniment in case of Neuralgia and Rheumatism. By its use I obtained almost immediate relief, and unhesitatingly recommend it to my friends.

A. MAYNARD.

PRICE 50 CENTS.

FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS IN MEDICINES

GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO.,

Boston Wholesale Agents

Worldly Trifles.

Paragraphs marked with a ☞ are Advertisements.

A lady who had taken considerable trouble to be in the fashion, upon being told that lemon blonde hair was no longer fashionable, exclaimed, "Oh! I shall dye!"

☞ DON'T TRUST THEM. — When you feel badly, and have pains here and there in your body that you don't know how to account for, it is the most foolish policy in the world to take the advice of people who say: Oh! there's nothing the matter with you. Let yourself alone and you will come out all right." These folks know nothing about it, and may be trifling with your life. You may have Kidney or Liver trouble. Send right out to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" and then you will be all right, or write to the Doctor at Rondout, N. Y. sept7—3w

A Kansas man dropped a little note to a neighbor's wife, inviting her to meet him under the pale silver moon.—The husband got the note first and kept the appointment. Two doctors have been at work on the Kansas man taking out lead for a week.

Why don't the Greenbackers nominate Lydia Pinkham for Governor? Pinkham and Baker would make a seductively æsthetic transparency. What John lacks in shirt collar Lydia makes up.

Fruit of the tropic's burning clime,
Thy wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill;
And many a pang along our way
Sanford's Ginger doth allay.—sep7-1m

A Kansas editor went to a Greenback meeting lately, and says of what he heard: "Imagine thunder, loud enough to wake the snakes before their time in early spring, accompanied by blinding lightning and hailstones as big as your fist; sandwich with a cyclone in the background that followed the storm, and licked the earth clean and clear of any incumbrance whatever, and you have Jessie Harper's speech."

The veritable fountain of youth which old Ponce Le Leon heard of and hunted for in Florida, has evidently turned up in Arkansas, where a spring has been discovered, spouting forty gallons a minute, of a fluid resembling cider and tasting like real Jersey tangle-foot.—The Arkansas people gather there and frolic in all stages of inebriation free gratis, for nothing. An immense immigration, such as no gold mine would draw, may be looked for, and corner lots will go up at a rate to make Chicago and St. Louis uncommonly envious.

WISE WORDS OF A WILLING WITNESS.—At the close of a mass meeting, according to the report of the same published in a La Grange paper, reference was made to the phenomenal efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil in the many painful diseases to which mankind is subject. We refer to the above as showing how strong a hold the Old German Remedy for Rheumatism, has on the experience and good wishes of the great public.—Walla Walla Watchman.

"Have you spoken to pa about that yet?" anxiously inquired the oldest daughter of her indulgent mother.—"No, my child, not yet. Your father is too busy with his creditors to think of pony phaetons and russet harness to match, just now." "Bother the creditors," was the snappish reply. "That's just what your father is doing, my dear. After he has compromised you shall have your turnout."

"Landlady," said he, "the coffee isn't settled." "No," she replied, "but it comes as near to it as your last month's board bill does;" and that man never spoke again during the meal.

☞ Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress, but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

It is announced, on pretty good authority, that three large hotels will be erected at Salem Neck, in time for the season of 1882.

A writer on archery says: "A lady walking through the field or on unfrequented roads is well protected if she be an expert archer, for a thirty-pound bow will put an arrow through the stoutest tramp." A thirty-pound bow might be useful, but a 150 pound beau would be vastly better. A lady could then be all the archer.

ITCHING PILES — SYMPTOMS AND CURE.—The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. Dr. Swayne's All-Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure. Also for Tetter, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Erysipelas, Barbers' Itch, Blotches, all Scaly, Crusty, Cutaneous Eruptions. Price 50 cents, 3 boxes for $1.25. Sent by mail to any address on receipt of price in currency, or three cent postage stamps. Prepared only by Dr. Swayne & Son, 330 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, Pa., to whom letters should be addressed. Sold by all prominent druggists.

Wm. T. Lee, Agent, Peabody.

CATARRH,

THROAT AFFECTIONS,
INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION,
BRONCHITIS,
ASTHMA,
DEAFNESS,
—AND—
DISEASES OF THE BLOOD AND NERVOUS SYSTEM,

CURED BY

DR. A. P. LIGHTHILL,
No. 115 BOYLSTON STREET,
BOSTON.

Office hours from 8 A. M. until 12 M.

TO SUFFERERS FROM CATARRH.

Statement of Rev. E. W. Whitney,
Universalist Pastor.

For several years I have been troubled with Catarrh, which seriously interfered with my public speaking, and which baffled all my attempts to get permanent relief. Experienced surgeons operated upon me, and I was under the care of a Boston physician for two years, but obtained no lasting benefit. I applied various remedies, but failed to get relief, and was led, by advice of friends, to consult Dr. Lighthill. My faith was at the lowest ebb, but am happy to say that after a few months' treatment, no trace of my old trouble appears, and I have every reason to believe that the cure is permanent. I cordially recommend Dr. Lighthill to all who may be afflicted in a similar manner. E. W. WHITNEY.
Peabody, Mass, June 27, 1879.

From the Rev. E. C. Butler,
Of Beverly, Mass.

I most heartily recommend any one afflicted with that troublesome disease, CATARRH, to Dr. Lighthill. I have full confidence in him; his treatment has had the most gratifying results in my own case, which was severe and of long standing. E. C. BUTLER.
Beverly, Mass, Oct'r 29, 1879.

Letter from W. R. Pedrick,
Of the firm of Pedrick & Glosson, Lawrence, Ms.

My dear Dr. Lighthill,—The fall of 1878 found a member of my family suffering severely from chronic catarrh, extending from the posterior nasal passages through the larynx into the bronchial tubes. Perhaps for three years or more the disease had been making slow but sure inroads, not only locally, but also upon the general health, until it became evident that relief must speedily be obtained, for the symptoms told too plainly what the result would be if longer neglected. I was led to consult you in the matter by the advice of those whom I personally knew you had cured of similar complaints.—Your treatment resulted, I am happy to say, in a complete cure, and all the dreaded symptoms, such as extreme throat suffering, distress in the head, and nasal and vocal organs, pains in the lungs and a constant susceptibility of severe colds, attacking the head, throat and chest, have entirely disappeared. I am very grateful to you for your very kind and gentlemanly deportment, and am most thankful for your skilful and successful treatment and care of this much beloved member of my family. You are at liberty to refer to me or mine.
Yours, truly, W. R. PEDRICK.
Lawrence. Nov. 4. 1878.

A Card from Mr. R. S. Lambert,
Butter Merchant, 12 Washington Market, Boston.

The remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill performed in my case, after other celbrated physicians failed to even relieve me, demands a public expression of gratitude.

I was a great sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form, to such an extent that my friends thought me in consumption; but thanks to Dr. Lighthill's skill, I am now perfectly well, and free from all those loathsome and disgusting symptoms attending such a disease, and weigh twenty pounds heavier than I ever did.

I would earnestly advise all similar sufferers to apply to Dr. Lighthill, 7 Somerset St., near Beacon St.
R. S. LAMBERT.
Boston, Nov. 26, 1880.

PERMANENT CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Hon. A. M. McPhail, Jr.,
Piano Manufacturer, 185 Washington St., Boston

Dr. Lighthill,—Dear Sir,—I take great pleasure in saying that your professional efforts in my case of deafness, some years since, resulted in a permanent cure, and were in the highest degree satisfactory.
I have the honor to be very truly yours,
A. M. McPHAIL, JR.

CURE OF HEART DISEASE AND CATARRH.

From Mrs. M. A. Emery.

Mr. Editor,—Allow me to express my gratitude to a real benefactor through your columns. For six years I have suffered from Heart Disease and Catarrh so very intensely that my life was despaired of by my physician as well as my friends, and when I first consulted Dr. Lighthill, I myself feared that my lease of life was fast drawing to a close, for I was extremely debilitated, in great state of suffering, and withal greatly discouraged; but my first interview with the Doctor inspired me with hope, and ere I had been under his care but a few weeks I began to improve in health, strength and spirit, and this improvement has steadily continued until I was completely restored. My wonderful recovery astonished all who knew how great a sufferer I was. In gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, and for the benefit of other sufferers, I make this public statement. Yours, truly,
Mrs. M. A. EMERY,
359 Lowell Street,
Lawrence, Sept. 21, 1880.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

From G. H. Robinson, of Methuen.

Dr. Lighthill has done wonders for me. My case was a serious Throat and Lung Trouble, pronounced by several physicians Consumption, for I had many of the worst symptoms of that disease, but from the beginning of Dr. Lighthill's treatment I commenced to improve, and now I am happy to be able to call myself a well man. G. H. ROBINSON,
Methuen, Nov. 1st, 1880.

Please Remember—Dr. LIGHTHILL'S Office is at 115 Boylston Street, Boston.
February 9, 1881.

A STREET CAR CONDUCTOR'S OPINION OF WOMEN. — "Where do the bad coins come from?" was asked.

"That's more'n I know — where they come from in the first place.—It's mostly women that give 'em to us. You see when a man gets hold of a bad half dollar he don't feel just like passing it off himself, so he just gives it to his wife and don't say anything about it. And even if she does know the piece is bad, it doesn't make a mite of difference.—A woman, young man, is one of the queerest things in the world—one of the que-e-rest things in the world. I often stop and say to myself, Well, now, what did she do that for? A woman has no idea of other peoples' rights at all. So when she gets hold of a bad half dollar, she just naturally passes it off again.

Dishonest! Why, bless you, no, she doesn't mean anything dishonest; it's just her nature; she can't help it. She don't want the half dollar—of course she don't—so there is just one thing to do, and that is pass it off on some one else. But, I tell you, you have to be powerful careful how you treat a woman.—Some of 'em want you to help 'em on the car now, and others won't let you touch 'em. So, either way you do, you're sure to make 'em half mad. I stopped the car—it was only yesterday morning—to let a woman off; gave her plenty of time, and she got both feet on the ground when the car started, but she wanted it to wait until she was a yard away, so what does she do but jump on again, and make the car come to a dead stop. There is no accountin' for 'em, no way."

"Most of them go by the elevated road now, do they not?"

"Yes, a good many of them do. Before the elevated road was built, I used to carry the girls to the Normal school every morning. They used to come all at once, so many of them had to sit in one another's lap. That made four rows, and I tell you they looked as fresh and sweet as a basket of peaches, all arranged in rows. But I don't see much of 'em now.

"Well, now, I don't know; I'd rather carry a car full of men any day. They know what the conductor's business is, and don't get mad for nothing. They give us fewer counterfeits, too. Why, I have a glass dollar up at the house now that a woman gave me. I was a fool to take it, but I'll pass it off on some man again. When the car is pretty dark they won't notice it.—You see they're not used to it as I am.—N. Y. Tribune.

We like Vennor. We always did like a cool, collected, audacious liar, if we had got to have any, and Vennor fills the bill. Nothing disconcerts or suppresses him. If it turns out to be singeing hot when he said it would be stinging cold, or a flood comes where he had located a drought, as is always the case, he simply says: "Never mind what has been, but let me call your attention to what will be next month." If the Americans abuse him as a false prophet, he says it is international jealousy; and, if the Canadians poke fun at him as a pretentious and ridiculous bungler, he says his calculations were made for the meridian of some other country; and, if anybody in any country expresses a doubt as to his believing his own forecast, he rises, and solemnly avows his willingness to eat his own shirt if his next batch doesn't turn out as promised. Vennor may lack brains, but he has got cheek.—Manchester Mirror

John Stein, Esq., City Brewer, referring to its valuable qualities said to a News representative: I have used St. Jacobs Oil in my family and recommend it to my acquaintances. It has always given the best satisfaction, and is truly a wonderful remedy.—Danville, Ill, News.

Postmasters have been directed not to deliver scurrilous postal cards. They are also forbidden to read postal cards addressed to other parties. Therefore, when you drop a scurrilous postal card into the Post Office you must acquaint the Postmaster and his assistants with the fact, or they will be terribly perplexed.—Norristown Herald.

☞ A Smooth Complexion can be had by every lady who will use Parker's Ginger Tonic. Regulating the internal organs and purifying the blood, it quickly removes pimples and gives a healthy bloom to the cheek. See notice.
sept7—1m

Calder's Dentine, 15 cts. at Peabody's.

ST. JACOBS OIL
TRADE MARK.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY.
FOR RHEUMATISM,
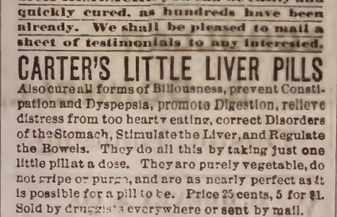
Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swellings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Tooth, Ear and Headache, Frosted Feet and Ears, and all other Pains and Aches.

No Preparation on earth equals ST. JACOBS OIL as a safe, sure, simple and cheap External Remedy. A trial entails but the comparatively trifling outlay of 50 Cents, and every one suffering with pain can have cheap and positive proof of its claims.
Directions in Eleven Languages.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS IN MEDICINE.
A. VOGELER & CO.,
Baltimore, Md., U. S. A.



SICK HEADACHE
POSITIVELY CURED BY
CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.
TRADE MARK.

We Mean Cured, Not Merely Relieved
And Can Prove What we Claim.
☞ There are no failures and no disappointments. If you are troubled with SICK HEADACHE you can be easily and quickly cured, as hundreds have been already. We shall be pleased to mail a sheet of testimonials to any interested.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
Also cure all forms of Biliousness, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve distress from too hearty eating, correct Disorders of the Stomach, Stimulate the Liver, and Regulate the Bowels. They do all this by taking just one little pillat a dose. They are purely vegetable, do not gripe or purge, and are as nearly perfect as it is possible for a pill to be. Price 25 cents, 5 for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere or sent by mail.
CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CARTER'S IRON PILLS FOR THE BLOOD NERVES AND COMPLEXION

We recommend Carter's Iron Pills to every woman who is Weak, Nervous, and Discouraged; particularly those who have Thin, Pale Lips, Cold Hands and Feet, and who are without Strength or Ambition. These Pills quiet the Nerves, give Strength to the Body, induce Refreshing Sleep, Enrich and Improve the quality of the Blood, and Purify and Brighten the Complexion. They cure Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Tremblings, Nervous Headache, Leucorrhœa, Pains in the Back, and other forms of Female Weakness. Remember that Iron is one of the constituents of the Blood, and is the great tonic. Carter's Iron Pills are also valuable for men who are troubled with Nervous Weakness, Night Sweats, &c. In metal boxes, at 50 cents, Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail. Address
CARTER MEDICINE CO.,
New York City.

☞ There having been a demand for more Clubs, I have concluded to issue a limited number.

INDUCEMENTS:

Two dozen Cards and two Cabinets given to any one getting up a Club of ten persons. Price of Club, $20. Each person to have one dozen Cards and one Cabinet finished in any of the different styles desired.

GUARANTEE.
I positively warrant all my Photographs to be of the finest and best materials and I refer to Geo. S. Bryant & Co. and Benj French & Co. of Boston, of whom I buy my stock of chemicals and materials used in the production of my pictures.
A. B. CROSS. 256½ ESSEX ST. SALEM. MASS.

WHITE WASH BRUSHES. White Wash Brushes of all sizes, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front St.

READY MIXED PAINTS.
Paints in all colors, mixed ready for use, for sale in any quantity, at
S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS',
apr 27 32 Front St., Salem.

Saving Institutions.

WARREN
FIVE CENTS SAVINGS BANK,
PEABODY.

PRESIDENT.
Rufus H. Brown.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

George Osborne,	Franklin Osborn,
Stephen Blaney,	Charles B. Farley,
Lewis Allen,	George F. Osborne.

TRUSTEES.

John A. Lord,	George S. Osborne,
Amos Merrill,	Joseph Poor,
Benj. S. Wheeler,	Nathaniel Symonds,
William H. Little,	Alfred A. Abbott,
Aaron W. Warren,	Aaron F. Clark,
Alex. B. Merrill,	Albert A. Messer.
C. Warren Osborn,	John Pinder,

TREASURER AND CLERK.
Albert H. Merrill.

Dividends are credited to the depositor as soon as declared, and immediately put upon interest.
New deposits commence drawing interest on the third Wednesday of February, May, August and November.
Peabody, March 6, 1878.

SALEM
FIVE CENTS
Savings Bank.
Cor. Washington & Essex Sts.,
JOHN KINSMAN, President.
CHARLES H. HENDERSON, Treas.

J. G. LOWERY,
MANUFACTURER OF
Picture Frames, Mirrors, Etc.,
ENGRAVINGS,
CHROMOS,
OIL PAINTINGS,
WIRE PICTURE CORD,
NAILS AND KNOBS,
OLD FRAMES RE-GILT,

Chromos, Engravings, and Oil Paintings cleaned, mounted and framed, on the premises, in the latest and most improved styles.

J. G. LOWERY,
116 Washington Street, Salem,
(GOLDTHWAITE'S OLD STAND.)
Jan 21—1y

PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,

No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston,

Secures Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

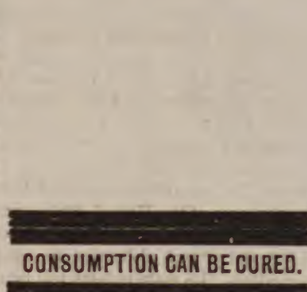
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commis'r of Patents."

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Boston, October 19, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.
Yours Truly, GEORGE DRAPER."
an 2 1 y

CHARLES DAVIS,
VETERINARY STABLE,
HOLTEN STREET, PEABODY, MASS.

The undersigned, having had large experience, solicts, and will attend to all calls of those having sick or lame Horses. Particular attention given to diseased and contracted feet. We guarantee relief in all cases, and a permanent cure when not of long standing. My magic compound renovates the frog, and promotes its growth. Try it. Price 50 cents.



Horses Bought and Sold on Commission.

NOTICE.
The undersigned would give notice that hereafter
A PUBLIC CARRIAGE
can be found at the Eastern Railroad depot at EVERY TRAIN, for the convenience of the travelling public. Those wishing a carriage for private use between trains or evenings, can be accommodated. Order slate at the depot. All orders promptly attended to.
sept 29—1y HORACE A. HART.

ICE CREAM SETS. Ice Cream Dishes, with Salvers to match, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

FAITH WHITCOMB'S BALSAM
Is warranted to Cure the most obstinate
COUGH.

FAITH WHITCOMB.

A REWARD of $5000 will be paid for the detection of any injurious ingredient. We are induced to make this strong statement from the fact that many insist that this Balsam must contain something more powerful than herbs because of its giving almost immediate relief, and final cure in cases that physicians have pronounced incurable. Faith Whitcomb's Balsam is composed of pure Shaker Herbs, gathered by the Harvard Community of Shakers, and may be taken with safety by the feeblest infant, yet is the most powerful remedy known for the cure of Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.
For Whooping Cough it has a wonderful effect, and, by cleansing the Blood, renovating the Liver, and building up the system, is an almost certain cure for Catarrh.

PRICE 50 CENTS AND $1.

Faith Whitcomb's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills will cure the worst case of Nervous, Sick or Bilious Headache; purely vegetable; always produces sleep; cures Hypo or "the blues." Price 50 cents, 6 boxes for $2.50, postpaid, by Faith Whitcomb's Agency, Boston. Sold by all Druggists.
GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston, Gen. Agents.

STOP THAT CATARRH.

THE PEABODY PRESS,
AN EIGHT-PAGE PAPER,
FIFTY-SIX COLUMNS,
THE LARGEST NEWSPAPER
— IN —
ESSEX COUNTY.

Established in 1859 under the name of the SOUTH DANVERS WIZARD; and changed to THE PEABODY PRESS in 1869.

Subscription Price, $2.50 per annum.
Single copies, 5 cents.

ALBERT VITTUM, Manager.
JOHN P. FERNALD, Editor.
CHAS. D. HOWARD & CO., Proprietors.

OFFICE:
Dustin Building, Lowell Street,
PEABODY, MASS.

THE PEABODY PRESS is devoted to the interests and welfare of the place of its publication; striving to gather and put on permanent record events of interest as they transpire from week to week.

FINE JOB PRINTING.

We would respectfully call the attention of the business men of Peabody and the public generally to the fact that the FINEST KIND OF

MERCANTILE PRINTING,

Is executed at this establishment,

DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,

In a style fully equal to anything produced in Boston, or other large cities, and at as LOW RATES as the quality of the work will justify.

BALL PRINTING.

In this department we keep fully up with the times, executing orders in a perfectly satisfactory manner, and with dispatch.

Card and Circular Work

IS MADE

A SPECIALTY.

Book and Pamphlet Work.

Our facilities for book work are unsurpassed in this county. Estimates furnished upon application.

POSTER WORK, FLYERS,

And all the coarser and cheaper grades of Printing attended to at short notice and at reasonable figures. We have discarded all the worn-out and old fashioned material and have

ADDED TO THE OFFICE

A large assortment of the best styles of type in the market, and to which we add new designs as fast as they appear.

In short we attend to

EVERY DESCRIPTION OF PRINTING

Plain or Fancy and guarantee that the work shall conform to the contract.

PEABODY PRESS Office,
DUSTIN BUILDING, LOWELL ST.,
PEABODY, MASS.

A DAY'S SPORT IN THE ADIRONDACKS.—It is the morning of a hunting day. The guides are up and stirring before it is fairly light, and the sun has not risen above the tree-tops, when Raut's bald head appears between the tent flaps, and he reminds us of our solemn promise to make an early start.—The air is eager and nipping, and we hurry to get dressed, putting on an extra coat, and sitting down with a little shiver to a breakfast of steaming coffee and venison steak and potatoes. Steve is already starting into the woods with the hounds. He fastens their chains to his belt, and sets of with a long swinging stride, following no path, but making for a certain ridge far back in the forest, where he hopes to find a stag or two not yet awakened from their morning nap. It will be a hard tramp, through swamps and thickets, jungles of underbrush and tangles of fallen wood, with the dogs pulling and tugging at his belt, and nosing the ground impatient for the scent. After an hour or two, if he finds a fresh track, he will let one of them loose, and then go on to start a second, and, if he can, a third. The dogs are noble creatures, two of them thorough hounds with long, hanging ears, and the other a rough Scotch dog, with the keenness and pertinacity that belong to his race. They will follow the track with untiring vigor, crawling through the densest slash of burned and fallen timber, rushing along the more open hard-wood ridges, threading the tangled alder thickets, dashing through marshes, swimming narrow streams, until at last the deer crosses some runway where a hunter stands, or takes some larger water, and is captured or escapes. Then, if there be no one there to take the dog in, he turns and follows his track back until he comes to the camp, and creeps in, wet and hungry and tired, to lie down by the fire, and wait for his master to feed him.

In the meantime we have finished our preparations, and are pushing out in our boats to take possession of the watch grounds. The light mist of the morning is curling up in fantastic shapes from the water, and the air is yet unwarmed by the sun, as we turn away each to his appointed station—one on a little pond some three miles up a winding stream, another on an island at the head of the lake, another down at Red Island, and Peter alone, for he is a ready oarsman, has charge of the island in front of the camp. It is tiresome work watching alone, for your eyes must be strained to catch the first sight of the deer as he enters the water, or moves, visible only as a black spot, across its surface. Fancy often plays you tricks, so that a floating piece of wood, or a loon swimming across some distant bay, seems to be a deer's head, and you set out in pursuit, and almost break your back, until you discover your mistake.

But if you have a good guide with you, you may leave the larger part of the watching to his sharp eyes, and, finding a shady place, amuse yourself with a book, or watch the ants crawling through the grass forest, or lie and dream, letting your thoughts wander lazily along the curving shores and among the drifting clouds. Presently there comes a faint sound, very different from those constant noises of the woods and waters to which you have been listening. Reub straightens himself on the projecting limb of the dead pine where he is sitting. Hark! A faint mellow note of a hound's voice coming over the trees. It is Jack. He is running. Now the chase is coming towards us. You can hear the sharp ringing bark distinctly. How eagerly he runs! There is a moment of silence. He is puzzled, or is struggling with some difficulty. Now the cry rings out again in quick, clear notes. The wind sweeps it away, and then brings it back with new power. It grows fainter and fainter. He is passing around some hill or ridge in the forest. He is turning away. No, here he comes again, clearer and louder than ever. He is making for the lake. But what is this? The music ceases. Then it begins more slowly. The deer has made a turn, and is swinging away for Stony Pond. Jack follows him, and his voice grows fainter and fainter, and then is lost as he passes back into the forest.—We are disappointed.

We look down the lake again. Suddenly Peter's boat puts out from the island where he is watching. He is pulling for dear life. He must see something. We will go down. Reub's sinewy arms make the oars bend, and the boat fly through the water. Do you see that dark spot moving out from the shore? It is a deer, a buck, a noble head. Peter is still a little in advance of us. But the deer swims fast. Will he get away? Peter pulls bravely, and at last his boat shoots between the stag and the point for which he was making. The great head with its branching horns, turns out into the lake. Steady now, for the boat is dancing, and the stag is almost springing out of the water. We must not spoil the antlers. A ball just below the ear. The rifle-crack rings sharp, and the buck is ours.—Harper's Magazine for Oct.

Some merchants use but very little judgment about advertising. So long as they have an "ad" in some paper, paying for it, they think it is sufficient and trust to luck for the consequences. They shut their eyes and discharge their gun in the air, and wait for the game to drop. They are for duck and get crow. Advertising requires as much good judgment as any other part of a merchant's business. Judicious advertising always pays. There are some business men who seldom advertise, and they are always complaining about their trade. They treat advertising as the improvident, shiftless fellows do roofs. When the sun shines they do not need patching; and when it rains they cannot patch them. When trade is fair they see no need of advertising; and when trade is dull they can not afford to advertise. Moral: Repair a leaky roof when it is fair weather, and advertise in all seasons. Advertising pays all parties interested better than any other commercial investment.

THE METHODISTS are like the grain of mustard seed mentioned in the scripture. From the smallest beginning in the last century, when a few university students banded together in England, in less than a hundred and fifty years the nominal Methodist denomination has grown to a population estimated at 18,000,000, with actual communicants to the number of 4,000,000. This week an ecumenical conference of the churches is to be held in London, with a membership of 400 delegates. One half of these are British and from the continent of Europe, and the other half from the churches of the United States and Canada. The conference is composed of lay and church delegates in equal proportion. Its main objects will be to devise means for prosecuting home and foreign work so as to result in the greatest economy and efficiency. With such a growth the denomination would hardly incur the charge of arrogance if it should assume the title of the Holy Catholic church. In this country it is one of the largest and the most rapidly growing, and two of the Presidents of the United States have been Methodists.—Newburyport Herald.

"I cannot sing the old songs," an amateur soprano shrieked the other night, and while she took breath for the next line, a young man who had looked in for a moment was heard to remark, casually but emphatically, "You just bet you can't." It broke up the concert on the spot.

A very little money will buy a nice Breakfast, Dinner, Supper or Lunch, at the Holly Tree Ice Cream and Dining Rooms, 9 Central Street.

If you want a nice steak, go to the Holly Tree, 9 Central Street, and call for one of their PORTER House, or Tenderloin Steaks.

NOTICE TO COAL CONSUMERS.

We handle none but the very best of coals. Do not be deceived by parties who talk of an inferior article; you will save money by calling on us before buying your coal.

WM. PICKERING, JR., & CO.,
may 28—tf Salem, Mass.

ALBION M. DUDLEY, D. D. S.,
DENTAL SURGEON,
HALE'S BLOCK, 223 Essex Street, Salem, Mass.,
(Recently of Peabody, Mass.)
Not connected with any other Dental Office.
REFERENCES:
Harvard Medical College;
Boston Dental College;
L. D. Shepard, of Harvard Dental School;
Prof. G. A. Osborne, Institute of Technology.
Geo. S. Osborne, M. D. and C. C. Pike, M. D., Peabody Mass.

DR. P. H. PEACH,
DENTIST,
238 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.

Marriages.

In Salem, Sept. 10, by Rev. Mr. Willson, Mr. Cecil S. Gillard to Miss Oassie M. Wormell, both of Lowell; 15th, by Rev. Mr. Mansfield, Mr. John I. Comstock to Miss Annie C. Henningsen, both of S.

In Wenham, Sept. 15, by Rev. Hobart Childs, Mr. William F. Dean of Peabody to Miss Annie D. Barnes of Salem.

In Bradford, Aug. 27, by Rev. Mr. Dana, Mr. Nathaniel R. Palmer of Haverhill to Miss Alice M. Thomas of Salem.

In East Cambridge, Aug. 8th, by Rev. Fr. Callahan, Mr. Charles A. Harriman of Boston to Miss Katie M. Gleason of Salem.

Deaths.

In Peabody, Sept. 14th, Margaret, daughter of Thomas F. and Maria Cullen, 1 mo. 9 ds.

15th, Mary A., daughter of William H. and Ellen F. Furbush, 1 yr. 3 mos. 23 days.

In Salem, Sept. 11, Miss Mary J. Foley, 55 yrs.; 12th, Mrs. Mary J., widow of Mr. Thomas Driscoll, 37 yrs. 5 mos. 18 days; 13th, Mrs. Lucy, widow of Mr. William Burgess, 77 yrs. 4 mos, 26 days; Mrs. Catharine, widow of Mr. Michael Meagher, 73 yrs.; 14th, Mr. Jacob Kimball, 57 yrs. 2 mos. 14 days; 15th, Mr. Charles E. Watts, 36 yrs. 3 mos. 26 days; Mr. James J. Matthews, 20 yrs. 8 mos. 27 ds.; 16th, Miss Lucy Phippen, 89 yrs. 6 mos. 25 days; Mr. Matthew Ahern, 38 yrs.; 19th, Mr. John A. Foster, 80 yrs. 7 mos.

In Danvers, Sept. 15, Mr. John G. Russell, of Andover, 84 yrs.; 12th Mrs. Charlotte P., widow of Mr. Thomas W. Southward, 71 yrs. 3 mos. 29 days.

At Danvers Asylum, 17th, Mr Washington Simonds of Peabody, 66 yrs.

PATENT FLOUR,—One car load Ames' Fancy Minnesota patent process Family Flour.—For sale by CHARLES A. ROPES,
41 to 47 Central street.

HEN FEED.—The largest assortment of Hen Feed in the city. Ground Beef Scraps, Oyster Shells, Egg Food, &c., wholesale or retail
CHARLES A. ROHES,
41 to 47 Central street.

Professional Cards.

THOMAS M. STIMPSON,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
194 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,
Residence Lowell Street, Peabody.

HENRY WARDWELL,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
PEABODY,
And 35 Court St., Boston.

THEODORE M. OSBORNE,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
129 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM.
Residence, 5 Holten St., Peabody.
jan 1 tf

CHARLES E. HOAG,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
No. 8 ALLEN'S BLOCK.
PEABODY, MASS.
jan 1 tf

FRANK E. FARNHAM,
Attorney and Counselor-at-Law,
REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND INVESTMENT AGENT,
No. 8. ALLEN'S BLOCK, Peabody Square.

MISS GUSSIE E. NELSON.
Teacher of Violin,
25 SUMMIT AVE., SALEM.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.

F. TORREY UPTON,
Pianist and Teacher of Music,
22 LYNDE STREET, SALEM, MASS.
Pupils visited at their residences in Peabody.
jan 12 6m

Business Cards.

HENRY L. WHIDDEN,
PAINTER.
Orders left at A. H. Whidden's Store will be attended to.
Peabody, March 16. 1881.

F. A. WRUCK,
Watchmaker and Jeweler,
195 ESSEX STREET, SALEM, MASS.
ue1 t tf

GEORGE F. WARD,
Painter, Glazier & Paper-Hanger,
Room Papers for sale. Ceilings whitened or colored.
SHOP ON CENTRAL, OPP. WALNUT ST.
All orders promptly attended to. jan

GEORGE UPTON,
Manufacturer of
Glue and Sand Paper.
Office, 105 Milk Street, - - Boston.

NATHANIEL SYMONDS,
Dealer in
Family Groceries, Flour & Grain.
HARD WARE AND CROCKERY,
5 & 7 Lowell Street, Peabody.

L. B. NICHOLS,
AUCTIONEER,
JACOBS STREET, PEABODY, MASS.
Will advertise and sell REAL ESTATE and PERSONAL PROPERTY for persons wishing his services. jan 1—tf

DAISY LAWN MOWER.
THE LATEST AND THE BEST.
Arranged with a vibrating handle for cutting terrace slopes.
Every Machine Warranted.
A Twelve-inch Mower for $10.50
For Sale at
SAMUEL TRASK'S Hardware Store,
Walnut Street.

E. V. EMILIO.
A Large Stock of
New and Second Hand
PIANOS AND ORGANS,
ALWAYS ON HAND AT
286 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
E. V. EMILIO.

NOTICE.

The undersigned would inform the public that he has opened a Veterinary Stable on Central street, Peabody, and is prepared to attend to all calls in his line. Contraction of the hoof and diseases of the teeth receive particular attention.
aug 10—tf HENRY C. WILSON.

SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.
HOUSEKEEPERS
Of Peabody!
COMPLETE REVOLUTION!
IN PRICES OF CROCKERY,
GLASS & WOODEN WARES.
READ OUR PRICES!
EXAMINE OUR WARES!
And get the best equivalent for your money.

WE QUOTE

A Gilt China Tea Set, 44 pieces,	$5.50
A Toilet (banded) Set, 10 "	3.25
" " " 3 "	1.00
Breakfast Plate,	75c per doz.
Dinner "	90c per doz.
Tea "	95c " "
Sugar Bowls,	30 and 40c each.
Ewer and Basin,	72 and 80c each.
Covered Dishes,	55, 60 and 75c each.
Platters,	9, 12, 15, 20 to 50c each.
Chambers,	25, 30 and 40c each.
Quart Bowls,	7c each.
3 Pint Bowls,	10c each.
Cups and Saucers,	40c per set.
Odd Saucers,	2c each.
Syrup Cans,	20c each.
Salt Cellars,	5 and 12c each.
Sauce Boats,	10c each.
Pickle Dishes,	10c each.
Fruit Dishes,	15 and 20c each.
Goblets,	50 and 58c per doz.
Tumblers,	40c per doz.
Pie Plates,	3, 5 and 8c each.
Dover Egg Beater,	25c each.
Lemon Squeezers,	15c each.
Decorated Tiles,	25c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 8 qt.,	10c each.
Tin Dish Pan, 15 qt.,	15c each.

Want of space limits us in our quotations, but we have a store full of goods, and ask our friends and the public to give us a call ensuring them to always find us on the Square.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building.

W. H. HERVEY & CO.
$5.00 DOWN
AND $5.00 PER MONTH
Until paid are the Liberal terms which we offer to purchasers anywhere in the New England states on our
$40.00 PARLOR SUITS,
These Parlor Suits consist of seven pieces, viz: Sofa, Four Parlor Chairs Gent's Easy Chair, and Lady's Patent Rocker, covered with the best of haircloth or raw silk, with plain seats and fluted backs. The frames are blocked and doweled in the best manner, and are warranted kiln-dried walnut. The style is Queen Annie.
We shall have 75 Black Walnut Chamber Sets at $45, which we give purchasers
EIGHT MONTHS
TO PAY FOR ON
INSTALMENTS
These sets comprise ten pieces. They are the latest pattern, having a French Bureau, &c; are Handsomely Panelled with French Burl; are perfect in every respect; the Marble is the best Italian, and the Walnut is warranted kiln-dried. The regular price for similar sets asked by other dealers this season was $55.
Being desirous of meeting the wants of the public, we have purchased a number of Dressing Cases, which we are prepared to substitute for the French Bureau, when desired, at the same price.
Orders by mail for any goods in our stock promptly attended to anywhere in New England. Catalogue of Household goods and terms furnished upon application.
The attention of BARBERS is called to our new Pattern Cane-Seat Barber Chair, especially adapted for Summer Use, which we offer at the low price of $22. We also furnish MUGS, MUG RACKS, SINKS, COPPER BOILERS, MIRRORS, &c., on easy terms on instalments. Send for illustrated Price List and Terms.
W. H. HERVEY & CO.,
5--UNION STREET--5
Opposite Friend St. Boston.
Columbia, Harvard and Yale Bicycles sold on Instalments. Call and examine, or send 3-cent stamp for Illustrated Catalogue and Terms.
apr 6—6 m

METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO., OF NEW YORK.
WANTED, immediately, two respectable, steady, energetic men as Agents and Solicitors for the above-named company, for the districts of Salem, Peabody and Beverly.—Permanent situations offered to suitable men, with lucrative remuneration. Apply at the District Branch Office, Room 3, 71 Hubon Block, Washington street, Salem. Office hours, 8 to 9 A. M., 6 to 7 P. M.
aug 24—1m

FRUIT JARS. Mason's Fruit Jars, of all sizes, and Jelly Tumblers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front street, Salem.

TOILET WARE. New patterns of Toilet Ware just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furniturng store, 32 Front street, Salem.

$25. REWARD.

We will pay the above sum for the conviction of any parties defacing or destroying our advertisements upon the highway.
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL.

CLAM BAKE,
— AT THE —
LAFAYETTE HOUSE,
SALEM, MASS.,
Every Thur day,
Commencing July 28, 1881, from 3 to 8 P. M.
Clam Chowder: Baked Clams—old style heated rocks—Butter Dressing: Broiled Scrod, Fried Nippers, Baked Blue Fish with egg sauce, Clams fried in Crumbs, Lobster fried in Crumbs, French and Newport Fried Potatoes, Ice Cream, Fruit, &c.
75 CENTS PER PLATE.
SUNDAYS, 2 TO 8 P. M.
C. F. KELLEY, Proprietor.
jy 27—2m

BOSTON, REVERE BEACH AND LYNN
RAILROAD.
DEPOT IN BOSTON,
350 ATLANTIC AVE.
Ten miles along the Shore Front between Boston and Lynn; by Ferry across Boston Harbor to East Boston; thence by Rail, in full view of the Harbor, to Winthrop, Ocean Spray, Point Shirley, and Beachmont. Over the entire length of Revere Beach, stopping at Pavilion, Atlantic, and Oak Island Stations, to the finest Summer Resort on the coast, now known as Point of Pines.

SUMMER TIME TABLE.
JUNE 26TH, 1881.
Leave Boston at 7, 7 41, 8 15, 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 5 30, 6, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15, 11 15 P. M.
Leave Lynn at 6 10, 7, 7 30, 8, 8 30, 9, 10, 11 A.M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 05, 5 45, 6 30, 7 15, 8 15, 9 15, 10 15 P. M.
SUNDAY TRAINS.
Leave Boston at 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10 P. M.
Leave Lynn at 8. 9, 10, 11 A. M., 12 M., 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 P.M.
Atlantic Avenue Horse Cars to and from every Train at Boston.
JOHN A. FENNO, G. T. A. EDW. H. WHORF, Supt.

WHITE MOUNTAIN
EXCURSIONS,
VIA THE
Boston, Concord, Montreal and White Mountains Railroad.
The Only Route by which to reach Littleton, (Franconia,) Bethlehem, Twin Mountain, and Jefferson, early same afternoon,
WITHOUT CHANGE OF CARS.
THE ONLY ROUTE BY WHICH TO REACH THE PROFILE HOUSE WITH BUT ONE CHANGE OF CARS.
The Most Direct Route to all White Mountain Resorts.
Excursion Tickets now on sale at the Passenger Agency, No. 5 State street, Boston.

Boston to Laconia and return,	$5.00
Boston to Weirs and return,	5.50
Boston to Cen. Harbor & r'n, lim.,	4.00
Boston to Wolfboro & return, lim.,	4 00
Boston to Plymouth and return,	7.50
Boston to Lisbon and return,	9.75
Boston to Bethlehem and return,	10.50
Boston to Profile House and return,	13.50
Boston to Lancaster and return,	10.75
Boston to N. Stratford and return,	11.00
Boston to Littleton and return,	10.00
Boston to Fabyan and return,	11.00
Boston to Whitefield and return,	10.50
Boston to Jefferson and return,	11.00
Boston to Montpelier and return,	10.50

EXPRESS TRAINS leave Boston & Lowell Depot at 8.30 A. M. and 12 M., with Drawing Room Cars, which run direct to the Mountains without change. Full list of Excursions sent free by mail on application. Also White and Franconia Mountain Papers.
For tickets and information, also seats in Drawing Room cars, apply at
NO. 5 STATE STREET, BOSTON,
GEO. W. STORER, Agent.
W. R. BRACKETT, G. T. A.
aug 10 J. A. DODGE, Gen'l Manager.

SPREAD A LITTLE
MOTH POWDER
Around the edges of your carpets. It will save them from all moths and insects.
MOTH POWDER AND CAMPHOR
FOR SALE BY
WM. T. LEE, Apothecary,
126 MAIN ST., PEABODY.
mch 30—1yr

CARRIAGE VARNISHES. Fine Quality Carriage Varnishes, Elastic Gear, No. 1 Coach, Medium Body, Wearing Body and Hard Drying Body, put up in 2-quart cans and for sale at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

CREAM FREEZERS. A few Ice Cream Freezers left, for sale at reduced prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

MASURY'S COLORS. Masury's Fine Colors, ground in Japan and Oil. A full assortment just opened at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 32 Front street.

FLY TRAPS. Balloon Fly Traps and Wire Dish Covers, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

NEW TOILET WARE. A fine assortment of Toilet Ware, new patterns in all colors, at S.C.& E.A.SIMONDS', 32 Front Street.

BUSHBY & CO.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
COLTONS' SELECT FLAVORS,
BEST IN THE MARKET.
CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S
ENGLISH PICKLES.
RICHARDSON & ROBBINS'
BONED TURKEY & CHICKEN.
Also, HAM.
HUCKINS' SOUPS
— AND —
SANDWICHED MEATS.
FLOUR! FLOUR! FLOUR!
Having secured some of the
Choicest Brands,
of Flour in the market such as the
BRISTOL,
MIACOMET,
WORLD'S HAXALL,
Endicott's NEW PROCESS,
ROCKINGHAM, &c.
We are willing to sell them at the
LOWEST MARKET PRICES
—AND—
WARRANT EVERY BRAND.
BUSHBY & CO.,
76 MAIN STREET.

THE BEST is the CHEAPEST.
I am now prepared to sell the
"Light Running"
DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE
With all the improvements and attachments, at greatly reduced prices.
No. 2 Machine, with Drop Leaf, Cover, and Drawer, (for cash) $30.00.
No. 3 Machine, 3 Drawers, (for cash), $35.00.
No. 4 Machine, 5 Drawers, (for cash), $40.00.
These are our Cash Prices,
and, like, the Machine, can't be beat.
The Domestic is having an unprecedented sale, as its many superior points recommend it wherever it can have a trial.
Peabody Agency at
GOULDING'S
FURNITURE ROOMS,
Walnut Street, near Central.

DINING SALOON.
The undersigned would inform the citizens of Peabody and vicinity that he has fitted up a first-class dining saloon in
Hartnett's Block, Foster Street,
and secured the services of a first-class cook.
Meals Served at All Hours.
A share of public patronage solicited.
W. J. ROOME.
je 15—3m

STOCKBRIDGE MANURES.
MUNROE & ARNOLD,
Sole Agents for Peabody,
Have constantly on hand and for sale at Boston prices, all the different brands of FERTILIZERS,
manufactured by the
BOWKER FERTILIZER CO.
mch 30—6m

D. A. & F. H. CASKIN,
(SUCCESSORS TO J. O. WHITTEN),
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
FURNACES, RANGES,
PARLOR & COOKING STOVES
—AND—
TIN WARE.
Plumbing by Experienced Workmen.
Repairing of ALL KINDS promptly attended to.
Sole Agents in this town for Magee's Standard Ranges, (100,000 now in use) Parlor Stoves and Furnaces. These goods received the Medal of Honor and the highest awards at the Centennial, and for the past three years have taken the highest prizes at the New England Fairs.
Also agent for the Barstow Dome Furnace.
We call especial attention to our large and fine assortment of first class goods—second to none in Essex County.
D. A. & F. H. CASKIN
NO. 13 LOWELL STREET, PEABODY.

HORSE SHOEING.

The undersigned has secured the services of
MR. ISAAC NEAL,
well known to horse owners, both in Salem and Peabody, as an experienced and superior workmen. Particular attention is paid to horses that interfere or overreach. Satisfaction given or no pay.
JESSE H. SMITH,
RAILROAD AVENUE. je29—1yr.

Who does not like entertaining company?
"An always entertaining magazine"—
Hartford Courant.
GOOD COMPANY;
A MONTHLY MAGAZINE; FRESH, VARIED, VIGOROUS.
THREE DOLLARS A YEAR.
A new volume just beginning. Subscribe now.
A RARE CHANCE!
Twenty-four Numbers for Three Dollars and Seventy-five Cents.
Any one who sends three dollars for a year's subscription, beginning with the September number, to the office in Springfield, Mass., can by sending seventy-five cents additional, or three dollars and seventy-five cents in all, have the twelve numbers for the year past sent him; making with the twelve numbers for the year to come twenty-four in all. Regular Price, six dollars. Ask any one in whom you have confidence if this is not a rare chance. Besides a large number of short stories, these numbers for the past year contain
Three Serials.
1. A serial story by Ellen W. Olney, running through six numbers, entitled, "Rose and the Doctor."
"One of the very best stories we have read for years." "Is proving a charming and powerful story." "They are as real people in whom we feel a human interest." "Ellen W. Olney's captal serial."
2. A series of six articles by Lieutenant Schwatka, U. S. A., commander of the recent Franklin search expedition, about his own and other experiences and adventures in the Arctic regions.
"No magazine articles have appeared which are of more interest to us than the series of Polar Travels by Lieutenant Schwatka." "Extremely interesting." "Especially grasonable at this time when popular interest is freshly awakened by the departure of vessels in search of the exploring steamer Jeannette, whose fate is unknown." "At this time, when the spirit of Arctic adventure is once more thoroughly aroused, these articles come with adcitional interest."
3. A serial story in six instalments, published anonymously, entitled, "Mildred's Caprice."
"Opens remarkably well." "The story is powerfully told." "The strong story of 'Mildred's Caprice.'" "That excellent serial of 'Mildred's Caprice.'"
Among other contributors are included John Burroughs, Maurice Thompson, Edward Bellamy, H. E. Scudder, Geo. M. Towle, Ernest Ingersoll, T. S. Collier, President D. C. Gilman, B. F. De Costa, A. T. Bacon, Octave Thanet, Rebecca Harding Davis, Mrs. Gen. Lew Wallace, Mrs. Lizzie W. Champney, Katherine Carringeon, Louise Stockton, Saki Wakamatz, Elaine Goodale, Dora Read Goodale.
IF YOU HAVE NOT SEEN GOOD COMPANY send twenty-five cents to the office in Springfield, Mass., for the September number, having a capital story by Constance Fenimore Woolson; an attractive story of twenty pages by Ellen W. Olney; an article on the great Cotton Exposition to be held at Atlanta, by Edward Atkinson, its originator; besides much else of interest. ☞ If after examining this number you want to subscribe as above, you need send but three dollars and fifty cents to the Springfield, Mass., office. Elsewhere you pay four dollars; the regular price being six. ACT PROMPTLY. Address GOOD COMPANY, SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Real Estate.

ROOMS And POWER To-Let.
Inquire of J. S. FRYE, No. 90 Boston St., Salem. mar 2—tf

FOR SALE,
A bill against H. F. Lawrence, of two years' standing, for rent. Will be sold at a liberal discount. Call soon. ISAAC MUNROE.
apr 27 tf

LOOK AT THIS!
FOR SALE—A Currying Shop on Lowell street, Peabody, with all the necessary machinery for carrying on the currying business.
FOR SALE—One or two lots of land on School street, Peabody.
FOR SALE—A new house on Tremont street, Peabody. The rent may go towards paying for the house. Apply to CHAS. E. HOAG, je 1 Allen's Block, Peabody.

TO LET.
A tenement of six rooms, No. 24 Holten St Apply at No. 19 Lowell St.
aug 24 tf

EXTRA OATS.
One car load extra heavy clean White Oats, for sale in lots from car, by CHARLES A. ROPES, ese 27 41 to 47 Central St. Salem.

The Peabody Press.

VOL. 22. PEABODY, MASS., WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 28, 1881. NO. 40.

The Peabody Press.

THE TRAGEDY ENDED!

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn."

"Earth to Earth and Dust to Dust."

The Nation mourns while all the World sympathizes.

Our beautiful town has put on the emblems of sadness since the death of President Garfield. On Monday a Sunday quiet rested over all, business being generally suspended, while many business firms and residences floated the black and white woven together and entwined over windows and entrances, and the deep universal sorrow thus expressed is as deeply and generally felt in the patriotic hearts of our people.—Memorial services were held in the So. Church, where a large congregation gathered to hear warm tributes of regretful love and esteem fall from the lips of our clergy and citizens.

The decorations were in charge of a committee of ladies, Mrs. H. H. Proctor and others. They consisted of large festoons from the ceiling to the corner of the alcove, and along the sides of the gallery. The pipes of the organ were covered with black and white. In the center of the organ was a large picture of Gen. Garfield draped in mourning and trimmed with smilax and white flowers. Under the picture was hung a beautiful floral wreath three feet in diameter. The pulpit was handsomely draped with crape covered with smilax and Nephetos roses (a very rare and beautiful white rose, which, we learn, are not grown this side of Boston.) To the left was a most elegant basket of roses, pinks and fern leaves, also two vases of fine flowers. The flowers were from the extensive green-houses of Mr. J. M. Ward, on Endicott street.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the G. A. R., W. M. Ward, Commander, with almost full ranks, marched in and occupied seats that had been reserved for them, and the several clergymen of the town ascended to seats in the pulpit. This was followed by singing by the choir.—Rev. Mr. Hudson, of the Unitarian Church, said he had been selected to open the ceremonies and spoke briefly. He said we had come to join in the common mourning as citizens and friends; that each felt it his personal grief as if the loss was his own. The remotest outposts of civilization join with us in this most impressive mourning. That we feel that he was a friend to every one of us, and thus we come here and join in this service memorial, and also to lift our hearts in prayer for the new President, and to ask God's blessing. The lesson of life is taught in the great suffering of the late President, and the prayers that have been offered, if they shall have the effect of subduing men's passions, they will not have been unavailing.

Rev. Mr. Sperry, of the So. Church, then read a scriptural lesson, and Rev. Dr. Steele, of the Methodist Church, offered prayer. This was followed by singing by the choir and prayer by Rev. Mr. Harmon, of the Universalist Church. Hon. A. A. Abbott then addressed the congregation as follows:

In such a sorrow, my friends, as that which now overshadows us, how feeble and inadequate are any words we can speak, how almost like a mockery seems all human utterance. And yet the pent up feelings of the heart crave expression. As, when the loved ones of our own household are taken away, we find a sad relief in unbosoming our private sorrows, in talking of our dead, so now in this great public bereavement, when the illustrious head of the nation, the honored and beloved President, in whom our highest hopes were centered—whose rich manhood and noble character gave promise of such further exalted service to the Republic—when he is taken from us, though no words can measure our affliction, yet in our earnest longing for sympathy, in our yearning after comfort in the midst of gloom, the audible response of heart to heart, the spoken interchange of kindred thoughts, the public mingling of our griefs, may serve to relieve our burdened hearts, and lighten, if it cannot lift, the weight of sorrow which has bowed us down.

For, my friends, if my own feelings furnish any test, or if I have rightly measured the general sentiment, the death of President Garfield comes home to us all as much in the way of a personal bereavement as of a public loss. It is not alone the cultured scholar, the gallant soldier, the eloquent orator, the sagacious statesman, the wise and just ruler, whose death we deplore. And yet in this aspect how grievous is the loss! After a whole lifetime of severe training for governmental duty, fully equipped and armed at all points, he was just entering upon the last grand summit of his high career. I would not, in this solemn hour, when all partisan feelings are hushed, and men of widely varying political sentiments are united as brethren in a common grief, I would not breathe one word which could wound the most sensitive nature; and yet may I not truthfully say, that when President Garfield was inaugurated, those who had opposed united with those who had espoused his election in high and hopeful anticipations, and good men of all parties and all over the Union felt that we had now at the head of affairs one who would rule in righteousness, and that under his guidance the country would rejoice in an unexampled and beneficent era of prosperity and peace.

But, sad as is the loss of this great ruler, the quenching of that splendid intellect, that trained statesmanship, that boundless knowledge of and matchless capacity for the highest affairs, in this hour when death levels all distinctions and brings us to see the realities of things, it is the good man, the dutiful son, the loving husband and father, the patriot citizen, the noble christian gentleman, true to himself, his God, his country and his race, whose loss we mourn most sadly, whose untimely death we the most deeply deplore.

"One touch of Nature makes the whole world kin," and when, on that fourth of March, under the shadow of the Capitol, he who had reached the highest prize in the aspirations of human ambition, having sworn in the presence of God and countless thousands of witnesses to govern a great nation wisely and well, poured forth in words of matchless eloquence his lofty aims and exalted purposes, and then, turning from the glittering throng, tenderly kissed his aged mother and his faithful wife, at this touching manifestation of gentleness and nobility, all hearts were melted, the bitterness of party strife was assuaged, and men felt that here at last was a true man, good as he was great, to be trusted and honored, loved and revered.

Those high moral qualities, fostered by religious training, strengthened in the hard school of poverty and toil, undimmed by prosperity, that sincerity of purpose, that devotion to duty, whether on the perilous edge of battle or in the storms of high debate, that earnest desire to do right, that unswerving rectitude, that manliness of conduct, that knightly honor which felt a stain like a wound, that fortitude, and patience, and gentleness, and love, and Christian faith and hope, it is these that have won our hearts, and the loving regards of all mankind. It is these that brought to his suffering bedside the millions who counted the beatings of his pulse, who watched his labored breathings as they came and went, who would fain have smoothed with soft caress his fevered brow, who, through all that long struggle of life with death, trembled between hope and fear, and who, when the worn spirit had fled, felt as if they had been bereft of one of their own dear ones, of a father and a friend,—and strong men unused to tears wept in the streets, and women sat down in their homes buried in grief, and even thoughtless childhood in sadness grew grave.

And what but these high traits is it that makes all Christendom mourners to-day at his funeral,—that from court and camp, from city and hamlet, from the seats of commerce and the marts of trade, from the church and the forum, from schools of science and academic halls, from kings and princes and popes and emperors, from the lowly homes of honest poverty and toil, brings offerings to his bier? Scholars as learned, soldiers as brave, statesmen as accomplished, rulers as wise, have passed away, and had their proper meed of praise; but in all the world's history was there ever such a tribute as this? It is the universal recognition of the noblest example of manhood—it is the world's spontaneous acknowledgment of the transcendent merit of "Character, which," as has been truly said, "is, after all, the main thing, the most precious possession, the surest power, the noblest legacy, the most enduring fame."

My friends, while we are gathered here, far away in a western city, by an inland sea, on a green hill-side which overlooks the sparkling waters, in view of the scenes of his youthful struggles and of the splendid triumphs of his manhood, pious hands are committing to their final resting-place on earth the mortal remains of our departed ruler. The poor old mother tottering to the grave of her darling son, who, but for the inscrutable providence of God, would ere long have performed for her the last sad offices of filial love,—the widowed wife, the chosen joy of his youth, the comfort and solace and gentle guide in all his trials and of all his years,—the orphaned children, over whom his heart so fondly yearned, but who have yet to learn, as the shadows of life lengthen, the full depth of their affliction,—the neighbors among whom his days at home were spent, and who were bound to him by a thousand ties,—the trusted friends, the faithful few, "whose adoption he had tried and grappled to his soul with hooks of steel,"—the heads of government and pillars of the state, the old scarred heroes of many a battle on land and on sea,—all these, with a countless throng, are now joining in the solemn rites of a christian burial, are thanking God for the priceless gift of this illustrious life and example, and praying that, through the redeeming grace which robbed death of its sting and the grave of its victory, this death may be sanctified to the stricken mourners and blessed to the sorrowing nation.

Let us, my friends, in trusting faith in that Divine will and wisdom which cannot err, let us fervently join in this prayer, and so leave our martyred President to his last repose:

"God rest his gallant spirit: give him peace,
And crown his brows with amaranth, and set
The saintly palm branch in his strong right hand;
Amid the conquering armies of the skies
Give him high place forever. Let him walk
O'er meads of blooming asphodel, and be
Where dwell the single-hearted and the wise,
Men like himself, severely, simply good,
Who * * * *
* * * stood sublime
In natural greatness. O Eternal King!
O Father, Son and Spirit, give him peace!"

Mr. J. K. Cole, principal of the Center school, then said: What we say here will not be long remembered, but his fame will always endure. After listening to the touching words of the gentleman who has spoken before me, I will only refer to the lesson of home life to be obtained by the example set us by this illustrious man. As a Teacher generous, successful and beloved; as a General, patriotic and ever ready to lay down his life; as a Statesman, no less brave and conscientious; as a President, honored and beloved, equaled only by the lamented Lincoln and the immortal Washington. But I would call your attention to a holy phase in his life—his love for his family. Here the speaker alluded to the touching scene after his inauguration, when he turned and kissed his aged mother and devoted wife. It would seem that the man must have been inspired almost to this, as it directed the attention of the whole country to the family. There is not one here whose sympathy will not go out to that family, with whom we have been brought in daily contact; as we have watched with the living wife beside that bed of pain, what noble examples of patience and forbearance have we been permitted to see! May we not, as citizens and parents, turn our attention to our families and profit by this example, and follow in the footsteps of the late President in this our home life. Mr. Cole spoke of his residence of three years in the South, and read extracts of sympathy with the late President from Southern papers, and expressed the opinion that such feelings would make us more charitable toward each other, till, finally, we shall know no North and no South, but join hearts and hands for God and our country's sake.

Mr. Amos Merrill followed. He could add but little after the eloquent words of praise from the gentlemen who had preceded him, upon the life of Gen. Garfield as a President, Statesman and General. Never in the history of the world was there ever such universal mourning as this. He would call attention to a thought concerning the future. Why is it that this crisis in nations must be had? He then reviewed the different crises which have befallen the country, as the striking down of Charles Sumner, the emancipation of slaves, the death of President Lincoln and our own great loss. He spoke of politicians and bad men whose ambition carries them on till a crisis in a nation's affairs like this checks their career. What shall be the end? he asked. Men actuated by higher motives are called to unite these discordant elements of envy, strife and contention, which have brought about this mourning. In his death may we not find results for good, and great good come to this nation, by a higher state of public policy and man's being more faithful to his trusts? If this result be reached, though terrible be the sacrifice, if the silvery lining to this cloud be to lift the nation to a higher plane, who shall say the result was not for the best interests of the country?

Representative Henry Wardwell then said: One observent of this nation's history must see that what man proposes, God disposes. The speaker referred to the election of Lincoln, the abolition of slavery and his tragic death as showing God's purposes throughout. He said the nation had the greatest expectations in Gen. Garfield. All this ability and greatness was swept away by the wretch who had committed this foul deed; yet his was the gain and the nation's infinite gain, for by this his name is glorified to the world and to the nation; may it not soften party animosity, and discontent be numbered with the things of the past. The terrible ordeal through which the country has passed, if its awful lessons are heeded, will enable the country to enter upon a higher career and reach a prouder destiny.—And his name now stands with that of Washington, and with that of Lincoln among the martyrs of the Republic.

These remarks were followed by singing by the choir and prayer by Rev. Geo. Walker of the Episcopal Church. The exercises were closed by the congregation joining with the choir in singing, "Nearer, my God, to Thee."

All over town our citizens gave evidence of their sympathy by draping their houses in mourning, displaying flags at half-mast, and other indications of the sorrow felt.

Mr. W. Winslow's store windows were tastily arranged with folds of black and white, with a picture of Garfield tipped back against a black pillow with a dish of flowers on top, while at the bottom was the words, "Help this Nation that is to-day bleeding and bowed before Thee."

Gould & Stockwell's windows looked pretty with a picture of Garfield in each and black and white goods tastily arranged.

The offices in Allen's Block were adorned with appropriate mourning. O. B. Chadwick & Co. draped his office with black and white with a picture of Garfield.

Chas. E. Hoag had shields on either side with the words, "A Nation in Mourning," and "The world in sympathy," besides a picture of Garfield, etc.

Geo. C. Prescott displayed a picture in very deep mourning in the window, while the outside was festooned.

The Columbia Associates exhibited pictures of Garfield and Lincoln and the words, "The world sympathizes while Columbia weeps." The front of the building and the part occupied by Mr. Trask was festooned.

Batchelder & Co.'s window displayed portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield and draped G. A. R. flags, with a black and white background.

Geo. W. Potter & Co. had a picture of Garfield with the frame trimmed with smilax.

Sanger, Hood & Co. had two fine portraits of Gen. Garfield neatly arranged.

The Warren National Bank displayed a picture of Gen. Garfield, draped in mourning, with ivy leaves entwined about the frame, and a wreath of the same in front. The whole was surrounded by a large American flag with a background of black and white.

Starr C. Hewitt & Co., in the same building, had a picture of Garfield in each window with appropriate mourning, with the words, "Our President is dead," and "God reigns, and the Government at Washington still lives."—The outside of the buildidng was festooned.

Nathaniel Simond's store was very appropriately decorated, as was also the outside and the rooms of the Father Matthew C. T. A. Society, which were festooned and displayed a picture of Gen. Garfield.

Mr. B. F. Hutchinson neatly trimmed his store on the outside.

Mr. C. K. Mallard, Mrs. J. Summers, Chas. H. Collins, Mr. B. F. Stevens, Mr. A. H. Whidden, Mr. John Pickering, Mr. John Tibbetts, Nugent Bros., S. Southwick, J. J. Heylingberg, S. Donnell & Son, Ira Pray and the PRESS office, displayed pictures of Gen. Garfield and other decorations. The new monument and the post-office were also neatly trimmed.

On Central street, Mr. C. K. Hutchinson displayed a portrait of the late President, with the American flag and other decorations.

Mr. H. M. Osborn's store windows were neatly arranged with flags and black and white goods, while in one was a picture of Gen. Garfield and in the other the martyr Lincoln.

Under the eagle that has graced the Torrent Engine House for many years was hung a portrait of Garfield with the flags above and mourning goods displayed.

On Tremont street, Mr. A. J. Hubbard's residence was decorated with the stars and stripes and a picture of Garfield with the motto, "The Nation mourns the loss of her President."

On Wallis street, M. Sam'l Goldthwaite displayed a picture of Garfield surrounded with flags.

John E. Clement & Co. had the large sign on their machine shop entirely covered with black and white neatly arranged, with a picture of Garfield in the center.

Down Main street, Dr. Geo. Osborne displayed a large American flag draped in mourning.

Mr. C. A. Thomas displayed a picture of Garfield, and had the front of his residence festooned.

Mr. S. A. Osborne's house was festooned and a picture of Garfield and draped flags displayed, besides the words, "The Nation mourns the loss of her President."

Mr. Geo. F. Haskell's building was festooned, and a picture of Garfield exhibited.

Miss Annie Hacket had her window neatly arranged with a picture of Garfield heavily draped.

Mr. William G. Dix displayed a picture of Gen. Garfield in a fine gilt frame, with a profusion of ferns and flowers and a vase of pampas grass at each side.

D. P. Grosvenor, Jr.'s, window furnished an excellent display, and we think the best. There was a picture of Gen. Garfield, and at the base was the Masonic compass and square and a dish of handsome cut flowers, while the rest of the window was filled with begonias in small pots. Above the portrait of the late President was a fine one of Mrs. Garfield; the frames of both were trimmed with smilax, while a pure white dove was suspended over all.—This and the white back ground made a beautiful contrast.

The window of the Boston Dry Goods Store was neatly draped and a fine portrait of Gen. Garfield was displayed.

Sutton's Block formed an excellent display. Mr. John S. Toby exhibited a picture of Garfield surrounded by small flags.

Fernald & Sawyer's windows were strikingly arrayed, both in the dry goods and millinery stores. In the former one window was decorated with black and white goods with a picture of Gen. Garfield, while the flags in the back ground made a pleasing contrast. The other window had a back ground of black and white laces, while a very pretty effect was produced by alternating spools of black and white cotton.—At the millinery store mourning goods were displayed with a picture of Garfield in each window, where also had been placed such goods as were of appropriate color.

Mr. Charles E. Teague arranged his windows very neatly by alternating boots and shoes, etc., of different colors, and having his windows draped in mourning, while a picture of Garfield, with the Masonic square and compass above, completed the design.

S. W. King's windows were arranged very prettily with black and white goods. A portrait of Garfield with the figures 1881, and above it a portrait of Lincoln with the figures 1865, and the appropriate words, "Gone home" were displayed.

Above these was the G. A. R. room festooned in a tasteful manner with a picture of Gen. Garfield draped in mourning.

The entrance to the Institute was draped in mourning, and displayed a picture of Garfield, and another representing England and America weeping.

Mr. Wm. H. Little displayed a large flag draped in mourning, with a cross at the end of the staff, while over the front entrance was a picture of Garfield amidst a profusion of flowers and ferns.

Joseph Osborn had a picture of Garfield and one of Lincoln in different windows with appropriate backgrounds.

At Bushby & Co.'s both windows and the entrance were freely arrayed with mourning goods, while a picture and American flag were appropriately arranged.

The window at Power's store was draped neatly, and a picture of Garfield displayed, while in the background were the words, "Rest in peace."

The South Danvers National Bank Building was festooned very nicely. In the center was a picture of Gen. Garfield enclosed in a sort of frame of red, white and blue, with black on the outside.

The morocco shop of Mr. C. Leonard Pierce presented a picture of Garfield, while in each window was alternated black and white at every pane. This was quite a novel display.

Mr. W. T. Lee's windows and door were draped in mourning, as was W. O. Batchelder, who also displayed a picture of Garfield.

The office of Pinder & Winchester was trimmed with mourning goods neatly scalloped, and a fine picture of Garfield was exhibited.

Arthur Poole presented a draped flag.

The Volunteer Engine House was festooned with black and white with a picture of Garfield in the center, and the flag on the staff was at half-mast.

Mr. A. A. Abbott, on Washington street, displayed a fine picture of Gen. Garfield in a deep gilt frame tastily entwined by flags and flowers.

Over the front entrance, Mr. John Pinder presented a portrait of Gen. Garfield, besides a display of flags.

Mrs. I. C. Thatcher exhibited a picture of Garfield and a neatly arranged window, as did also her neighbors at the residence of the late David Daniels.

Mr. John Osborn's windows showed the result of careful and tasty adornment. A portrait of Garfield with the frame trimmed with smilax, etc., was very pretty.

Mrs. W. N. Lord displayed a picture of Gen. Garfield with flags, etc., neatly arranged.

Mr. John Berry presented draped portraits of Garfield and Lincoln, our two martyrs.

Mr. Andrew Torr had a portrait of Garfield in a window draped in mourning.

John B. Reith displayed a fine flag heavily draped.

Wm. Hayes had the front of the Washington House festooned and a picture of Garfield, and the words, "U. S. America."

The George Peabody homestead, occupied by Mr. Edw. D. Trask, was becomingly festooned and a picture of Garfield displayed.

The S. C. Bancroft Engine House on Lynn street, was neatly trimmed and the flag placed at half-mast.

The residences of Messrs. Alonzo Raddin, Edward E. Taylor Perley Galeucia, George Parker, and the post-office, were appropriately decorated.

The residence of John Newhall exhibited a picture of Garfield, with small flags in mourning and the front festooned with black and white drapings.

One of the prettiest displays was at the residence of Mr. Henry Farnham on Aborn street. The window was draped with black and white, with a picture of Garfield in the rear, while on all sides were flowers and ferns. In the center of the window was a large letter G, made of beautiful white flowers.

Mr. L. Stiles displayed on his piazza a table of flowers in the midst of which was Garfield's picture and the words, "We mourn our nation's loss."

On Foster street, Mr. Chas. Putnam's window was arranged with black and white drapings and the American flag for a back-ground, and a picture of Garfield with bouquets at the side.

The Atlantic Base Ball Club had the front of the building trimmed, and the pictures of Garfield and Lincoln exhibited.

The rooms of the A. H. B. A. had the front of Hartnett Block festooned, a green flag and the words "The Nation mourns the loss of her President."

Mr. Cragin's boarding house displayed a picture of Garfield and had the front of the building trimmed.

Mr. R. G. Nelson on Chestnut street, had one window nicely arranged with flags and drapings, and displayed a fine portrait of Gen. Garfield.

The brick engine house on Lowell street, was very elaborately festooned. In the center was a picture of Garfield draped with flags, and under it was the word "Rest."

Mr. Arthur Elliott on Kosciusko street, displayed a flag at half-mast with the staff covered. He also had a picture of Garfield, draped, in the window.

Mr. Wm. F. Wiley displayed a flag at half-mast.

D. A. Lane had his window draped and a picture of Garfield displayed.

Mr. Stephen Fernald, on Franklin street, had his house trimmed with mourning goods and displayed a portrait of Gen. Garfield.

At a special meeting of Union Post 50, G.A.R., held last Friday evening, the following resolutions were presented by George Randall and unanimously adopted:

In this dark hour of our national history when a great common sorrow presses heavily upon a whole people, we feel how vain are words to express the feelings of our hearts. Yet wishing to place upon record our tribute of respect to the memory of our illustrious deceased comrade, James A. Garfield, late President of the United States.

Therefore, Resolved, That this Post joins heartily in the various tokens of commendation and of regret, expressed by organizations of every character, by citizens in private and official station and by almost every country with which our own has relations.

Resolved, That as comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic we mourn the loss of a gallant general and brave soldier; as citizens we deplore the dastardly taking off of a faithful public servant, a useful statesman, and the honored chosen head of our beloved country; as men we shall hold in grateful remembrance, the fortitude and manly traits exhibited by our lamented comrade.

Resolved, That we commend to the youth of our country to study the life and example of James A. Garfield and hope that the lessons of this solemn period may teach us all how to assuage the bitterness of political strife, to cultivate a more genuine respect for honest differences of opinion, to work more unitedly for good government, for public welfare and tranquility, and for the cause of freedom and humanity so well served by the dead hero, the conscientious statesman and Christian gentleman.

Resolved, That our sympathy is extended to the bereaved wife whose faithful care and hopeful spirit, watched by a whole nation, has excited their tender interest and approval, and to the family bereft of a loving father and to his aged mother, who sees her son fallen like a great tower, assuring them that the nation, whose fitting representative he was, will do what human aid can do to mitigate their loss.

"Follow now as ye list—the first mourner to-day
Is the Nation—whose Father is taken away.
Wife, children and neighbor may moan at his knell,
He was lover and friend to his country as well.
For the stars in our banner grown suddenly dim,
Let us weep, in our darkness—but weep not for him.
Not for him—whose departing leaves millions in tears,
Not for him—who is stricken in full strength of years.
Not for him—who ascended fame's ladder so nigh,
From the round at the top he has stepped to the sky;
It is blessed to go when so ready to die."

W. M. WARD, Commander.
W. H. HILDRETH, Adjutant.

Poet's Corner.

(From the Fireside Favorite.)

"Yellow Tuesday." 1881.

BY LYDIA DAVIS THOMSON.

A stillness undescribed reigns everywhere,
And mother earth scarce breathes, so dense the air;
In strange, prophetic tones crows chantileer,
And every sound falls weird-like on the ear;
The crickets keep their mournful monotone,
As if the night for them had longer grown.
'Tis like the night, and yet unlike the night,
While over all there hangs a nameless light
That tinges all things with its amber shine,
And lends a grandeur one cannot define.
Is it the final day when all must meet
In one great throng before the judgment seat?
Or are the planets, in unseen display,
Holding above the clouds a festal day?
Vain are the queries we each other ask,
In vain we seek the riddle to unmask.
Can aught in science, lore, to us disclose
The deep unravelled mystery that grows
Deeper and deeper with passing hours,
And stills the song of bird and breath of flowers,
And makes, us all, whatever be our race,
One brotherhood as we meet face to face.
Can all the knowledge that sage men do teach
Into the depths that keep the secret reach?
Can artist's pencil e'er the scene portray?
Could canvas hold the glories of this day
So like the poet's best, unwritten song,
For language all too deep and sweet and strong.

ONE MORE—ONE LESS.

Ten little cigarettes in a wrapper fine,
The small boy samples them, and then there are nine.

Nine little cigarettes quickly one by one
Get their work in on the youth, and then there are none.

Four bearded doctor's sitting 'round the bed,
Each with a diff'rent shake of his learned head.

Three big diseases waiting to destroy,
All bearing Latin names as long as the boy.

Two undertakers, gratitude in eye,
Bow low to the doctors as they pass 'em by.

One little funeral to the graveyard tore.
One little smoker less—one angel more.
—Phila. Times.

Selected Story.

JUST FOR A LARK.

A large, light, airy trimming hall in the straw works of Cushing & Co., Milford, Massachusetts, where fifty nimble-fingered girls sat trimming hats in black, white and fancy straws, which are piled up before each on the long, low desks.

Half of the girls are natives of Milford. Pretty, ladylike and well-dressed, they have little of the air and manner of the traditional shop girl. Most of them have pleasant homes, but prefer to earn their own spending money.

Lottie Richards, a high-school graduate six months ago, pretty, piquant and mischief-loving, comes from the office with a dozen dainty white lace hats labelled "Artist," and takes her seat among the clique of which she is an important factor.

"Aren't these lovely, nobby, something like artist's hats? Those rough and ready ones in yellow and brown straw that we trimmed yesterday were horrors. I should think they would give an artist the nightmare to look at them, much less to wear them."

"Oh, my! they are too sweet for anything!" exclaimed Eva Moore, perching one on her brown head. "The artist who wears this one ought to be tall and handsome, with long flowing hair, soft dreamy eyes, a love of a moustache and white slender hands."

"If he's much of an artist he'll have hard work to keep them white," laughed Julia Banks, who had dabbled some in crayon and water colors.

"Mr. Harley was just such a person," said Lottie, "You know I told you of him when I came back from Old Orchard last summer. I never could bear him, he was such a foppish, conceited thing."

"Wouldn't it be funny if you should meet one of these hats down there this summer," laughed Julia.

"You ought to put a private mark on some of them, so if ever you saw one you could claim it," suggested Ella.

"And its owner too," supplemented Julia.

"Tell me something to put on and I declare I'll do it," Lottie said, entering fairly into the sport of the thing.

"Write something and put it inside the lining," suggested Dora Swift.

"Yes, do, do!" chorused the rest.

"Splendid, girls? What shall it be?" exclaimed Lottie, as she adjusted the purple satin tip which bore 'Artist' in golden capitals, and commenced sewing down the soft silk lining.

"Poetry," said Ella.

"Say that you want the owner of the hat for a husband, and sign your name to it," said Dora Swift with girlish audacity.

"Yes, do," exclaimed the others. "You may lay the foundation of a capital adventure."

"I will," said Lottie, the spirit of mischief taking possession of her. On a small square of white paper she wrote in pencil:

"If the owner hereafter of this hat is good-looking, agreeable, intellectual, and has small hands and feet, the trimmer of said hat, Lottie Richards, would like to have him for a husband.

L. R., M.——, Mass."

"There, girls,' as it has passed round from one to another, "that is rather strong, I think, but here goes," Lottie said gaily, as after blanding her hat she laid the paper smoothly between the satin tip and the crown and sewed down the lining neatly.

"You must do that one extra nice," said Ella.

"Yes, your destiny will hang upon that hat," said Dora, in mock, solemn tones.

"I hope I'll have some fun out of it, anyway," said Lottie. If I get into trouble it will be your fault, girls, for I should never have thought of it but for you."

"What trouble can you get in?" asked Ella, arching her eyebrows.

"She has given her address, and perhaps he'll come here to find her," said Dora.

"Wouldn't it be fun if he should!" exclaimed Julia, "But how is any one to find it, hid away in there?"

"Oh, we must trust to luck for the lining to get torn out in some way," laughed Ella.

The little matter settled, the girls hurried to make up for lost time. Lottie's nimble fingers flew faster, and a dainty flush stole into her fair cheek as the thought of little flatteries and compliments of which she was the recipient last summer, and how she must earn lots of money to make herself look pretty the coming season in the eyes of the summer guests who boarded in her Aunt's cosy home at Old Orchard.

We give an extract from a letter written by Lottie to Ella three months later:

"Don't you think, Ella, a gentleman came yesterday and took aunt's front chamber, two flights up; and if he didn't come out to-day in a white lace hat just like those we trimmed last spring—even to the purple satin tips and pink lining? My fingers are itching to get it; but of course it's absurd to think that, among the thousands of hats sold, he should buy the one with my silly note in it. He has the keenest pair of blue eyes I ever saw—not a bit dreamy, like the ideal artist who was to wear it, and he's awfully old—thirty at least; so, of course I couldn't fall in love with him. Aunt thinks he's handsome. I don't. He goes sketching every day, and has some lovely pictures in his room.'

* * * * * *

"Well, how do you like them?"

Lottie darted a startled, guilty glance at Carl Clayton as he came softly up the carpeted stairway and caught her standing peeping through the half-open door at the pictures placed around the room in different positions on all sides. Bold, marine sketches, most of them, green, white-capped waves, amid which fearless bathers plunged, dark tempests and tossing ships, golden sunsets over a mirror-like sea.

"You need not feel so shy," he said, giving a keen glance from beneath the shadow of that Artist hat that had been tormenting her for weeks. "I like to have my sketches admired. Please step inside; I have a particular one to show you."

Lottie followed him shyly as he threw the door wide open, but somehow she could not meet the keen, blue eyes that always made the heart flutter, why she do not understand. From a remote corner he took a large mounted canvas and held it before her a moment, with his eyes fixed upon her face, then turned it round suddenly. There was her own face, sweet and lovely, with the brown hair rippling over the soft oval cheek.

The dainty flush deepened until a crimson tide overspread her face.—The first swift glance of her soft brown eyes made Carl Clayton's heart leap with delight. Her face was a study.

"Oh, Mr. Clayton!" she faltered, in sweet, girlish confusion. "I—I—did not think you—you had painted me."

"But I have, you see." Then their eyes met a moment, but something in his made her want to get away from him. She murmured something about her aunt wanting her, and stole off to her room.

"What a little fool I am! How my cheeks burn, and my heart is all in a flutter," she thought. "I wonder how he came to paint my picture. I wonder if I ever looked as well as that," glancing in the mirror, which gave an affirmative answer.

"A shy little bird after all," Clayton thought, as he put away the picture, "but I'll cage her yet."

But he did not find it so easy a matter. He asked her to walk with him, but she made some pretext for refusing. She made a point of evading him everywhere, and never again ventured near the door.

He watched his chance one day when she went out for a lonely ramble along the shore. She grew tired after a while and climbed to a seat on some rocks where she could look out on the billowy waters, reflecting the afternoon sunlight. He had followed at a safe distance, and now came upon her suddenly.

"Why, Mr. Clayton!" she said in surprise, rising to her feet, while the blood rushed to her face.

He placed his hand on her shoulder and gently forced her back to her seat taking his place by her side.

"What makes you avoid me, Lottie?" He put his hand beneath her chin and compelled her eyes to meet his only for a moment. They travelled up to the brim of the artist's hat, then fluttered and fell again.

"Lottie, I love you. Won't you be my little wife?" in a tone that sent a thousand edding pulsations over her.

But who of womankind is too unsophisticated for coquetry? It comes by intuition to all of Eve's daughters.

She lifted her eyes to his, brimful of laughter. "I do not love you," she said, and snatching her hand away from his she sprang off the rock and was away before he could recover from his surprise.

Before long he followed the same path home with a curious expression in his deep handsome eyes.

She did appear at the table until he had left it, for the next two days. On the third afternoon as he was stepping down the front stairway, he caught a glimpse of her gliding into the cold, darkened parlor. The house was very quiet. Ten minutes later he opened the door softly and closed it after him. She started up from the sofa with a little cry as she saw who had cornered her.

He sat down beside her and took both her hands in his with a firm clasp. Lottie tried to free them, but she felt her strength going. She began to realize that she was to be mastered at last.

He waited till she was quiet, and then said: "Lottie, I want an answer to the question I asked you three days ago."

"Didn't I answer you?" she asked, making a last effort to be heroic, though there was a suspicious tremor in her voice.

"You don't mean it!"

"I did," she persisted.

"Be careful; don't prevaricate. Didn't you write to me that you wanted me for a husband?"

The sudden glance, half ashamed, half audacious, wholly surprised, that she flashed upon him was laughable.

He drew a paper from his vest pocket and unfolded it. Sure enough, there was her note turning up as unexpectedly as a lucky lottery ticket.

"Didn't you write this?"

"Yes, but I put in an 'if,' didn't I?" she asked, archly, "If he is good looking and agreeable, etc."

"Well, don't I answer the description!" he asked, quizzically.

She looked up at him. He caught the gleam of a tender love light in her eyes struggling with the coquettish mischief that sparkled there. Without another word he drew her within his arms and kissed her lips.

The action sealed her fate. She had fought bravely against his strong magnetic influence from the first, but he had conquered her.

"How did you happen to find the paper?" she asked softly.

"I was examining the hat rather closely and detected it through the lace."

"Didn't you think it was a very bold thing to do?" she questioned, hiding her head against his breast.

"I knew it was a girlish freak. I did not feel sure you and the writer were identical until I asked your aunt if you trimmed hats in M. I came here to study the ocean and its various moods, but the discovery of the note led me to study the face of the girl who had done such an audacious thing," he concluded drawing her closer to him.

* * * * * *

"I thought he was awfully old and not a bit handsome," said Ella when Lottie paid a visit to her companions.

"I think he is just perfect," said Lottie, "but I tried awfully hard at first to keep from loving him."

"Didn't I suggest that your destiny might hang upon that hat?" said Dora.

"It was so funny that he got it, wasn't it?" remarked Julia.

And Lottie thought it was.

Miscellaneous.

LOVE MAKING IN CHICAGO.—I am very rich, my darling," she said softly, punctuating her sentences with soft, warm kisses. "Already I have $100,000 worth of 4 per cent registered in my name, and when the leaves are turning red in the golden October days, and the fields are laughing in the rich abundance of a bountiful harvest, I shall cut off the coupons, And when papa dies he will leave me nearly $200,000 more. Yes, my sweetheart, I am a very handy girl." and a fair young head nestled confidingly on the shoulder of the strong-limbed, hazel-eyed young man to whom this avowal was made. He looked tenderly down at the brown tresses and the invisible net that bound them to the fair forehead. Gently lifting the beautiful face to his, he pressed a passionate kiss on the full red lips, that seemed only made for osculation.

Turning his head away, Herbert Ainsleigh appeared for a moment to be wrapped in thought. Then kissing Miriam with a rich, warm, two-for-a-quarter kiss, he said: "Do you love me, birdie."

She gave answer by placing her white arms around his neck, and throwing herself madly on his shirt front.

"Do not hug so hard, when you love me, or my collar stud will raise a carbuncle on the back of my neck," he said in low melodious tones.

"It is only the deep, passionate longing of my love, Herbert. It recks not of carbuncles. But you are right. Too much pressure on the cervical vertebra will cause an exostosis. My professor of anatomy told me that."

"And we will be married in the fall, my sweet.'

'Yes, Herbert, in the rich, lazy sensuos days of Indian summer, when the low note of the farmer's boy seeking the lost cow is heard as he sits on the vine embowered stile and blasphemes until the firefly leaves for a cooler spot. You must take all my money, Herbert; it must be yours to do as you will with it; to attain the glorious fame that awaits you, for I know that my love's name will some day be known through the length and breadth of the land. Surely you have an ambition?'

'I have,' cried Herbert, kissing her while she caught her breath.

'And you will not let any false pride stand in the way of using my money to attain the height you fain would reach?'

"No, darling, I will not. You say you have $100,000 in 4 per cents. It is enough. To-morrow I will act, and in less than a day my name will be as familiar throughout the world as that of England's proud Queen."

"Oh, Herbert, what will you do?"

"I shall purchase Maud S."

* * * * * *

Two minutes later a human form fell with a dull thud on the front porch of the haughty porkpacker's residence. It was Herbert Ainsleigh. The old man had fired him out.—Chicago Tribune.

FRANK LESLIE'S POPULAR MONTHLY.—The title of this magazine is very appropriate, and it well deserves its vast popularity, for as regards merit, it is not exceeded by any of its higher priced contemporaries in this country and Europe. The number for October is an exceedingly brilliant one; the leading article by Mr. Nugent Robinson, entitled, "Annapolis Naval Academy," gives a most interesting account of that institution, and fourteen admirable illustrations greatly increase the interest. The articles are profusely illustrated. The department of fiction contains a continuation of Frank Lee Benedict's great serial, "A Late Remorse," and short stories of great merit by Mrs. M. A. Denison and other talented writers. The number contains 128 quarto pages of first-class literature, and over 100 fine illustrations, together with a beautiful colored frontispiece. Address, FRANK LESLIE, Publisher, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

THE ART AMATEUR for September gives an unusual profusion of designs for china painting, embroidery and other art-work, including a plaque—"House Sparrows"—by Camille Piton, and charming series of birthday cards by Geo. R. Halm. The articles on "Landscape Painting in Oil Colors," "About Colors in China Painting" and "The Embroidery Frame," are also of special practical value, and the editorial "Hints to Novices in Picture Buying" are alone worth the price of the number. "Shirley Dare" furnishes a delightful "Study for a Country Home," and Clarence Cook criticises Director Di Cesnola of the Metropolitan Museum most unsparingly. Among the other striking illustrations are some decorative designs by Walter Crane; a German "Ideal Kitchen," and a page of inimitable cats by L. E. Lambert. Price, $4 a year; 35 cents a number. Montague Marks, Publisher, 23 Union Square, New York.

The October number of the International Review opens with a very able article upon "The Treasury and the Banks," by Mr. H. W. Richardson, editor of the Portland Advertiser. Mr. Wm. Myall contributes a critical and biographical essay upon "John Wesley." The author of the best recent book upon Carlyle, Mr. Edward D. Mead, is entirely at home in a scholarly essay upon "Immanual Kant," and a third biographical article is "Roscoe Conkling," by Mr. F. W. Whitridge. Mr. Wm. E. Boggs, of Atlanta, Ga., replies to an article recently published in this Review upon "The Solid South," by Mr. Edward Atkinson, and Mr. Walter H. Page, in "The Southern Educational Problem," shows how far behind Northern ideas education has been at the South, but suggests better prospects for the future. The number, as a whole, is above the average in solid and enduring qualities, as well as discussion of matters of present interest. A. S. BARNES & Co., Publishers, New York.

The contents of the North American Review for October cannot fail to arrest the attention of all readers. Every one of the topics discussed is of the highest present interest, and nearly all of the authors are eminent American Statesmen, publicists and literateurs. Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, considers "Some Dangerous Questions." Prof. Geo. P. Fisher, of Yale College, contributes a profound study of "The Elements of Puritanism." A stronger vindication of Puritanism perhaps never was written. Senator George F. Edmunds of Vermont, defines the relations which exist between "The State and the Nation," replying to an article by the Hon. David Dudley Field that appeared in the May number. A timely historical paper is that of Mr. Sydney Howard Gay, "Why Cornwallis was at Yorktown." Under the title, "Shall Two States Rule the Union?" the Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks discusses the perennial tariff question. M. Désiré Charnay sets forth the grand result of his researches among the "Ruined Cities of Central America." Col. H. B. Carrington, in an article on "Washington as a Strategist," proves conclusively the title of Washington to be esteemed "first in war."

The Century Co., publishers of Scribner's Monthly (to be known as "The Century Magazine" after October), will soon issue a portrait of Dr. J. G. Holland, which is said to be a remarkably fine likeness; it is the photograph of a life-size crayon-drawing of the head and shoulders, recently made by Wyatt Eaton and will be about the size of the original picture. It is to be offered in connection with subscriptions to The Century Magazine.

GREAT SALE OF BLANKETS.

ANOTHER GREAT ATTRACTION!

Conrad

Will begin to-day a great sale of BLANKETS at prices which will outdo any offered in this city heretofore.

2 cases Standard Prints, in fast colors, at 4 cents per yard.

50 dozen elegant Damask Towels, 40 inches long, in entirely new designs, at 25c.

We are the only party who have them, and we consider it the best bargain ever offered to customers.

D. Conrad.

181 Essex Street, - - - Salem.

HARNESSES.

MAINE STATE PRISON

HARNESSES!

At Low Prices, at

GEO. C. PRESCOTT'S,

6 ALLEN'S BLOCK, PEABODY, MASS.

R. M. CLAPP,

DEALER IN

MONUMENTS,

TABLETS & HEADSTONES.

ESTIMATES AND DESIGNS

For all kinds of Cemetery Work furnished.

R. M. CLAPP,

19 1-2 Lafayette Street,

Near South Bridge, SALEM.

my 4

W. A. CLAPP,

HAT & BONNET BLEACHERY,

3 SEWALL ST.,

SALEM.

CHARLES W. BRINE,

WHEELWRIGHT & BLACKSMITH,

Manufacturer of Express Wagons in all styles, and dealer in New and Second Hand Wagons and Carriages.

REPAIRING IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

Horseshoeing & General Jobbing.

Carriage, Sign and Ornamental

PAINTER.

Carriages Lettered and Varnished to order.

Manufactory, Foster Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE.

NEW PAPER HANGINGS.

SPRING—1881.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

Offer this season the largest and best line ever shown in Essex County, of

NEW SPRING PAPER HANGINGS,

SUITABLE FOR

Walls, Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Chambers & Kitchens

Comprising all the leading styles, from the best manufacturers in this country. These goods have been selected with great care, and we shall offer them at our usual low prices.

An early inspection is solicited.

MERRILL & MACKINTIRE,

PAPER HANGINGS & STATIONERY,

170 Essex, Cor. St. Peter St., Salem.

Floreston Cologne.

A NEW AND FASHIONBLE PERFUME, FRAGRANT, REFRESHING, LASTING. SOLD BY DEALERS IN PERFUMERY AT 25 AND 75 CENTS. HISCOX & CO., N. Y. GREAT SAVING IN BUYING THE 75c. SIZE.

PARKER'S GINGER TONIC

Ginger. Buchu. Mandrake, Stillingia and many of the best medicines known are combined in PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, into a medicine of such varied and effective powers, as to make it the Greatest Blood Purifier and Kidney Corrector and the Best Health and Strength Restorer Ever Used.

It cures Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sleeplessness, and all diseases of the Stomach, Bowels, Lungs, Liver, Urinary Organs, and all Female Complaints. If you are wasting away with Consumption or any disease, use the TONIC to-day. It will surely help you. Remember! This TONIC is the Best Family Medicine ever made, and is far superior to Bitters. Essences of Ginger and other Tonics, as it never Intoxicates, and cures Drunkenness. Any dealer in drugs can supply you—50c. and $1 sizes. None genuine without signature of HISCOX & Co., Chemists, N. Y.

LARGE SAVING IN BUYING THE DOLLAR SIZE.

Parker's Hair Balsam.

An elegant, agreeable Hair Dressing that

Never Fails to Restore Gray or Faded Hair to its Youthful Color. 50c. and $1 sizes.

DRESS GOODS AT WEEKS'.

New Fall Goods.

WE ARE OPENING NEW

DRESS GOODS FOR FALL & WINTER WEAR,

AND ALSO

Cotton Flannels and Blankets.

At Extremely Low Prices.

We have just received another lot of our celebrated PEARL SHIRTS, which every one acknowledges to be the

BEST ONE DOLLAR SHIRT IN THE MARKET.

WILLIAM R. WEEKS,

185 & 187 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

A HAPPY MEETING.

There are surprises of joy as well as of sorrow, to earthly affection, says an exchange. An instance of the missing and meeting of kindred by the turns of fortune was presented recently in the Chicago Home for the Friendless. Says the Home Visitor:

A short time ago the parlor of the home witnessed a pathetic scene. A pleasant-spoken lady, who had just arrived on the evening express from distant parts, was making eager inquiries concerning one of the inmates—an old lady who had been in the Home for five years. After a few words had been exchanged with the superintendent, the lady sobbed out:

"I am her daughter."

"Her daughter?" ejaculated everybody present, and Mrs. G—— exclaimed that her children were all supposed to be dead.

A long explanation followed. The lady had lived in California, had not been in communication with her relatives, and had received intelligence of her mother's death. For fifteen long years the mother and daughter have been lost to each other.

Mrs. Grant at once summoned Grandma H—— to the parlor, and the poor old lady, who is nearly blind, was brought into the presence of the stranger.

Some questions were asked about her children, and especially concerning the daughter Louise.

"She is dead," replied Grandma H——; "they are all dead."

At this point the strange lady could no longer repress her emotions, and throwing her arms about the old lady's neck, she cried:

"Don't you know me, mother? Louise is not dead! I am Louise!"

The old lady seemed dazed. "Why, this is not Louise's voice," she said. "I can't see you, but the voice does not sound like my Louise's."

"But, mother," the daughter said, between her sobs, "I have grown much larger since you saw me, and my voice has changed."

Grandma H—— at length became convinced that the speaker was really her own child, and they retired from the little group of interested spectators which had gathered around, to renew old-time ties.

Next day, a carriage called for Grandma H——, and she was whirled away to new scenes, under a loving daughter's protection.

A CURIOUS NAME AND ITS ORIGIN.

On a reach of the English river Churn stands a village called Beckford-in-England, and the strangeness of the name has given rise to a foolish piece of folk-lore among the gossips of the place. A tramp, it is said, once fell asleep in the spring-time on the top of a hay-stack. During the night the floods rose, and the hay-stack, with the sleeper upon it, was carried away by the river to this spot. When the tramp awoke, he fancied he must be sailing over to France, and after the stack grounded on the shallows of the ford, he called out to some bystanders to know the name of the place. Being told that it was Beckford, he exclaimed, in surprise:

"What! Beckford in England?"

And Beckford-in-England has been the name of the village ever since. As a witness to the truth of this story, the little inn bears for its sign a man floating on a hay-stack in a river. This is the sort of nonsense which is offered to the inquiring stranger as the result of local antiquarian research. But the inquiring stranger easily reflects for himself that "beck" is a Scandinavian word, and that when the Danes owned a petty domain of their own at Gamelby the far side of the ford over the beck was naturally spoken of by them as being in England, whereas the near side was in Daneland. Long after the very existence of the Danes had been utterly forgotten, this silly myth was no doubt invented to explain the curious fact that a village in the heart of an English shire should bear so queer a name as Beckford-in-England.

STUDENTS AT OXFORD.

About two years ago the British government resolved to require the selected candidates for the Indian civil service to reside at Oxford or Cambridge during the interval between their examination and their final departure for India. Oxford at once provided teachers in India law and in the principal Indian languages, and many candidates have availed themselves of these privileges. The university is now considering the question of so modifying its requirements that these comparatively transient may take a degree.

THE OTHER BOY.

"Let's see?" said a Michigan avenue grocer as a boy came in and asked him if he had any decayed apples to give away to a poor but respectable family; "aren't you the boy who broke one of my alley windows the other day?"

"No sir," was the prompt reply.

"Sure you aren't the boy?"

"Oh, I know I ain't. I'm the boy who saw the other boy break the window, and got a hunk of gum as large as your fist if I wouldn't tell on him!"—Detroit Free Press.

San Jose, Cal., rejoices over the fact that it has two citizens who were soldiers in the war of 1812, named John Valentine and John Chittenden. The former is 92 years old and the latter 86.

Agitation is the marshalling of the conscience of a nation to mold its laws.—Sir R. Peel.

Buy the Corded Side Corset, new and nice, at Peabody's.

Back Ache

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.
Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.
Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.
Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.
Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.
Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use,

Sixth.
Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster!
SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufacturing Chemists, New York.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25cts. MEAD'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.

SANFORD'S
THE WISE ENJOY GOOD HEALTH
GINGER

Impure water, unhealthy climate, unripe fruit, unwholesome food, cramps, chills, malaria, excessive heat and the thousand and one ills that beset the traveler or family are nothing to those fortified and sustained by the use of SANFORD'S GINGER, "the delicious." As a beverage it quenches thirst, opens the pores, relieves the head, regulates the stomach and bowels, eradicates a craving for intoxicants and imparts new life to the languid, careworn, overworked, nervous and sleepless. Beware of imitations said to be as good. Ask for SANFORD'S GINGER and take no other. Sold everywhere. WEEKS & POTTER, Boston.

THE BRYANT & STRATTON COMMERCIAL SCHOOL

608 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON.

The Largest Commercial School in America.

Next School Year Begins Sept. 5.

This school prepares its pupils for business life in the widest sense. Its graduates may be found in all the leading mercantile houses in the country.

It has an established reputation and standing, second to no other institution and is the only school in the country that presents a practical course of training, void of all the objectionable features of the CULTURE-CRAMMING system.

As complete training is given in this school to those who desire to prepare for mercantile pursuits, as is given in Technical Schools to those who choose a profession.

Pupils received at any time. Circular, post free. aug 3—6 w

L. F. MOULTON & CO.,

DEALERS IN

MEAL, FLOUR FEED,

And Small Grain.

HAY FOR SALE.

Central Street, opp. Town Scales,

PEABODY, MASS.

We keep on hand Wheat, Wheat Screenings, Scraps, Crushed Bone, Bone Meal, Cotton Seed Meal, Oyster Shells, Rock Salt, Condition Powders, &c.

GREAT

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF

COAL,

—AT—

PICKERINGS,

17 Peabody St., Salem, Mass.

WHERE ALL FIRST-CLASS COALS CAN BE FOUND.

Specialty made in Steam Coals.

Orders can be left at Office, 12 Front St., or at B. P. Pickering's Store, Salem.

SPECIAL RATES MADE FOR LARGE ORDERS

PEABODY SELLING AGENTS:
SCHOLLAR & DONNELL,
Dustin Building, Peabody Square.

WHARF, 17 PEABODY STREET.

WM. PICKERING, JR. & CO.,
17 Peabody Street.

j an

COAL. WOOD. BARK.

Anthracite Coal,
(various sizes), for domestic use.

Gowrie Coal,
for steam use.

Hard & Soft Wood,

Slab, Bark, Birch and Spruce Edgings.

Offices connected by Telephone with Central Office, also with Peabody.

C. S. CLARK,

COR. LAFAYETTE & PEABODY STS.,

also 29 PEABODY ST., SALEM.

BATCHELDER & CO.,

DEALER IN

WOOD, COAL, HAY & STRAW.

Danversport and Peabody.

Cyrus T. Batchelder. Chauncy S. Richards

OFFICE IN PEABODY:

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK, SQUARE.

W. S. OSBORNE,

TOWN UNDERTAKER & FURNISHER,

Caskets, Coffins, Robes, Ice Preservers, Coaches, Flowers and Hearse Furnished.

Particular attention given to the laying out of the dead, day or night.

Prices as Low as the Lowest,

for the same quality of goods.

HOME, 96 Central St., Peabody.

OFFICE:

Second Door West of Hay Scales.

apr 6

J. H. ALLEN,

HUBON BLOCK,

MANUFACTURER OF

Coffins and Caskets,

OF NEW STYLE, and Patent Lid, whereby the Plate is always in sight, with the lid open or closed.

☞ GRAVE CLOTHES of every description constantly on hand.

NO. 73 WASHINGTON ST.,

(Opposite Lynde St.) SALEM, MASS

☞ On Sundays and evenings he can be found at No. 11 Federal Street. All orders from neighboring towns by Express or otherwise, promptly attended to, and delivered personally if required. feb 18—tf

---

VAUGHN & FALLON,

Manufacturing & Furnishing

UNDERTAKERS

Keep constantly on hand a large assortment of every kind of goods used in the business.

All calls promptly attended to, day or night.

No extra charge for attending funerals out of town.

A share of your patronage is solicited.

WALNUT ST., PEABODY.

J. W. VAUGHN. T. P. FALLON.

my 18—tf

CARPET VARNISH. Carriage Varnish, Carpet Varnish, and Furniture Varnish, at low prices, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS', 35 Front St.

MYRO-PETROLEUM has been very successful in curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, &c., &c.; a fresh supply at A. A. SMITH & CO.'S.

je 16

GRAHAM FLOUR.—Fresh Ground Graham Flour, received from Mill. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES. 218 and 222 Derby Street.

DANIEL T. SMITH,

(Formerly JESSE SMITH,)

WATCHES, CHRONOMETERS

Gold Chains, Gentlemen's Jewelry,

FRENCH AND AMERICAN CLOCKS,

234 Essex Street,

Corner of Washington, SALEM.

C. A. MACKENZIE.

CLOCKS. WATCHES.

JEWELRY,

SILVER PLATED WARE, &c.

—AT—

220 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

J. W. HAZELTON,

ENGRAVER,

STENCIL PLATES.

DOOR PLATES AND BADGES,

Agent for Preserving Funeral Wreaths and Flowers.

234 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

je 16—6m

WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,

REMOVAL.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

HAS REMOVED TO

165 ESSEX STREET.

OPPOSITE ST. PETER ST.

Thanking his friends and the public generally for the kind patronage bestowed upon him for the last fourteen years, he hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

Fine Watch and Clock Repairing a specialty.

Also a good line of

Watches, Clocks and Jewelry,

CONSTANTLY ON HAND.

F. A. WRUCK,

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,

165 Essex Street, Salem.

Opposite St. Peter St.

BOSTON TEA STORE.

G. W. POTTER & CO.,

DEALERS IN

FIRST-CLASS GROCERIES,

OF ALL KINDS,

7 ALLEN'S BLOCK,

PEABODY SQUARE.

SAMUEL W. KING,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN

COUNTRY PRODUCE OF ALL KINDS,

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS.

58 Main Street,

PEABODY, MASS.

jan 1

KEROSENE LAMPS. Student Lamps, Library Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Hanging Lamps, Chandeliers, Hand Lamps, Burners, Chimneys and Wicks, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front St.

$72 A WEEK. $12 a day at home easily made. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

NEW BEANS.—New hand picked Pea and Medium Beans. For sale by CHAS. A. ROPES, 41 to 47 Central St.

COPPER PAINT. Metallic or Copper Paints, for Boats, at S. C. & E. A. SIMONDS' House Furnishing Store, 32 Front Street.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH.

A SEVERE SURGICAL OPERATION. IT IS ENDURED WITHOUT TAKING ETHER. SUBJECT, MRS. EDWARD MYERS, OF RONDOUT, N. Y.

(From the Cor. of the Kingston, N. Y. Freeman.)

